The British, led by Viscount Swinton adhered steadfastly to the stand against counting for escalation purposes the pick-up traffic available under the fifth freedom.

The Canadian compromise proposal carries a clause under which nations may "contract out" of the fifth freedom and thus reserve local business for their own lines, and to "contract in" later if they so desire.

The plan also reserves the right, generally agreed upon already, for each member state to operate at least one round trip to other states.

Mrs. T.H. Crowe Heads Warsaw Ladies' Aid

WARSAW, Nov. 28—(ENS)—The meeting of St. Andrew's Ladies' Aid was held at the home of Mrs. Richard Tedford, with fifteen present.

This being the annual meeting all reports were received and the following officers elected: Mrs. T. H. Crowe, president; Mrs. D. Monro, first vice-president; Mrs. Richard Tedford, treasurer; Mrs. Milton Drain, secretary; Mrs. Monro, pianist; Mrs. David Rose, convener of sick committee.

Final plans were made for a hot sausage supper to be held in the hall on St. Andrew's night, November 29, with a progrom to follow. Letters of appreciation from those of the congregation recently bereaved was read. Lunch was served by the hostess and her committee and the December meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. David Rose.

WITH THE BOY SCOUTS

PARENTS BANQUET SUCCESS

The renewal of the annual Parents and Sons banquet met with great success Friday evening when 148 Cubs, Scouts, Parents and friends sat down to a splendid meal provided by the Mother's Auxiliary. Seated at the head table was Fred Hooper, chairman, Canon W. P. Robertson, commissioner, E. J. Wolff, assistant commissioner, A. Hope, B. Ottewell, president of the Peterborough Boy Scouts Association, Mr. Bird and son of the Normal School, Jim Abraham, Miss Peggy Lawless A.C.M., and C. Coleman.

Immediately following the toast to the King, the chairman commented on the good attendance and expressed the desire to see, that annual banquets continue and congratulated the Mother's Auxiliary on the good work they have done. Canon Robertson in welcoming the guests, drew attention to the work of the officers in charge of the Scout units and to two former leaders who were present. These were former Akela Frank Pammett and former A.S.M. Ken Brown. Commissioner E. Wolff, talking on Scouting and what it stands for, invited the parents to help the present leaders in this work. Leaders are hard to find and those who are carrying on need help. The commissioner told a story of the Prince with the crooked back and urged the Cubs and Scouts to study their Cub and Scout laws every day, to keep those laws ever before them, that they may grow to be straight in character and become better men for having been in Scouting. The commissioner then asked all to stand in silence for those Scouts who had fallen in this war.

President Barry Ottewell in an informal chat told the parents of the advancement of Scouting in Peterborough since 1932. The personnel of the Association has grown four-fold since that date. In 1932 there were five troops and three Packs where today there are 11 Troops and 12 Packs, and from 131 members it has grown to approximately 600. The President also drew attention to the Scout grounds just north of Lock 22 and urged the parents to visit the grounds when Jamborees and other open activities are being run. Scouter Fred Ford proposed a vote of thanks to the mothers for their support.

Show Pictures

In the large hall a program of pictures was conducted. First Sea Scouts depicted Scout life on the British training ship, Captain Scott's Discovery, and this was followed with a camping picture The final picture was a comedy called "The Lost Chicken".

Commissioner Wolff presented Toymakers badges to Bobby Rogers and Harold Valois and Collectors badges to Teddy Nobbs and David Bacon. Assistant commissioner A. Hope presented First Star badges to David Bacon and Jack Adams. Scouts Billy Cummings and Don Searles also received their Leaping Wolf badges as a token for gaining their Second Stars before going up to the Scouts.

Cub Michael Craig presented to Baloo Peggy Lawless a Cub ring on behalf of the Pack as a small token of their appreciation for her services and wished Baloo "Good Hunting" in Toronto. The pianist for the evening was Jim Abraham.

All Saints

After leading in the opening Grand Howl, Walter Downes and Bob Webb, both of whom are senior Sixers, took the inspection. The games of Crows and Cranes" and "British Bulldog" were played. Bryon Young who had passed signalling during the week, was presented with his Second Star and Bob Elliot received his First Star. The Scouts and Pack were served hot dogs and chocolate milk by the Mother's Auxiliary.

Those Registrations

There are still several groups who have not completed their registrations. The secretary, W. G. Shiner, would like these at once. All officers should keep in mind the fact that their boys will lose their status as recognized Scouts and Cubs if these forms are not completed before the end of December.

Scouters Club

No notification has been received as to where the next Scouters Club will be held but all officers are asked to reserve Wednesday, December 13 for the night.

With St. Luke's

The Pack:—Tuesday evening once again saw the Pack meeting at the Council Rock where Larry Walsh led the opening Grand Howl and Akela took the Cubs through their weekly inspection tour. Instruction in time telling and physical exercises were the main items of the evening. Two songs. "I Grieve My Lord" and "Cubs Are Fair" were sung at the Red Flower. White neckerchiefs were presented to the New Chums and these are known as Zulu Kerchiefs. Frank Tuck, Bobbie Clark and Carl Butcher passed their Cub Laws and Promise. Gorden Rex Fuller was appointed Seconder of the Brown Six and received his stripe. Barker lead the Grand Howl.

Visitors at St. John's

Lieut. Don Metheral and Mrs. Metheral, C.Q.M.S. Frank Pammett and Mrs. Pammett and Sgt. Ken Brown, all formers members of the Group, attended the annual banquet.

Arts Pupils Failing May Continue Course

KINGSTON, Nov. 28—(CP)—Jean I. Royce, registrar at Queen's University here said to-day arts students would not be required to attain any specific standing in Christmas examinations in order to continue their studies next term. However she said students in non-essential courses who do not come within the top half of thir classes in final spring examinations will be subject to Selective Service regulations introduced last February.

Regulations in force ruled first-year art students failing five classes at mid-year or making an average below 45 per cent in the December examinations would be subject to military call-up. Sophomore, junior, senior and post-graduate students in arts courses who failed in four or more subjects were also subject to N.S.S. regulations.

Lost—One House

NEW YORK, Nov. 28—(AP):—"Where," demanded Mrs. Gladys Doherty, "is my house?" She explained to police that the $2,800 dwelling she had bought as an investment last July was gone. Investigation disclosed that the house and two buildings alongside it had been razed early this month after the city condemned them as unsafe. Mrs. Doherty said she hadn't been notified, and that she meant to lodge a protest.

Canada Meets Beef Shipments

OTTAWA, Nov. 28 — (CP). — The Canadian Meat Board now has purchased 103,000,000 pounds of beef for shipment to the United Kingdom, the equivalent of 234,000 head of cattle, it was learned yesterday.

The purchase means that the Dominion has met in about a year the minimum beef requirements asked by the United Kingdom for the two years 1944 and 1945.

Gordon Taggart, Meat Board chairman, said that purchasing for the United Kingdom market is continuing, with major marketings of cattle reported across the Dominion.

Cardinal Says Communism Making Gains

QUEBEC, Nov. 28 — (CP) — Cardinal Villeneuve, Roman Catholic Archbishop of Quebec, will speak over a network of French-language stations again to-night, to deliver the second half of a pastor letter following a two-month trip overseas.

The Cardinal delivered the first part of his letter last night, and also spoke in English over a national network of the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation.

In his French broadcast, he said that "on this trip, whatever anyone may say, I had no diplomatic, civil or military mission.

"I was under no obligation to serve either the voluntary system or conscription," he added in his only reference to the conscription question, "nor to condemn the supporters of a war policy or those advocating a policy of abstention. That was not within my province.

"I went because of one fact, namely, that thousands of our faithful in Canada are on the battlefield."

In his English broadcast, the Cardinal said that the "insiduous propaganda" of communism "is penetrating all people and the highest circles, to the point that it looms as an irreducible threat to religion and to christian civilization."

He mentioned Communism as one of the "new evils" threatening the world, listing as others "the war, which . . . will be followed by possibly an ephemeral peace; famine, which embraces liberated countries just as those under arms; internal division and revolutions, which replace or are added to the war; the fate of Poland, again tragically cut up, and which remains as the illusory emblem of what men can sometimes call victory and peace. . ."

Of the war itself, the cardinal said that "whatever may have been, in its remote or immediate causes — and it must be frankly admitted that some of these causes could have been eradicated — the present conflict has long since developed into one of opposite ideologies; one which tends to dispossess man of his most precious liberties, of his very soul, to make him a blind tool of the state; and the other which fights to preserve, amid the vicissitudes inhert to man's fallen nature, the Christian concept of man's dignity."

Referring to the devastation of war as he had seen it, his eminence said every Canadian "should thank God on bended knees for having protected our country from it."

He asked that Christians pray, every day, "that God may grant victory to our aims, with peace founded on charity and justice, because that sort of peace is the only one that will endure."

Cardinal Villeneuve declared his recent trip to the Vatican and fighting fronts had "no diplomatic, civil or military mission."

Aches and Pains Grew Less and Less

Writing of her experiences in the heavy air raids on London, Mrs. W. Haynes says:—

"Bombed in the air raids of some months ago, I spent many hours in a great pool of water under debris before I was rescued. Whether it was that complete soaking or not, I do not know, but after treatment in hospital for severe shock, I suffered pretty badly for months from rheumatic pains. Well, a friend of mine, who has taken Kruschen Salts for a long time, made such a point of my taking it that I did so. Slowly but surely the aches and pains grew less and less, and now I bless the day I took Kruschen. For at last I knew rest from pain."

—(Mrs.) W. Haynes, London

There are thousands of people in Britain and Canada to-day who are doing as Mrs. Haynes did. At the first sign of rheumatic pains, they call in the old ally Kruschen to counter-attack. Kruschen has a double action. It is both laxative and diuretic. That's why it helps to clear excess uric acid from the system in a quick and natural way.

Kruschen Salts is obtainable of all Drug Stores at 25c and 75c.

BEFUDDLED

A little comedy of errors was enacted Monday afternoon, when firemen rushing to the corner of George and Hunter streets found the root of the excitement to be an elderly man calmly trying to post letters in a fire alarm box. Time was when a red box on a street corner held no sinister implications. Today, one must deduce the following: "Is it a mail box, a fire alarm box, an outdoor juke-box, a parking meter, a cigarette, chewing-gum or soft drink machine, etc." And so the brain becomes befuddled, and one mails letter in fire alarm boxes and breaks the glass in a gum machine to call firemen.

Chinese Engineers Inspect C.G.E. Plant

Two members of the Technical Commission of the National Resources committee of the Republic of China visited Peterborough at the end of last week to inspect methods of manufacturing and producing now used in the Canadian General Electric Company.

It had been planned originally that the whole commission would pay a mass visit earlier in November, but unforseen circumstances delayed them on ther tour and they had to bypass this city. The two who came were Tsin-Yu Liu, director of the Kunming Electric Works and Yin Chih Hsu, formerly professor of electrical engineering at National Cental University.

Police Abandon Search For Man Age 83

BELLEVILLE, Nov. 28 — (CP). — Police have discontinued search for 83-year-old Thomas McInroy of Highland Grove, who wandered into the woods October 11 and has not been seen since. McInroy was understood to have had about $900 in his possession when he disappeared.

Inspector Harry Storey of Provincial Police headquarters here said there was no indication of foul play in connection with the disappearance, and it was presumed the old man had died of exposure.

Mr. McInroy, he said, was accustomed to wander away from time to time and his absence was not considered serious until several days had passed.

Plan Broadcast To Aid Hospital

Representatives of labor, home owners, industry and women of Peterborough will be heard over CHEX at 6:45 this evening speaking in support of the new Civic Hospital bylaw. A. E. Borland, secretary of the Allied Labor Council will represent labor; Ian McRae, works manager of the Canadian General Electric Company will represent industry; Alderman Herbert Bradburn will speak for home owners, and Mrs. Vernon Morphet, president of the Nicholls Hospital Auxiliary will speak for the women. James Wharry will be master of ceremonies.

Two additional broadcasts are being planned, one for Friday evening at 6:45 when representatives of the Canadian Legion, Retail Merchants, Medical men and women will be heard. On Saturday evening D. G. H. Melton will speak at 6:45.

Rotary Endorses Money Bylaws

Both the money bylaws that are going before the ratepayers Monday for their approval were unanimously endorsed by the Rotary Club Monday.

The motion by Ian F. McRae was seconded by Fred L. Roy, recommending the Civic Hospital bylaw to raise $600,000 and the Community Memorial Centre for $75,000.

"A week from today (Monday) the people of Peterborough are going to decide on two very important projects," Mr. McRae said. "I know you all realize the importance of the hospital that is being proposed, and also that for the Memorial Centre two-thirds of its financial objective has already been reached.

I hope the hospital vote will be a decided success, that you will give it your best support, that we shall have a heavy vote on Monday, and that you are all going to vote "yes" on both projects. If you accept responsibility for them, then you must get out and vote and work for them."

Actually the Club affirmed its support of the Memorial Centre in a motion by Charles S. Cummer seconded by John Hornel.

The members were also asked by G. S. Matthews, chairman, to provide their cars to the Women's Auxiliary of the hospital. They want fifty cars, one for each polling place, to assist in getting out the vote. This was the appeal to Rotary, and E. L. Sackville explained that cars would be required for only two hours and would be in competent hands.

To Honor the Dead...To Serve the Living!

The Peterborough Memorial Community Centre

They paid a price we cannot pay,
They gave their lives that we might live,
The years they sacrificed are ours;
If we forget ...who will forgive?
So young they were, a gallant band ...
Who gave their lives for common good,
That children coming after them
Might never bow in servitude.

They shall not lack a fitting theme,
We'll build in Faith as well as stone;
No cold unliving cenotaph
That honors Memory alone.
No, let us raise a worthy tower,
A heart for our community,
Where neighbors meet, where children play,
Where we build lasting unity.

For Brotherhood they fought, and died
For Neighbors ...living safe and free.
A place to keep this dream alive
Let Peterborough tribute be.
Let no one ponder on the cost,
There is no cost too great to pay
That keeps alive their memory
With a safe place where children play!

Board Of Works Demands Removal Of Storage Tanks

Removal of the gasoline and oil storage tanks of the British-American Oil Company and the Canadian Oil Company "to a point outside the city" and as as soon as possible, was the ultimatum of the Board of Works Monday night in adopting the report of its special committee made up of Fire Chief Gimblett, Chief Constable Thompson, City Engineer Parsons and Alderman Sullivan, chairman.

The observations and findings of the committee were published in the Examiner last Saturday.

A secondary proposal in the report was also endorsed by the Board: "That all wholesale distributors should be compelled to construct good wire fences and place 'danger' signs on those fences or on the property, and wherever it is practical have a watchman on night duty."

The Council's resolution by Alderman Sands, seconded by Alderman Bradburn, is directed to the gasoline supervising divisions of the Ontario Department of Highways "strongly requesting" that the requested removal of those two storage depots on Hunter street east be officially ordered, or that the licenses of British-American and Canadian Oil Companies be cancelled.

Four other oil and gasoline companies escape the strictures of the special committee, and endorsed by the Council, but they are going to be asked to conform with the other safety suggestions, even to the appointment of night watchmen if that is practical.

Cancel Or Else.

As to asking for cancellation of the two companies' licenses, Alderman Ovens laughingly remarked: "It won't be safe for any of the aldermen to go over to Ashburnham until they are cancelled."

Mayor Hamilton initiated the resolution with a long preamble to which Alderman Ovens commented: "This isn't the Utilities Commission, Mr. Mayor," a reference to the Hamilton harangue in asking the Commission to dip into their reserve funds for a chunk of money to help build a general hospital.

His Worship was enumerating causes to be cited to the Department of Highways: "Obsolete equipment and construction; dangerous community conditions; constitutes serious fire hazard and derreciation of Ashburnham property values," when Alderman Sands interjected his "seconder."

"But, I'm not through yet," Mayor Hamilton said.

"Sounds good to me as far as you have gone," Alderman Sands replied.

Mayor Hamilton said he was particularly pointing to the British-American Oil set-up.

"The Canadian Oil is just as great a hazard," said Alderman Sullivan. "I'll leave it to City Engineer Parsons."

"That's right," Mr. Parsons said.

No Improvement.

"Canadian Oil have made no serious effort to improve what they have and protect the property over there," Alderman Sullivan commented.

Aldermen Sands and Swanston said almost in unison: "Give them both the works."

Alderman Bradburn said there was not much hope of getting any wire fence, and a tart summary of the whole affair was Mayor Hamilton's statement, "We don't want them fixing up their tanks. We want them out of there."

A letter from C. W. Caskey, acting Deputy Fire Marshal, Toronto, advised removal of the Canadian Oil tanks, but on some other points the Council's comment was that he "pulled his punches."

Juveniles Plead Guilty To Theft

Two fifteen-year-old boys, both sons of widows, entered pleas of guilty in juvenile court today to a charge of having broken and entered the store of J. J. Dennie, 405 George street south and stolen a quantity of cigarettes and a small sum of money.

One of the youthful prisoners who had previously been convicted of breaking and entering the Louis Billiards' store and committing theft and had been given suspended sentence on that occasion was committed to the Bowmanville Boys' School.

The other fifteen-year-old was given suspended sentence.

The boy committed to the Bowmanville school, it was stated in court, had succeeded in enlisting with the Canadian overseas forces when only fourteen years of age but had been discharged after several months' training.

Giving evidence in the case this morning C. J. McGillen stated that entrance had been gained to the Dennie store through a window. The witness said that the accused had been previously convicted of breaking into Louis Billiards here and had been given suspended sentence and that within the last two weeks he with the other boy dealt with this morning had been charged in Galt with breaking and entering a garage.

Are You Aware Of The Fact?

That while Peterborough ratepayers have been asked to pay $58,000 towards the upkeep of Nicholls Hospital in recent years this has been due to the fact that Nicholls Hospital is an old obsolete building, heated by eight furnaces and a urit which is impossible to operate in an economical manner.

That Belleville with its fine new modern hospital has been able to retire $12,500 a year for the past five years on its debt of $125,000.

That should a deficit occur with the new Civic Hospital Peterborough County has agreed to participate in the operation of the hospital.

That the cost to the average home owner in Peterborough for the new Civic Hospital will only be the price of a chocolate bar a week.

Country School Assists Christmas Fund

To succeed beyond ones best expectation should provoke a grand feeling, and when the work that has proved so successful happens to be in the realm of doing some good for other people in distress, this should act as the finest of encouragements to continue good deeds, when the need and occasion arises.

The pupils of school section No. 1 North Monaghan, better known as Breiley's School, taught by Mrs. H. Batten, held a sale of home-made baking and fancy work through the assistance of their parents, on the market on November 18. It was for the purpose of raising money for their Junior Red Cross, and the special donation for Christmas now being raised by the Peterborough and District British War Victims Fund.

In conjunction with this they also sold tickets for a draw on a quilt, made by their mothers, and their success was beyond their best expectations. If one had witnessed them at work, as it was the privilege of the writer to do, they would appreciate why this was so, and how well deserved it was from the energy they displayed in setting about this labor of love for others.

Raised $59.30.

This may be best judged from the fact that these combined activities netted them the splendid total of $59.30, which when equally divided, gave the sum of $29.65 to each of the two worthy funds for which they had laboured so well.

The draw for the quilt was made by Mr. Ruth, and resulted in Mrs. Cephas Bolton, a pupil of the school in years gone by, winning the coveted prize.

This same group of children under the same teacher, were also participants in the special donation for Christmas of last year, sent to the Lord Mayor of London at that time, so it would seem quite appropriate to give them the text of one of the original letters received in the early months of this year, in thanks for the benefits the children of Britain derived from thier work at that time.

A young boy by name of James Gibson writes thus from his foster home at Leyburn in Yorkshire, "My sister Vera and I gratefully thank all who have so kindly helped us at Christmas. We had a lovely Christmas party at school, and went to see the pictures. This is our fifth Christmas at Leyburn with Miss Campbell.

Away From Home.

We have never seen home since October 1st, 1939. My father and mother both died last year. We have a sister gone back to Gateshead to work in a factory, she was with us here until last year. My only brother is a prisoner with the Japanese. We have had such a happy Christmas, we thank you very much and a happy New Year."

There is real tragedy and pathos underlying these innocent words of a young boy in the midst of the grateful thanks he sends on behalf of himself and a still younger sister, which should make all who assisted in the good work, very glad indeed that they had a hand in giving them some little happiness at that time.

A bit more emphasis on the part school children are playing by helping children such as these, is given by a contribution also listed today as coming from S. S. No. 8 Emily, through their teacher Don Sutton.

Council Does Work Unheeding Election

"There are not many votes on that street," Alderman Bradburn jokingly remarked Monday night as Alderman Swanston relayed to the Board of Works a request from a resident of Bethune street, between Perry and Lake streets, to have filled with cinders or gravel a hollow spot in the road where surface water gathers. The Council proceeded with its affairs Monday night with scant attention to the near approach of the advanced elections day. Routine business was light, and when it was disposed of the members retired to the board room for meetings of the Finance Committee and the Board of Works. It was after ten o'clock when they adjourned until next Tuesday night.

Police Chief Guilty On Traffic Count

Police Chief William Parcels of Norwood was found guilty Monday afternoon on a charge of careless driving, after a trial that took most of the day.

Chief Parcels was fined $10 and $2.50 costs by Magistrate O. A. Langley, K.C. who in his judgment said that the Norwood man in entering the intersection as he did without making sure that the move could be made in safety had been guilty of careless driving.

The accused was defended by T. J. Carley, K.C., and Provincial Constable Archie Grayling who laid the charge prosecuted.

Earl Hoffman, Havelock, a former member of the R.C.A.F. was similarly charged, the charges arising out of an accident at the corner of Cokborne street and Highway 7 in Norwood.

Hearing of the Hoffman case, the evidence in which was similar to that given in the Parcels charge was not completed yesterday and was adjourned until Wednesday.

W. J. Arthur Fair appeared for the accused and Provincial Constable Grayling looked after the prosecution.

Gordon Armstrong, London street, was charged in police court this morning as a third offender with being drunk, pleaded not guilty and the case was enlarged when the police were unable to give evidence today.

Ernest Anstey, Smith township, who pleaded guilty to a drunk charge was fined $10 and $2.50 costs.

Police Solve Mystery Of Baby Case

Cooperation between Children's Aid Society officials, provincial police and the Peterborough police department has made it possible, local police say, to clean up the mystery of the three-weeks old girl baby abandoned on the porch of a house at Bethune and Murray streets on the night of Tuesday, October 24.

Mrs. Shirley Deyell Pogue, proprietor of a boarding house at 12 Cambridge street, Lindsay, was arrested Monday afternoon by Detective Sergt. W. E. Meagher, Detective John Stevenson and Police Matron Mrs. Dorothy Maquire.

This morning before Magistrate O. A. Langley, K.C., the 38-year-old Lindsay woman was charged with abandoning the baby.

Mrs. Pogue who was not represented by counsel, elected summary trial.

"I would say I wasn't guilty" the woman said when asked to plead. "It wasn't me who disposed of the baby".

Crown Attorney V. J. McElderry, K.C. announced that the Crown was not ready to proceed this morning, and Mrs. Pogue was remanded until Friday morning.

"I keep a boarding-house and I have all the ration books with me. I want to get back", the accused said in asking for bail.

Gets $500 Bail

"The Lindsay police say that she is not in the least likely to run away" said Detective Sergt. W. E. Meagher.

Bail was fixed at $500 and Crown Attorney McElderry who said that the woman had two other children and was separated from her husband, stated that he was willing to accept Mrs. Pogue's own bail.

The arrest of Mrs. Pogue followed an investigation that has been going on for some time. According to police, the abandoned baby was born in a private hospital in Little Britain, 12 miles from Lindsay and was released from that institution at 8 o'clock on the Tuesday evening the child was found here two hours later.

Police are still investigating another angle of the case and another arrest may be the result of their check-up of new developments.

Liquor Control Board Meets At Court House

The Liquor Authority Control Board, appointed this year by the Ontario Government, will hold public sessions at the Court House to deal with applications for renewal of liquor authorities in the six counties of which Peterborough is the largest centre.

The members of this board are Judge W. T. Robb, Orangeville; J. Fred Reid, Windsor, and W. T. Nugent, Lindsay.

J. F. Strickland, K.C., is deputy registrar. The district comprises the counties of Peterborough, Durham, Ontario, Muskoka, Victoria and Haliburton. More than fifty beverage room authorities are expected to be represented at the local sessions which begin Wednesday at 10 a.m.

TWO-YEAR-OLD GETS IN TROUBLE — There's an ordinance against bathing in the nude at Miami Beach, Fla., and that is why two-year-old Pamela Gray is in trouble with a big hunk of law in the form of Officer Ray W. Ewing. However, when the young mermaid explained that a wave had washed off her tiny trunks, the law took a lenient view and the charge was not pressed.

Relay Racing Provides Fun at YW Swim Meet

An exciting relay race between Y.W.C.A. and Y.M.C.A. teams and a sparkling demonstration by the Silver Finettes highlighted the program of the swimming meet at the Y.W. Monday evening, which was presented before a large crowd.

In addition, competitions for the various championship cups were conducted, with a large field of entries in each section, and several races and a treasure hunt served to round out the program. Judges for the event were Gordon Minty, Stan. McBride, and Miss C. Littlefield, in charge of the meet, assisted by Mrs. H. T. Rehill and Mrs. W. Perks. Mrs. I. H. Vernor presented the trophies, and Miss L. Brownscombe presented the prizes.

Among the numbers presented by the Finettes were the full diamond float, crawl and dolphin, floating ladder, double pinwheels and shuttle and umbrella float. Mrs. J. Forbes directed the demonstration. Don Campbell gave a demonstration of the new bi-lateral crawl.

The draw for the fur tie, donated by Mrs. Forbes, was made during the evening by little Helen Walker, and Miss B. Hynes, Rogers street, was the winner. Proceeds from this draw will be used for the travelling expenses of the Finettes.

Race Results

Races and the winners are as follows: 25 yards, free style, 15 years and under, Elsie Black, first, and Catherine Clifton, second; babies' race, 12 yards, free style, eight years and under, Donna Brotherstone, first, and Linda Dundas, second; 25 yards, free style, 13 years and under, Barbara Harris first, and Gillian Groombridge and Patsy Williams, second; 25 yards, free style, 10 years and under, Margaret Martin, first, and Arleigh Brotherstone, second; 25 yards, free style, 16 years and over, Ethel Hopkins, first, and Mabel Barnes, second. In the Y.W.C.A. versus Y.M.C.A. relay race, 10 yards, the Y.M.C.A. team won the competition. Winner of the treasure hunt was Ruby Meighan.

Contestants 16 years and over were eligible to enter the competition for the senior city championship, and Morrow Trophy. Ethel Hopkins was the winner, with 79 points, in nine competitions, and Bobby Wilson was runner-up. The babies' (eight years and under) championship cup, the Wood trophy, was won by Donna Brotherstone, with 36 points in five competitions, while Yvonne Grant was second. The Comstock Trophy, for the intermediate (15 years and under) diving championship, went to Catherine Clifton, with 39 points in six competitions, and Elsie Black was runner-up. The team of Ethel Hopkins and Mabel Barnes was winner in the life saving race for bronze Ontario Life Saving Medals, while the other teams, Iris Forbes and Lillian Wood, and Bobby Wilson and Isobel Crary, tied for second spot.

Marmora Girl Becomes Bride

MARMORA, Nov. 28—(ENS)—A pretty wedding was solemnized at the Sacred Heart Church, Marmora, at 9:30 a.m. on Monday, when Annie Mildred Finnegan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Finnegan of Marmora became the bride of Arthur George Campion, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Campion, also of Marmora. Rev. Father H. J. Farrell officiated. The sanctuary was adorned with yellow and white chrysanthemums and fern. Miss Rita Deacon played the wedding music.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride looked charming in white satin net with matching accessories. She wore a finger-tip veil with halo and carried a bouquet of pink roses and tri-colored chrysanthemums. Miss Estella Burkett of Belleville, cousin of the bride, was bridesmaid. She was attired in pink georgette with matching veil and carried a bouquet of white chrysanthemums and red roses. Best man was Bernard Finnegan, brother of the bride. Her two other brothers Michael of Picton and John of Perth acted as ushers.

Following the ceremony the wedding dinner was served at the Royal Hotel at which twenty-eight guests attended. Later the couple left on a honeymoon to Toronto and points west, the bride choosing a brown sports coat with matching accessories. Upon their return they will take up residence in Deloro.

Study Placement Of Disabled Men In Jobs After The War

Plans for the utilization in industry and commerce of physically and mentally handicapped veterans and civilians were brought before a meeting held under the auspices of the Citizens Advisory Committee of the Unemployment Insurance Commission Monday evening by E. L. Merrill, special placement officer of the Ontario region for handicapped people. Guests and members of the Peterborough Citizens Rehabilitation Council and the Veterans Committee of the Canadian Legion attended.

A procedure of fitting "partial capacity" persons to "partial capacity" jobs forms the essence of these plans, which are already in operation in some Canadian centres. Veterans and civilians with handicaps are to be placed in positions calling only for the ability they still possess, despite the handicaps.

After the war when reconversion of industry and re-shuffling of labor will coincide with the release of men and women from the armed forces, there will also be the problem of a large group of handicapped civilians who have taken their place in the ranks of labor and commerce during the wartime manpower shortage. They have done a good job in critical times, and will expect to continue their employment in the post-war era.

An Enormous Task

These plans are being made, and put into operation, so that the enormous task of fitting not only veterans, but disabled civilians into employment, may be facilitated, and possibly solved.

Mr. Merrill in his detailed discussion of this important issue, told the meeting that the Unemployment Insurance Commission approach to the matter is a fact that emerges when jobs are broken down by standardized Job Analysis procedure. The first step is to appraise the remaining capacities of disabled persons seeking employment. Being a specialized technique, the Employment Service has been divided into two divisions: (1) General Placement Service, for those whose placement in employment is a routine matter because of previous experience or other variables, and (2) Special Placement Service, which included among others, those with physical or mental handicaps.

Officers are being chosen to analyse the abilities and disabilities of each handicapped person very thoroughly by the use of case records, medical reports, questionnaires and tests. They are able after this study to determine reasonably well what each handicapped person can do with his remaining capacities.

Can't Make Jobs

But, Mr. Merrill warned, the Employment Service cannot make the jobs for these people; that must be done by the employer. For that reason, employers are being made acquainted with the situation, and the hope is they will become interested, and grant permission for the surveying of their plant jobs and the listing of those jobs which do not require the complete capacities of an average, able-bodied man.

Special forms have been printed for this "breaking down" of jobs process, and these are being made available to employers.

"If some systematic thought and attention is giving to placing them in employment, they are quite capable of self-support and the maintenance of a normal life in our communities," he said. In view of the historical background of the subject, the contribution these people have made to the war effort, both as soldiers and home-front workers, and the developing social conscience of the nation, the disabled "surely can be considered as fellow citizens in their own rights, more like us than unlike us, he pointed out.

Consideration Necessary

Advanced conditions and modern science in the medical world makes the disabled veteran capable of

THE STARS SAY . . .

By GENEVIEVE KEMBLE

For Wednesday, November 29

THE LUNAR transits for this day indicate a surprising or novel turn of events which may be destined to lead to joyous fulfilments in professional, financial, career, labor and all sorts of ideals, ideas and objectives, but with the proviso that prudence, precaution and exceptional cleverness be exercised in the effort to reach cherished goals. There is likely to be some strenuous opposition or quarrels, turbulence and rashness, and as well there are omens of dangers through accidents, machinery and explosions. Keep alert.

If It Is Your Birthday

Those whose birthday it is may look for a year in which lofty ambitions and high hopes and wishes may be attained by ingenuity, skill innovation as well as the friendly offices of those in power and authority. Cultivate these with courtesy, finesse, and confidence, suppressing tendencies to rash or turbulent acts, and arguments, wrangling and discussions. Finance, labor, enhanced prestige and popularity should reward discretion and caution, the latter in connection with tools, machinery,. fire explosions and all accidents.

A child born on this day should have high ideals and ambitions, with much efficiency to accomplish them. Its tumultuous and rash proclivities might be a damper on personal prestige and popularity.

The Tea Hour Gossip . . . .

We have today some cake recipes that can be used in place of Christmas cake, and they are not expensive nor as rich as the regular Christmas cake, yet they keep well and everyone likes them. I am also going to give you an unusual recipe for Johnny Cake, so nice to serve at the evening meal. Try them all and decide for yourself, whether they are all I say they are.

Apple Johnny Cake

½ cup yellow corn meal, ½ cup white corn meal, 1 tablespoon sugar, ½ teaspoon salt, 1 teaspoon butter, ¾ cup boiling water, 3 tablespoons milk, 1 cup chopped apples.

Mix the yellow and white cornmeal, sugar, salt, and shortening together. Scald with the boiling water until the mixture is a little thicker than will spread. Then add the milk and chopped apple. Spread on the well-greased tins to a thickness of ¼ inch, crease in squares and bake in hot oven until a light brown. Split and butter and serve with coffee.

Sultana Cake

¾ lb. butter, 1 lb. sugar, 2½ lbs. sultanas, 1 cup blanched almonds, 1 cup mixed peel, 1 cup milk, 4 cups flour, 2 teaspoons baking powder, 1 teaspoon ginger, ½ teaspoon mixed spice, ½ teaspon nutmeg, 4 eggs.

Cream butter and sugar, add eggs well beaten and milk. Mix dry ingredients together well, with chopped nuts and peel, and add gradually to the creamed butter and eggs. Bake three hours in a moderate oven. This will make 6 pounds of cake.

Canada Cake

1 cup sugar, ½ cup butter, 2 eggs, ½ cup milk, 1½ cups flour, 1½ teaspoons baking powder, pinch of salt, 1 teaspoon vanilla.

Cream butter and sugar, add unbeaten eggs, milk, sifted flour with baking powder and salt. Add vanilla. Bake in moderate oven 15 minutes. This is suitable for layer cake, using any kind of filling.

GETTING ALONG WITH PEOPLE

This Ability, More Than Anything Else, Will Make Life a Pleasant Journey.

A WOMAN said to me the other day: "If you could choose just one gift for its Fairy Godmother to drop into your child's cradle, what would you ask for?" To which I unhesitatingly replied: "The ability to get along with people, for that would do more than any other one thing to secure his happiness and make life a pleasant journey instead of a hard road to travel."

It is a strange thing that we put so little stress upon whether we are an emollient or an irritant to our fellow creatures, yet practically the whole of our well-being depends upon whether we stroke their fur the right way or step on their toes. For, no matter what else one has, if he has not love and friendship and the good will of others, he has nothing.

Determiner of Success

Think it over and you will be amazed to realize how much of the ability to get along with other people has to do with determining our successes or failures. Take marriage, for instance, which does more than anything else to make us either happy or miserable; yet it is not love, nor riches, nor the standardized virtues that really make it a bit of heaven or a foretaste of hell.

It is the ability of the husband and wife to get along with each other. A man may never drink, may never look at another woman, may dress his wife in mink coats and diamond clips. A woman may be a noble, Christian character; a frugal manager; a marvellous cook, but they will be miserable together if they continually are criticizing and finding fault with each other, and neither one dares make a remark for fear of starting a fight.

The only happy marriages are those in which the husbands and wives appease each other and step high, wide and handsome around each other's little faults and foibles, instead of barging into them. You never heard of a couple who yesyesed each other and paid each other compliments who landed in the divorce courts.

And in every line of human endeavor, from running for president to driving a garbage truck, the success of the individual depends more upon his ability to get along with people than it does upon his talents. For people will do things for us because they like us that they wouldn't do for us because we rated it, to save our lives. When we see, as we often do, brilliant and talented men and women who are failures, we wonder why, but the explanation is easy—they couldn't get along with people. They made enemies instead of friends. They antagonized where they should have soothed. And people simply left them alone to starve.

Of course, in its higher brackets, being a mixer is a gift, but it is also an art that can be learned by diligent study, and while the synthetic product may not have quite the fine flavor of the original, it is still a valuable adjunct to anyone's personality. Any of us can learn to get along with people if only we will suppress our selfishness and egotism and desire to boss the universe, and if only we will learn to respect their keep-off-the-grass signs and not tread ruthlessly on all of their pet opinions.

And, believe me, nothing else pays such dividends as getting along with others.

Mr. Buck's View

TORONTO, Nov. 28—(CP).—Tim Buck, national leader of the Labor-Progressive Party, told a mass meeting at Massey Hall last night that labor should support the Order-in-Council which authorizes sending up to 16,000 members of the home defence army overseas and declared his party at all times has supported a policy of universal compulsory war service.

Allied Losses 5,758 Vessels

By KARL R. BAUMAN
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Nov. 28.—(AP).—Shipping losses of the Allies and neutrals from the beginning of the war through 1943 totalled 7,758 vessels aggregating 22,161,000 gross tons, it was officially announced to-day.

The British government released through the Office of War Information a year-by-year breakdown of losses by Britain, her Allied and neutrals, presumably in the service of the United Nations. Simultaneously, the War Shipping Administration announced United States losses totalled 753 vessels aggregating 3,311,000 gross tons.

In the period covered by the announcement, the United States constructed about 30,000,000 deadweight tons of merchant ships, roughly offsetting the losses.

The report covered losses to enemy action, as well as marine casualties resulting from perils of the sea.

No figures were given on losses for 1944, but the ration of construction to losses is known to be extremely favorable.

1942 Worst

Losses were severe in 1942, followed by vast improvement in 1943.

In 1942, 1,859 vessels aggregating 8,338,000 tons were lost. Losses dropped to 812 ships aggregating 3,646,000 tons in 1943.

The combined losses of Britain, the Allies and neutrals in 1942 far outstripped United States' construction, and may have exceeded all all construction available to the Allies.

Against total losses of 8,338,000 gross tons in 1942, American shipyards turned out 8,089,739 deadweight tons. Translated into gross tons, this construction amounted to something less than 6,500,000 tons.

By 1943 the picture was changed entirely. Against losses of 3,646,000 gross tons, the United States produced 19,28,626 deadweight tons, or about 13,000,000 gross tons, for a net gain exceeding 9,000,000 gross tons.

This favorable ratio presumably is continuing into 1944.

Toronto Boy Lost

TORONTO, Nov. 28 — (CP). — Nine-year-old Richard Marlowe has been missing from his home in the Toronto suburbs since July 18 and last night his mother issued an appeal which said she was sure the boy was alive and "if someone has borrowed Richard, won't they please return him now?"

Train Busting

sent small forces of medium bombers with fighter escorts. "It was simply wonderful how those bombers managed to fly through so much flak." That comment was typical of Don Morrison's topical outline.

In that same year, 1942, some of those sweeps were taking along as many as 500 Spitfires. The Luftwaffe began staying on the ground, "so we changed our method, and went in flying low trying to shoot up everything we could find, landing fields, aerodromes, trucks, radio installations." That tactic drove the Hun into the skies. Then came the first of the United States 'flying fortresses,' deeper raids over France.

"We developed a system for returning from raids. The Fortresses would be flying at 26,000 feet, and we would be at 30,000. German planes would follow a mile or two behind. Cross the French border our fighters would swing out in wide circle of ten miles, and get in behind the Jerries. They never seemed to learn about that. It wasn't much credit to us what we were able to do. They were just stupid."

Prisoner in Germany

Morrison ran out of oxygen at 30,000 feet one day, and cut off from that supply, he ran into a Focke-Wulf F.W.-190, armed with cannon. "I had a losing go. He got in a good shot. A shell from his cannon blew my leg off. There was nothing much to do but bail out. I was a year in Germany. It was like 'old home' week when I met a lot of our fellows who had been shot down before that.

"I'd like to stress the help we received from the Red Cross. I know you have drives for the Red Cross Society, and I think you will have even a greater appreciation of its work when you know what they do. It was entirely due to the Red Cross that we were fed as well as we were. We depended 90% on their parcels to us. They came once a week. When I left the camp where there were 5,000 of us, we had a reserve of 125,000 parcels, against possibility of being cut off."

The cheerfulness in the camps was "terrific," Flt. Lt. Morrison said, "especially the older fellows, army officers who had been at Dunkirk. And in the Air Force camp I had never seen such optimism."

Free at Last

"On our way home through Germany for Sweden we had a German Colonel with us. He was telling us about a little town we were to pass through. He had been a cadet there in his youth, and he hoped to go back to that place for the rest of his days. Finally we came to that town, but the Fortresses had visited the day before, and if that Colonel wants to live there after the war he'll have to do a lot of cleaning up."

"We had heard so often that we were going home that we didn't believe it until we were on the ferry from a Baltic port. We knew then we were really on the way out. You never heard such a cheer as went up from the couple of thousand of us. We were given a great reception in Germany. On the way we passed the Germans who were being exchanged for us. They certainly didn't look as happy as we did.

Impression of Home

I have been back here exactly a year. I can't say that I have enjoyed it as well as I might have. The fellows I left over there were the finest you could find anywhere. I have been asked to help in two Victory Loans since then, at war plants and so on. I can't quite grasp the attitude of people back here. I guess they can't realize how bad it really is. I don't see why anyone should have to go out and speak at meetings for people to buy Victory Bonds. I was at one airplant where they made products that were badly needed. A fellow in a wood-working department showed me things he had made on company time, a tool case and so on. It just didn't seem right."

In the mild and rather diffident manner of his speaking style, or rather absence of style, because it was just a boy's frank but repressed recital, Flt. Lieut. Morrison closed on a serious note of warning against the opinion that the war was all but over "That seems to me a dangerous attitude We still have to go after them. It is not over yet. We've got to keep on pitching."

my lips or those of Mr. Cardin that will raise prejudice and don't hope that we are going to help you do foolish things."

"Canada has declared war voluntarily. I voted for the participation so that our country would not become a German country."

Somebody in the audience asked: "Is not conscription the logical sequence to our participation?".

Mr. Fournier answered that in Northern Ireland which is part of the United Kingdom there was no conscription and that conscription did not exist either in New Zealand.

Obituary

MRS. A. BARRETT

A resident of Peterborough for 22 years, Mrs. Arthur Barrett, formerly Mary Louise Thorn, 45 Hunter street, Apt. 6, died Monday in St. Joseph's Hospital, in her 53rd year.

Born in London, England, Mrs. Barrett's first husband, Henry E. Bennewith, lost his life in the First World War. Mrs. Barrett lived in Millbrook for a time, before coming to this city.

A member of Mark Street United church, she leaves to mourn her husband, Arthur Barrett; two sons, Sgt. Leonard Bennewith, Halifax, and Ronald Bennewith, of Ottawa, and one brother, Thomas Thorn, in Kansas.

The funeral will be Wednesday at two o'clock, from the funeral home of A. Comstock and Sons., and interment will be in Little Lake cemetery. Rev. E. W. Rowland, of Mark Street United church, will be in charge of the service.

Study Placement

vocational training and thus available for employment. Many more veterans so disposed will appear on the Canadian scene now than in 1918, and for the veterans alone, a challenging case is posed. Co-operation can paint the future for disabled citizens, who in the past, have for the most part received secondary consideration.

Mr. Merrill said that no employer would find himself "stuck" with a handicapped person if he should prove unsuitable for the job, and that if the case should be so, a new placing will be made. After a comprehensive review of the many details of the plan at the present, he said the future rests on the acceptance of this plan by all employers in each community and their co-operative efforts with Employment Service officials to develop it into a useful procedure.

"Once this plan has been given a fair chance," Mr. Merrill stated, "I am sure we shall discard forever the habit of regarding handicapped persons as being fit only for jobs as watchmen, flagmen or elevator operators. We will have developed the habit of giving attention to their abilities and not their disabilites. All these people ask is a chance to prove that when properly placed in emloyment, they can render sufficient service in open competition with their fellow men."

Mr. Merrill was introduced by D. G. H. Melton, chairman of the Peterborough Citizens Rehabilitation Council, and also chairman of the Citizens Advisory Council of the Unemployment Insurance Commission. A hearty vote of thanks for Mr. Merrill's informative and timely address was tendered by Mr. Melton.

Actually, Mr. Merrill acted in two capacities during the evening, his own, handicapped people, and that of Major C. Flint, scheduled to address the meeting on "Veterans Placements," but who was called to Ottawa on business at the last moment. Major Flint, who is Chief Placement Officer for Veterans for the the Ontario region, left a prepared copy of his subject, and it was read by Mr. Merrill.

Veteran Placement

In an address featuring the highlights of veteran placement, a subject that stands high on the imoortance list today, with so many of Canada's young men and women about to return from active service with the armed forces, Major Flint said that the three main features in connection with the employment of discharged veterans he would discuss are: (1) The responsibility for veteran employment generally. (2) Arrangements made by the Employment Service for looking after its responsibilities, and (3) The future plans, the place of the Employment Service in Rehabilitation Centres.

Major Flint, in his address, said that although the general assumption seems to be that the government is responsible for placing discharged persons in employment, (which is a legitimate feeling but only because the government is the agent of all Canadians), actually, every Canadian has a certain responsibility, because the troops are fighting not for the government, but for all Canada.

These responsibilities are realized, he said, in the fact that most communities have set up committees to look after the discharged persons' interests, and that many large firms are in communication with employees now serving.

Major Flint outlined broadly the procedure a discharged man or woman goes through, describing the interviews and other work done to assist in re-establishing the men in employment.

He lauded the work of the Veterans Welfare Officers, of the Department of Veterans Affairs, for their work in creating employment for the handicapped.

A topic of considerable popularity among soldiers and interested civilians alike, the Rehabilitation Centres were discussed by Major Flint. He outlined some of the problems faced; some of the unanswered questions, but stressed the fact that with all the agencies concerned in the rehabilitation and employment problems accommodated in the same place, co-operation and discussion must be very complete, and the technique and procedure will rapidly develop after one or two Centres are placed in operation.

He assured the meeting in his prepared address, that "quite definitely, the Employment Service will do everything that is considered to be necessary in order to insure that all possible action is taken to find suitable employment for all discharged persons."

An informal discussion was held following the addresses.

WINNIPEG, Nov. 28—(CP).—Garnet Coulter, Independent, has been re-elected Mayor with one of the largest majorities ever recorded in a civic election here. He defeated a former mayor, John Queen, a CCF candidate.

Canal Drained

LONDON, Nov. 28—(CP-Reuter)—The Air Ministry announced last night two of Germany's principal canals were blocked by R.A.F. Lancasters attacking the night of Nov. 21. For the third time within two months, the Ministry said, the bombers breached the Dortmund-Ems canal and drained it for a distance of 16 miles. They also hit the Mittelland canal and dried it up for about 15 miles. The two blows crippled seriously Germany's system of military communications to the western front.

BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

ELIMINATE ALL SUITS

WHEN YOU are trying to build up a lead-throwing end-play, there is no use in making only partial preparation for it. If the opponent, who finally is put in the lead, is able to find one suit in which his return will not damage his side, your whole effort is in vain. For success with the play, you must eliminate, from either his hand in the case of No Trump, or from your own and dummy's hand in the case of suit play, all cards of every suit in which a return otherwise would spoil the play.

That was not especially sound bidding, but approximately the same developed at two tables of a duplicate. Other pairs, which reached 3-No Trumps, made their contract easily, whereas one of the 5-Clubs declarers got set for botching an end-play. In each case the heart A was led, then the spade K.

The unsuccessful declarer took that with the spade A, discarding the diamond 2, scored the club A and K and heart K, ruffed the spade 5, ruffed the heart 9, and then led the diamond 9 to the J and K. North returned the spade J, which West ruffed. The dummy was entered with the club J and the diamond 10 finessed. When that lost, it put the declarer down one.

The other club game declarer ruffed the spade K with the club 4, scored the club A and J, ruffed the spade 7 with the club 6, led to the heart K, ruffed the spade 10, to eliminate all spades except the A, ruffed the heart 9 to eliminate that suit, discarded the diamond 2 on the spade A, then led the diamond 9 to finesse the J. North won with the K, but had to return the suit into the A-10 tenace or else a spade, which could be ruffed in the dummy while the diamond 10 was discarded. That contract got made because, when North was put into the lead, the declarer had nothing left in either his hand or the dummy except trumps and diamonds.

Nazi Officers Stripped Of Privileges

By MARGARET ECKER
Canadian Press War Correspondent

SOMEWHERE IN HOLLAND, Nov. 27—(CP Cable). — Germany's soldiers have to learn a new act now they are fighting on German soil with the eyes of their own people watching them.

The Wehrmacht, particularly its officers, who bullied and pillaged their conquering way across Europe, has been told to be less arrogant on the road back.

In a message from a General Brandenberger, officers of the 7th Army were told plainly that life is tough in their own land and their days of strutting and blustering are gone. The message, marked: "This document must not fall into enemy hands," found its way behind the Allied lines in Holland.

Poor Policy.

It is the General's own estimate of conditions back home and at the same time an admission that the conduct of German officers wasn't as "correct' as it has been claimed to be.

The preamble reminds the officers that the battle for Germany—"this strugle determining our existence or annihilation"—is the most bitter pill of the war Germany has launched. It continues: "We are fighting directly under the eyes of a people who are fulfilling their duties in flawless manner. They expect and have a right to expect the same from us."

The document urges "exemplary behavior towards the civilian population, especially towards women... All habits which may have been understandable in enemy territory must now disappear. The population at home cannot have any understanding for club parties, for intoxicated or flirting officers, or for food 'obtained' over and above regular rations. Food of that kind is simply stolen from women and children.

"Consequently no special privileges granted elsewhere can be tolerated here......I forbid all social gatherings and social parties.

"Now is the time for fulfilment of duty. It is impossible for any officer to have more spare time than is required to write a letter to relatives. Who devotes even one hour to other things than his duty, violates his honor."

Chinese Report Fall Of Hochih

CHUNGKING, Nov. 28—(AP)—The Chinese High Command tonight announced the fall of Hochin, 95 miles wets of Luchow in Kwangsi province, Southern China, in the Japanese sweep toward Kweichow province.

Hochin is but 20 miles from the Kweichow border and 120 miles southeast of Kweiyang, Burma road town in Kweichow from where the invaders would be in position to strike at Chungking.

Loss of Hochin was announced shortly after it was disclosed that the last forward American air base in South China, a fighter field at Nanning, had been abandoned Nov. 19 and destroyed by the 14th U.S. Air Force.

There was general acceptance of the Japanese claim to the capture of Nanning, although the High Command still made no mention of the enemy drive southward toward Indo-China.

It seemed possible that the Chinese were handing out bad news in small bits in order to avert panic. General uneasiness heightened despite this, however.

Nanning was the seventh American air base lost in the twin Japanese northward and southward thrusts which for all practical purposes had split China in two.

BIG RED DRIVE DUE AS WEST FRONT BLAZES—While Allied armies on the Western front carry on their terrific winter push to the Rhine, a huge Red offensive is reported getting under way near East Prussia and near Warsaw, Poland, with smaller drives gathering momentum in Czechoslovakia and Hungary. Map shows the key spots in which the Nazis are now being harrassed as the battle for Germany approaches a crisis. Distances of various crucial points to Berlin are indicated by arrows.

Nazi Atrocities Wipe Out Two Million Jews

WASHINGTON, Nov. 28—(AP)—The War Refugee Board— three members of President Roosevelt's Cabinet — sponsored yesterday a 25,000-word detailed report of bestial cruelty and murder by the million in German extermination camps.

Said the board, comprising State Secretary Cordell Hull, Treasury Secretary Morgenthau, and War Secretary Stimson.

"The board has every reason to believe that these reports present a true picture of the frightful happenings in these camps."

The report consisted of two eyewitness accounts of life in the Nazi camps at Auschwitz and Birkenau, in South-western Poland, prepared independently but almost precisely parallel.

Each included an estimate that more than 1,500,000 Jews from various European countries were gassed and their bodies cremated at Birkenau alone between April, 1942, and April, 1944.

Beyond Denial.

One, by two young Slovakian Jews who for two years had clerical posts in the camp through which they could keep fairly close track of events, set the figure at 1,765,000. The second account as by a non-Jewish Polish major. All three escaped. For their protection, their names were withheld by the board which said in an accompanying statement:

"It is a fact beyond denial that the Germans have deliberately and systematically murdered millions of innocent civilians—Jews and Christians alike—all over Europe."

"This campaign of terror and brutality, which is unprecedentel in all history, and even now continues unabated, is part of the German plan to subjugate the free people of the world."

The board is responsible for carrying out the policy of the United States Government for rescue of the victims of enemy oppression.

Throughout the more detailed story of the two Jews appeared such gruesome statistics as these: "Conservative estimate" that 65,000 to 70,000 or 80,000 persons received at the camp were gassed; "lowest estimate" 30,000 gassed out of another group; one month's gassings 90,000; total capacity of crematoria 6,000 a day but for a period it was overloaded and bodies were burned in great open pits.

Beaten To Death.

"Working conditions were inconceivably hard, so that the majority of us, weakened by starvation and the inedible food, could not stand it. The mortality was so high that every day our group of 200 had 30 to 35 dead. Many were simply beaten to death by the overseers—the 'Capos'—during work, without the slightest provocation."

"Twice weekly, Mondays and Thursday, the camp doctor indicated the number of prisoners who were to be gassed and then burned. These 'selectees' were loaded into trucks and brought to the birch forest. Those still alive upon arrival were gassed in a big barrack erected near the trench used for burning the bodies."

Typical of the descriptions given of the fate of individual groups are these:

"Two thousand Frenchmen (Aryans) Communists and other political prisoners, among them the brother of Thorez, and the young brother of Leon Blum. The latter was atrociously tortured, then gassed and burned....

"At the end of February, 1943, a new modern crematoria and gassing plant was inaugurated at Birkenau....The large ditch was filled in, the ground levelled and the ashes used as before for fertilizer at the farm labor camp of Hermense...."

Only Standing Room.

Next to the furnace room was a large "reception hall" arranged to give the impression of the antechamber of a bathing establishment.

"It holds 2,000 people and apparently there is a similar waiting room on the floor below. From there a door and a few steps lead down into the very long and narrow gas chamber....

The gassing takes place as follows:

"The unfortunate victims are brought into the hall, where they are told to undress. To complete the fiction that they are going to bathe, each person received a towel and a small piece of soap, issued by two men clad in white coats. Then they are crowded into the gas chamber in such numbers that there is of course only standing room.

"Then there is a short pause presumably to allow the room temperature to rise to a certain level, after which S.S. men with gas masks climb on the roof, open the traps and shake down a preparation in powder form out of tin cans labelled 'cyklon—for use against vermin,' which is manufactured by a Hamburg concern. It is presumed that this is a 'cyanide' mixture of some sort which turns into gas at a certain temperature.

Dead in 3 Minutes

"After three minutes, every one in the chamber is dead."

The bodies are then taken out and burned.

"On principle only Jews are gassed; Ayrans very seldom, they are usually given 'special treatment' by shooting."

There is a "block recorder" who keeps the prisoners files.

His work is one of great responsibility and he has to keep his ledgers with painful exactitude as the index cards only indicate the number and not the name of the prisoners; errors are fatal.

"For instance, if the recorder has noted down a death by mistake, and that often occurs with the unusually high mortality—the discrepancy is simply straightened out by killing the bearer of the corresponding number."

The report by the Polish major asserted that prisoners were used for experiments in sterilizing by X-ray, in artificial insemination of women, as well as blood transfusions.

Footguards Do Share In Hot Pursuit

By ROSS MUNRO
Canadian Press War Correspondent

WITH THE 1ST CANADIAN ARMY, Sept. 28.—(CP).—The Governor General's Footguards from Ottawa have had an illustrious share in the advance of the Canadian army through France and the Low Countries.

From the steaming hot days around Caen last August to the cold, blustery days of the Dutch polders, the footguards in their Sherman tanks have been fighting the Germans most of the time.

In that time they have become a veteran, tested armored regiment, and they have lived up to all the traditions of the Guards.

An Ottawa lieutenant-colonel has commanded the unit since mid-August, taking over when his predecessor was wounded in the battle of Falaise and despite the large turnover in personnel the unit is still fundamentally an Ottawa and Ottawa Valley outfit. More than 60 per cent of the officers and men are from that area.

Maj. Al Smith of Ottawa and Maj. Les Morell of Pembroke, Ont., are squadron commanders and the Adjutant now is Capt. Orville Burke, the star Ottawa Rough Rider football player who until a few weeks ago was commanding regimental headquarters troop. Other squadron commanders are Maj. George Baylay of Toronto and Maj. Geoffrey Lewis of Oakville, Ont.

Men's Club Party

WARSAW, Nov. 28 — (ENS). — The Men's Club of the United Church circuit held its monthly meeting at the home of Harold Payne, with more than 50 present. The evening was spent in crokinole, and bingo for the children. Prize-winners were: Men's high, Gordon Payne; second, Ralph Edwards: women's high, Miss Ada Watts and Mrs. Gordon Payne; consolation prize, Douglas Evans and Joyce Digweed. At the close a venison pie supper was served.

Crisis Upsets Bonomi Italian Cabinet

ROME, Nov. 28 — (AP) — The Government of Premier Ivanoe Bonomi, in power less than six months, resigned Sunday after two weeks of crisis in which its six parties were unable to agree on a program to rule war-torn, hungry Italy.

A Rome radio broadcast heard in London said the crisis caused by the resignation of the Cabinet had been solved but gave no details.

Crown Prince Humbert, Lieutenant-General of the realm, reserved decision on the resignation, and later conferred with the presidents of the Senate and Chamber of Deputies. The Bonomi Cabinet meanwhile continued to conduct normal business.

Differences in the Bonomi Cabinet arose mainly from opposite programs of the Liberals and Christian Democrats on one hand, and Socialists and Communists on the other.

A brief official communique said the 71-year-old Bonomi, who took the helm in succession to Marshal Pietro Badoglio after the fall of Rome last June, had decided to resign after a conference with all party heads.

The Bonomi Government has protested the "severity" of Allied armistice terms, but an Allied official today declared there was absolutely no possibility of any negotiations for revision of the terms, and that any new Government must abide by them.

Humbert is expected to confer with leaders of parties heretofore not represented in Bonomi's six-party Coalition Government, or in the Committee of National Liberation. One such group is the Monarchist "Democratic" Party, which has consistently attacked the Bonomi Government.

Much speculation concerning a new Government centred on whether the left wing would be given major representation, or important portfolios, such as the Ministry of the Interior and Foreign Ministry which Bonomi had held himself.

The Government has been under attack for a fortnight by Communists and Socialists, supported by the Actionists, while the right wing maintained a "don't rock the boat" policy.

No Election For Township

MARMORA, Nov. 28 — (ENS) — There will be no municipal election in Marmora and Lake township this year since acclamation was accorded last year's reeve and council on Saturday and only the necessary number of nominees for school trustees qualified.

The council will again be made up of Reeve John A. Bell and Councillors W. J. Pack, C. Kelly, A. Tompkins and G. Davidson. Wilbert Jones and Percy Carman, retiring school trustees were re-elected with Burness Johnson who succeeds John McCann, retiring trustee.

The qualifying of six nominees for the fourt seats on the council necessitates an election in Marmora village. The six candidates are W. A. Sanderson, R. E. Neal and V. Lynch of the present council and R. H. Rennie, M. R. Lavender and L. R. Rundle, new aspirants to office. G. L: Phillips did not qualify.

Acclamation was accorded Reeve W. R. Linn and three school trustees elected for two years, J. W. Hickey, W. Bishop and D. B. Sanderson. The latter succeeds G. Jarvis who did not seek re-election.

Election day will be Monday, December 4.

A False Alarm

NIAGARA FALLS, Ont., Nov. 28 — (CP). — A woman rushed into the city police headquarters one day last week and appealed to city police to "Come quick; there is a man with a child in a bag and he is going down to toss it in the Niagara River." Four officers overtook a man carrying a bag, which they opened. Out stepped a big black cat the man was delivering to a friend. Police admitted the cat's cries sounded "childlike."

DOWNS SIX PLANES—Capt. William T. Whisner, of Shreveport, La., shot down six German FW-190's and probably destroyed another on November 21 in a mission over Germany. This equals the record of enemy planes downed in the air in a single mission. Capt. Whisner is a Mustang fighter pilot.

Lloyd George Raps United States

TY NEWYDD LLANYSTUMDWY North Wales, Nov. 28—(AP)—David Lloyd George, Britain's Prime Minister in the first Great War and one of her elder statesmen in this one, asserted in an interview that the surest way of preventing a third world war would be "by America acting differently this time.

In one of his rare press interviews—he has not talked thus for more than two years—the white-haired Welshman, by his own expression still keen and vigorous, was asked:

What was the Allies' greatest mistake in dealing with Germany after the last war?

Rather grimly, and without hesitation, he replied:

"America. If they had kept to their bargains instead of backing out and leaving the League of Nations, things would have gone differently."

With the blunt earnestness of his reply, he suggested American statesmanship and public opinion hold a broad international outlook after peace has been made. He held that United States commitments to a potential world community would be perhaps the great stabilizer.

And what of his own share in the prosecution of the gigantic war of a generation ago and in the shaping of destinies at Versailles?

Again Lloyd George, who will be 82 next Jan. 17, was brusque and incisive:

"If I had my part to do over again I would do precisely the same—on the assumption that America would stand by her word."

He counselled complete disarmament of Germany after this war, holding that it would be the only reliable means of exorcising the military spirit.

WAR TO LAST INTO SUMMER MONTHS

Reds Advance 14 Miles In Hungary

Russians Overrun 35 Miles Of Danube Shoreline

LONDON, Nov. 29—(CP)—Fording flooded streams pouring down from the Carpathians, the Red Army has surged westward along the full breadth of Eastern Slovakia, capturing more than 60 communities, Moscow reported today.

In northern Hungary the Russians cleared the enemy from the right bank of the Tisza River, occupying an additional 14 populated places. The advances measured up to 14 miles on two closely-linked fronts that total more than 110 miles.

There was no official word from Moscow of a Berlin statement that Russian troops have launched a new offensive west of the Danube by seizing Mohacs, 98 miles south of Budapest, and thrusting toward the coal mining city of Pecs.

Visni Svidnik in Slovakia was captured after bitter fighting. It is in the southern approach to Dulka Pass and 10 miles southwest of the Polish border. The advance in Slovakia was general down to the Hungarian border north of Nyiregyhaza, and within 25 miles of the Slovakian strongholds of Kassa and Presov.

Crossing the Tizsa put the last 5-mile stretch of the river in Soviet hands north-east from Tokaj (Tokay). The river's lower reaches south of Tokaj were already Russian-held.

Elsewhere along the 1,500-mile eastern front winding from the Baltic to the Balkans there was tenseness as the Germans awaited the first blows in Marshal Stalin's promised winter offensive.

To-day that front is anchored in the Latvian capital and port of Riga. It stretches from Riga to the vicinity of Priekule, 2 miles southeast of the Baltic port of Liepaja,

Lucrative Hobby

WESTON, Nov. 29—(CP). —Mrs. Erson Wardlaw began raising Angora rabbits just for the fun of it a few years ago, but her hobby has grown to almost a full-time occupation as well as a very considerable source of income. She now has a farm of 80 rabbits, worth $10 to $25 each, whose fur brings $2.00 an ounce when spun.

Coldwell Says Government Awakes Distrust

MONTREAL, Nov. 29—(CP)—M. J. Coldwell, C.C.F. leader, said in an address prepared for delivery at the C.C.F. national convention today that the Federal Government wages a war "in defence of things as they were" and had awakened widespread distrust.

"This war is part of a world-wide social revolution against the outmoded institutions which have condemned mankind to a cycle of depression and war, and depression again," he continued.

"But nowhere has this been apparent in the nervous approach of the Government."

Canada should assume her place in world affairs as a full-fledged nation, with a distinctly Canadian flag, anthem and constitution. Newer nations of the British Commonwealth, Australia and South Africa, had their national symbols, and only Canada, a leader among the middle nations, "remains a minor."

The C.C.F. recognized the danger that though the peoples of the United Nations may win the military battles of this war, they might yet lose the war to the great cartels.

"These cartels, private economic super-governments, seek to divide the world into convenient zones for exploitation. Social ownership and public international planning is the answer, and the only answer, to the peril they present."

Looks To Expansion

The basic C.C.F. criticism of the Government war effort was that it had been a "big-business affair." There had been planning and public enterprise, but the great corporations did not relinquish control. While national planning and enterprise had been hampered by these interests, yet there had been an end to unemployment and great wartime industries were created by public enterprise. The ideas of planning for which the C.C.F. had fought had proved their practical worth in the war and must be the keynotes of post-war expansion.

The C.C.F. stand against wartime profiteering had resulted in savings to the people, but wartime profits, after all taxes, had ranged as high as 29 per cent. above the average

Canadians On Hun Soil At Nijmegen

Hurtgen Captured Enemy Defences Totter Near Cologne

By WILLIAM FRYE
Associated Press Staff Writer

LONDON, Nov. 29 — (AP). — American infantry and tanks drove the Germans today from four towns on their Roer River front in bitter battles forcing open the gate to Cologne, 23 miles away.

At the extreme northern end of the front Canadian forces were reported fighting on German soil for the first time in this war while in the centre the American 3rd Army drove as much as 10 miles forward and at places reached the tough outer crust of the Siegfried Line in the rich Saar Basin.

The Americans were within eight miles of Saarbrucken, blackened capital of the Saar, and inside the industrial basin on a 26-mile front. The important towns of Saarlautern, Hagenau, Merzig, Forbach, Saareguemines and Sarre Union all were imminently threatened.

The French 1st Army in the south trapped many Germans between Mulhouse and Belfort.

U.S. 1st Army veterans cleaned the last house and cellar of the devastated forest town of Hurtgen after three days, and then drove a mile northeast and captured Kleinhau. Jungersdorf, four miles from the Roer River fortress city of Duren, fell.

Nearing Julich

The 9th Army shattered organized resistance at Koslar and moved within less than a mile of Julich, a pivot of the Roer River line. Two bridges were seized over the narrow Inde River, tributary of the Roer, at Inden and Altdorf.

Prime Minister Churchill disclosed the great Belgian port of Antwerp, second largest in Europe, already was in use, supplying the 55 or more divisions which Gen. Eisenhower had thrown into battle.

Hurtgen is 27½ miles south-west of Cologne. Jungersdorf is four miles from Duren (population 39,000) and Koslar is less than two from Julich. Both Duren and Julich are fortress towns on the Roer River line, last great natural barrier before the Rhine.

Advance Slow.

Other Americans of the 1st and 9th Armies crawling slowly forward along a 25-mile front between Linnich and Hurtgen in the Cologne Plain east of Aachen fought for every house and cellar in the ruined villages of Inden, Langerwehe, Lamersdorf, and Grosshu. Some were within 23 miles of Cologne. Between the towns were intricate trench systems like those of the First Great War.

Though organized resistance collapsed in Koslar under the impact of the U.S. 9th Army, a few Germans held out in the mud.

Canadian troops were fighting on German soil for the first time, having crossed the Netherlands border in the Nijmegen sector, presumably in the wedge the Allies drove into the Reichswald two months ago.

The British 2nd Army mopped up enemy stragglers west of the Maas (Meuse) River in Holland and probed the defence mazes before the fortress towns of Venlo and Roermond.

A Reuter News Agency front dispatch reported the British front generally quiet except for attacks

200 Soldiers Canada Bound

By DOUGLAS AMARON
Canadian Press War Correspondent

WITH THE 1ST CANADIAN ARMY IN HOLLAND, Nov. 29. — (CP Cable.)—Two hundred Canadian soldiers from the western European theatre with the equivalent of five years' overseas service to their credit will spend Christmas at home in Canada.

This first draft of home leave contingents left their units last week and will sail from England in December. Further drafts of five-year troops going home for 30 days' leave under the recently-announced government plan will leave monthly if shipping is available.

The 2nd Canadian Corps had the largest representation in the first contingent with 145 names. Names of the more than 1,000 eligible were placed in a gasoline tin and the luck of the draw decided who should leave.

The troops will have a full 30 days at home and while away will retain their ranks and receive full pay and allowances. Their places overseas will be filled by temporary replacements.

Pouliot States More To Rebel

OTTAWA, Nov. 29 —(CP)—J. F. Pouliot (L-Temiscouata) said in an interview last night that War Services Minister LaFleche was "talking through his hat" when he told reporters yesterday there would be no more "bolters" among Quebec Liberals.

Gen. LaFleche made the statement as he left a caucus of Quebec Liberal members of parliament which he described as "a very cordial meeting." He did not amplify his remarks but his statement was taken to mean he thought no more Quebec Liberals would cross the floor of the House.

Mr. Pouliot, one of those who has withdrawn his support from the government, said he thought he would be followed across the floor by Maurice Bourget (L-Levis), who said in Montreal last week he was withdrawing his support of the government.

Charles Parent (L-Quebec West and South) and Wilfrid LaCroix (L-Quebec-Montmorency) already have crossed the floor of the House while Hon. C. G. Power has resigned from the cabinet as air minister and announced his intention to retire from politics.

Draftee Regiment Is Moved

By The Canadian Press

Movement of a troop train carrying a home defence regiment from Terrace, B.C., to a new Pacific coast post appeared today to have marked an easing in the tense situation at the Pacific coast surrounding demonstration by home defense soldiers against the government's conscription policy.

The demonstrations came while parliament still was considering the revised reinforcement policy under which authority has been given for 16,000 home defence troops to be sent on overseas service.

Yesterday, these demonstrations centred in British Columbia but from Nova Scotia and Quebec came reports of incidents. At North Sydney, N.S., a soldier broke a window when a girl shouted "zombies" at troops passing her home. Both home defence and general service men were in the ranks.

At Loretteville, Que., municipal authorities are investigating reports that a Union Jack was torn down and burned last night during an anti-conscription parade in which several hundred youths took part.

Protest is Made

At Sydney, N.S., the local chapter of the Loyal Orange Lodge went on record protesting the action of "a mob in Quebec" tearing down a Union Jack.

The resolution passed declared that the Lodge "protests the tearing down of the Union Jack and the trampling on it by a mob in Quebec.

8th Army Meeting Stiff Resistance

ROME, Nov. 29—(CP)—British 8th Army forces thrusting northward between Lamone and Montone rivers have met stiff German resistance in the region of Albereto, about five miles northeast of the besieged road junction of Faenza, today's Allied communique said.

To the west British and Indian troops of the Allied 5th Army have made further gains into high ground north and west of Modigliana.

Two strong enemy raids on 5th Army positions were driven off by United States units, while patrols were active elsewhere along the Allied front in Italy.

Churchill Urges Caution On Over-Optimism Weather Slows Operations

Fiery British Leader Lauds French Army For Courageous Comeback And Great Gains Across Alsace-Lorraine

LONDON, Nov. 29—(CP).—Prime Minister Churchill warned Parliament today that the war against Germany might last longer than he had thought and that his earlier predictions might be revised by dropping the word "early" before the word "summer." Mr. Churchill spoke after the 10th session of Parliament had been opened by the King. The Prime Minister, always outspokenly pessimistic concerning an early ending of the European struggle, had said previously that this phase of the war might last until "early summer."

The Prime Minister praised the fighting of the French troops near the Swiss frontier, where they slashed through to the Rhine, and declared it showed the French army "would rise again and that the French soldier, properly led and properly equipped, is unsurpassed."

The weather had badly hampered the British and American forces at the northern end of the front, he said, but the battle was continuing with vigor and "immense losses have been inflicted on the enemy."

He warned the House that hard work lay ahead in tackling a wide social program outlined in the Speech from the Throne. If the war should end early next summer, he said, "we cannot accomplish more than a small part of the program" by that time.

Promises War Review

Praising the American armies on the Western Front, he described the capture of Metz and Strasbourg as "glorious and massive achievements," and said that although American losses had been severe on northern sectors of the front the cost had been even greater to the enemy.

He said he might give a full-fledged war review after Christmas when "it may be much easier to put hard facts and cheering facts before the House."

The House cheered as Mr. Churchill ended his long address, devoted mainly to legislation to be tackled, with the assertion that the great powers "were never more closely and intimately and comprehendingly united than they are at this moment."

Mr. Churchill's warning against optimism came with these words:

"I must warn the House and country against any indulgence in the feeling that the war will soon be over. It may be, but do not indulge in that feeling that we should now be able to turn our thoughts to a new phase in world history which will open with the close of this war. The truth is that no one knows

Antwerp Open; Churchill Reviews Losses

LONDON, Nov. 29 (CP)—Prime Minister Churchill told the House of Commons today that there had been approximately 40,000 British and Canadian casualties in the drive into Holland and Germany.

"In these operations, including the storming of the (Schelde) Island of Walcheren which contained episodes of marvellous gallantry and great feats of arms, the British and Canadian forces suffered about 40,000 casualties," the Prime Minister said.

The Prime Minister announced for the first time that the Port of Antwerp has finally been opened "and is now receiving the large convoys of ocean-going ships, thus making an incomparable sea base available for the nourishment of the northern group of British Armies and the various groups of American Armies also deployed in these operations."

It was to free this port that the 1st Canadian Army waged the successful, month-long battle to clear the Schelde Estuary.

That campaign in Southwestern Holland ended Nov. 9.

Bad Weather

It has been widely stated that the present offensive in the west was possible largely because the Canadians succeeded in clearing the coast of France, Belgium and Southern Holland, thus opening up vital ports and clearing a way for the use of Antwerp, most valuable of them all.

Gen. Crerar's troops, including British, Polish, Netherlands, Belgian, Czech and American units, were ordered to take control of the Schelde Estuary and a fiery, nightmare battle developed in bad weather

Japs Are Retreating In Mandalay Area

MYITKYINA, Burma, Nov. 29 — (CP)—Air Force reports that the Japanese are retreating from the Mandalay area south towards Bangkok tended today to confirm advices that the Japanese plan to evacuate all of Burma.

In North Burma the Japanese were leaving behind only suicide units at key points in an effort to delay the advancing Chinese, latest reports said.

Forward Chinese elements which have by-passed Bhamo in their southward drive have not met any organized resistance.

The general Japanese retreat is by troops facing two Chinese armies, closing in on the northern stretch of the old Burma Road from western China and north Burma.

Prisoner Bag Now 730,749

By The Canadian Press

Allied armies have captured at least 730,749 prisoners on the Western Front since D-Day, the equivalent of 73 German divisions as now constituted.

Actually the total captives are probably thousands greater because latest official figures as of today are from two to three weeks old for the U.S. 9th, the British 2nd and 1st Canadian armies.

Captives officially announced to date:

U.S. 1st Army 206,866.
U.S. 3rd Army 126,922.
1st Canadian Army 95,132.
British 2nd Army 94,794.
U.S. 9th Army 55,670.
U.S. 7th Army 62,170.
French 1st Army 69,195.
French forces with British and Canadian armies 20,000.
Total 730,749.

British Jolt Ruhr Targets

LONDON, Nov. 29—(CP)—British heavy bombers jolted German rail lines at Essen and Neuss in the Ruhr early this morning in the third straight operation squeezed in between the setting of the moon and sunrise.

Some of the giant four-engined craft were flown by Canadians.

The raid left Essen a mass of flame, Canadian fliers reported.

"We could see great fires burning under the clouds after we bombed on the sky markers," said Flt. Sgt. John Robinson of Simpsons, Sask.

Bombardiers aimed their loads of explosives on Pathfinder flares dropped through layers of cloud which covered both cities.

An area of four square miles of cloud reflected the glare of fires set in Essen. It was the R.A.F.'s second attack in 24 hours on Neuss, in the Dusseldorf area.

Several squadrons of British Mosquito bombers rocked Nuremburg, in southwestern Germany, with two-ton blockbusting bombs earlier in the night.

An Air Ministry communique said three bombers failed to return from the two operations.

British and American continent-based fighters and bombers flew almost 1,200 sorties yesterday. Five German planes were shot down by but the U.S. 9th Air Force lost two medium bombers and two fighters and the R.A.F. Tactical Air Force lost three fighters.

Union Over For Quebec If Conscription Kept

QUEBEC, Nov. 29—(CP). — Rene Chaloult, Nationalist member of the Quebec Legislature for Quebec (County), said in an address last night at nearby St. Gregoire de Montmorency that the Province of Quebec would have "to leave the Confederation" if it is not allowed to determine its own external policy as far as participation in "Imperialistic wars" is concerned.

"History reveals that French-Canadians know how to resist a majority and history now is repeating itself. We never shall accept conscription for overseas."

He added: "Some people in Canada do not like us because we have large families. They fear that we will become the majority."

Belgian Premier Won't Quit

Communist Groups Hold Demonstrations

BRUSSELS, Nov. 29 (AP) — A call by the resistance front for a nation-wide general strike in protest against Premier Hubert Pierlot's government apparently had gained little response today.

Columns of demonstrators, however, were reported converging on the capital for a "national day of protest."

The Communists, estimated at 40,000 strong in the resistance movement, called for a full general strike until M. Pierlot's government collapsed, while other resistance groups urged only a one-day strike.

(In Moscow, the Soviet Army newspaper Red Star linked the Pierlot government with a discussion of survival of the fifth column in Western Europe. "Firing at the people, the Pierlot government has proved its special regard for elements that collaborated with the Hitlerite invaders," Red Star said, adding "a fifth column still attempts to prevent consolidation of Democratic forces for speeding up the defeat of the enemy of mankind.")

While the situation in Brussels remained tense, there were few omens of danger. British troops and Belgian police stood by.

Pierlot was given a resounding vote of confidence yesterday by the Belgian Chamber of Deputies. He told the cheering chamber he would not step down in the face of demonstrations.

Great Britain's War Effort Colossal

War Analyst Expects Germans To Make Peace Overtures Soon

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
Associated Press War Analyst

Today's special: We shouldn't be surprised to learn any time now that Germany is putting out peace feelers again. My guess is that these inquiries will concern mainly the question of the personal security of Hitler and his captains. There's little else they could hope to bargain over, since unconditional surrender is customary for a country so utterly beaten as Germany will be.

Britain's colossal war effort is presented graphically and forcefully in the government White Paper issued yesterday in London, providing an epic in the history of the Allied stand against Nazi enslavement.

Britain has suffered greatly. Her casualties already crowd 750,000. One-third of her homes have been destroyed or damaged. As her colorful Minister of Information, Brenden Bracken, comments:

Treasure Gone

"We have sacrificed most of our Victorian inheritance. What was the treasure of our grandfathers has gone, and it has been well and gladly sacrificed.

John Bull can be proud of his contribution to the preservation of our civilization.

It's a matter of extreme satisfaction that all members of the United Nations can be credited with having given of their best, each according to his talents. That's the thought that impresses itself on me in reading John Bull's great record —and it's vastly important because it should remove any grounds for reproach or jealousies among the Allied powers in the matter of the respective war efforts.

This time we should be able to avoid the bitterness which grew out of comparisons in the last war.

The present conflagration has been different, for it has been literally a fight for survival. It has been one for all and all for one in the "blood, toil, tears and sweat."

Delegates Not Optimistic

Aviation Conference Still Deadlocked

By C R BLACKBURN
Canadian Press Staff Writer

CHICAGO, Nov. 29 (CP)—Delegates from 54 countries went into the 29th day of the International Civil Aviation Conference here today with vague and not too optimistic hopes that a key would be found to the Anglo-American deadlock.

It was reported that Viscount Swinton, British delegation leader, was awaiting instructions from London on his possible acceptance of a Canadian compromise proposal submitted to the opposing groups Monday.

That proposal, offering a compromise between the liberal, open competition on global routes advocated by the Americans, and the sharply-restricted exercise of pick-up traffic operations by long-distance operators, asked by Britain, is believed to be the last hope of Anglo-American reconciliation on International regulation of World Air Commerce.

Today there was little for the hundreds of delegates to do.

British and American delegations were meeting separately in their respective quarters and it was reported H. J. Symington, head of the Canadian delegation, was being consulted by both.

Monarch Opens 10th Session Of Parliament

LONDON, Nov. 29 — (CP). — King George, opening the 10th consecutive session of the current parliament amid centuries-old ceremonies, today told the Houses of Commons and Lords that Britain intends to "reinforce as rapidly as possible the United Kingdom forces" now fighting against Japan.

"Victory remains our supreme aim," the King told members of the parliament elected in 1935 and assured of office until the end of the war.

"Once, however, the war in Europe is over, the transition from war to peace will begin, and my ministers are actively preparing plans to ensure that without in any way prejudicing the active prosecution of the war against Japan an increasing part of our resources is made available for civilian production."

These words opened what has been termed the "victory session" of the fourth longest parliament in British history.

The King in his throne speech declared the United Nations could "now look forward with greater confidence than ever before to those final victories which will give to the peoples of the world the just peace which is our chief desire."

His Majesty wore the gold-braided uniform of an admiral of the Royal Navy.

The Queen, still in mourning for her father, the Earl of Strathmore, wore a simple black dress and black hat at the colorful ceremonies in the House of Lords debating chamber. A silver fox wrap, a single row of pearls, and a diamond ornament on her lapel set off the Queen's quiet costume.

The royal couple drove to Westminster. A guard of honor made up of home-guardsmen who will "step down" on Sunday after nearly five years of service, lined the approaches to the royal gallery.

Dress Sombre

Most of the peers wore sombre morning dress, against which the white robes of the bishops and an occasional service uniform stood out in sharp contrast. So crowded was the chamber that members of the House of Commons overflowed into the strangers gallery.

The King's speech lasted exactly 13 minutes, and as he finished the whole assembly rose. Taking his Queen by the hand, the King led her down the steps of the throne and out of the chamber.

"I pray that the Almighty may give his blessing to your counsels," were his final words.

The speech reviewed briefly the events of the year since he opened the last session Nov. 24, 1943 — a session from which Prime Minister Churchill was absent because of the impending conferences in Cairo.

Looking ahead the speech forecast legislation for a comprehensive health service, national insurance, a new scheme of industrial injury insurance, family allowances and some measures for the transition period after the war with Germany. Among these were mentioned expanding export trade and increasing the supply of civilian goods.

of the four pre-war years. The last C.C.F. convention had laid down that wartime profits should be held to four per cent. of the capital invested.

In spite of the Excess Profits Tax Act, the International Nickel Company had made for its absentee shareholders, after taxes, between $30,000,000 and $35,000,000 a year, a profit which was "indefensible," Mr. Coldwell said.

No Public Control

There was no public control over the Aluminum Company of Canada, although there had been a vast public investment in its plant and facilities. This company recently laid off 2,400 men, "and, according to reports, denied these men the use of public halls for protest meetings. The vision of a great Canadian industry is blurred by cartel-fixed prices and profit-taking."

The Canadian people, having invested more than $1,000,000,000 in war assets, had a right to insist these assets be kept in operation wherever feasible, and devoted to the raising of living standards.

The trade union movement had been spurned and disregarded by the Government, farm prices had been low and uncertain and the growing co-operative movement cold-shouldered by the Government, said Mr. Coldwell.

The C.C.F. believed in banks for the people to finance adequate post-war reconstruction.

The C.C.F. stood for a total war effort, including the conscription of industry and wealth as well as man-power.

THINK.... Before You Vote

Hospital facilities for the community in general, should not be a municipal problem, but should be a Provincial or Dominion responsibility.

There is no earthly reason why a municipality like the city of Peterborough should be expected to provide, and maintain a hospital for the world at large.

We do not plan the education of our children in this manner, neither do we operate our police and fire departments for the world in general.

Why then, should we be expected to do it with hospitals?

During the depression, only a few short years ago, many thrifty people lost their homes, because they could not keep their taxes fully paid, and, if we are not careful in Peterborough, we shall have the tax rate so high, that the same conditions will prevail.

Remember this fact, when you vote upon the proposed new hospital on Monday next.

Explosion Toll May Reach 160

BURTON-ON-TRENT, England, Nov. 29 — (CP). — A physician who had been working steadily for more than 36 hours at the scene of Monday's bomb depot disaster near here said today that rescue work might have to be abandoned soon as the task of reaching buried men appeared hopeless.

"The men buried in the dump," he said, "are covered by thousands of tons of earth. It would take weeks of hard work by hundreds of men to reach some of the galleries. The authorities probably will recognize the hopeless of it."

Only a relatively few bodies were recovered in all-night labors. It still is feared the number of dead might exceed 160.

Whatever the decision may be, besmeared and weary workers put on their oxygen masks again at dawn and resumed their burrowing into the gas-filled caverns.

A coroner's inquest into causes of the blast was adjourned after preliminary proceedings.

The Bartislava radio asserted the explosion was caused by "a German V-weapon."

Memel is still under siege. From there the Soviet line stretches to the mouth of the Nemunas and along the northern bank of the river—the northern frontier of East Prussia—to Jurbarkas. From Jurbarkas it swells roughly 20 miles into East Prussia, coming out through Suwalki and Augustow for anchorage at Osowiec, in Poland, and Lomza, 60 miles south-east of Augustow.

From the Lomza area the Russian line runs south-west into Praga, suburb of Warsaw, and down the east bank of the Vistula to the Sandomierz bridgehead. There it bulges west toward Krakow, cuts back through Debica, 46 miles south of Sandomierz, and continues south to the Carpathians.

Col. Ralston To Address House Today

3 Conservatives Refuse To Attend Secret Session

By FRANK FLAHERTY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

OTTAWA, Nov. 29 — (CP)—The House of Commons comes out into the open today after six hours of a secret session yesterday.

As tension remained at a high level and the general atmosphere of crisis continued there were some members at least who favored a shortening of the debate on motions of confidence in the government's army reinforcement policy.

Reports of disturbances in British Columbia army camps from which home defence troops are to be moved to concentration areas in eastern Canada prior to being sent overseas added to the tension..

Speaker J. Allison Glen issued the following statement after adjournment:—

"The House of Commons held a secret sitting from three o'clock p.m. today. General the Honorable A. G. L. McNaughton, Minister of National Defence, was present and gave information respecting the Canadian forces."

Censored

Under censorship regulations nothing more can be published concerning proceedings at a secret sitting Prior to the meeting there were a number of unanswered questions from members concerning the army reinforcement position, the number of reinforcements on hand, estimates of the number likely to be needed in the coming months.

These were addressed to Gen. McNaughton when he apeared before the House last week and he said the answers could not be given in public. Presumably the House got the answers yesterday.

Members on all sides looked forward with keen interest to the remarks of Col. J. L. Ralston, former defence minister, expected to come today. The stand the former defence minister takes on the issues before the House is considered one of the keys to a political crisis which causes member to go about the grim and thoughtful faces.

The man who resigned because the government declined to take the course it has since taken in making home defence troops available for overseas service has only one vote, out by casting it with the government he can add greatly to its strength and by voting the other way do much to shake confidence in the administration.

OBITUARIES

MRS. A. A. KAVANAGH.

There passed peacefully away last week Almedie Andrews, beloved wife of the late Samuel Kavanagh, in her 63rd year. She had been in declining health for several years. Born in Dummer Township she was the daughter of the late Christopher and Rebecca Andrews. She resided in Norwood and vicinity almost her entire life.

The funeral was held on Saturday from the residence of her son, William E. Kavanagh, Norwood, and was conducted by Rev. Walter S. Crone of the Bethany Tabernacle, Peterborough. Favorite hymns of the deceased were sung, "He's the One," a duet by Rev. and Mrs Crone, "He 'the Pearly Gates will Open," a solo by Mrs. Bert McNeely "Asleep in Jesus."

The funeral was largely attended and the many floral tributes showed the esteem in which she was held by friends and neighbors. She leaves to mourn her loss, one son William of Norwood, two daughters Mrs. Russel Cooke Beatrice), and Mrs. Joseph Skelton (Meda), both of Peterborough, two grandchildren Harry Kavanagh and Beatrice Skelton, also three sisters and one brother, Mrs. Perry Woodcock of Norwood, Mrs. Walter Crowe of Clarina, Mrs. Roland McNaughton of Douro, and Christopher Andrews of Norwood.

Pall-bearers were nephews: Milford Kavanagh, William Gollagher, Russel Kavanagh, Russel Woodcock, Walter Andrews, Leslie Crowe.

Friends were present from Toronto, Orillia and Peterborough. Interment was made in Norwood Cemetery.

MRS. MARGARET DARRAH.

MARMORA, Nov. 29 — (ENS) — The funeral of the late Mrs. Margaret Darrah took place Tuesday, leaving the residence of her daughter, Mrs. Sanford Lawrence, for requiem mass at Sacred Heart Church at 10 a.m. Rev. H. J. Farrell officiated. Interment was made in Sacred Heart Cemetery. Pall-bearers were Dan Shannon, Michael O'Connor, Julian Bedore, James Bailey, Peter Vesterfelt and George Aunger.

and over flooded terrain. Casualties were heavy but finally the German 64th and 70th divisions were smashed and the Estuary was in Allied hands.

British armored columns had taken Antwerp itself in September and in early October Canadians cleared up the port area. But Antwerp is an inland port 40 miles up the winding Schelde and a force of nearly 40,000 Germans was left behind on the Schelde coast to delay its opening as long as possible. Big coastal batteries prevented ships passing up the estuary..

In the process of building a strong base in Holland, the British and Canadian troops captured 25,000 prisoners and it was considered that the German killed and wounded probably reached a similar total.

Today's speech was the second this month in which Mr. Churchill mentioned casualties in Holland. In a speech at the Mansion House Nov. 9, he coupled the fighting in Belgium and Holland with that in Italy, saying "in these two operations very heavy losses have been sustained in the greatest proportion by the British and Canadian forces."

He predicted then that the Schelde victory soon would place Antwerp "at the disposal of the northern flank (of the Allied armies) which will presently move into Germany for the final struggle."

Even then it was known that the Canadian forces suffered heavy casualties, and particularly in the furious fighting for a bridghead across the Leopold Canal. This formidable water barrier, a double-channel with a total width of 190 feet, had to be crossed to get at the Germans in the pocket south of the Schelde Estuary.

MIXED POPULATION

At the outbreak of war, the Chinese in the Philippines were mostly small shopkeepers; the Japanese were farmers, craftsmen and fishermen.

Shift Draftees From Camps On West Coast

VANCOUVER, Nov. 29 — (CP). — An English-speaking regiment of home defence troops from Saskatchewan was rolling away from Terrace today, according to a Pacific command spokesman here. He said the train left on schedule without incident despite previous threats of trouble.

There was no confirmation immediately from Terrace where earlier news dispatches had reported threats of armed violence by a French-Canadian unit from Quebec had prevented departure of the train and kept the Saskatchewan men in their camp.

The Pacific command spokesman had announced a few hours earlier the situation was easing at Terrace.

The troop train stood empty on a siding at Terrace yesterday as home defence men picketed the train in the latest demonstration in British Columbia in protest against the Federal government's authorization for sending up to 16,000 home defence men overseas. The draftees had been conscripted for service in Canada only.

Meanwhile, all was quiet in five other British Columbia towns where week-end protests were made by home defence troops but parading broke out at a new point when a minor demonstration was staged at Port Alberni on Vancouver Island where about 200 men walked through the streets for an hour carrying anti-conscription banners.

Doubt Reports.

At Vancouver a statement was issued by Maj.-Gen. G. R. Pearkes, General Officer Commanding-in-Chief, Pacific Command, saying that the English-speaking unit from Saskatchewan had not been drafted for overseas service and emphasizing the regiment had been given a Pacific coast defence role and would be moved to another point in British Columbia.

when the German war will be finished and still less how long the interval will be between the defeat of the Germans and the defeat of the Japanese."

He recelled expressing a similar caution some months ago in the House to damp down premature hopes.

Repeats Caution

"I could see disappointment in several quarters as I looked round the House and I followed this up quicky by indicating the late spring or early summer as periods which we must take into account as possibilities," he said.

"My present inclination is not at all to mitigate these forecasts or guesses—for they can be little more than guesses. Indeed, if I were to make in the duration of unfolding events it would be to leave out the word 'Early' before the word 'Summer.'"

The weather, which it was always customary and excusable, and even legitimate to abuse at this season of the year in those regions had made the task of American troops and that of the British on their left flank extremely difficult.

The fourth element in war, mud, had played a formidable part.

"We have not yet succeeded driving the enemy back to the Rhine let alone have we established a strong bridgehead on it," he said. "The battle is continuing with the greatest vigor."

"I am not giving a review of the war situation today, but I mention these commanding facts in order to dissipate the lightly founded sensations that we can divert our eyes from the war and turn to the tasks of transition and reconstruction or political controversies and other diversions of peace which are dear to our hearts and rightly dear to the democracies in action, because without controversy the democracies cannot achieve their healthening processes.

"I do not think that we can look on in all these matters without a sense of detachment from the war issue which is right over us. It weights intensely and preponderantly upon us and upon every form of our national life. All else must s[illegible] subordinated to this supreme task.

They paid a price we cannot pay
They gave their lives that we might live
The years they sacrificed are ours
If we forget . . . who will forgive?
So young they were, a gallant band . . .
Who gave their lives for common good
That children coming after them
Might never bow in servitude.

They shall not lack a fitting theme
We'll build in Faith as well as stone
No cold unliving cenotaph
That honours Memory alone.
No, let us raise a worthy tower
A heart for our community
Where neighbours meet, where children play
Where we build lasting unity.

For Brotherhood they fought and died
For Neighbours . . . living safe and free.
A place to keep this dream alive
Let Peterborough's tribute be
Let no one ponder on the cost
There is no cost too great to pay
That keeps alive their memory
With a safe place where children play!

Veteran Member Of Council Favors Hospital

"We have both hopes and assurances of the continued progress of Peterborough after the war," said Alderman Robert S. Cotton in an interview with the Examiner today, "but," he added, "if you want to prime the pump you've got to put some water in to start with. That is one reason why I am in favor of both the Civic Hospital and the Community Memorial Centre. Incidentally, I guess the younger generation knows nothing at all about priming a pump. All they have to do is turn a tap and the water flows.

I am now completing my nineteenth year as a Peterborough alderman. On January 1st, I shall be starting my twentieth year, and that is a long unbroken stretch in the city's administration. When I look back over those years and beyond them, and realize the changes that have taken place, the industrial development of our city, the residential expansion in all types of homes, I can't help but feel optimistic about the future of Peterborough, and that goes for our country as a whole.

There have been periods when we had doubts and when we seemed to be standing still, and probably we felt there wasn't much more for us to expect. But, we have kept on going ahead, and from that experience I feel that we have every reason to look forward to the future with strong hope that things are going to be better and that we are going to continue to grow as a community.

If the people of Peterborough had not elected me so often to the council I wouldn't presume to speak in this way, but, they did, and I appreciate the confidence they have shown in me.

At Turning Point

I believe Peterborough is close to a turning point in its development, and, even if I repeat myself, I think we ought to feel confident about what the future has in store, and determine to do something about it. In another ten years we may be getting close to a population of 50,000.

If we foreshorten our vision of the future we are not going to have that confidence which should convince us of the need of the new Civic Hospital and the Community Memorial Centre. Peterborough is in a sound position, if I do say so as a member of the council, and I think the citizens feel that way too.

We are planning for a new City Hall, and the Dominion government has promised us a new postal-customs building. There are plans for a new bus terminal, and we have been told that two new highways have been laid out to provide us with better facilities of transportation We are now taking a large section of North Monaghan into the city, and we hear reports of a new theatre, possibly another hotel. The council is now working on estimates for an airport, and we know that there is a backlog of housing that is only waiting for the termination of the war for a lot of building.

Collective Leadership

What I feel like saying at this time, and from my experience in the council that these changes and improvements are in the offing; they have been published from time to time in reports, but the citizens have to do something themselves, co-operate with the council to give Peterborough a better position than ever; in short to give some leadership and shown their own faith in what we have every reason to believe is going to be our future.

However, it is up to the people themselves. The council does not try to dictate, but we do spend a lot of time and thought in planning, and then the decision rests with the ratepayers.

As to our industrial future, I would not attempt to make any predictions. But, we know that we have here a fine group of strong and progressive industries. We have them to start with in the new future when the boys, and the girls, too, come back home again after keeping the world safe for us. Taking just an ordinary citizen's view of things we have every reason to feel confident about making an investment now in that future by voting for the new hospital and the Community Memorial Centre.

Grateful To Council

Alderman Cotton resumed his place in the council some weeks ago after an extended illness, is feeling greatly improved, and is looking forward to his twentieth aldermanic year with interest and renewed activity.

"I certainly feel grateful to Mayor Hamilton and the other members of the council for granting me leave of absence from the time last April when I simply had to drop things for a while. Everybody has been very kind to me, and I appreciate it more than I can say. May be this is talking shop, but I would like to mention the personal interest in my health and improvement that was shown by Mr. McRae, Mr. Girven and other men of the C.G.E., right up to the vice-president, Mr. Turner, of Toronto. They made it easy for me to get better, told me to forget entirely about the shop, and all this experience makes me not only grateful to the company and the men I have worked with so long, but also to the council, and the host of citizens who, as they say in baseball, have been 'rooting' for me to get better.

We have a fine city and good people, neighbors in the literal meaning of the word, and I feel sure that with such real people Peterborough should have no doubts about its future."

first bell but Watson took evasive action and the crowd got a big kick out of seeing the Whipper's quick moves make the Doc miss badly. Hall got tired of that after a while and proceeded to give the champ the well-known works. Hall is a master workman at that kind of thing and he cut loose with his whole repertoire to give Watson all kinds of trouble keeping himself in one piece. The Californian was playing for keeps and there was plenty of fast and lively action before the Whip finally got an opening and disposed of Hall with a series of the holds from which the champ got his nickname. In other words he used the Watson whip to grab off the first fall.

It was just as lively in the second round, with Hall a bit peeved at the reverse and working at top speed in an effort to even up the match.

Champ Is Thrown

The battlers mixed it in lively style with honors about even until finally the Californian caught Watson coming off the ropes and met him with an elbow smash flush on the button. That rap shook up the Whip, and finding that bit of strategy working all right Hall kept right on with it, clipping the champ on the jaw three or four times and softening him so that it was an easy matter to throw him with a headlock and pin his shoulders on the mat.

That fall made everything even and the battlers continued the feud in lively fashion when the third round began. There was no lag in the argument and Hall, always boring in, made Watson step lively. In fact it looked for a while as if the Californian was going to pull an upset at the expense of the Whipper. He staged an attack that saw him roll Watson out of the ring and as he came back the Doc apparently tossed him for the count with a headlock. Watson's feet were caught in the ropes, however, and when Referee Maxwell spotted that a moment later he changed his decision and let the bout go on. Then came the deciding fall when the Whip tore into Hall after the latter had donned his bathrobe, thinking the tussle was ended. Before the Doc could begin to figure out what the score was he found himself pinned and the bout was over.

Maxwell the Hero

The hero of the semi-final bout, believe it or not, was none other than Referee Bert Maxwell, who took a barrage of blows from Brooklyn's Al Smth and roared back to fell the big fellow with a straight punch to the jaw. Then he disqualified Smith for his attack, declared Bill Stack the winner and everybody was glad except the Brooklynite. Stack was an added starter on the card. The big Bowmanville youngster is coming along fast. In spite of the fact that someone must have sold the Brooklyn grappler the idea that he was wrestling Noel Coward, and he worked on that basis to give Stack plenty of abuse, the youngster stuck to his guns., He had his moments too for he slapped a hammerlock on the burly Smith and the big fellow from Brooklyn had quite a time breaking it.

When he finally broke loose Smith sailed into the Bowmanville boy with both fists swinging and when Maxwell tried to interfere the Brooklyn battler landed three punches on the jaw of the official, knocking him down. Then he went back to continue belting Stack. Finally Maxwell got on his feet and laid Smith low with a right swing to the jaw. Then the official raised Stack's arm in token of victory.

None other than Al Bunny Dunlop won the opening bout after a bruising battle with a new-comer in the person of Jumping Jimmy Stewart of Chicago, Stewart didn't do much jumping at that but he made Bunny do a little at times and that went over big with the fans who like to see the Toronto strongman taken for a ride. However, Dunlop finally had the last laugh using a back-breaker to subdue the grappler from Chicago.

One-punch Maxwell refereed all three bouts and timing and announcing were taken care of by Fred Scates.

STRAWBERRY GUAVA

Delicious, Sweet and Spicy

This is a luscious tropical fruit which makes a useful as well as a charming and beautiful house plant. It bears both flowers and fruit at the same time. The flowers are pure white and delightfully fragrant. The fruit is about the size of a walnut, of a beautiful reddish color, and of delicious, sweet and spicy flavor. Fine for eating out of hand, and unsurpassed for making jelly. These plants are usually grown from seed and begin to bloom and bear fruit while quite small.

Girls Ignore Rules Brought To Court

COBOURG, Nov. 29 —(ENS) — Two inmates of the Girls Training School here, appeared in police court Tuesday on a charge of being incorrigible and with flaunting the authority of the school officials. One of them was sent on to Mercer while the other was allowed to return to the school upon her promise to try and behave. In each instance the home life of the two girls, before being taken over by provincial authorities, had been far from ideal. Magistrate R. B. Baxter in commenting on their earlier background, told the girls that the fact still remained that they were not using opportunities now availabel to them to become established as worth-while citizens.

Two Toronto Men Sent Up For Trial

COBOURG, Nov. 29 — (ENS) — Bruce Rodden and James Devlin of Toronto were committed for trial Tuesday by Magistrate R. B. Baxter on a joint-charge of theft of a car from Fred Richardson at Port Hope on October 24. Part of the evidence had been taken at a prior hearing in Port Hope and as a Crown witness was also charged, the case was laid over until he had been tried. The witness was Lawence Benks of Toronto, who was found guilty in county court last week and sentenced to 3 months.

Exciting Battle Expected In Elections

COBOURG, Nov. 29 — (ENS). — The political pot is starting to boil in Cobourg. It has been some time since the town had a toughly contested election. Too often for the satisfaction of the electors, it has been a case of candidates slipping quietly in by acclamation through the fact that only a few exhibited enough interest in public affairs to run.

A battle is expected between Jack Burnet, present mayor and ex-reeve Roy Dodge. Both are experienced councillors. Mr. Dodge resigned as reeve after being appointed acting town clerk, an appointment which didn't mature because of opposition which developed, resulting in Mr. Dodge withdrawing.

Robert Love is essaying for his old post as reeve but this position is being contested by Reuben Jackson, member of the present council, and veteran campaigner. Douglas Glenn, who was elected deputy-reeve by acclamation, can sit back and watch the fun.

Six are to be elected to council but ten are after the seats. Alan Field, Edward Morton, Jud Kennedy, James Rollings and Mrs. Clara Delany are the members of the 1944 council who are trying again. Dave Carr, James Goody, Ernest Jeffery, John Runciman and William Wenn are the non-councillor members who are in the running.

Peterborough As a City To Live In

Yesterday in these columns we wrote of Peterborough as a hospital centre, and we discussed at some length the fact that the city has outgrown its hospital facilities. It has also outgrown its recreational facilities, and it is not as good a city to live in as its industrial and commercial prosperity demands. On Monday next the ratepayers will be asked to vote on a bylaw which will provide $75,000 of city money to help in building the proposed Memorial Centre; $145,500 has already been raised for this purpose by private subscription, and sums have been promised which will raise this total to $205,500. We think that the bylaw granting aid from the city should be passed, and we think that a majority of ratepayers agree.

Peterborough is the cultural centre for a large area. When we speak of 'culture' we mean everything connected with the arts, sports and athletics, and amusements. As a cultural centre for a large district Peterborough is markedly deficient. What have we to offer? We have the movies and a few dance-halls, but people cannot go to the movies and dance all the time. We have an arena which is no longer a home for hockey. We have a Y.M.C.A. and a Y.W.C.A. which do excellent work, but even when they are doing their utmost they cannot cover all the needs of the city. The churches are centres of many activities, but a large part of the population is not actively associated with any church, and the churches cannot give their greatest effort to recreational and social work. There is a Concert Association with a large and growing membership, and the living theatre is represented by the single annual production of the P.C.V.S. Dramatic Society. There are several clubs and associations, but their membership is limited, and they do not touch the bulk of the city's population. For a city of 25,000 people we think that this is a poor showing.

The establishment of a Memorial Centre would go a long way toward altering this condition. A large part of Peterborough's population is made up of industrial workers, and something should be done to make life in Peterborough as interesting and as pleasant as possible for them. A city where there is plenty of entertainment is a happy city, and a happy city is likely to be a prosperous one, as well. The stated purpose of the Centre is to be a cultural and recreational focus for the community, providing the means for sports and athletic contests, a place where children may learn to play games under the best circumstances, a meeting place for clubs and associations, and a convenient place for cultural events of all sorts. The exact attitude of the committee toward cultural activities has not yet been made clear, and we should like to have a definite statement of policy on this aspect of the Centre; it would be a pity, and contrary to the wishes of many subscribers, if the Centre developed lop-sidedly into an entirely sporting project. However, we believe that the committee is acting in good faith, and that the project will go forward according to the promises made in the appeal for funds.

Peterborough needs what the Memorial Centre, properly managed, can give. The Centre provides the focus for a variety of activities which are now scattered through many local organizations, or which are unorganized because no such focus is available. The existence of the Memorial Centre would provide an impetus for new recreational activities of every sort in the city; it would be a blood transfusion to a community which shows symptoms of cultural anaemia. Let us give it the support it needs, and make our city a better place to live in.

Remember Hoodoo McFiggin?

The Windsor Star has a strongly puritanical streak in its editorial composition, if we may judge from this extract:

"Some years go, an organization grew up which was commonly known as the SPUG. It was the Society for the Prevention of Useless Giving, and it undoubtedly had an effect. Its object was to discourage the purchase of frivolous and extravagant articles as Christmas presents.

"The time has come to revive the society. Now, more than ever before, Yuletide spending should be kept on a sane and sensible basis. There are definite reasons why there should be no wasteful buying in time of war. Gifts should be as modest as possible, and they should be confined to articles that have a practical value".

Now although we have no desire to provoke inflation and blow the lid off the national economy, we must say that we disagree with every word of the above. We maintain that a Christmas present which is not frivolous and—even in a modest way—extravagant, is not a true gift, but merely a disagreeable donation of something which we should have been forced by necessity to buy for ourselves. Is Christmas a season to pinch pennies, and fret about usefulness and durability? Shades of Dickens! Has the Star no spirit of rejoicing at all?

Whenever we hear talk of this kind, sponsored by SPUG (how admirably that uncouth and spluttering name suits the small-souled organization for which it stands!) we think of a short story written by the late Stephen Leacock, called Hoodoo McFiggin's Christmas. Hoodoo was a small boy who had been dreaming for weeks of what Santa would bring him, and on Christmas morning he awoke to find a heap of parcels by his bed. Trembling with anticipation he opened them, and discovered a pair of good useful mittens, a suit of long winter underwear, an algebra textbook and a few other delightful surprises; so he passed the day playing with his underwear and reading his nice new algebra, trying to pretend that he was happy. Leacock had a vein of wry pathos, and this story shows it at its best.

With all the vigour of which it is capable the Examiner execrates and condemns SPUG and all it stands for. Let us celebrate Christmas sanely, by all means, and with proper regard for its sacred origin. But do sanity and reverence necessarily imply a penurious and griping concern with what is useful, and a sour-visaged repudiation of all that is frivolous and charming? Certainly there is a war, and are our men fighting in order that Canada may celebrate its Christmasses on the ultilitarian level?

No! We shout it a thousand times! No! Let us keep Christmas in the best holiday fashion, and confusion, stupefaction and everlasting damnation to SPUG!

Sniping In The Word War

Two or three times during the past week speakers on the radio have used the word 'perscription', when they meant 'prescription'. The English-speaking peoples are notoriously careless and slipshod in their speech, and this has accounted for many changes in it: 'Wooster' for 'Worcester', and 'Chumley' for 'Cholmondeley' are examples. But is it so much easier to say 'per' than it is to say 'pre' that it is worth altering a word which comes from a good Latin ancestor?

Although we are often too lazy to pronounce long words properly our zeal for writing them seems to feed upon itself. How otherwise can we account for the expression 'to quieten down' which has begun to appear in the press? If rioters in Quebec stop rioting they 'become quiet' or they may perhaps 'quiet down', although the 'down' is unnecessary; has anybody ever quieted up? But why draw it out to 'quieten down'? There seems to be no reason save the love of covering white paper with black ink.

A Very Mixed Christmas Bag

By
SAMUEL MARCHBANKS

AT Christmas everyone, unless he is an avowed enemy of reading, should be given at least one book. Therefore I make no excuse for presenting in this column what may appear at first to be a hodgepodge of every conceivable variety of book, but which actually possesses a sort of order in disorder, for it offers something for many tastes, not forgetting the youngest. Children particularly should have books, and good books, at Christmas. As soon as a child is old enough to sit up and look at pictures, it is old enough to have a book; as soon as it is able to hear its mother's voice, and take pleasure in rhythm, it is old enough for Mother Goose. I have two versions of Mother Goose on hand, both of which I recommend to you.

A YOUNG Canadian artist, Norma Jorgens, has designed six little books, each of which contains a popular nursery rhyme. The publisher (Macmillan) has arranged the books so that they unfold, becoming long strips, which is convenient for a child's reading. There are also some extra pictures related to the rhyme which the child can colour himself. These are very good value, and will be popular for a long time. A handsome Mother Goose for an older child, designed and illustrated by Tasha Tudor, has also appeared (Oxford) containing seventy-seven of the best rhymes. The pictures are charming and delicate and in excellent taste, and the book is sure to be cherished by any child lucky enough to get it. The Jorgens books are for children from two years old upward; the Tudor book is suitable for children from four years old.

AS always, there are plenty of Christmas novels, and it is out of the question to review them all at length. "The Building of Jalna" (Macmillan) is another in Mazo de la Roche's series of Jalna books—the ninth, to be exact, and the first considered chronologically Adeline Whiteoak, whom readers of this series have seen as a domineering and acidulous centenarian, is here shown as a young bride, coming to Canada with Captain Whiteoak to settle on the shore of Lake Ontario, and to build the house with the Indian name which is the setting of all the novels. It is needless to say more; Miss de la Roche's creation is familiar to hundreds of thousands of readers, and they will be eager to complete their knowledge of it; and of course if you know nothing of Jalna, this is the proper book with which to begin.

HERE are two novels for readers who like unusual themes. The first is "The Sun and The Moon" by Judith Cape (Macmillan) which is the story of a girl who is born during an eclipse of the moon, and who discovers while still a child that she is capable of being merged in thought and feeling with other people and even with inanimate objects. When she falls in love this peculiarity of her temperament leads inevitably to a curious and pathetic conclusion. The other book is "Brook Willow" by Nella Gardner White (Macmillan). This also is a study of an unusual personality. A pianist of renown tries to commit suicide, and when she fails she is put in the care of a psychiatrist who attempts to resolve her problems. He discovers that the element in her life which she is seeking to regain is something which he also needs, and this unity of desire creates a strong bond between them.

FOR those who want a novel of adventure Thomas H. Raddall presents "Roger Sudden" (McClelland & Stewart), the background of which is the founding of the city of Halifax in Nova Scotia. Mr. Raddall's work has been familiar to readers of historical fiction since the great success of "His Majesty's Yankees" in 1942. The present book is an excellent, rapidly-moving story with an historical setting of the greatest interest to Canadians. The English, the French, the Indians—all three intensely jealous and suspicious, made up a world in which a daring man might make a fortune rapidly, and end by losing his scalp in a night, or being shot as he travelled from town to town. Mr. Raddall has already shown himself adroit at fiction in this manner, and his new novel will increase his reputation.

TO conclude, there are two books of verse which are of unusual interest. First is "The Burning of The Leaves, and Other Poems," the last works of Laurence Binyon (Macmillan). Though he wrote comparatively little, and did not publish all he wrote, Binyon was a poet of genuine inspiration, and fine ear. A few of his poems will keep his memory green when more immediately important figures have been forgotten. Admirers of his work will be glad to have these nine last poems. "England" is yet another anthology, compiled by a committee of the English Association, and introduced by Harold Nicholson. It is a very good anthology, and it presents a picture of several of the most amiable elements of the English character. But although I yield to no one in my admiration of the English people I find a book which is one long solemn hurrah for them a bit of a bore. Like all other races, they are nicest when they are not blowing their own horn. But the anthology is first-rate for bedside reading and will give great pleasure if not taken in too large doses.

Forgotten Man

It is still too soon for Canada's "Forgotten Man" in World War II to be selected but, at the moment, it looks as though Lt.-Col. Dollard Menard, Hero of Dieppe, might be a strong contender for that anoymous honour. When he had partially recovered from his wounds, this fine officer was brought home and publicized, exploited and pushed from pillar to post in order to promote the sale of Victory Bonds. He did everything that was asked of him generously and uncomplaining, although some of it at least must have been distasteful to him. Then, when he had served his purpose, he was dropped from sight.

At a later date, Lt.-Col. Menard re-appeared in command of a battalion that took part in the brief invasion of the Aleutian Islands but since then the veil of silence has re-descended. Surely, if it is desired to encourage recruiting it would pay to treat one of Quebec's foremost volunteers more handsomely than this? If our information is correct, he is without present employment and although it may be assumed that he is no longer fit for active service, his experience ought to be most valuable in some instructional or administrative post.—Quebec Chronicle-Telegraph.

"THE KING IS DEAD—?"

Press of Canada and Conscription

(KINGSTON WHIG-STANDARD)

IT is already apparent that the press of Canada is dividing into three well-defined sections in discussion of the conscription issue. A substantial group of newspapers are attempting to judge the matter impartially, and these see in the Government's action assurance that adequate reinforcements will be provided for Canadian soldiers overseas. Membership in this group is not confined to English-speaking Canada; more than one French-language newspaper has counseled moderation. Come of these newspapers favoured conscription in the past, and some opposed it, but they are not allowing their previous convictions to blind their judgement, which has to be based on today's circumstances.

Another group continues its carping at the Government, refusing to acknowledge the obvious fact that the Government has kept its promise to the people, and has implemented a measure of conscription to deal with an unforeseen emergency. This group imputes motives, and makes all manner of wild accusations.

The third group is contained chiefly in the Province of Quebec, and its criticism of the Government matches in violence that of the group referred to immediately above. This section of the press refuses to admit that the graveness of the emergency demanded that the Government take unprecedented action to meet it; the cry of these newspapers is treachery, betrayal and conspiracy.

We would like to offer our readers examples of the comment made by these three groups, and we therefore reproduce short excerpts, first from newspapers which have attempted to appraise the matter impartially as follows:

OTTAWA CITIZEN—Democracy is operating in Canada. The Government's decision to take the responsibility of sending trained reinforcements overseas by the national selective draft is political democracy in action. It should be a great forward step toward eliminating "conscription" as a political football....

MONTREAL LA PRESSE—Having to make a choice between two evils, the Prime Minister has taken the one he considers the lesser. He would rather order a certain compulsory measure than see a split in the country and disorders of all kinds....But the Government is not rejecting the principle of voluntary enlistment; on the contrary, the intention is to use it to the extreme limit. The new powers will be enforced only in the event of a failure....

In any event, let us hope that the crisis now is avoided, and that the spirits put on fire by a campaign surely worthy of a better cause, will find again the necessary calm and moderation to get an exact idea of our national problems. Canadian unity remains the foundation of the war effort of Canada. Nobody has the right to forget that....

TORONTO STAR—The Government has done everything possible to preserve national unity. It has adopted the compulsion to which a substantial section of the public is hostile, but has done so only when the alternative would be a lack of reinforcements for Canada's infantry overseas. As soon as General McNaughton reported that his plan for purely voluntary reinforcements was not meeting with success, the Government acted.

WINNIPEG FREE PRESS—The pledges and commitments entered into in 1942 have been honoured....There remains today only the loyal acceptance of this decision by the country as a whole....There are many anti-conscriptionists in Canada outside Quebec....But...it is from Quebec that the loudest voices are to be heard in denunciation of conscription or any steps leading toward it. That is why it is most important today to address to that province the appeal to a democratic minority to accept with good will the verdict and will of the majority of the people....

From the next group, that which refuses to see anything good in the actions of the present Government, the following typical examples are taken:

WINNIPEG TRIBUNE—Mr. King is still playing for time....This is Mr. King's device for postponing until next May the application of the principle of conscription for overseas service. ..Gen. McNaughton's explanation of how the Order-in-Council is to be applied makes it perfectly evident that no NRMA man will be sent overseas if the Minister can possibly avoid it....Mr. King and his partisans will be able to say to the people of Quebec that no one man has been sent overseas except as a volunteer. They will be able to show that they went to unbelievable lengths of ingenuity in sheltering those who disdain sharing responsibility and who have nothing but contempt for the principle of equality of sacrifice.

TORONTO GLOBE AND MAIL—By the Order-in-Council which Mr. King read to the House the Defence Minister is empowered to use conscription to make up the admitted shortages of reinforcements overseas to the limit of 16,000. To this extent the Prime Minister has completely reversed himself, but only to accommodate further trickery....

The Prime Minister has chosen still another compromise, the most contemptible yet, in preference to forthright action, in his effort to be all things to all men. What appeared to be conscription for overseas service turns out to be conscription for coercion. By this twist Mr. King has sought to shift the responsibility for using conscription from the Government to the Defence Minister.

There is no need to quote more than one example of the third group, which condemns even the faintest semblance of conscription no matter how grave the need. The quotation follows:

MONTREAL LA PATRIE—History will register as one of the most deadly and blameworthy political moves in our Canadian records the conspiracy by means of which conscriptionists have succeeded in bringing Federal Government to take the decision made public yesterday. Deadly conspiracy, because the conscriptionists did not hesitate to undermine the foundation on which all political parties, even themselves, agreed to build national unity at the start of the war. Blameworthy conspiracy, because it drives our country, after five years of a magnificent war effort, to defeat in the task toward which the efforts of all Canadians should have been pledged—the task of assuring peace in our own country....

The sets of excerpts quoted above afford an excellent example of a group trying to pursue the middle road, the safe and sane path which will do most to heal whatever hard feelings have been created by the heated controversies of past weeks, and they afford an equally excellent example of two groups determined to cling to their extreme viewpoints, come hell or high water.

Each of the extremists groups prates incessantly about the damage done to national unity by all who refuse to subscribe to its views. Compromise is to each unheard-of weakness; no attempt is made to view the matter dispassionately. There are but two courses, and that sponsored by each group is the one true faith according to its proponents. Damned forever are those who either oppose or seek compromise.

It will be easily apparent to reasonable people which of the three groups is making a contribution to national unity. Nothing but disruption can be achieved by an unbending determination of any group to force its will upon another—and that is the least accusation the extremist sections of the press of Canada have to face.

NO JOINT VOTE

One question at least has been firmly settled in Canada's favour at the world aviation conference in Chicago. The principle that the British Dominions shall have individual representation in any international aviation organization has been accepted. When the United States first urged the creation of an assembly of nations to deal with aviation, and a council to act as its executive, it proposed that the British Commonwealth be represented in the executive by two votes. The United States and Russia also would have two votes. In such a proposal the United States, despite all the lessons of history, assumed that the interests of all the Commonwealth nations were identical, and that all would inevitably want to vote alike in any international conference. Canada, of course would not accept such a principle for a moment Due, no doubt to Canada's views, the United States immediately abandoned this plan and now agrees that the executive be composed of sixteen nations chiefly interested in aviation and that all shall have equal voting power.—Winnipeg Free Press.

A Bible Message

I am the Lord, and there is none else, there is no God beside me: I girded thee, though thou hast not known me: that they may know from the rising of the sun, and from the west, that there is none beside me. I am the Lord, and there is none else....

Woe unto him that striveth with his Maker! Let the potsherd strive with the potsherd of the earth. Shall the clay say to him that fashioneth it. What makest thou? or thy work, He hath no hands? Woe unto him that saith unto his father, What begettest thou? or to the woman, What hast thou brought forth?

Thus saith the Lord, the Holy One of Israel, and his Maker, Ask me of things to come concerning my sons, and concerning the work of my hands command ye me. I have made the earth, and created man upon it: I, even my hands, have stretched out the heavens, and all their host have I commanded. (Isa. 45: 5, 6, 9-12.)

HAPPY RELEASE

SERVING CHOCOLATE

In Honduras the traditional wedding drink is chocolate. The custom goes back to pre-Columbus days, when it was customary for an Indian youth to propose marriage by sending a matron to the girl's home with a gift of enough cocoa for a feast.

If the girl accepted the present, she meant "yes." Then by way of a marriage announcement, she sent back enough cocoa for two parties, one at his home and one at the home of her relatives.

From this two-for-one custom grew the question, "When will you be serving chocolate?" Meaning, "When will you be married?"—Minneapolis Star Journal.

Letter To The Editor

MIGHTY POSTWAR MARKET

Sir,—I see by your market columns that, according to Ottawa's bureau of statistics, "Canada has shipped over 2 billion pounds of bacon to Britain in the past five years."

This million tons of "Bacon for Britain" represents just five million tons of "feed" and, while it looks a rather slight affair when placed alongside the 33,000,000 tons of wheat and flour exported in those same years, has doubtless made many hundreds of thousands of permaent customers for us, in "the tight little Isle."

I am not one who fears the return of the Danish product onto that British market; because I feel that it is mere hoggish stupidity to dream of holding our present monopoly share of that immense trade. On the contrary, I think we should be willing to "live and let live," and recognize that there are mutual benefits in getting the hungry millions across unhappy Europe back onto their feet, and into production. There is room for all, in the wider international co-operation which will grow out of today's agony.

Only this morning I read a statement by a W.F.A. officer just returned to Washington, from a survey of Britain, Russia, France, from the food viewpoint, bluntly intimating that "Russia could absorb ten times the food tonnage the United Nations are sending her today."

If those words mean what they say—the less we hear from some well-fed economists in North America about "a food surplus," the better.

It has been aptly said, somewhere, that more food will be outbound from Canadian ports in the next five years than in the past five! Without having as much data on the subject as I would like, my thought is in agreement on that point. The farmer may need direction on this front or that, but, also, the green light is essential.

Glory In Canada's Air Record

By B. T. RICHARDSON

OTTAWA: In these days, the public has a surfeit of stories of battles and of individual actions of men in military operations. The cool courage of the lad who gains a sight upon an enemy aircraft and presses a short burst of gunfire into it till it swerves and breaks and spirals down in flames is still the basic quality by which the war is won or lost. It has been exemplified many thousands of times. It is the supreme quality of war; yet the mere weight of numbers in the examples that are found in the day's news tends to blunt the public interest. A chapter is closing and with it the news of war is taking on a transitory character.

But the story of the Canadian in World War II. is the stuff of which legend will be added to the stock equipment of the Canadian mind. In a short foreword to: "The R.C.A.F. Overseas: The First Four Years," Air Minister C. G. Power wrote of the part that Canadian flyers are playing in the war "Their story is precious to our country."

Their story now begins to come into permanent perspective for us, and the historical section of the R.C.A.F., in issuing this book of 375 pages of details and pictures, has produced the first volume about Canada's share in the fighting of this war that will serve as a permanent record.

"The R.C.A.F. Overseas" takes the story from the first of the war down to August, 1943, the landing on Sicily. In this record it is only natural that one should read with keenest interest the story of Canadians in the Battle of Britain in 1940. The R.C.A.F. had one squadron of Hurricanes in that battle. It was led by Squadron Leader (now Group Captain) Ernest A. McNab of Regina. No. 1 Squadron R.C.A.F. was engaged in the Battle of Britain for eight weeks and its score was 31 enemy aircraft destroyed, 28 officially credited as damaged, with a loss of 16 Hurricanes, three pilots of which were killed, ten others wounded or injured, and others made successful escapes by parachute from their crippled aircraft.

Out of this battle, three Canadian airmen won the Distinguished Flying Cross, McNab, Flight Lieutenant G. R. McGregor, and Flying Officer D. B. Russel. At the start of the Battle of Britain, No. 1 Squadron R.C.A.F. was completing its operation training. But McNab and McGregor were attached to 111 R.A.F. Squadron for operational experience, and on August 15, 1940, when the squadron went up to intercept a large formation of German planes, McNab shot down a Dornier 215 bomber over the Thames Estuary. This was the first German plane shot down by the R.C.A.F. in this war.

First assignment for No. 1 R.C.A.F. Squadron was to patrol over Northolt air base in August, 1940. For eight days they waited, but no Germans appeared. The Germans were not attacking air bases, but aircraft factories. The squadron was moved to North Weald. On their second patrol, they found action. Between 25 and 30 Dorniers, escorted by Messerschmitt fighters, approached. A British Spitfire squadron drew off the fighter escort, and the bombers were left to the Canadians. Here follows the story of that first engagement:

"McNab led his Hurricanes into the sun in line astern, climbed, shifted the formation to sections in echelon to starboard, dived on the quarry from 16,000 feet, with all guns blazing. McNab destroyed the bomber on the left wing of the enemy formation, but was forced to land as his own aircraft had been damaged by the Hun's return fire. FO. R. L. Edwards, flying as Blue 2 next McNab, opened fire from range on the next Do. in line and shot off its tails assembly. But the enemy rear gunners had found their mark on Edwards's Hurricane and he went spinning out of control, crashed and was killed. Another Hurricane, flown by FO. J. P. J. Desloges, was also damaged in the combat, but like McNab, he was able to make a safe landing. Meanwhile, Red section, led by McGregor and made up of FO.'s H. DeM. Molson and A. D. Nesbitt, engaged the enemy. McGregor destroyed one Do. and each of his section mates damaged another. In another section, FL. V. B. Corbett and FO. T. B. Little each damaged a bomber. Thus, in their squadron's first encounter with the enemy, the R.C.A.F. pilots, with a score of three Dorniers destroyed and four damaged, proved worthy successors of the great Canadian air fighters of the past. Their losses were one pilot killed (FO. Edwards), one Hurricane destroyed and two damaged. The squadron returned to Northolt at dusk."

As a matter of record, the first R.C.A.F. Squadron to arrive overseas in this war was No. 110 (City of Toronto) army co-operation squadron. It arrived in England on Feb. 20, 1940. It was led by Squadron Leader W. D. Dan Vliet. The first R.C.A.F. officer in action in this war was Squadron Leader W. I. Clements, who was attached to the R.A.F in the Advanced Air Striking Force in France in September, 1939. He flew a Blenheim on a reconnaissance trip into Germany on Sept. 29, 1939.

From these early beginnings, the R.C.A.F. has grown to its present strength. The official record, as the passage quoted shows, it written in an interesting style. It is not a dust-dry document, but a report on living history. The proceeds of this book will go to the R.C.A.F. benevolent fund.

Soldiers Should Get Rest—Power

OTTAWA, Nob. 29 — (CP) — Declaring neither victory nor national honor required that Canadian troops be in continuous action, Hon. C. G. Power, said Monday in the Commons that a course of "systematic recuperation" for the army overseas would have resulted in the voluntary method of recruiting proving sufficient at this stage of the war when victory seemed certain.

He was speaking on his resignation as Air Minister from the Cabinet in protest to the policy of conscription which, he said, was not the policy of the government last Wednesday night.

Maj. Power spoke after Prime Minister Mackenzie King had announced he had accepted Maj. Power's resignation, tendered last Thursday, and read an exchange of letters.

In the exchange, Maj. Power wrote he had disagreed with the policy of Col. J. L. Ralston, who resigned as Defence Minister Nov. 1, on the grounds that the number of troops reported as required "was comparatively so small" the means to remedy the situation "so readily available" and the end of the war "so imminent" that "we were not justified in provoking a national scission."

Rejected By Ralston.

He couldn't accept from Gen. McNaughton, appointed Defence Minister Dec. 2, a recommendation which he had already rejected from an "old and tried associate."

In his reply, dated yesterday, Mr. King said he had hoped Maj. Power would reconsider his decision.

Previously, Maj. Power — looking pale and weary—got a general ovation as he rose to speak from a private member's seat in the government front benches.

An officer of the First Great War, he said the strategy of Gen. Eisenhower was to give the enemy no rest. And this implied a ready stream of reinforcements.

However, no commander would take experienced men out of the battle line to be replaced by newly-arrived men and this policy might easily mean more casualties.

Restore Balance

So, it seemed to him the logical and reasonable thing was to take men out of the line and the resultant lowering of casualty rates by periods of comparative inactivity would wipe out "the margin of deficit, if any exists, and restore the balance."

"Neither ultimate victory for national honor," he said, "require that Canadian troops should be in action every hour of every day, or even should take part in every battle necessary to bring about final victory, especially when thousands of Europeans, freshly freed from the tyranny and unspeakable terror of Nazi oppression, are panting for vengeance on the oppressor."

He added:—

"If the course of systematic recuperation were taken than the voluntary system which we have been following, which yielded more men last year than was ever estimated or even anticipated, which in the words of the present minister of national defence has not failed, would have sufficed at this stage of the war when by the most authoritative accounts victory is certain."

A Hero Dies

CHICAGO, Nov. 29 — (AP) — Capt. John McGee Gilchrist, 51, Chicago, who shot down 28 enemy planes as a member of the Royal Flying Corps in the First Great War before he was shot down by the German ace, Baron Von Richthofen, in 1917 over France, died last night, apparently of a heart ailment.

Minister Moved

BROCKVILLE, Nov. 29 — (CP) — Rt. Rev. John Lyons, Anglican Bishop of the Diocese of Ontario, announced yesterday the appointment of Rev. Edgar Legrow as rector of Elizabeth Town parish, succeeding Rev. A. B. Caldwell, who has resigned the rectorship and been granted two months' leave of absence. Mr. Caldwell will live at Gananoque, Ont.

Mr. Legrow, a graduate in arts of the University of King's College, Halifax, and in theology of Montreal Diocesan Theological College, previously was missioner at Wolfe Island, Pittsburgh, Ont.

Dr. Len Hall Fails To Defeat Whipper Billy Watson

Whipper Watson came within an ace of being defeated in the main bout of the Tunney wrestling show at the Brock Street Arena last night when he met Dr. Len Hall in a no-time limit battle that was substituted at the last moment for the Katan-Watson match for the British Empire title, a tilt that was off because Katan injured his hand in Ottawa the previous night.

As a matter of fact the Californian had been awarded the third and deciding fall, but a moment later Referee Maxwell reversed his ruling when he discovered that the Whipper's feet were entangled in the ropes. Meanwhile the jubilant Hall had donned his bathrobe ready to leave the ring and he was a setup for Watson who rushed over, tossed the Californian with a head lock and threw him for the deciding fall, bathrobe and all.

Beaten in a match that he had apparently shoved in the bag, the Doc was a decidedly angry individual. He shoved Maxwell around, tore across the ring and almost smothers Watson with his bathrobe and staged a storm scene that had the place in an uproar. The near-riot failed to change the decision and the Whip left the ring a winner.

It was a tough battle, however, and 70 minutes hard wrestling was necessary to get a winner. Watson took the first fall in 25 minutes. Hall evened it up at the end of 15 minutes, and then the two battled it out for a long third round before Whipper finally won the deciding fall.

Cowley Still On Top With 22 Points

TORONTO, Nov. 29 — Bill Cowley, demon pass-maker of Boston Bruins, leads the National Hockey League scoring race with 22 points, according to the latest figures released from the Montreal head office.

Veteran Bill has sniped eight goals and assisted on 14 others.

Toe Blake, Canadiens, and Clint Smith, Chicago, are tied for second place with 20 points. Leafs' Gus Bodnar and Sid Howe of Detroit, have equal grips on third spot with 19 marks apiece.

Bodnar tops all the playmakers with 15 assists. Following him are Cowley, Smith and Howe with 14 each.

Maurice Richard, Canadiens' prize sophomore, is the leading goal scorer. He has beaten netminders 12 times to displace injured Sweeney Schriner who holds second place with Bill Mosienko of Chicago. Each has scored 11 times.

SPORTS - Day by Day

By FRED D. CRAIG

The bylaw to make possible a civic grant of $75,000 to the Memorial Health Centre project is the final step in the financing of a community enterprise that will put Peterborough in the forefront of Canadian municipalities in the matter of adequate and modern sport and recreation accommodation. The citizens have already demonstrated their faith in the undertaking by subscribing over $200,000. It would be a paradox, therefore, if the bylaw should fail to secure the support of more than 50 per cent of the ratepayers who cast their ballots next Monday. The only way in which the bylaw can be defeated is through the indifference of a community that has already supported the movement by voluntary giving to the tune of better than $200,000. It is up to every friend of the Memorial Centre to vote for the bylaw if he is a ratepayer or to induce those who are property-voters to support the measure. In other words if you can't vote for the Memorial Health Centre bylaw, talk for it. Every sport lover, every friend of young people in the community, should be solidly behind this measure.

The Friday night card in the Ladies' Basketball League at the Y.W.C.A. promises to furnish another interesting evening for cage fans, matching the thrills of the first two nights. In the senior division Transports and C.G.E., both of whom were beaten in their first start by St. John's will clash and that of course means that the loser will be on the bottom in the league standing with two defeats and no wins. That should make for an exciting battle. Mary McPherson and her C.G.E. players would enjoy taking a fall out of last year's champs and the Electricians will field their strongest team in an effort to do that very thing. On the other hand Transports, after blowing their opening game to the Saints are anxious to break into the win column as soon as possible and hope to do it at the expense of C.G.E. In the junior fixture Y Grads who swamped Normals last Friday night will meet the Westclox girls. The latter are strengthened since their first appearance and hope to give the Grads a real battle for the honors. Altogether it looks like an interesting card.

Favors Irish Now

Chick Appel of the Stratford Beacon-Herald now thinks St. Mike's are the team to beat for Junior A honors. Here are his views: "The twin junior bill Saturday afternoon definitely stamped St. Mike's as the club to beat for the marbles. Father Mallon has a wealth of talent and none of the players is a weak sister. The Irish have so much reserve playing material that Gus Mortson was one of their stars who wasn't even dressed for the game. That will give you some idea of the strength of the St. Mike's. The Irish are fortunate in being permitted to import so many players, but after this season things may not be so rosy, because Frank Sargent of Port Arthur, president of the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association, warned Father Mallon that in future it will not be considered a legitimate move, in the eyes of the C.A.H.A., because a player enrols at a preparatory school. When that legislation becomes effective a year hence, as Mr. Sargent announced definitely it would be, a lot of hockey clubs will consider it a move in the right direction, because it should eliminate the packing of teams through the much abused student clause."

George Campbell is back at his Oshawa typewriter after a hunting trip and he has this to say about the Generals: "We hear they had more than 3,300 cash customers at the opening game here in Oshawa against Young Rangers. Tonight will give us our first look of this season's edition of the Generals in competitive action. Our operators report that both Crowdis and Gibson are top-notch goalies and that the Generals have a better defense than they have started out with for several seasons. Well, that leaves it up to Coach Chas. Conacher to produce a couple of forward lines with scoring punch from the material on hand. Saturday night hockey games have become almost as institutional here in Oshawa as they are at Maple Leaf Gardens and there'll be another good crowd on hand tonight. Incidently, the first Junior schedule gave Oshawa fans 12 Saturday night games out of 13 "home" fixtures. Now that a new schedule may have to be drawn up, it is hoped that if the schedule is revised, that Oshawa gets as many Saturday night games as possible. They may not change the schedule much after all, merely leaving the Hamilton games as optional nights for either an ex. game or a "bye." By the way, Port Colborne Juniors gave St. Catharines a real scare last night, 5-3, for the Falcons and they had to go all-out."

Mike Is Puzzled

Mike Rodden, Kingston sports scribe is puzzled at the vagaries of the football season and frankly admits the fact in the following paragraph: "Never before in history have there been so much confusion and so many upsets. Look them over—Balmy Beach outclassed the Trojans at Ottawa and then lost to the same team at Toronto. Hamilton, without the services of the great Joe Krol, gained a nine-point lead over Balmy Beach at Hamilton and with Krol in the line-up were shut out at Toronto by 6 to 0. Trojans gave Wildcats two close battles and might have won both of them. Joe Krol is rated as Canada's greatest player, yet when he was absent through illness the Wildcats did not lose a game. With Krol in the line-up they were vanquished by Balmy Beach twice and by Donnaconas once and, as stated before, just squeezed home ahead of the Trojans on two occasions. If anyone can make any sense out of all this he must be a wizard. If anyone thinks that there is an outstanding team in Canada he is probably mistaken. If anybody imagines that veteran football observers know what they are talking about he has been misinformed. And if anybody can figure out how a team can rightfully claim the Canadian championship after losing the Navy title on its own grounds by 12 to 1 he must be possessed with triple insight."

In baseball it has long been accepted as a truism that a released player invariably plays his best ball against the club that let him go and the same thing seems to be the case in professional hockey. Flash Hollett used to be one of the most useful members of the Boston Bruins' club but Art Ross traded him to Detroit. And what happens? Well, Mr. Hollett has taken a supreme delight ever since in slapping down the Rossmen. Last night the Red Wings visited Boston and Hollett, besides playing a bangup game on defence scored two goals and set up another as the gang piloted by Jack Adams picked up a 6 to 3 win that tightened their grip on third place, and left them only a game behind the second-place Toronto Leafs and three points from the league-leading Canadiens. Detroit won last night's affair in the first period when they set up a two-goal lead and they were never headed after that auspicious opening.

O'Connor Gets Four Goals Against Hull Volants

OTTAWA, Nov. 29 — (CP). — Jimmy O'Connor, who made his debut in senior hockey company here last night as a member of Montreal Royals, dealt Hull Volants a double dose of grief by scoring four goals to pace Royals to a 9-2 decision over Volants in a Quebec Senior Hockey League fixture before a paid crowd of 2,721.

Volants were in the picture only briefly. They got the first goal when Eddie Amboise polished off a three-way play with Edgar Mentzel and Rod Lorrain, but from then on the Royals had things all their own way.

The Montrealers, cutting pretty patterns with their passing, skated Volants to a standstill. They led 3-1 at the end of the first period, held the lead by a 4-2 count at the second interval, but even then were in no serious danger of suffering their initial setback.

Royals broke loose with five goals in the final frame. Jack Carthy was O'Connor's closest rival with a goal and two assists, while Ernie Laforce, Henry Hayes, Gerry Heffernan and Mike McMahon supplied the remaining Royal counters. McMahon was making his first start of the season.

Hockey Moguls Meet Saturday

TORONTO, Nov. 29 — (CP). — Ontario Minor Hockey Association officials said today a record attendance is anticipated at the Association's 10th annual meeting in Toronto Saturday. Delegates to the meeting have been invited to attend the Ontario Hockey Association's annual conference of referees the same day.

Already midget and juvenile entries have been received from St. Andrew's College, Aurora, and Bowmanville and juvenile entries from Cobourg, Delhi, Hespeler, Simcoe, Tavistock and Welland. Juvenile and bantam entries have been received from Kingston and a bantam entry from Elmira.

Secretary J. L. Christie made public a paragraph from a letter he received recently from St. Catharines saying that the O.H.A. junior A team from that city — currently tied with Toronto St. Michael's College for first place in the junior A series — has nine players developed on the bantam, midget and juvenile teams. "If we can eventually produce an O.H.A. team of homebrews then we will feel that all these morning practices at 6.30 . . . were not in vain."

Joe Krol, star quarterback of the Hamilton Wildcats, is winner of the Imperial Oil trophy as the Ontario Rugby Football Union's most valuable player who combines sportsmanship with his performance.

Announcement of the award was made at Toronto last night by Frank Lenard, president of the O.R.F.U. Its award is on the basis of votes by players on all league teams. The 1943 winner was Bob Cosgrove of Toronto R.C.A.F. Hurricanes.

Krol was the leading scorer in the O.R.F.U. this past season. Honorable mention went to Arnie McWatters of Ottawa; Ross McKelvey and Sammy Sward of Toronto Balmy Beach; Bill O'Breza of Hamilton and Gord Brennan and Jim Cummings of Toronto Indians.

Executive of the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association at a Toronto meeting in Christmas week will decide the venue of next spring's Allan Cup final for the Canadian Senior Amateur Hockey championship. Representatives of the C.A.H.A. conferred in Toronto yesterday with officials of the Vancouver Exhibition Association to discuss the possibility of holding the Allan Cup final at Vancouver.

Pittsburgh Hornets yesterday acquired a new centre and two new wingmen from Montreal Canadiens. They are Johnny Mahaffey, centre, and wingmen Gerry Plamondon and Claude Campeau. Art Giroux, Hornet right wing, was sold to St. Louis Flyers.

Hal Newhouser of Detroit has been named the American League's most valuable player, the second left-handed hurler chosen since the Baseball Writers' Association of America first made the award in 1911. The Tigers' temperamental twirler edged out Paul Trout, his right-hand pitching partner, by a narrow margin.

At Toronto last night the Incorporated Canadian Racing Association announced that the suspension of the Chris Stable of Kitchener and of Trainer Bill Chris has been lifted. The suspensions were made during the recent meeting at Dufferin Park. One Chris horse, Mere Frolic, remains suspended.

Thomas A. Teather, former coach of St. Catharines Senior Lacrosse team, last night was elected president of the St. Catharines Athletics Lacrosse Association. He is the father of three members of this year's Canadian champion Athletics, now in the armed forces—Tom, with the R.C.A., George with the R.C.A.F. overseas, and Jack with the Royal Canadian Engineers.

Detroit Clips Bruins 6-3; Cowley Gains

By The Canadian Press.

Detroit Red Wings, for the third time this season, showed they are masters over Art Ross' Boston Bruins by scoring a 6-3 victory over the Rossmen before 11,000 spectators at the Boston Garden in the only National Hockey League game last night.

The win strengthened the Border City team's hold on third place, sending them to within two points of the second place Toronto Maple Leafs.

Red Wings were paced by Veteran Bill (Flash) Hollett, former Boston star, who scored two unassisted goals and set up the first Detroit marker, made by Ted Lindsay, rookie from Kirkland Lake, Ont.

While the Wings held their American rivals scoreless in the first and last periods, they still were unable to stop Bill Cowley, classy Bruin centre, from boosting his league-leading point total to 24. He got an assist with veteran Herbie Cain on Bill Jennings' first goal of the second period and also on Pat Egan's counter in the same session.

Lindsay and Jud McAtee netted the only goals of the first period and Hollett and Joe Carveth scored twice for Detroit in the second. Count Grosso got the other Wing goal.

Pat Egan, hefty Bruin defenceman, scored Boston's other goal seconds after he bounded out of the penalty box for serving his third misdemeanour of the game.

Toronto Ball Team Gets New Manager

TORONTO, Nov. 29.—When the baseballing Toronto Leafs came north from their Albany, Georgia, training camp in the spring of 1928 to open the International League season at Maple Leaf Stadium, Manager Bill O'Hara brought along a 17 year old college boy.

The youngster wasn't ready for Double-A introduction, but he was poetry in motion as a first baseman. Toronto newspapermen covering the Leaf training were so enthusiastic over the lad's fielding they persuaded O'Hara to allow him to come north so local fans could get a look at him. One of his loudest boosters was Charley Good, Sr., now official scorer at Maple Leaf Stadium.

To-day that college boy of 1928 Harry Albert Davis of Shreveport, Louisiana, is the playing-manager of the Toronto Leafs for next year. His appointment was announced yesterday.

Harry was attending Centenary College in Shreveport in 1928, but his mind was on baseball and not his studies. He persuaded Johnny Prudhomme, then an up-and-coming pitcher with the Leafs, to take him to the Leaf camp at Albany, Georgia.

The late Bill O'Hara paraded young Davis around the Stadium for two weeks before packing him off to the New York-Pennsylvania League. At the time Dale Alexander was Toronto's first sacker. Two years later Harry was back in Toronto as Alexander's successor. Big Dale had gone to Detroit.

Davis followed Alexander to the Tigers as his understudy in 1932, did so well he took over the job while "The Ox" was traded to Boston.

Harry's first official assignment with Leafs will be as a representative at the winter baseball meeting in Buffalo next month.

Marksmen Face New Regulations

OTTAWA, Nov. 29— (CP)— The Dominion of Canada Rifle Association announced last night that its small bore competitions will be held during January, February and March next, when competitions will be conducted for special trophies offered by A. T. Hunt and Roden Brothers, Ltd., of Toronto, and Sir Eugene Fiset, Lieutenant-Governor of Quebec, in addition to the trophies offered by the association.

A special challenge trophy for teams has been offered by the Navy League of Canada, but this and other awards will be confined to Royal Canadian Sea Cadet teams entered in the association's competition. The Hunt Memorial Trophy will be held for the year by the unit winning it.

The Air Cadet League of Canada has provided a challenge trophy for air cadets entered in cadet competitions. Teams of Ontario school cadets of all services will compete for the Roden Brothers Trophy, to be known as the Province of Ontario Challenge Trophy.

Lieutenant-Governor Fiset has provided a medallion to be awarded the competitor from Quebec having the highest aggregate score in the three monthly matches. About 700 teams representing units of the Canadian (Reserve) Army are expected to take part in the annual small-bore competition.

Capitals Trim St. Louis Team

By The Canadian Press

Indianapolis Capitals defeated St. Louis Flyers 3-1 last night at St. Louis in the only game scheduled in the American Hockey League. The victory put Capitals into a first-place tie with Pittsburgh in the western division.

Neither side scored during the first period, but Indianapolis started off the second with a bang when Dick Kowcinak tallied within 34 seconds. Tony Bukovich added another about the middle of the session.

Butch McDonald made the Capitals' third tally midway through the final period and about a minute later Johnny Jakkula scored Flyers' lone goal.

Hockey's Big Seven

By The Canadian Press

Falcons In Tie With St. Mike's

By The Canadian Press

St. Catharines Falcons to-day enjoyed a first place tie with Toronto St. Michaels in the O.H.A. Junior "A" circuit, each having three straight victories as a result of the Falcons' 11-2 victory on home ice over Toronto Marlboros last night.

Oshawa, in second place, has played only two games and won both of them.

Last night the Falcons led 4-0 at the end of the first period and 6-0 at the end of the second.

Peterson, Dawdy and McMurdy each scored two goals for the Falcons, the other goals coming from T. Smelle, White, Delmonte, Davis and Edwards. Kane and McNabney netted for Marlboros.

TORONTO, Nov. 29 — (CP). — Competition on Western race tracks might not be as keen as that on tracks in Eastern Canada and the United States, but it's just as tough, says little Bobby Summers of Winnipeg. The classy jockey returned home the other day after a triumphant 16-month stand on Eastern tracks.

Summers told Bill Good of the Winnipeg Tribune that the Western thoroughbred circuit, is a tough as any on the continent, although the calibre of the nags isn't as high. There is more chance of getting hurt on the small Western tracks—most are of the half-mile variety—and the jockeys aren't as capable and careful as the experts in the big time, naturally.

Summers is one of the group of Western Canadian riders who have made good in the big circuit Georgie Woolf, Ted Atkinson, Johnny Longden, Eddie and Herb Litzenberger are some of the others who got their groundwork on tracks in Calgary, Regina and Saskatoon.

Arclight rugby:

A suggestion that night football and longer schedules may have to be adopted in Ontario has been put forward by Tommy Moore in the Hamilton Spectator. It will be imposible for a team to keep on an even keel financially playing only three league games a season, says Moore, because "no longer do the athletes play for glory and tin cups." At least two games a week would have to be played to extend the schedule, and night ball is the only solution — there is a certain law against playing anything on Sundays.

Incidentally:

When Capt. Jim Sutherland of Kingston, Ont., appeared at Ontario Hockey Association annual meeting in Toronto, it was his 55th appearance at the yearly confab. Guess what Capt. Jim, staunch backer of Kingston's hockey Hall of Fame, talked about.....Jimmy Orlando, storm centre of that celebrated military service case early in the war, is stationed at Camp Debert, N.S., with the Canadian Army now. He isn't playing hockey though. The former Detroit Red Wing is in bed with several broken ribs plaster-casted after a motorcycle accident....Before Ottawa Glebe Collegiate and West High of Montreal, they were talking of the wonderful opportunities the schoolboys had for promoting amity and understanding on the football front. That faded rapidly in a riproaring dispute between the two centres, with one of the Montreal referees calling the Ottawans "stuffed shirts" and other things.

Big Will Thorne Looks To Future

By DOUGLAS AMARON
Canadian Press Staff Writr

LONDON, Nov. 29.—(CP). — Big Will Thorne, amiable and aged, hopes to live to be Britain's first centenarian member of Parliament

"There are only 13 years to go and no reason why I shouldn't make it," said he as he celebrated his 87th birthday. Then, he added with a touch of his sly humor: "I'm very healthy, and very careful about crossin- the road."

Will Thorne, who takes Turkish baths to keep his weight below 225 pounds, has been Labor M.P. for the Plaistow division of London's West Ham for 38 successive years. There is talk of younger blood in the Commons at the next Parliament, but if Labor will have him Thorne will still be there.

"I shall stand again if they want me," he said. "If the Tories like to come along with a rival all well and good. I like a good scrap and the majority will be enormous—for the Labor party."

Thorne is a "character" of the Comm s. H carries a football referee's whistle which he sometimes blows to call noisy members to order and his lively interjections at question time have become almost a part of parliamentary procedure.

He rose from humble surroundings and in his political fights for the working class has never forgotten his own early days. He began work at the age of six in a Birmingham rope factory, earning the equivalent of 50 cents a week.

"My father had been killed and as I was the eldest of four children I had to help support the family," he told a reporter on his birthday. "So I never went to school.

"Instead, every Wednesday, I went to the relief officer and got four loaves of bread and four shillings—one for each of us. There was not so much talk of social security in those days."

Typical of his labor experiences was the help he gave to gas workers in forming a union in 1889. He gathered 800 workers together on a piece of waste land in a London suburb, collected pennies in a bucket and formed a trade union that within six months reduced working hours from 12 to eight a day. Thorne was secretary of that union for 54 years.

Here are some birthday observation of this popular, hearty labor member:

End of the war: "I lost a small bet on this because I thought it would end Sept. 26. It will still end before the end of the year—I hope."

Treatment of Germany: "Maybe we shall have a sort of government official—answerable to the cabinet—installed in every district of Germany to watch over things. Yes it will take a lot of officials. But then, we have a lot of officials, haven't we?"

Hitler: "He won't be taken alive. No years of internment or exile for him. Probably commit suicide. Shooting or poisoning."

House of Commons: "We're better behaved these days. More gentlemanly. Not like the old days when you could expect a good bust-up, a bit of throwing out and plenty of life and vigor. Maybe we have been too busy concentrating on winning the war."

Car Driver Killed In Lindsay Crash

OSHAWA, Nov. 29.—Norman W. Garrard was almost instantly killed early Tuesday morning when the car in which he was riding turned over in a ditch one and a half miles south of Little Britain, just south of Lindsay.

Garrard, his wife, formerly Betty Fair, of Oshawa and Mr. and Mrs. John Fluke, Port Perry, were returning from Lindsay. Mrs. Fluke was seriously injured and is in the Ross Memorial Hospital, Lindsay. Her husband was driving. Police state that the driver, apparently swerved to miss a rabbit and the car hit the shoulder of the road. Garrard was pinned underneath the vehicle. Mrs. Garrard who suffered bruises, tramped the mile and a half back to Bethany to get help.

Garrard had played for several championship Oshawa softball teams. He was born in Whitby township and attended Public school at Thorntons Corners and the Collegiate and Vocational Institute in Oshawa.

Besides his widow and one young son, he is survived by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Garrard, R.R. 3, Thorntons Corners and one sister, Mrs. Howard Armstrong.

Airman States Boat Unsafe

TORONTO, Nov. 29 (CP)—WO. J. C. Sweet, senior N.C.O. on an R.C. A.F. crash boat at Port Stanley, testified Monday that the pleasure cruis · Olga, which partially capsized in Port Stanley Harbor last June 4, was topheavy and unseaworthy.

Sweet, who has held a Master Mariner's Certificate for 20 years, was testifying in the trial of Edward (Ted) Vining of London, Ont., charged with manslaughter in the death of 19-year-old Barbara Martin, one of 17 persons who drowned in the accident. Vining was a co-owner of the Olga, his partner, Sidney Smith, being one of the victims.

Sweet said the Olga was too long and too narrow and said his opinion was that the boat would have had trouble in heavy seas without any passengers at all.

..C. Fred Palmerchuk, one of the passengers who was rescued, said there were at least nine persons on the deck and Crown Counsel Hugh Donald of St. Thomas suggested this could tend to make the boat still more top-heavy.

Four witnesses were heard yesterday, first day of the trial.

BARGAIN SALE!

$1.70 For Only 67½ Cents

On Election Day Peterborough citizens have an opportunity of getting the biggest Municipal bargain in history. By voting FOR the money by-laws — the Memorial Health Centre, and the new Hospital — they can get $1,700,000.00 worth of fine civic equipment for only $675,000.00.

Both the Hospital and the Memorial Centre are badly needed in Peterborough. Both will make this a better place to live in; a better city. Both will contribute untold advantages in health, happiness and well-being to all citizens, young and old.

If these projects are turned down by the electors it will be a civic tragedy. It means that we will have thrown away not only better than a million dollars, but we will have set the progress of this City back many many years.

By voting FOR these projects, we not only get two great institutions that everyone agrees we need — but we get them for approximately a third of their total cost, which, on the average residential assessment in Peterborough, would work out to approximately 1c a day.

Don't let anyone confuse you about these projects. Read the facts below.

The New Peterborough Hospital

Based on our population, authorities estimate that a fully equipped modern hospital with the minimum number of beds required will cost $1,400,000.00. But, as $800,000.00 of this is already accounted for from other sources, Peterborough taxpayers are only going to be asked to approve $600,000.00.

Of the $800,000.00 already accounted for, $150,000.00 will come from the County of Peterborough. $300,000.00 will be made available from the City Trust. The Trustees of Nicholls Hospital have agreed, in addition to turning over its land, buildings and equipment, to donate the $250,000.00 in its Trust Fund. The Peterborough Public Utilities Commission have offfered to donate $50,000.00 from its surplus account, and the Department of Health for the Province of Ontario will provide another $50,000.00.

As half the Peterborough assessment is on business and industrial firms, half the cost of the new hospital will be borne by these companies. This means that Peterborough residential property owners will only have to carry half of the total assessment, or $300,000.00. This is less than one-quarter of the total cost of the hospital, and on the average assessment work out to less than 1c a day.

The Memorial Health Centre

Peterborough has given a lead to all cities in Canada and the United States in its initiative and amazing foresight in providing a living, useful memorial to its soldiers, sailors and airmen, who have paid the supreme sacrifice.

The Memorial Centre will not only be a beautiful memorial, but it will provide recreational facilities for generations to come because, not only does its plan include an artificial ice arena, but facilities for sports of all kinds; playgrounds — a gathering place for young and old alike.

Already Peterborough industry, Peterborough organizations and citizens have subscribed voluntarily some $210,000.00. This money has been given freely, without restraint and without any strings attached to it. All that is necessary now to bring this wonderful project into being is your approval of the City Grant of $75,000.00.

As in the case of the Hospital, half of this assessment will be borne by business and industrial firms and, consequently, approval of the Memorial Centre By-Law will only cost the average residential taxpayer a little more than a cent a week.

CHRISTMAS PARTIES.

Both the 4th Battery (RF) Heavy Anti-Aircraft unit and the Prince of Wales Rangers (RF) are planning to hold Christmas entertainments this year, but no dates have been chosen yet.

JOIN RANGERS.

Three new recruits in the Prince of Wales Rangers (R) have been announced. They are Leo Vincent McCue, 714 Water tareet Donald S. Maudsley, 489 Park street N., and Harvey Moore, 545 Paterson street.

FIANCEE DIES.

Engaged to be married to Signalman Kenneth Harry Burnham, son of Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Burnham, 5 Cricket Place, who is now serving overseas, Betty F. Wood. a nurse in London, England, was killed recently in a motor accident. Miss Wood was born in Lancaster, England, and was serving as a nurse in London's St. Stephen's Hospital at the time of her death.

ONE GAINED.

Between the first of April and the end of October 1944, 41 members of the Prince of Wales Rangers (R) have enlisted in Canada's Active Army, and during that same period 42 new members for the Rangers have been reported. The majority of the 41 men who enlisted were young men who joined the reserve army pending the attainment of active army age.

BICYCLES WITHOUT LIGHTS

. Complaints have been numerous about cyclists riding at night and before daylight in the morning without proper lights on their wheels and the police have started a round-up of offenders. There have been a number of narrow escapes from bad accidents in the neighborhood of the C.G.E. where traffic is heavy in the early morning hours.

DANGEROUS GARBAGE

Employees of the city incinerator found eleven loaded cartridges in a load of garbage arriving at the place today. Citizens are asked by the police to be careful about disposing of explosives. Certainly putting them out with the garbage is not listed under the heading of safe practices.

FALSE ALARM.

Firemen were called to the corner of Aylmer and Perry streets at 9:57 o'clock Tuesday evening, where the radiator of a car owned by N. W. Grieve, 380 Grady avenue, was low in water, and steaming. Someone thought the car was about to burn up, and called firemen.

SON DIES.

Thomas Robertson, sr., 263 Bethune street, has received word of the death of his son, Allen, in a Detroit Michigan Hospital, Tuesday afternoon. Born in Detroit, he worked for some time in Peterborough, including the Examiner and has many friends and relatives in this city.

OFFICERS PROMOTED.

Department of National Defence announces to-day promotion of 65 officers and ranks serving overseas. In the list are two Peterborough men both promoted from lieutenant to Acting Captain, Lieut. Norman David Bowler, 531 Douglas Avenue and Lieut. John D. Londerville of 9 Cricket Place.

BROTHER DIES

Richard James Whan, an older brother of Rev. E. J. Whan, pastor of Park Street Baptist Church, died suddenly Monday at his Toronto residence. He was the husband of Margaret Henderson and father of Murray Whan. The funeral will be Thursday at two o'clock and burial will be in Prospect Cemetery, Toronto.

Business Men Endorse Money Bylaws

The Business Men's Association endorsed Tuesday night both the money by-laws that are being referred to the property owners next Monday.

The meeting was chiefly concerned about hours of closing during the approaching holiday season. All retail stores will be open during the Wednesday afternoon prior to Christmas but will be closed all day December 26.

Some of the stores wish to continue business at night in the week before Christmas. They include jewellers, boots and shoe dealers, the furniture houses, and the three large novelty stores. It was agreed that they notify the public what evenings they would remain open.

Farmer Imports Belgian Horses

Hugh Stewart of Hilltop Stock Farm has imported a carload of pure-bred Belgian horses from Decatur, Indiana. Twenty-two of them are females, ranging from two to six years, and two are yearling stallions. Twenty are sorrels and two red roans, and all are registered stock.

"I am interested in trying to maintain the quality of our own stock and of the horses of this area generally," Mr. Stewart told the Examiner today. "Besides I know that we still have farmers who want at least one good team, and I thought we might stimulate interest among others who appreciate pure-bred registered horses. I am keeping four for our own work. My brother Jack, on the Norwood Road, is taking four, and my brother Alexander at Port Hope is also taking four.

"One of the lot is a two-year-old that I think is going to be a champion at the Royal, if it is not too long before we get the Winter Fair going again. She was undefeated this year at Indiana fairs, and that is good horse country with strong opposition. She would have to be mighty good to win down there as she has been doing. I've never had one that impresses me so much as she does. That's one I am keeping for myself."

Alderman Ovens reported the arrival of the Stewart Belgians, and described them as "beauties," and suggested "you certainly ought to see them."

Speaking incidentally of the demand for cows, Mr. Stewart said he was still shipping to Newfoundland and Connecticut. When his present orders are filled for Newfoundland delivery his total for the year to that area will be around 400 head. "We have two carloads right now going from Stratford, one for Connecticut and the other to Newfoundland."

Non-Shrinkable Sock

WASHINGTON, Nov. 29—(AP). — A non-shrinkable wool sock may be just around the corner. The United States Bureau of Standards has reported a new process has reduced shrinkage of wool socks issued to the Army to about five per cent., in contrast to about 20 or 25 per cent. for untreated socks. The process, involving calcium hypochlorite, also makes the socks last 60 per cent. longer.

Many Canadians Attend New York Opera

By MICHAEL O'MARA
Canadian Press Staff Writer

NEW YORK, Nov. 29—(CP)—A Canadian tenor singing the title role, a Canadian conductor, and numerous Canadian, celebrities in the audience, led by Princess Alice, wife of the governor-general, made Monday's opening of the Metropolitan Opera season practically all-Canadian affair.

The tenor was Raoul Jobin of Quebec City, whose smooth-flowing voice in the role of "Faust" centred attention on the stage even on opening night—when New York's "four hundred" and their friends gather primarily to be seen by one another.

The conductor was Wilfred Pelletier, director of the Montreal Conservatory of Music, who now has been wielding his baton at the Metropolitan for 25 years.

In addition to Princess Alice, other notable Canadians present included Premier Drew of Ontario and Mrs. Drew, guests of Mrs. Drew's father, Edward Johnson, manager of the Metropolitan Opera Association.

Many Notables

The audience also included a varied selection of entertainment notables as Lily Pons, Frank Sinatra and Vera Zorina, and several members of the foreign diplomatic corps.

Despite a heavy rain, the majority of the house dressed for the opening of the season.

In tribute to the presence of Princess Alice, a Canadian ensign hung from the centre of the "diamond horseshoe" beside a Stars and Stripes. Her Royal Highness wore an untreated mink cape over a white taffeta gown, and diamonds and pearls.

She is visiting New York to attend the annual meeting her of the English-speaking union.

Mr. Johnson, formerly of Guelph, Ont., announced that a capacity audience of 3,600 was seated at last night's performance, and that there were 400 standees.

Furs From Russia

TORONTO, Nov. 29—(CP)—The first direct shipment of furs to Toronto from the Soviet Union, a lot worth about $25,000, was received yesterday by the Russian Fur Company, Ltd.

Invitation To Induction And Reception

The Session of St. Paul's Presbyterian Church extends to the members and adherents of the Congregation and all friends a hearty invitation to the induction services of the new minister, Rev. Samuel Johnston, on Thursday, November 30, at seven-thirty in the evening; and to a reception being given to Mr. and Mrs. Johnston in the Sunday School auditorium immediately following the induction service.

MAY BE HEAD—Last president of the Republican Cortes, Diego Martinez Barrio, chairman of the National Spanish Committee of Liberation, is shown shortly after his arrival in New York from Mexico City. He is here to address a meeting organized by the Spanish Committee of Liberation of the U.S. Later Senor Barrio plans to go to Washington to sound out official sentiment on the proposal to establish a Spanish government in exile. In the event of Spain's return to the constitution of 1931, Senor Barrio would be the legal president of the Spanish republic.

Traffic Hazard At C.G.E. Studied Again

Board of Works Monday night returned to one of the council's later perennials, the improvement of traffic conditions along Park street in the vicinity of the Canadian General Electric Company.

Elimination of the treed gore opposite the administration building at the Park-Rink intersection is one phase of changes suggested by Alderman Dutton in a report of recent observations. That would provide a widening of Park street virtually at its junction with Rubidge street, providing space for buses to stop and wait for passengers from the plant in the rush hours.

At Towsend street, the vacant lot between Rubidge and Park streets could be made available for another bus stand adjacent to the main Park street gate, and thereby abate the congestion of traffic which the waiting busses now cause.

Alderman Dutton reported that Ian McRae, works manager of C. G.E., intimated that adequate lighting of the Park street area might be provided by the company if the broad question of widening the traffic lanes was dealt with by the council. The Board requested City Engineer Parsons to make a sketch of the C.G.E. area and report.

The chairman said his attention had recently been drawn to the surges of traffic in the C.G.E. neighborhood by the transportation group of the Accident Prevention Associations.

Bad Tie.

"The conditions are very bad," Alderman Dutton said. "Employees are in a hurry to get away, and traffic in those blocks is increased by cars coming from other factories in the south end. However, we noticed that the street is almost clear again in seven minutes. Frankly I wondered that more accidents are not caused there, and I think one thing that might be done is for all the members of the council to go down there and see for themselves the volume of traffic. Worst of all the bulk of it seems to have to cross to the east side of Park street.

Five buses came around Albert street into Park street, and stopped on the east side of Park street, opposite the administration building. They also stopped further north at the Park street gate."

Alderman Dutton suggested removal of the sidewalk on the east side of Park street, north of Albert street, and the laying of a new walk in its stead, presumably alongside the garage building at Rink and Park. North of Rink and on the east side of Park, a new sidewalk could be laid to Townsend street, replacing the cinder path that was put down some years ago, and thereby encouraging pedestrians to take that course instead of walking through the traffic across the C.G.E. plaza.

Discussion of the traffic bottlenecks in the C.G.E. area, aggravated by the tributaries from half a dozen factories within a few blocks has been heard on various occasions At one time it was suggested that the widening of Park street should extend south to the main C.P.R. tracks. Certainly a new variation of the theme is the idea of the C.G.E. offering to illumine an area where for years Fortune has been at the side of pedestrians as they crossed the road, going north, from the east side of Park street to the west side of Rubidge.

18,718 Prisoners

NEW YORK, Nov. 29. — (CP) — A total of 18,718 Australians are in Japanese prisoner of war camps according to the Australian government's latest information, Senator James Fraser, acting commonwealth army minister, said yesterday. The Australian News and Information Bureau reported the disclosure.

Ministers Ask For Fewer Beverage Rooms

Opposition to any increase in the number of beverage rooms in the city and county was submitted to the Liquor Authority Control Board by Rev. Dr. E. W. Young and Rev. E. W. Rowland at the opening of its sittings here this morning.

Affirming that he represented a substantial opinion in Peterborough, Rev. Dr. Young appealed for a reduction rather than an increase in the number of liquor authorities in this area. He also suggested that several of the hotels in Peterborough were only lodging houses with a few boarders upstairs, "and we suggest that your Board examine their registers and determine for yourselves whether they are 'bona fide' hotels."

Judge W. T. Robb, Orangeville, chairman of the Board, commented that the Board knew of no authorized hotels in the province which were not hotels within the meaning of the statute.

Rev. Dr. Young said the definition of a hotel as generally understood was a place for the transient public with rooms and other accommodation for people away from home. staying over night or for longer periods. He also said there was evidence of young people of the city having access to beverage rooms. Ministers had noticed in these war years a restlessness among young people that was causing uneasiness and anxiety. So many young people today seemed ready to do forbidden things, and in that direction were ready to take drinks that were made available to them.

Reduction Appeal

"We appeal to you not to increase the number of beverage rooms?" Dr. Young said, "but, if possible, to reduce their number." He said that the consumption of liquor lay at the root of the plague of venereal disease, a great moral problem of today, "and we are gravely concerned lest after the war we find that drink has mastered us, and that there is more drinking than before."

Quoting figures of beer sales, Dr. Young estimated that the quantity of beer drunk in August 1944 was about double the consumption in January 1943, 4,785,191 gallons as compared with 2,443,000. Dr. Young said he appreciated the action of the Board in hearing his general comments, and he had no specific references to any one hotel.

Rev. Mr. Rowland said "we represent a body of opinion in this city which trusts the sale of beer will not be increased."

"In that way we are apprised of the views of a considerable section of society," said Judge Robb. "We are insisting that the regulations be complied with as they are given to us."

No Complaints

J. F. Strickland, K.C., deputy-registrar, said no specific complaint had been received against any hotel in the area composed of the counties of Peterborough, Durham, Ontario, Victoria and Haliburton. The total number of hotels in that district is fifty-seven. Two other communications of general nature, as in the letter which Rev. Dr. Young had written the Board, were received, one from Newcastle and the other from Port Hope.

"They are asking for no increase in the number of authorities, but there is no specific complaint," Mr. Strickland said.

The Board, composed of Judge Robb, J. Fred Reid, Windsor, and W. T. Nugent, Lindsay, proceeded with the issuance of renewals of authorities. First on the list, evidently in alphabetic order was the American Hotel, in the Peterborough group, of which Mrs. P. Blodgett is proprietor; next, the Champlain and Empress.

Apparently the Board was informed from the monthly reports of the Hotel Inspector, Charles Calver of Campbellford, as to the merits of the applicants. The first three were disposed of in about three minutes, or less.

The Board completed its morning sitting at noon withholding the authorities of five summer hotels, four in Muskoka district and one at Atherley in Ontario county for the technical reason that their proprietors were not present to support their applications. It was understood that they would be dealt with later, and probably granted as there were no complaints against them.

The Peterborough group of authorities were dealt with first and were renewed.

Million Parcels

LONDON, Nov. 29.—(CP-Reuter.)—The Swedish radio to-day reported that the Red Cross vessel Travancore has arrived in Gotenburg, Sweden, with 1,000,000 Christmas parcels for Allied prisoners of war in Germany. She will return to a North American port Dec. 10 with gifts from Germany for German prisoners of war.

COMPLETES COURSE — Sgt. Clayton (Bud) Dudley of Warkworth, has successfully completed his air crew flight engineer's course and received his wing and promotion to Sergeant at Aylmer recently. He is spending seven weeks' leave at home before reporting to a release unit in Toronto. His brothers, Ralph and Raymond, are in the service, and his brother Jack was a casualty of the Dieppe raid.

Lindsay Man Admits Deserting Baby

Cecil Clayton, 35-year-old Lindsay coal truck driver, pleaded guilty before Magistrate O. A. Langley, K.C., in police court to-day to having abandoned a child of less than two years, Loraine Pogue, here on October 24, "whereby its life was endangered."

Clayton was arrested in Lindsay Tuesday afternoon, after Mrs. Shirley Deyell Pogue, 12 Cambridge street, had been charged with a similar offence at the morning session of police court here. Clayton was remanded until Friday morning for sentence. The charge against Mrs. Pogue will be heard on that day.

Clayton made an application for bail but it was opposed by Crown Attorney V. J. McElderry, K.C. and Magistrate Langley refused to grant the request.

The arrest of Mrs. Pogue and Clayton, followed an investigation that has been going on ever since a three-weeks-old baby girl was left on the porch of a Murray street home on the night of October 24.

Counties Face Water Shortage

"Northumberland apples are moving to market for the Christmas trade," an excerpt from the weekly review of the Ontario farm scene in the reports to the Ontario Department of Agriculture traces the seasonal advance toward the last page of the 1944 calendar. "Meetings of tomato growers reflect general satisfaction with the tomato crop this year."

Most of the cattle are now off the ranches in Victoria. Some of the Hastings county cheese factories have closed for the winter.

Scarcity of water is acute in Ontario county. A car load of springer cows was bought in Prince Edward within the last week for delivery across the border. Glengarry stresses the lack of water, and Frontenac farmers are still drawing it for their stock needs.

Grey county in the west reports snow covering the ground, and Huron live stock is in winter quarters.

Middlesex says the beef cattle situation has cleared somewhat with most of the cattle of good quality in fair demand, and feeder cattle selling more rapidly. Wentworth farmers are "in the best position for many years in regard to grain and hay. The long open fall has enabled farmers to complete their plowing program."

Farmers in Prescott-Russell are seriously considering selling some of the live stock rather than haul water long distances during the winter. Stormont estimates 50 p.c. of the wells dry and water is being drawn from the St. Lawrence river to cheese factories back in the county where wells "are never known to have gone dry before. Well drillers are very much in demand."

CAN'T GET THEM NOW

Because it is almost impossible to obtain the materials, there is an acute shortage of watch-winders, the little stems used for winding watches, Peterborough jewellers report.

Are You Aware Of The Fact?

That while the ratepayers are being asked to provide $600,000 for the new Civic Hospital, actually $300,000 of this is paid by business and industry for their assessment is half the total general assessment of Peterborough.

That the annual cost to the home owner whose assessment is $1,000 will be $1.50

$1,200 will be $1.80	$2,750 will be $4.12
$1,500 will be $2.25	$3,000 will be $4.50

Good Neighbors Add $45 To Good Record

At Christmas time, good neighborliness abounds to a far greater extent than at any other period of the year, so much so that the wish has often been expressed that the Christmas spirit could be extended to take in the whole of the calendar year.

For neighborly acts that have stretched throughout the whole of the year, and in a way might be said to embody this same spirit of Christmas, few can compare with the good work in this connection done by the group known for quite some time as "The Good Neighbors," for a group of its size and facilities it stands out in the uplifting and humanitarian job, being done to assist the victims of a enemy air raid attacks over Britain, through the Peterborough and District British War Victims Fund operating for that purpose.

No better example is to be found to illustrate what can really be accomplished by zeal and a steadiness of purpose for a good cause, than that exhibited by this group, which by means of weekly house socials in the homes of the various members have reached heights totally undreamt of in the matter of raising funds for this good cause.

Another $45 is reported from this group in today's receipts, and this gives them a fine credit of $1,120 by their own efforts, in addition to which, the inspiration of their work led to another splendid contribution of $110 coming to the fund, since their last gift was reported in this column, an added encouragement to those who have labored so well on behalf of those in need and distress.

This latest contribution came as a result of parties held since the last report, in the homes of Mrs. H. Head on Olive avenue, Mrs. H. Frost on Lock street, Mrs. L. Gray on Ware steert, Mrs. A. Williams on Ware street, and Mrs. Waterman on Rubidge street, whose names have appeared in this connection on previous occasions, emphasizing the steadiness with which the group as a whole work, in following the star leading to good deeds for other people.

Memorials that do good for other folk, may certainly be said to be among the finest possible ways to pay a loving tribute to those who meant so much in an individual sense in the days gone by. On many occasions this has actually happened in recent years, by people honoring those who have passed on, in giving assistance to the fund in their name.

A gift came today from Joel and Peter Moldaver, young grandchildren of the late Philip Black, whose memory in the years to come will remain with them from the very fact they in their young and most impressive years, they did some good for others on more than one occasion as a tribute to him.

Less than four weeks remain in which to gather together the special gift now being raised to send over for Christmas, and those who heard the broadcasts on Tuesday night, surely realize that with one-third of the homes in Britain having suffered from enemy air raid attacks, the need must be very great. Send your contribution to headquarters at the Examiner Office, every cent of it goes to England.

The Good Neighbors, per Mrs. P. Kitchen	45.00
Joel and Peter Moldaver, in loving memory of their Grandfather, Phillip Black, who passed away three years ago	2.00
Total to date	$84,301.55

Eight Hunters Mourn Failure To Get Deer

Although the deer hunting season is now only a memory, six veteran hunters who spent eight days in a Cavendish district, are still lamenting the fact they failed to bag even one deer.

Mayor Gordon Davis, of Oshawa, Sgt. F. W. Edwards, recruiting sergeant at the local Armouries, Claire Davis, of Oshawa, A. V. Davis, of Peterborough, Dick Martyn, of Peterborough, and Harold Davis, also of this city, made up the party.

Sgt. Edwards said he didn't even see or hear a deer, although others in the party can vouch for the proximity of the animals.

After five days of fruitless hunting, Mr. A. V. Davis slipped on the trail, and broke a bone in his leg. He was brought back to the city for treatment, but the rest of the party continued the hunt, determined to bring back at least one deer. Luck wasn't with them, or whatever it is that helps hunters to make a good catch, and the party returned to Peterborough without anything to show for their eight day vigil in the woods.

Fines Follow Crash On Charlotte Street

Two motorists who pleaded guilty to charges of careless driving were fined by Magistrate O. A. Langley, K.C., in police court this morning.

H. F. Fisk, Colborne, who was the driver of a vehicle mixed up in a traffic accident at Reid and Charlotte streets on Saturday, November 11, in which five cars were involved was fined $25 and $2.50 costs.

Inspector James F. Reid told the court that Fisk had failed to stop at a stop sign and that as a result there was a collision with another vehicle and three parked cars were hit. The total damage, he said, was in the neighborhood of $700.

Fisk's explanation to the court was that his gears had locked and he couldn't make a right turn when he tried to do so.

John McClelland, who also entered a plea of guilty to a careless driving charge was fined $20 and $2.50 costs.

In his case Inspector Reid said that the accused had been drinking. He was driving his car behind another automobile, the Inspector said, and had collided with the vehicle in front, after which McClelland's car had run up over the curb.

McClelland said that he had been trying to pass the other car when the accident happened.

Thomas B. Rose and Harland McMullen, who pleaded guilty to driving faster than 30 miles an hour on a city street, were each fined $10 and $2.50 costs.

Failing to bring their motor vehicles to a full stop before entering a through street brought fines of $3 and $2.50 costs to William Higgins, Kenneth Sanderson, F. Graystock, W. T. Regan, Dr. R. Chenoweth, G. D. Hibbins, Stratford, and Garfield Hogan, after they had entered written pleas of guilty.

Soldier Steals Cheque For $25

Elsworth Scott, 20, Harcourt, Ont., a former member of the Canadian army and still wearing battle dress pleaded guilty in police court this morning to stealing a Department of Pensions cheque for $25 from Mrs. M. Ringer.

Constable John Morrow said that the accused had just began to board at the Ringer home and that he had picked up the cheque and attempted to cash it at Raine's store and at the office of the Wonder Bread Company. When he was unsuccessful he had taken the cheque back to his boarding-house and destroyed it.

"Those facts are correct," said Scott, after the officer had concluded his evidence.

At the request of Crown Attorney V. J. McElderry, K.C., the accused was remanded until Saturday for sentence.

Reserve Judgment

WELLAND, Nov. 29.—(CP).—Mr Justice Arthur M. Lebel yesterday reserved judgment in the $10,000 damages suit brought by George Walker of Welland against Capts W. W. Snelling and J. S. Bedard of the Canadian Army, former medical practicioners here. The claimant's wife, Laura Luella Walker, died Sept. 15, 1943, on an operating table at Welland county General Hospital.

Next-of-Kin Are Advised When Men Arrive

KINGSTON Nov. 27—(Special)—Major W. K. MacGregor, acting A.A. and Q.M.G., Military District No. 3, today warned next-of-kin to rely only on official advice and to ignore all unauthorized information regarding the return to Canada of soldiers serving overseas.

Referring to the hoax played on an Ottawa resident last week which resulted in a Kingston family rushing to the Capital to greet a home-coming soldier, only to learn that the information given was false, Major MacGregor stated that next-of-kin actually should have no difficulty in ascertaining the authenticity of such information. He described the hoax as "outrageous."

He said that soldiers are returned to Canada either by hospital ship or by troopship. In the case of hospital ships, the safe passage of which is guaranteed by all warring powers, security regulations are not so stringent, but in the case of troopships, which are subject to enemy action, the strongest possible security measures are laid down.

10 Days in Advance

"When a soldier is returning in a hospital ship the relative officially listed as the next-of-kin is advised first by letter by the Director of Records, Department of National Defence, Ottawa, about a week or 10 days in advance of the soldier's arrival in Canada," he said.

"Immediately upon arrival at the port of disembarkation, the soldier is permitted to send a wire, at government expense, to his wife, parents or relative, announcing that he has landed in Canada and indicating the date on which he expects to reach the army depot through which he enlisted.

"A list of returning personnel is also given in advance to all newspapers and radio stations by the district Public Relations Officer," Major MacGregor pointed out. "This list is also avavilable to heads of reception committees in all communities, who receive advice of subsequent changes."

Major MacGregor said that immediately following necessary documentation at District Depot No. 3, Ottawa, or District Depot No. 3-A, Kingston, the soldier is permitted to send another free wire announcing the expected arrival at his home. Army authorities, in turn, send an additional wire to mayors or reeves giving similar information so that reception committees will be able to be on hand at the time of the soldier's return if so desired.

When Ship Has Docked

Unless advised by the Director of Records, next-of-kin do not receive information regarding personnel returning on troopship until the ship has docked safely at a Canadian port, it was pointed out. At that time the soldier is permitted to wire his family, announcing his disembarkation and expected time of arrival home. Normally, this would be the first indication received by next-of-kin of the soldier's return to Canada.

It is not intended that any soldier will return to Canada unannounced, Major MacGregor added, but he warned all next-of-kin to be sure to advise the Director of Records at Ottawa of any change in address to avoid unnecessary delay in receiving information.

He said that relatives wishing to verify reports of returning soldiers can do so by calling the Public Relations Officer, headquarters, Kingston, or Area Command headquarters, Ottawa, telephone Government local 4218.

Sgt. T. Griffin Given Efficiency Medal

For 12 years efficient service with the Canadian Militia, Sgt. Tom B. Griffin, of the Prince of Wales Rangers (R), was presented with the Canadian Efficiency Medal on Tuesday evening at the battalion parade, by Lieut. Col. M. H. Park, V. D., officer commanding the unit. Sgt. Griffin has been ill for some time, and had been unable to receive the award.

The Canadian Efficiency Medal is another in a long list of awards Sgt. Griffin has won, for loyal and devoted service in the armed forces. He holds the Long Service and Good Conduct Medal, which denotes 20 years service, the 1914-15 Star, the Victory Medal, the King's and Queen's south African Medal, and has rolled up a total of 32 years service with the Canadian forces. During his lifetime, being a veteran of the Boer War and the First Great War, Sgt. Griffin has a total of 44 years army service.

Do What Your Doctor Does If Child Is Listless

Because the tongue is the upper end of the stomach and bowels, it is usually the first thing a doctor looks at when he examines a sick child. He knows that a coated tongue and bad breath is a danger signal — a warning of an upset condition below, which may lead to real illness.

Don't you take chances — look at your child's tongue and check the breath every day! And at the first sign of bad odor on the breath or a coated tongue, give Children's Own Tablets. Small, pleasant-tasting tablets made especially for youngsters from runabout age to 15 years, they are wonderfully effective in helping to clean out harmful wastes and sweeten sour, upset stomachs. No drastic weakening flush-out action like many old-fashioned laxatives have.

Get a package of Children's Own Tablets — only 25c — today from your druggist. Made by the makers of Baby's Own Tablets — your guarantee of a reliable product.

SASHED BROADTAIL—Some fashions are so beautiful in themselves that style is transcended and you just can't think of anything better to write than a flat description. This is a broadtail coat, precious and beautiful, which is sashed with a satin belt. One can detail the wide, shorter sleeves; the smooth wraparound skirt; the easy, wide shoulders, the beautiful lustrous skins. Period.

Norwood Flier Weds In Port Arthur

NORWOOD, Nov. 29—(ENS)—Standards of mauve baby 'mums formed the setting for a wedding in St. Paul's United Chruch, Port Arthur, recently when Miss Helga Evelyn Holseth, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Holseth, 66 Melvin avenue became the bride of Sgt. William Arthur Godin, R.C.A.F., son of Mr. and Mrs. H. Godin of Norwood. Rev. T. S. Watson performed the ceremony and the organist was Allan Vickers, L.R.A.M., A.C.C.O.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a white wool dress accented with shirring. The bodice had a round neckline and three-quarter-length sleeves. Her headdress was a snood of black veiling caught at the sides with two white flowers. Her accessories were black and a corsage of Butterfly roses completed her ensemble.

Miss Helen Holseth attended her sister as bridesmaid. She chose a two-piece suit of lilac and mauve wool. The mauve jacket, complemented by a flared peplum, had a square neckline and three-quarter-length sleeves. She wore corresponding accessories and a corsage of Johanna Hill roses.

The groomsman was Howard Holseth. Mrs. W. Barker sang "I'll Walk Beside You."

Pink and white streamers and wedding bells decorated the home of the bride's parents, where a reception was held after the ceremony. The bride's mother wore a two-piece frock of navy crepe with a corsage of Briarcliffe roses, and the bridegroom's mother was gowned in aqua wool jersey with a corsage of Briarcliffe roses.

The bride's table was draped with an ecru lace cloth and centred with a three-tier wedding cake topped with a floral ornament. The cake was flanked by tall lighted tapers. The tea assistants were Misses Mamie and Sylvia Helspeth, sisters of the bride, Myrtle Laye and Thora Koski, Miss Gladys Bonstiel had charge of the gift room. A toast to the bride was proposed by Jack Newsham.

The couple left for a short honeymoon in Eastern Ontario and Buffalo. The bride travelled in a two-piece frock of turquoise wool with a rust coat and black felt hat. Her accessories were black.

Entertaining for the bride previous to her marriage were Mrs. M. Laye, Mrs. Garrick, Mrs. H. Shaw, and Miss Gladys Bonstiel.

Mr. and Mrs. H. Godin of Norwood, parents of the bridegroom were out-of-town guests at the wedding.

Pictures Show Heroism Of Two Countries

Thrilling tales of heroism displayed in Russia and Malta were related in moving pictures shown at George Street Church under the auspices of the Men's Bowling Club and the Eastern Ontario Gladiolus Society, Tuesday night. Harold Howay and his dog Pat were also featured.

The motion pictures, shown by Quint McKinney, were on widely diverse but equally interesting and instructive topics. The first was a tribute to Malta, and was narrated by Lawrence Olivier. The film explained the strategic position which Malta occupied, leaving her virtually at the mercy of Axis bombers, yet providing an excellent base for attacks on Axis convoys to North Africa. Scenes of the terrific bomb damage suffered by the little island were graphic, and the marvellous spirit of the Maltese was demonstrated by their ability to "carry on."

"High over the Borders" was the title of the second film, describing the habits of migratory birds, and the scope of their bi-annual flights. An interested audience were told that over 2,000 species of birds migrate to far southern countries, principally the countries of South America, in the fall, and return north in the spring to lay their eggs and raise their young.

There are four principal migratory "lanes" or paths which the birds unerringly follow each year, the Atlantic, Mississippi, central and Pacific. They travel amazing distances and often climb to great heights to cross mountain ranges. One of the most fascinating stories was that of the humming bird, which in one evening, flies 500 miles across the Gulf of Mexico. The picture brought the theme of the freeness of the birds, since they crossed many borders unmolested, and were really inhabitants of two continents, ideal messengers of good will.

Story of Russia

The third film, on Russia, gave an outline of the conditions leading up to the revolution, with pictures of some of the actual fighting, and trace the progress of the U.S.S.R. through the period of reconstruction, and the five year plans. It presented Russia as a country with vast potentialities and a great power, Russian aims and ideals, so that a urging a better understanding of greater knowledge and a greater friendship with "Our Northern Neighbor" could be gained.

Harold Howay and his well-known dog Pat took the stage for a fifteen-minute interlude, providing an unusual touch in the program, and arousing a great deal of interest. Pat performed several amusing and difficult tricks, under the guidance and voice of his master.

In charge of the arrangements for the program were George Duncan, of the Bowling Club, and H. Ball, president of the Gladiolus Society. Mr. Ball briefly addressed the gathering, thanking them for their attendance, expressing the hope that they had enjoyed the program. He said that the Bowling Club extended an invitation to anyone to join in their tournaments, while members of the Gladiolus Society would be happy to answer any questions about gardening, and gladioli in particular.

Rev. Dr. James Semple was chairman. He thanked everyone taking part in the program and hoped that the audience had enjoyed their evening. He also announced the Young People's Union was presenting a concert and bazaar on Friday evening in the Sunday School room. Mrs. A. Spencley sang "Charlie Is My Darling" and "The Road to the Isles," accompanied at the piano by Fabian Galvin. Misses Mabel and Betty Coombe sang two duets, "Good Night, Little Soldier" and "The Rose of Tralee," accompanied at the piano by their mother. Male soloist was Sam Castle, and he chose "Smilin' Through" and "The Desert Song" as his selections, with Mr. Galvin again at the piano.

Whibbs-Killen Vows Solemnized

Immaculate Conception Church was the setting for a pretty wedding Tuesday morning, when Mary Killen, of Peterborough, daughter of Henry Killen of Ennismore and the late Mrs. Killen, became the bride of Thomas Whibbs, of Douro, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Whibbs. Rev. Fr. Killen, cousin of the bride, officiated, and the church was decorated with roses for the ceremony.

Mrs. C. O'Donnel was at the organ, and accompanied the soloist, Mrs. D. Campanaro, who sang during the mass and the signing of the register.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was gowned in floor-length white brocaded satin, fashioned with a bodice finished at the back with small self-covered buttons, long fitted sleeves, a fitted waist, and full skirt. She wore a matching cap and veil trimmed with white velvet flowers, and carried a bouquet of red roses.

Miss Mary McManus was her only attendant, frocked in floor-length pink chiffon, with fitted waist and full skirt. She wore a pink feather cap and veil, and carried pink roses. Pat Ryan, of Douro, nephew of the groom, was best man.

Sorority Plans Christmas Party

At the second November meeting of the Alpha Theta Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi, held at the Y.W.C.A. Monday evening, the sorority planned their Christmas party.

During the business meeting Mrs. B. Baker, corresponding secretary, read a letter from Mrs. Melita L. O'Hara, who organized the Peterborough chapter, congratulating the chapter on their splendid progress. Mrs. A. S. MacRae presided.

Mrs. J. King in conducting "Invitation to Life," discussed the current issue of "The Torch" and called upon Miss Grace Lunely and Miss Phyllis Turkington to give their assignments on "The International Office" and "The Contests."

The cultural program, under the direction of Mrs. S. Munro, featured a well-prepared talk on "Love" by Mrs. P. La Rochelle. Mrs. L. Craig, the second speaker, told the story of Dante and Beatrice as a means of illustrating the "Manifestations of Love in Poetry, Art and Music."

After the closing ritual, the social committee, supervised by Miss Connie Nicholson, served refreshments.

YES . . . it is nice to get up in the morning when your wife knows this fact about coffee. It's a lesson that thousands learned through having to make a little coffee go a long way:

To be sure of full enjoyment in every cup you must use really good coffee.

You'll start the day with fragrant full-bodied coffee that really does put heart into you if you drink Maxwell House. You'll like its grand, satisfying flavor so well you'll want to make it your regular coffee.

There are two main reasons why Maxwell House is so consistently good:

1. It's blended from rare, extra-flavor coffees, each with its own special quality of flavor, body or fragrance.

2. Roasted by a special process that roasts each coffee bean evenly all through.

Maxwell House is packed in a Wartime Bag in an All Purpose Grind and at less cost to you.

Press Must Not Be Weakened BBC Chief Says

LONDON, Nov. 29—(CP)—J. W. Haley, director general of the British Broadcasting Corporation, said yesterday the BBC plans to put United Kingdom radio fans "ahead of any other listener in the world," but declared at the same time that the power of the world's press must never be weakened.

"The spoken word can supplement the written word; it cannot supplant the written word," Mr. Haley told the Radio Industries Club.

Mr. Haley disclosed that all the BBC's sister organizations in the dominions would confer in London in February.

He spoke out for a free access to news facts, both for press and radio, and said that "the BBC in the years ahead will maintain in broadcasting the people's freedom to know."

On the general subject of press and radio, he declared:

"Anything which weakened the importance of the press in our national life would be again the public interest. I do not believe anything could happen to weaken the importance of the press... The press is one of our most enduring and vital heritages. Broadcasting has come to stay. In our different ways we must both help each other to serve the public well."

Mr. Haley said the future of international broadcasting must be a matter of major international policy, adding his belief that no great nation could act unilaterally in this matter. He proposed the continuance of a "sensibly modified system of world broadcasting," and added: "There are nations, as well as nature, who abhor a vacuum, and if the truth is removed from the international ether, someone will eventually be tempted to see if a few half-truths can't prevail."

Doris Duke Divorce Affirmed By Court

RENO, Nev., Nov. 29 (AP)—Doris Duke Cromwell's divorce from James H. R. Cromwell which was granted here last December was affirmed today by Judge William McKnight, who ruled that Mr. Cromwell's New Jersey degree nullifying the divorce was obtained by "fraud and imposition."

Mrs. Cromwell sought the action in support of her divorce decree of a year ago which was challenged by a New Jersey Chancery Court on the grounds that the tobacco heiress was not a resident of Nevada.

A Slow Cure

COLUMBUS, O., Nov. 29—(AP).—The Ohio State Medical Association said yesterday that "rapid treatment" for syphilis still was in the experimental stage and "youth should not assume the attitude: 'Why worry, we can be cured in a day'."

Form Super-State

TORONTO, Nov. 29—(CP).—Formation of a super-state with an international police force was advocated as the only sure means of preserving world peace by Matthew Halton, war correspondent of the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation, in a service (Empire) club address here yesterday.

FIGURED IN TOKYO RAID—Here are Col. Byron E. Brugge (Left), of Tampa, Fla., deputy chief of staff of the 73rd bombardment wing for operations and training, and Brig.-Gen. O'Donnell led the raiders, flying the "Dauntless Dottie."

DOROTHY DIX . . . .

THOSE PARASITE CHILDREN

If Parents Won't Protect Themselves Against Their Offspring, No One Will.

DEAR MISS DIX—How can their parents get rid of a couple of parasite children who are young and healthy and should be self-supporting, yet who sponge on the old people for meals and lodging? These youngsters never contribute even so much as a ration ticket to help pay for their food nor do they wash a dish or sweep a floor to help their poor hard-worked mother and father. Their money goes for amusements and clothes, and the daughter is so darn lazy, she doesn't even do her own laundry. She brings her soiled clothes over to Mother to wash.

The parents are so tender of their darlings that they will never do anything about ridding themselves of these pests, but isn't there some way that their friends and neighbors could do something about protecting these old softies against these human leeches?

DISGUSTED.

Defending Their Young

ANSWER — I fear not. For if parents won't protect themselves against their children, no one else can. Nor do they desire to be protected. If you saw a husky young lad beating his poor old mother, you would try to rescue her at your peril. She would turn on you like a tigress defending her young and you would have to flee for your life.

The world is full of parents who are slaves to their children. All of us know plenty of fathers who are working themselves to death to support sons who are loafing through college. We know any number of mothers who slave over the cooking stove and the washing machine while their daughters lie on a couch and read novels and never do a hand's turn of housework for fear of chipping the enamel on their fingernails. We know plenty of shabby parents who wear patched shoes and their children's castoff clothing so that Johnny and Mary can strut around in finery.

But if we dared to suggest to any one of these fathers that Johnny should spend his superfluous energy on majoring in a job instead of football, he would resent bitterly your good advice. And if you told Mother that it was a shame that she didn't make her big, strong daughters understudy her in the kitchen, you would make an enemy who would never forgive you.

So the inescapable conclusion is that children treat their parents the way their parents teach them to treat them, and there is no use in wasting any tears over them. Certainly there is no way that an outsider can present parasitic children from eating Father and Mother out of house and home if Father and Mother continue to hand out three good meals a day to them, instead of locking the pantry door against them. Nor is there any way in which people who pity the old folks can make Johnny and Mary stick to their jobs as long as they can always go back home when they get tired of working.

It is strange, but true, that even the sparrow has more brains than many parents when it comes to dealing with its young. For it pushes its fledglings out of the nest and forces them to use ther wings and scratch for their own worms when the time comes for them to be independent.

DEAR MISS DIX—I am 19 years old and have a baby daughter. My husband is in the service and is overseas. About two months ago I met a man with whom I fell in love, as he did with me. He understands the situation and claims there is no harm in our relationship. I would break with him, except that I don't want to hurt him and I do want to see him.

About a week ago I met another man who also greatly attracts me and who asks me for dates, and I can't bear to hurt him by refusing. Please advise me what to do.

A CONSTANT READER.

ANSWER—When you are being so considerate of the feelings of these two stay-at-homers that you can't resist their attentions because you can't bear to hurt them, why don't you give a thought or two to a soldier who is across the waters, daring dangers and death to protect you and your little daughter?

Don't you think he would be hurt to the quick if he knew that you were solacing ourself in his absence by running around with other men? Don't you think that he would feel as if he had been stabbed in the back by the hand he trusted if he knew that you were being disloyal to him? Don't you think it is more important to keep him happy than it is to entertain strange men who are just out for an evening's pleasure?

You ask what you shall do? My advice is: Behave yourself.

DEAR MISS DIX—My husband is a good man and a good provider He has a jolly disposition and always is kidding and this gets on my nerves. What can I do about it?

WEARY WIFE.

ANSWER—Nothing. A cutup is born that way and nothing can cure him. But he is certainly an affliction to have to live with.

Coldwell Says CCF Opposes Hymn Of Hate

OTTAWA, Nov. 29—(CP)—M. J. Coldwell, C.C.F. leader, told the House of Commons Monday the issue before parliament was one of re-inforcements and not one of conscription. The National Resources Mobilization Act of 1940 gave the government the power to conscript men in varying numbers and of varying ages.

The government did not use the wide powers of the Act to conscript wealth as well as manpower.

The problem now before parliament was one of whether or not conscripted men should be sent to the European war theatres.

Conscription itself was adopted in 1940, and the 1942 manpower plebiscite and the passage of Bill 80 had authorized the sending of draftees overseas.

The C.C.F. argued that wealth should also be conscripted for an all-out war effort. Parliament had never accepted this argument and today was faced with the present problem.

The C.C.F. had joined in no chorus in the hymn of hate against the men in the home defence army. Perhaps some would accuse the party for its silence. However, Mr Coldwell said he knew, and other members probably did also, men in the home defence army who had aged parents on farms in Canada. As long as the men remained in Canada they could get leave to go home and help their parents.

Mr. Coldwell said that under the new order N.R.M.A. men still might want to have the decision on overseas service men made for them and in the meantime remain liable to the attempts made to have draftees go active.

System Inadequate

The House had not been informed of Canada's part in the Pacific war. When reinforcements were needed there, the question was where would they come from, as the Order-in-Council just passed did not make draftees available for Pacific duty.

He now was convinced reinforcements were needed and the voluntary system was inadequate, said Mr. Coldwell.

All parties in the House had repudiated conscription for overseas in 1939.

Mr. Coldwell said the government by its policy had merely invited the obvious criticism that it was trying to play politics in a crisis when high statesmanship was required.

Mr. Coldwell said that if the Government's policy were enforced Canada would have four different armies.

There would be general service troops, volunteers for service in the European theatre, men conscript to the front, and the 52,000 men in the home defence army who did not volunteer for service anywhere.

In the front line would be three different types of servicemen.

"This is confusion worse confounded and is a policy neither this House nor country can support," Mr. Coldwell said.

The Government had not taken adequate steps for a total war effort and no adequate steps for the re-establishment of servicemen in the post-war period.

The House could not be expected to vote confidence in this Government's policy of maintaining a vigorous war effort when the Government's proposals "fall far short of a vigorous war effort."

As for the official Opposition as an alternative to the present Government, Mr. Coldwell said that was unthinkable. Their irresponsibility during the present controversy put them out of consideration. It was "a really shocking display of political manoeuvring."

For Thursday, November 30

WITH SHREWD and persistent effort, regulated by sound judgment and practical plans and policies this day may be noted for decisive victories over antagonisms, opposition of sudden reversals. Such surprising developments may cause a radical uprooting that will call for a revamping of programs and objectives, in which co-operation from influential persons may be best obtained by finesse and diplomacy rather than forced issues. A reconsideration of expenditures or economies may clean up some strange or confused issues in which personal matters seem implicated, possibly romantic associations.

Those whose birthday it is may encounter a year of puzzling or confused conditions, calling for a complete change of ideas, plans and objectives. It may be a sudden upheaval in which finances or economical status need revision. With sound plans and real practical effort at industry and perseverance it is probable that some definite headway may be made against opposition or lack of support from those in power. Approach these with compromise, diplomacy and tact rather than forced issues or quarrelsome measures. Strange or extraordinary side aspects may bring reaction on romance or family life unless particular finesse and politeness is observed.

A child born on this day may possess original or exceptional talents, which may challenge opposition from those in authority or other influential source, difficult to impress or win over to novel ideas.

THE TEA HOUR GOSSIP

We have been having recipes for cakes, tarts and pies, but to-day we are going to have some pudding recipes.

Whole Wheat Pudding

2 cups whole wheat meal, ½ teaspoon soda, ½ teaspoon salt, 1 cup milk, ½ cup molasses, 1 cup stoned dates. Sift soda and salt with the meal, add dates until they are thoroughly floured and add milk and molasses. This will make a soft batter but the dry flour absorbs a great deal of the moisture. Steam three hours in a closed mould. Serve with any plain pudding sauce or whipped cream, if available. If sour milk is used add one level teaspoon soda. Raisins, figs, prunes or chopped apples make a pleasant variety.

Steamed Apples

6 large apples, 1 cup water, juice and grated rind of one lemon, ¾ cup sugar, 1 cup cream, maraschino cherries.

Boil water, lemon and sugar 10 minutes. Pour over apples after they have been pared and cored and left whole. Steam until the apples are soft. Take apples out carefully Let cool, fill centres with cream and maraschino cherries and cut in small pieces.

Baked Caramel Custard

4 cups scalded milk, 5 eggs, cup sugar, ½ teaspoon salt, 1 teaspoon vanilla.

Caramelize half the sugar until light brown. Add this gradually to the milk, being careful that the latter does not bubble up and boil over. As soon as the sugar is melted in the milk, pour the mixture onto the eggs, (and remaining sugar) slighty beaten together. Add the salt and flavoring, then strain into buttered mould. Bake in a pan of hot water in a slow oven until a knife, when inserted, comes out clean. This may also be poured into custard cups and set in a steamer top to cook over hot water. Then the custards will be done when firm; about 15 minutes.

Red Cross Ship

TORONTO, Nov. 29 — (CP). — A $1,500,000 cargo of supplies for Canadian prisoners of war has reached Kobe, Japan, after transfer at Nahodka, Soviet port 100 miles east of Vladivostok, it was announced last night by Norman C. Urquhart, chairman of the Canadian Red Cross National Executive Committee.

DISASTER THREATENS NAZI FLANK — Spectacular drives of the French along the Swiss frontier (3) and up the lower Rhine, and the 7th American Army's smash to—and reports say, beyond—the Rhine at Strasbourg, have isolated an estimated 50,000 Nazis in the Vosges Mountains and have threatened the entire southern flank of the Nazi line. A new smash a bit further north has carried the Americans over the Saar River (1). An Allied advance from Strasbourg to Karlsruhe (4) would seal off the defenders of the entire upper Rhine and lay open the way to Bavaria and southern Germany.

Says Passengers Were Atop Wheelhouse

TORONTO, Nov. 29 (CP)—Two witnesses for the defence who appeared at the trial of Edward R. (Ted) Vining of London, Ont., charged with manslaughter and criminal neglect in connection with the capsizing off Port Stanley of the pleasure boat Olga last June 4 when 17 persons were drowned, told court last night that Sidney Smith argued with Vining to let people sit atop the wheelhouse.

Smith, who was among the 17 who lost their lives, was co-owner of the Olga. The witnesses—Mrs. Margaret Wray and Mrs. Kathleen Carter—said they were on the Olga the night previous to the accident. Both told of sitting atop the wheelhouse before the Olga left her dock.

Mrs. Carter said Vining told her and Mrs. Wray to get off the top, but that Smith had said "they're all right where they are." They added a discussion followed and though they both went to the cabin Smith later invited Mrs. Wray back to sit on the wheelhouse roof. Mrs. Carter said she did not go with her friend.

Earlier Mr. Justice G. F. McFarland refused to permit as evidence a statement made by Vining several hours after the accident. The statement was taken by Provincial Constable Cpl. Ben Milligan, but Mr McFarland said the constable had not warned Vining before taking the statement, and therefore would not permit it.

William Robertson, steamship inspector, earlier told the court it was a "dangerous practice" to have passengers sitting on top of the craft. He said if he had certified the Olga he would have set its capacity at 16 passengers and crew of one.

Third Offender Given 3 Months

Gordon Armstrong, London street, was sentenced by Magistrate O. A. Langley, K.C. to three months in jail as a third offender in police court this morning after he had been convicted on a charge of having been drunk to which he had pleaded not guilty.

Constable Gordon Trennum who arrested Armstrong at the corner of Aylmer and Charlotte streets and Constable Andre Dalton who brought the accused to the police station in a police cruiser both testified that the man was very drunk and that he could not stand up without being suported.

"I admit I had been drinking," said Armstrong. "I was going along all right when I was arrested."

Accused admitted having had nine or ten glasses of beer from early in the afternoon until the time of his arrest around 7:30 o'clock. "I can drink nine glasses of beer any time," he said.

Magistrate Langley said that on the evidence there would have to be a conviction. Armstrong admitted that he had been convicted twice before during the year and he was dealt with as a third offender.

James Heffernan, Driscoll Terrace, pleaded guilty to being drunk and was fined $10 and $2.50 costs.

Dangerous Driving Cases To Be Tried

There is a heavy docket for the General Sessions of the Peace before His Honor Judge S. L. Smoke commencing at 1 o'clock on Monday afternoon.

Four of the cases involve dangerous driving charges arising out of four fatal traffic accidents.

Herman Viner, driver of a car involved in an accident in which Mrs. Pymer was killed on George street in August last; Eugene Schlenkert, Detroit, Mich., driver of the car in which Mrs. Philip Courneya was riding when she was fatally injured on the ' rsaw road on Labor Day; Maurice Lafave whose car was involved in a collision with a motorcycle on Monaghan Road, resulting in the death of the cyclist; and Louis Freeburn, Norwood, driver of the truck which struck and instantly killed three-year-old Wayne Manley on Otonabee street, are the four motorists charged.

Other cases include a charge against Joseph Nezezon, Gatineau Mills of wounding a soldier on a C.P.R. train and two charges of theft against Lawrence Wildfong.

British Reject Sforza As Italian Premier

ROME, Nov. 29 — AP). — Sir Charles Noel, the British Ambassador, was reported last night to nave rejected Count Carlo Sforza as either Premier or Foreign Minister in any new Italian Government because of his political "unreliability."

The British disapproval of Sforza emerged as a major obstacle in the settlement of the Government crisis which led to the resignation two days ago of Premier Ivanoe Bonomi and his Cabinet.

The British Embassy declined to make an official statement on conference during the day between Sir Charles and three members of Bonomi's Cabinet who proposed Count Sforza for the Premiership.

But it was learned unofficially the British Ambassador informed them he did not consider that Sforza could head a stable Government.

With the Americans reported as maintaining a strictly hands-off policy with regard to Sforza, the British attitude toward the pre-Fascism Italian Foreign Minister, who returned to Naples last fall after exile in the United States, was reliably summed up as follows:

Conut Sforza allegedly obtained quick permission to return to Italy after pledging support to the regime of aged Marshal Pietro Badoglio and not to raise the monarchical question.

When he arrived, however, he refused to support Marshal Badoglio and the monarchy. Later, after the Communists agreed to compromise with Badoglio and the monarch, Sforza changed his mind again. Count Sforza, who had been a Minister without portfolio in Premier Bonomi's Cabinet, at present belongs to no party, and in the eyes of Britain commands no ascertainable support of the Italian people.

Action Party Quits.

The British disapproval of Sforza was reported to have led the Action Party, which is headed by Alberto Cianca, Minister without portfolio in the Bonomi Cabinet, to inform the Government leaders the party would refuse to take part in a new Government, although it was willing to colaborate with it.

The British attitude toward Sforza practically eliminates the possibility of his obtaining the Premiership, since under Allied occupation the formation of any Italian Government is dependent on Allied approval.

Allied officials already have emphasized that any new Cabinet must abide by the armistice terms imposed on the Badoglio Government and inherited by the Bonomi regime. They also have said any new Government will be held to the pledge not touch on the monarchical question until the end of the war.

Bus Runs Over Woman's Arm

Mrs. Dorothy Thompson, 175 River Road, had her left arm badly crushed when she fell as she ran out to stop a city bus at the corner of Moir street and River road at 6:40 o'clock this morning.

The left rear wheel of the heavy vehicle passed over Mrs. Thompson's arm and the woman had a narrow escape from having the wheel run over her head.

Moir street is the northern terminal of the buses on River Road. John Cochrane, 540 Waterford street the driver of the bus concerned in the accident had backed into Moir street to turn south. He swung his vehicle around the corner and was starting to proceed south when Mrs. Thompson ran out to stop the bus. According to an eye-witness she fell in such a position that the rear left wheel passed over her arm.

The injured woman was taken to St. Joseph's Hospital.

Obituary

MRS LAWRENCE KENNEDY

The funeral of Mrs. Lawrence Kennedy, formerly Annie McGarrity, was held Monday from the family residence, 614 Lock street, to the church of the Sacred Heart.

The funeral was largely attended, and included many relatives and friends from out-of-town points. Requiem Mass was offered by the Right Reverend Monsignor J. J. O'Brien, and Rev. John Coughlin was present in the sanctuary. Rev. Coughlin conducted the services at the grave.

Mrs. Kennedy was born in Woodstock 32 years ago, the daughter of Thomas McGarrity and Mary Logan, but came to Peterborough when eight months of age. She has lived here since that time, being educated at Separate Schools and attending Sacred Heart church. She was employed at the Peterborough-Brinton Carpet Company at the time of her death.

Mrs. Kennedy leaves to mourn her loss her husband, her parents, a son, Vincent Leonard, five brothers, Emmet, Leo, Bernard, Francis, Lawrence, and three sisters, Mrs. Stanley Seabrook, Patricia and Marguerite, all of Peterborough.

Interment was in St. Peter's cemetery, and pall-bearers were: Emmet McGarrity, Bernard McGarrity, Leo McGarrity, Lawrence McGarrity, Leonard Kennedy and Francis McGarrity.

Among the out-of-town relatives and friends present were: Stanley Seabrook, of Halifax, Frank McGarrity, Ennismore, Mrs. Geary, of Ennismore, Mrs. Mursha, Mr. and Mrs. George Pacey, of Toronto, Mrs. W. Paterson, Mrs. Kathleen Barnett and Miss Helen Barnett, all of London, Mr. and Mrs Jack Quinlan and Leo Ligan and family, of Havelock, and Mrs. E. Faux and family, of Hastings.

LET HIM KEEP GUESSING

ONE MARK of an astute cardsman is his unwillingness to solve the problems of his opponents. Many average players have the habit of treating their high cards like something which itches in their hands, and which must be played at the very first opportunity to avoid losing them. Others of course go to the contrary extreme and hold on to them as a matter of habit until it is too late. The most successful player is the one who varies that procedure, not just according to some established formula, but by the way the logic of the situation seems to dictate.

South did cue-bidding of his spade A instead of using the Blackwood convention because he was ready for a slam if North had the diamond A and not if he had the club A and no safe early diamond control. East kept his mouth shut because he reckoned a double would tell South how to play the hand, and he had no desire to indicate any particular lead to his partner. But East showed no such keenness in his defensive play.

West opened the diamond Q, which was won with the dummy's A, and the heart Q was led. East covered with his K, and the A won. Another heart settled East's other trump. Deciding to try to discard a diamond on a spade, South scored the spade A and K, ruffed the 4 with the heart 9, led the heart 2 to the 8, ruffed the spade 6 with the heart 10, led the heart 5 to the 7, discarded his diamond 6 on the now established spade 8, and led the club 10. East came right in with the A, and the contract was safe, as South had left only the club K and heart 2.

East had two chances to set the contract by refusing to co-operate with South. If he had played low on the heart Q lead, South would have put up the A, establishing the K. Again, when the club 10 was led, if he had played low, South would have had a nasty guess. If he decided East had the A, his play would have been the K, but if he reckoned West for it, his best play would have been the J, hoping East had the Q. But East made it easy for him by making guesses absolutely unnecessary on two occasions.

Tomorrow's Problem

North: ♠ 10 6 4 ♥ Q J 10 ♦ A 10 ♣ Q 9 8 5 4

West: ♠ K 8 7 3 2 ♥ 8 6 4 ♦ Q 9 5 2 ♣ K

East: ♠ A 5 ♥ 7 5 3 2 ♦ J 7 6 4 ♣ 7 6 2

South: ♠ Q J 9 ♥ A K 9 ♦ K 8 3 ♣ A J 10 3

(Dealer: West. Both sides vulnerable.)

Why should South drop the singleton club K with the A, just as if he had seen West's hand, in order to make 3-No Trumps following tricks won by the spade A, K and Q?

Cardinal Says Soldiers Rate Crown Of Glory

QUEBEC, Nov. 29 — (CP' — Cardinal Villeneuve, Archbishop of Quebec, in a pastoral letter read Monday night over the French-language network of the CBC, urged Roman Catholics to cultivate the spirit of heroes and "let our sons, purifying their intentions, learn to die for justice and their faith."

He quoted a remark made to him by Cardinal Van Roey, Archbishop of Malines in Belgium, who said: "I, who know the Nazis quite well, was convinced at the start that if Germany should win this war, Catholicism in Europe would have been done with."

Cardinal Villeneuve added: "Hence, is it forbidden to admire those who wanted or at least accepted to expose their lives to protect the Kingdom of God, and even protect their country, because distance between nations now is practically meaningless?

"Undoubtedly, after victory, all danger will not have vanished. Communism is covering the world with its invading shade. There still might be some, persecutions and some martyrs."

His Eminence urged that his diocesans encourage the men who are fighting the war by writing and showing them signs of affection. They should help the fighting men along when they feel discouraged and should not take away their "crown of glory" but should share it with them "by at least praying for them."

"Thus we shall have served admirably our country and the cause of Christian civilization and if we entertain in our souls Christian sentiments, we shall also have merit from our Lord and King, Jesus Christ, knowing that according to St. Paul the apostle, 'Whatever good thing any man shall do, the same shall he receive from the Lord, whether he be bond or free'."

Pte. M. Sopha Back From Italy

MARMORA, Nov. 29 — (ENS) — Pte. Marshall Sopha, son of Mrs. G. W. Henderson of Marmora, is home on furlough after five years of service, being an original member of the Hastings and Prince Edward Regiment. He arrived in Peterborouh on Saturday evening to spend Sunday with his sister, Mrs. C. Clarke, and reached Mormora by the late evening bus on Sunday. His furlough extends to December 27, and his return to Canada is for a six months' period.

After being in England for six months, he landed in France in a raid which occurred on June 13, 1940, and from which he and his comrades were back in England in a short time. As the enemy bombed Reigate on September 30, 1940, Pte. Sopha sustained a wound in his left knee. His hospitalization included a stay at the hospital which so many wounded of this war and the last gratefully speak of as Lady Astor's Hospital. He spoke appreciatively of Lady Astor's interest in the boys, and said Their Majesties the King and Queen were visitors to Taplow while he was a patient there.

Pte. Sopha was assigned to the Canadian Mediterranean Force on June 14, 1943, and spent fourteen months in Italy. He saw Rome several times. On December 14, 1943, he received a bullet wound in the left arm. This soldier spent a convalescent period in a hospital near Naples, a city he admired for its beauty. While there Mount Vesuvius was in eruption for three days and a great sprinkling of ashes fell with ordinary rain to make everything very messy.

In leaving Italy in September of this year he said good-bye to four Marmora boys, Lieut Robert J. Scott, Lieut. Percy Gray, Ptes. Wilfred Gray and Raymond Nobes. Shortly before he was wounded he met Pte. William Knox, recently reported a prisoner of war.

Bracken Says King Forced To Change Plan

OTTAWA, Nov. 29—(CP)—John Bracken, National Progressive Conservative leader said Monday the policy whereby 16,000 home defence troops will be sent overseas in the next six months had been accepted by Prime Minister Mackenzie King and Defence Minister McNaughton "under circumstances which placed a heavy tax on our confidence in them."

Addressing a nominating convention of Ottawa West Progressive Conservative Association, Mr. Bracken said Mr. King, "with the pistols of his conscriptionist ministers at his head," had turned again to a policy of appeasement.

"If this government order-in-council, with its provision for partial conscription be meant honestly, why is Ralston (Col. J. L. Ralston, former defence minister), kicked out and McNaughton, the anti-conscriptionist, put in?

"The prime minister has dropped a tried and experienced administrator and taken on one he had dismissed but a few months before. If the colonel's policy and advice were right and the general's policy and advice were wrong, why isn't Col. Ralston, who recomended the new policy, taken back into the cabinet to administer it and Gen. McNaughton, who advocated the wrong policy, dismissed?"

Mr. Bracken said the answer "we are bound to suspect" is that this new advice might well turn out to be "but another political manoeuvre."

Norman B. Macrostie was chosen the party's candidate in Ottawa West riding in the next Federal election.

Gets Sight Back

DALLAS, Tex., Nov. 29 — (AP). — David Lefkofsky really got his money's worth out of his first airplane ride. Lefkofsky, who had been partially blind in one eye for 40 years, closed his good eye to rest it while en route, and found that he was looking at people on the plane with the other eye, through which he had seen nothing but rays of light since the injury. An eye specialist explained a cataract might have been relieved by the change of altitude or the case might be a psychological result of excitement.

Lanark Regiment Fights In Italy

By DOUG HOW
Canadian Press War Correspondent

WITH THE CANADIANS ON THE ADRIATIC FRONT, Nov. 29—(CP Cable).—Existence of a fourth Highland battalion in the Canadian Corps was made known today with the disclosure that a new infantry formation is to be known as the Lanark and Renfrew Scottish Regiment of Canada.

The battalion saw its first action September 2 in the early exploitation phase of the Gothic line battle and later fought around the Conea, Uso and Fiumicino Rivers.

The unit, containing men from every province, is commanded by a lieutenant-colonel from Medicine Hat, Alta. The second in command is Maj. Kenneth Campbell, Perth, Ont., where the parent regiment has headquarters.

Other Highland battalions in Italy are the Seaforth Highlanders of Canada, Vancouver, the 48th Highlanders of Canada, Toronto and the Cape Breton Highlanders, Sydney, N.S.

LONDON — (CP). — First civilian internal air service from London since the outbreak of war will be opened shortly by Railway Air Services Ltd. It will be from London to Liverpool and the outward service will connect with an additional service to Belfast, Northern Ireland.

Canadian Troops In Action Again

LONDON, Nov. 29 (CP)—Renewed Canadian participation in the Western front battle was reported today by the German Transocean Agency which said the Canadians had intensified their artillery duels with the Germans between the Lower Rhine and the Waal Rivers in the Netherlands.

The German agency report, which was without Allied confirmation, suggested this possibly presaged a move between Nijmegen and Tiel which is on the north bank of the Waal, 35 miles sontheast of Arnhem.

A Reuter News Agency dispatch from Stockholm, meanwhile, quoted the Berlin correspondent of the newspaper Aftonbladet as saying a big British offensive in the Netherlands-German frontier area aimed at the Ruhr was in the offing. The correspondent reported greatly increased artillery fire between Nijmegen and Tiel.

Perhaps that was the sector referred to by Prime Minister Mackenzize King when he announced in the House of Commons in Ottawa last night that Canadian soldiers now were fighting on German soil in some places.

There have been no dispatches from battlefront correspondents to indicate the Canadians have been in action since early in the month when they cleaned up the Schelde Estuary. The last previous report of 1st Canadian Army action was a dispatch No. 9 announcing the end of the battle for southwest Holland. There, Polish troops of the 1st Canadian Army over-ran the last pocket of German resistance around the southern end of the Moerdike bridge across the Hollandsche Diep.

Britain Frames Export Plan

By JOHN F. CHESTER—Associated Press Staff Writer

LONDON, Nov. 30—(AP).—Prime Minister Churchill revealed today a far-reaching Anglo-American trade arrangements whereby, after the defeat of Germany, lend-lease would be cut nearly in half but Britain would pay cash for United States materials intended for eventual re-export from Britain. Hammering home Britain's necessity for, and intention of, rebuilding its largely-vanished export trade, the Prime Minister reminded the House that "it is no part of the lend-lease act to provide general relief or to provide for post-war reconstruction or to aid our export trade."

"We shall pay cash for any additional supplies we may wish to take from the United States for export purposes,'" he declared.

He added that the removal of uncertainties should make it possible for exporters to lay plans now "with assurance" that they could become effective after the war with Germany ends.

The Prime Minister said that after Hitler's defeat Britain hopes to be able to cut inflow of lend-lease goods from the United States by about 50 per cent.

Mr. Churchill said also that his statement had been agreed to "almost sentence by sentence by our American colleagues." Therefore he declined to expand on it when questioned.

The House cheered when he said he considered "the statement I have made is on of a highly satisfactory nature."

King Government Is Assured Of Substantial Majority

By R. K. CARNEGIE—Canadian Press Staff Writer

OTTAWA, Nov. 30—(CP).—The speech of Col. J. L. Ralston, former Defence Minister, in the Commons last night in which he said he would support the Government's confidence motion was regarded in parliament circles as assuring the Government a substantial majority when a vote is taken. Danger of the Government being forced to resign over the conscription issue at this time has passed.

The English-speaking Liberals who favored compulsory service, it is believed, now will solidly support Prime Minister Mackenzie King's motion of confidence. One Liberal opposed to conscription said there would not be a single bolter among those who have been supporting Cabinet Ministers who have demanded that all 68,000 home defence forces be sent overseas.

The only English-speaking Liberals who might vote against the Government would be those who were opposed to conscription. Available Liberal members, however, could not name any who would take that position with the possible exception of Agriculture Minister Gardiner. His voting against the Government was regarded as unlikely.

To Press Amendment

In Progressive Conservative circles it was learned that the party would continue to press their amendment criticizing the government's policy as not being far-reaching enough.

There had been reports the

Ralston Highlights

By The Canadian Press

The government was informed last June that there might be need of breaking up a formation or using home defence troops to provide reinforcements overseas.

On his return from overseas in October Col. Ralston had informed the cabinet that 15,000 trained reinforcements were needed overseas at once.

Prime Minister Mackenzie King had asked a "purely hypothetical question" when he asked members of the cabinet if they would head the government. Mr. King had indicated in conversation later that he had no intention of resigning.

Col. Ralston confessed he would like to have finished his task in the defence department until the end of the war.

Reserves in infantry reinforcement pools overseas are "almost if not entirely exhausted." By the end of January the army would be without infantry reinforcements overseas and the units themselves would be under strength.

Further Gains Made In Burma

KANDY, Ceylon, Nov. 30 —(CP-Reuter)—While fighting still was raging at the approaches to Kalewa, Chindwin River port and gateway to central Burma, an Allied thrust across the Chindwin further north was being developed today.

West of Kalewa East African forces were attacking Japanese positions in the gorge of the Myittha River, tributary of the Chindwin, supported by artillery, tanks and aircraft.

Further north, over the Chindwin River, Indian troops had taken the village of Nankan, three miles south of captured Nanbon and 16 miles south of Paungbyin.

U-Boat Skipper Ridiculed

Survivors In Life-Boats Show No Panic

LONDON, Nov. 30—(CP). — The Daily Mail today told of the sinking of the 20,000-ton Canadian Pacific liner Duchess of Atholl in October, 1942, while en route from the Middle East to Britain with 826 persons aboard, many of them women and children.

Without a sign of panic, passengers abandoned the torpedoed ship in 21 lifeboats. The submarine surfaced and its commander gave the Nazi salute to lifeboat occupants near him.

"His answer was a burst of laughter from the children and the V-for-victory salute from men and women," said a survivor, Daniel Reynolds, of Liverpool.

A United States Army plane located the lifeboat fleet and a naval vessel raced to the rescue.

The Daily Mail also said the 20,000-ton liner Viceroy of India was sunk by a German submarine in the Atlantic in November, 1942, while bringing United States troops to Britain.

The newspaper published two dramatic photographs of the ship in its death throes, one showing it wallowing heavily on its side and the other as it plunged to the bottom, its bow high out of water.

Both photographs were taken from a rescue ship. No details of the sinking or the rescue of troops were given.

13 Jap Ships Destroyed Near Leyte

4,000 Troops Drown As Planes Riddle Convoy

GEN. MACARTHUR'S HEADQUARTERS, Philippines, Nov. 30—(AP) — Slashing American fighter planes sank 10 Japanese transports and three destroyers, with at least 4,000 reinforcements aboard, in a blistering Tuesday-Wednesday battle which crippled an apparent enemy effort to land a full new division on Leyte Island.

The assault pushed to 21,000 the Japanese death toll for reinforcements who failed to reach port, but some fresh troops evidently slipped ashore to join the rain-swept battle of Ormoc Corridor.

Two transports in this sixth major reinforcement convoy were destroyed in Ormoc port, after they partially had unloaded men and supplies. One vessel blew up when hit. The other eight transports were destroyed "well out at sea," today's communique said, and an estimated 4 000 troops were lost.

The destroyers were sunk while escorting the convoy.

26 Total Bag

The Japanese have lost 26 transports and 17 escort vessels, mostly destroyers, in their efforts to pour men onto Leyte. In addition three cargo vessels, "apparently headed" for Ormoc, were sunk last week off Cebu.

It was probable, said the communique, that this latest convoy was bringing in another division, "as prisoners of war captured on the front stated they had been told the 2nd Japanese infantry division was expected."

There was no estimate of the number of men who might have landed at Ormoc. Despite heavy sea losses, the Japanese have put ashore more than 35,000 reinforcements since Oct. 25.

Steaming rains limited ground activity for the third straight day.

Front-line American echelons are being supplied partially by air.

No Liquor Boost

TORONTO, Nov. 30—(CP).—Official circles at Queen's Park said today there will be no increase in Ontario's ration of 26 ounces a month for December. There have been reports that the quota might be increased to 52 ounces for December only, but officials said the supply is not sufficient to warrant the increase.

2,300 Airplanes Spill Death Across Germany

LONDON, Nov. 30—(CP).—Almost 1,300 American heavy bombers climaxed a crushing 48-hour offensive against German rail and oil targets today with raids on four synthetic refineries in the Leipzig area and the railroad yards at Saarbrucken.

More than 1,000 fighters from bases in France and England went along to keep off German interceptors.

These raids followed a pre-dawn assault by RAF Mosquitos on Hanover.

Headquarters of United States strategic air forces in Europe said oil plants at Bohlen, Merseburg, Zeitz and Lutzkendorf, about 100 miles southwest of Berlin, were hit by the waves of heavy bombers.

Others jarred the industrial capital of the Saar mining area, Saarbrucken, eight miles in front of the American 3rd Army.

The great daylight raid was the sixth major aerial operation hurled at Germany in less than 36 hours.

A few hours earlier one of the largest United States bomber fleets seen in weeks had rumbled away from British bases and headed East.

The daylight raid followed another jab by British Mosquito bombers, which unloaded two-ton block-busters on Hannover last night. This rounded out four big bomber operations in a 24-hour period.

Allied air forces flew more than 2,000 fighter and medium bomber trips into Germany and Northern Holland yesterday.

OTTAWA, Nov. 30—(CP).—A possible hint that he might be contemplating retiring from political life was seen last night when Col. J. L Ralston, former Defence Minister, asked the Speaker's permission to read into the Commons record a farewell message he had made to the army and defence personnel.

He referred to the fact that "probably this is the last time that I shall have an opportunity of addressing the House on matters of this kind...."

Allies Take Lindern In The North

Violent Fighting See-Saws Along Entire Front

By WILLIAM FRYE
Associated Press Staff Writer.

LONDON, Nov. 30 — (AP). — United States 9th Army troops captured strategic Lindern to-day in an extension of the great Allied offensive which was cracking the Roer River line shielding Cologne and Dusseldorf.

Farther south the U.S. 1st Army finally won the fortified towns of Lamersdorf and Grosshau in its drive out of the Hurgen Forest.

Lindern lies 11½ miles from the Prussian arsenal and rail city of Muenchen Gladbach and 28 miles from Dusseldorf.

At the northern end of the line Canadian troops, fighting in Germany for the first time in this war, have been sending out patrols. Douglas Amaron, Canadian Press War Correspondent, reported. Other dispatches have identified the Canadian sector as just across the German-Netherlands border east of Niimegen.

The 9th Army also fought in the streets of burning Beeck near Lindern. Both Beeck and Lindern are on the railroad leading to Munchen Gladbach. Survivors of the Lindern garrison, made up of Hitler's best S.S. troops, plodded to the prison cages after yielding to the American flame-throwers, tanks, artillery and bombs hurled against the hamlet.

Many Dead Huns.

Infantry driving into the Tiger tank nests in Beeck found more dead Germans on the street than in any other town yet entered on the Cologne front. Prisoners said their comrades were felled by white phosphorus shells which filled the skies before dawn.

During the night, the Germans tried vainly to regain high ground dominating the Roer River bastion of Linnich just east of Beeck Artillery, particularly Tiger-busting eight-inchers, smashed most of the attacks.

Men of the U.S. 1st Army burst into the open from the pines of the Hurtgen Forest, where hundreds from both sides have died since mid-October.

Little action was reported from the British 2nd Army front before the Meuse stronghold of Venlo to the north, or from the 1st Canadian Army's sector in Germany east of Nijmeegen in the area of the De Wyler Forest.

Gains were scored along the entire 25-mile front on the Cologne plain east of Aachen and Geilenkirchen where the 12th Army group was battling behing flame-throwers, tanks and terrific artillery and air barrages. The Germans declared the combat to be one of the greatest battles of attrition in history. The new 9th Army attack won high ground dominating the key town of Linnich.

Hold High Ground

The U.S. 3rd Army on the Saar front pushed into high ground overlooking the Saar river and within easy shot of the Merzig stronghold of the Siegfried Line. Gains averaged a mile all the way to the Little French rail town of Saare Union as frost-hardened mudfields gave tanks firmer footing.

Soldier Performs Throat Operation Saves Comrade's Life With Fountain Pen

WITH THE U.S. 3rd ARMY, Nov. 30—(AP)—Two lectures heard a year ago during training enabled Pte. Duane N. Kinman, 19, of College Place, Wash., to save a comrade's life by cutting the man's throat.

Kinman found a rifleman with a shrapnel wound through the neck thrashing about on the ground, his face turning blue from lack of oxygen. Realizing the wound had in some way halted breathing, Kinman knew the only way to save him was to open the windpipe below the wound and keep it open so air could get to the lungs.

With a jack-knife, with no anaesthetic, and with mortar shells bursting nearby, Kinman cut a proper vertical incision and inserted the soldier's fountain pen to keep the windpipe open. Later at a clearing station the only additional treatment needed was to insert the regular trachetomy tube.

Ralston Plans To Support Premier King

By JAMES McCOOK
Canadian Press Staff Writer

OTTAWA, Nov. 30—(CP).—Col. J. L. Ralston, a front-line soldier of the First Great War, in sober, fitent phrases last night told the Commons of his urgent anxiety over immediate reinforcements for Canadians overseas which led to his break with the Government on November 1 when he resigned as Defence Minister.

For 2¼ hours he traced developments since, when overseas in late September and October, he came to the conclusion that draftees must be made available for service overseas if Canadian units were to be kept up to strength.

Once or twice, Prime Minister Mackenzie King indicated he differed with Col. Ralston's interpretation of events.

When he had completed his review, Col. Ralston said that in spite of his criticisms of the actions of the Government, he would support it in a forthcoming vote of confidence in order that the troops in battle should have reinforcements with the least possible delay.

Gen. McNaughton, Col. Ralston's successor as defence minister, listened from a gallery seat.

The former defence minister, speaking before crowded galleries which have marked the "crisis session" since it opened a week ago, said he could not support the Progressive Conservative amendment to the confidence motion. This amendment would involve total conscription, making all the 60,000 home defence army effectives available for overseas by compulsion instead of the 16,000 authorized under an order-in-council passed last week.

But he said he laid upon the Prime Minister and Gen. McNaughton the responsibility of seeing that proper reinforcements were made available, even if more than the 16,000 had to be sent overseas by compulsion. He said the shortage of men had become more serious than perhaps had been indicated in the House thus far, and that his recommendation on Nov. 1 had been that 15,000 draftees be made available without delay.

Worried By Delay

Gen. McNaughton assumed office Nov. 2 pledged to attempt to obtain the required men by voluntary enlistments, and Col. Ralston said he was concerned over the delay which had occurred in the period when another appeal for voluntary enlistments was being made and before Gen. McNaughton's recommendation for overseas conscription was accepted by the cabinet on Nov. 22.

Earlier yesterday, Victor Quelch (SC.—Acadia), said the 10-man Social Credit party would support the government on the confidence

Reds Score Huge Gains In Hungary

Marshal Tito States Yugoslavs May Isolate Balkans

LONDON, Nov. 30.—(CP).—Russian and Yugoslav Partisan forces thrust forward 25 miles west of the Danube in Southwestern Hungary to-day in a huge offensive that has the three-fold possibility of encircling Budapest, driving straight into Austria and sealing off all Nazi troops in the Balkans.

Premier Stalin in an order of the day yesterday announced the capture of 350 communities in Southern Hungary and Northern Yugoslavia, confirming the drive about which the German radio has spoken for the last week.

Pecs, coal mining and railway centre 98 miles southwest of Budapest, was seized, as was Mohacs, a like distance directly south of the Hungarian capital and Bataszek, 86 miles south of Budapest, Moscow said.

The Russian communique said the drive across the Danube by Marshal Feodor Tolbukhin's 3rd Ukraine army and Yugoslav Nationals was north of the big river's confluence with the Drava, a point 130 miles due south of Budapest. The break-through was on a 93-mile-wide front that extended on its northern flank to within 37 miles of the Hungarian capital.

31 Mile Gain.

(Marshal Tito in a broadcast communique reported by the Federal Communications Commission announced a 31-mile advance in the area and said Russian and Partisan troops now were "pursuing the beaten Germans toward the west." The bulletin also listed many Partisan victories inside Yugoslavia.)

Moscow named no captured towns north of Bataszek although the further northward extent of the drive had been implied in the announcement of the width of the bridgehead west of the Danube. Apparently Red Army troops to-day stood somewhere between the Danube and north end of Lake Balaton, 100 miles from the Austrian border and 130 miles from Budapest.

Budapest, meanwhile, was under close siege from the north-east by parts of Marshal Rodion Y. Malinovsky's 2nd Ukraine Army. The

WarAid Program To Be Revised

WASHINGTON, Nov. 30.—(AP).—The United States plans to halt lend-lease shipments of iron and steel to Britain Jan. 1—which means a drastic downward revision of the war aid program for 1945—it was announced officially today in a statement summing up lengthy Anglo-American lend-lease conferences just concluded here.

They resulted in a $5,600,000,000 program for shipments to Britain during 1945—a cut of almost 50 per cent. under comparable figures for this year.

Elimination of cost-free shipments of steel and some other "raw and semi-fabricated materials" to Britain is made possible by decreasing war demands on Britain's own steel industry, it was learned. It has been ordered into effect Jan. 1 in order to smooth the way for reconversion of British industry to civilian production on an "equitable basis" with reconversion in the United States. British authorities are eager to reconvert in order to begin restoring their 71 per cent. loss in exports.

Belief Exists New Allied Drive Near

Mysterious Conference Between Eisenhower, Montgomery Starts Rumors

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
Associated Press War Analyst

The U. S. 9th army's fresh drive against the German northern flank, along the flooded valley of the Roer river in the Rhineland, strengthens the belief that another big Allied push in this vital zone is imminent.

One suspects this was the subject of the mysterious conference Tuesday night 'somewhere in Belgium" between Gen. Eisenhower and Field Marshal Montgomery, commanding the 21st army group in the north.

If the present push does develop into a full-fledged offensive it likely will be calculated to turn the enemy flank, compelling the Germans to fall back from the Roer and accept battle in the open plain west of the Cologne-Dusseldorf, sector of the Rhine. The grim purpose of these tactics is to force Field Marshal Von Rundstedt's armies up against the Rhine and annihilate them.

That's the main business of the Allied command right now—to kill or capture German soldiers. We mustn't forget that the developing battle of the Cologne plain probably is the decisive engagement.

Invites Tactics

Von Rundstedt himself has invited these tactics by electing to defend the Cologne plain to the last ditch. With this in view he has massed in this area all the troops he can rake up He even has weakened his defence of the great Saar industrial centre on the southern end of the fighting front.

Why should the German command take such chances? Because the Ruhr manufacturing area, which lies behind the Rhine opposite the Allied northern flank, is vastly more important than the Saar. Without the Ruhr Germany couldn't carry on.

Two developments may have opened the way for another offensive Prime Minister Churchill gave away the secret of one yesterday when he told the House of Commons that the great Belgian port of Antwerp actually is handling cargoes once more.

The other development lies in the fierce fighting which has been proceeding along the northern flank Slowly but steadily the Allies have flung the Germans back from strong positions which blocked progress towards the Cologne plain.

Don't the Germans know what's cooking? Of course they do. Their commentators for days have been predicting an offensive on this northern flank. The fact that the Nazis have opened dam flood-gates on the Roer to block the 9th Army clearly indicates they believe a fresh crisis is close.

Canadians Saved Greeks

Wheat Shipments Boon To Starving People

By DOUG HOW
Canadian Press War Correspondent

ATHENS, Nov. 30 (CP)—Dimitrious Delivanis said it was perfectly true to say that Canada had saved hundreds of thousands of Greek lives.

The Greek co-ordination director of the joint Swedish-Swiss Committee administering relief in Greece reeled off the statistics of the tons of wheat and other food that had sailed into Pireaus and Salonika after September, 1942 to stem the march of starvation that had taken thousands of lives the previous winter.

From Sept. 1, 1942, to Aug. 31, 1944, Delivanis said, Piraeus had received 330,000 tons of wheat 53,000 tons of "chickpeas," 6,200 tons of soup, other hundreds of tons of fish, rice, macaroni, spaghetti, milk. Another 32,000 tons had landed at Salonika.

Those were the figures and of them, Delivanis said, Canada had provided the greater share. Wheat had been the principal food and until this spring when Argentina volunteered to supplement her contribution Canada had provided it all.

CNR Train Crew Discover Garage Fire

Discovered by the crew of a C.N.R. freight train, fire early this morning raced through a wooden garage owned by Emmett Cavanaugh, 184 Lake street, totally destroying a 1939 model Plymouth car owned by Gordon Smith, and causing extensive damages to the building.

The trainmen halted the train and notified Mr. Cavanaugh, who turned in the alarm to the fire department at 1.20 this morning.

Firemen had the blazing structure under control in a short time, using one water line. Although the cause of the blaze has not been determined, Fire Chief Gimblett said today there can be no doubt but that it began in the car itself.

Other valuable equipment inside the garage was also damaged or destroyed, including many tools, but Chief Gimblett did not make any official estimate of damage.

It is a mystery to Mr. Cavanaugh how the fire started. According to Chief Gimblett, nobody has been inside the garage since Monday evening last.

Says V-2 Weapon Not Blast Cause

LONDON, Nov. 30 — (CP). — Air Secretary Sir Archibald Sinclair told the House of Commons to-day that latest information indicated 59 persons were killed or presumed killed in the bomb depot explosions near Burton-on-Trent in Staffordshire on Monday.

He said seven Air Ministry employees lost their lives and 20 others are missing and thought to be dead. Among civilians living and working in the vicinity nine were killed and 23 are missing, presumed killed.

Ten Air Ministry employees are in hospitals, nine other persons are missing, and three injured.

Sir Archibald said there is "no reason to think that the explosion was due to enemy action."

A German broadcast shortly after the blast alleged it was caused by a V-weapon.)

Sir Archibald said "the total loss of bombs is less than 4,000 tons, no more than is dropped in a single raid on Germany." A former officer in the Royal Engineers previously had told the authorities that millions of pounds worth of bombs, sufficient for hundreds of raids on Germany, were stored in the subterranean dump.

Sir Archibald told the House a court of inquiry had been ordered.

The 3rd, with the 1st and 9th Armies on the Roer, constitute Gen. Bradley's army group of which 23 American divisions of 275,000 or more men were charging at the foe.

The U.S. 7th Army, flanking the 3rd to the south-east, was bursting the bonds of German resistance along its line. It sidestepped the strongly-held French rail centre of Hagenau, 31 miles south-west of Karlsruhe, where the Germans have stores of ammunition and fuel. Lt.-Gen. Patch aimed his divisions straight at Karlsruhe, city of 190,000 beyond the Rhine in the shelter of the Siegfried Line.

The 7th and the French 1st Army had wrested half the Alsatian Palin from the enemy and had reached to within 25 miles south of Strasbourg. The French were moving slowly north from Mulhouse to tighten the Colmar clamp to roughly 40 miles.

Push Half a Mile.

The U.S. 1st Army finally captured Lamerdorf and Grosshau in the Hurtgen Forest area. They were digging the Germans from cellars in Moerode, 3½ miles from Duren in a yard-by-yard advance. North of Grosshau, the Americans advanced half a mile.

Standstill fighting continued in the hamlet of Inden. The Americans held the west-end of the bridge over the Little River there and the Germans held the other side. The bridge at Maersdorf was blown

The new attack by the 9th Army northeast of Geilenkirchen ran into alert and stubborn opposition, but carried swiftly through old pillboxes of the Siegfried Line yesterday before resolute counter-attacks slowed its momentum.

Field dispatches reported "good progress" even though the Germans opened flood gates of Roer River dams, inundating its valley to widths of nearly a mile. Infantry moved into Linnich and Beeck behind flame-throwers after shelling the enemy garrisons with high explosives and phosphorus shells.

Beeck burned while a battle raged in its streets.

Bridge Wrecked

The Americans stood on the Roer several miles north and south of the fortified town of Julich, nine miles northwest of Duren. There the Germans wrecked the bridge.

Allied air might hit German guns and communications all along the front and well back in the Cologne plain, thick in mud.

The nearest approach to Cologne still was 23 miles. At Lindern the 9th Army was 28 miles from Dusseldorf, Germany's 11th largest city of 540,000.

The offensive was two weeks old today, excluding the preliminary probing around Metz by the U.S. 3rd Army.

Opposition to the 3rd was increasing as Lt.-Gen. Patton's men came under the long guns of the Siegfried Line.

Despite the water obstacles in the path of the onthrusting Americans, the divisions now drawn up along the Roer constitute "a serious threat to German defences in the Ruhr-Rhine area and hence both Cologne and Dusseldorf," an official statement said.

4 Showers Given For Ruth Smith

Prior to her marriage on Wednesday evening, Mrs. Murray Thomas, formerly Ruth Smith, was widely entertained by fellow employees and her large circle of friends. Women of the Salvation Army entertained the bride at a miscellaneons shower, and after an enjoyable program, the bride opened her gifts and lunch was served.

Miss Audrey Lacey was hostess for a miscellaneous shower given for Mrs. Thomas by about 30 girls from the C.G.E. office, where she was formerly employed. Twenty guests were present at the personal shower given in honor of the bride by Mrs. Arthur Jones, Douglas avenue, and approximately 30 guests attended a miscellaneous shower when Mrs. S. J. Richardson and Mrs. K. Bolam were joint hostesses.

Mrs. A. B. Smith recently entertained at a trousseau tea for her daughter, when about 140 guests called to extend their congratulations and best wishes to the bride. Receiving with the bride and her mother was Mrs. W. Thomas, mother of the groom. Tea was poured by Mrs. R. G. Routly and Mrs. S. J. Richardson.

Huns Recapture 3 Strongpoints

ROME, Nov. 30—(AP)—Uncorking their strongest counter-attacks in recent weeks German troops have recaptured three Allied 6th Army strongpoints in the sector southeast and southwest of Bologna, Allied Headquarters announced today.

Fifth Army troops were forced to relinquish their hold on Monte Castellaro, just north of Monte Grande, in the area south of the Bologna-Rimini highway town of Castel San Pietro.

Farther west in the difficult mountain country west of the Bologna-Pistoai highway the Germans recaptured Corona and Monte Belvedere.

The Germans first launched two counter-attacks with about one infantry battalion. Both were repulsed. Later they renewed the attack with two battalions and a covering force of tanks, self-propelled guns and mortars, as well as rocket launchers.

The 5th Army troops in the face of the new assault were forced to pull back to prepared positions, Headquarters said.

The counter-attacks at Monte Castellaro also were supported by a heavy concentration of artillery and mortar fire. This position 9½ miles southeast of Bologna is important to the Germans for the defence arc they have set up around the city.

Monte Grande, dominating feature of the area, was still in Allied hnnds, however.

Churchill Gay, 70 Years Old

LONDON, Nov. 30 — (CP). — Prime Minister Churchill, "70 years young," was greeted with a roaring cheer when he entered the House of Commons to-day to follow his usual custom of putting in a full day's work on his birthday.

"Seventy not out"—an extremely good score in cricket—was the personal greeting given the Prime Minister by 87-year-old Will Thorne, Labor, oldest member of the House.

Mr. Churchill wore a rose in his buttonhole and appeared in high good humor as various members congratulated him.

The "70 years young" label was given Mr. Churchill by the Sydney Morning Herald, which said his "flair for living dangerously" had made him the one leader who could inspire the world during the dark days of the war. London papers also were full of praise and congratulations.

Even the Germans took notice. Helmut Suendermann, deputy press chief, wrote about Mr. Churchill in to-days Voelkischer Beobachter under the title "We Accuse." A D.N.B. broadcast of the article included these words: "Churchill once said there was no chance for him in a peaceful England, in a calm atmosphere. He was a fighter."

Many Attend I.O.D.E. Bridge

Under the sponsorship of the Major Bennett Chapter, I.O.D.E., a most successful bridge was held in the recreation room of the Y.W.C.A. Tuesday evening.

Miss Margaret Skitch was general convener, assisted by Misses Frances Merrett, Ruth Kingan, Margaret Morgan, Frances Wand, Betty Lytle and Mrs. John Skitch. The guests were received by the regent of the chapter, Mrs. A. S. MacRae, assisted by the honorary regent, Mrs. W. Gordon Hall and Miss Orma Lacheur, vice-regent.

Prizes were drawn for and won by Miss Lena Dewart and Mrs. Eric Shiner. Mrs. W. R. Davies was the winner of the prize in guessing the age of the chapter, 27 years. Refreshments were served by a committee headed by Miss Frances Merrett.

motion but he also moved an amendment calling for the use of all persons in the armed forces in any theatre of war, assurance of adequate supplies and reinforcements for those overseas, economic security and financial reforms after the war and elimination of wartime controls as soon as possible.

Earl Rowe Speaks

Hon. Earl Rowe (PC.—Dufferin—Simcoe), gave the House the official assurance of the Progressive Conservative party that it would "co-operate with any government which, under leadership that will ensure equality of service, offers proof of will and determination to send to our soldiers overseas the reinforcements which our war commitments demand."

Fred Rose, Labor Progressive member for Montreal Cartier and the only representative of his party in the House, said unjust attacks had been made on Quebec in the conscription dispute.

Liguor Lacombe (CDN.—Laval—Two Mountains), also the sole member of his party in the House, said he had opposed Canada's declaration of war and the increases in war expenditures. Conscription was the consequence of these steps and he opposed it.

Mr. King told the House after the sitting opened that Gen. McNaughton had assured him that the situation in British Columbia army camps were draftees had staged anti-conscription demonstrations was being "completely controlled". He said the situation there did not mean mutiny and he asked members to guard their statements and avoid making a difficult situation worse.

Mr. King said that Works Minister Fournier, a Quebec cabinet member, has not resigned.

Capt. J. A. Johnston (L.—London), making his maiden speech in the confidence motion debate, said he supported the government in the action it had taken in making home defence army men available for overseas. Hon. R. B. Hanson (PC.—York—Sunbury), continues the debate today.

2 Corrections

Col. Ralston opened his address with the blunt remark that when he returned from overseas in October he told the cabinet "that we needed an additional 15,000 trained infantry as reinforcements overseas as quickly as we could get them there. That immediate need still exists."

This was the main question. He would not be "deflected" by other matters which had been raised.

He did not think he could be "reprimanded" on the grounds of breaking cabinet secrecy by discussing matters to which the Prime Minister had referred in his radio address of Nov. 8. He felt that two things said by Mr. King needed correction: "First, the statement in effect that Mr. Ralston had reported that there was no actual shortage of reinforcements, and, secondly, the statement that Mr. Ralston had reported that there was possible shortage of reinforcements in the next few months.

". . . I have indicated to the public, as I indicated to my colleagues, that there was an actual shortage that the reinforcement pools were down very much, if not wholly depleted.

". . . It seemed to me that was a situation which rather indicated an actual shortage of reinforcements, and secondly, indicated that the possible shortage in the next few months was a probable shortage at the end of December."

He said he though Mr. King was wrong in saying that the government had nothing before it up to October to suggest there would be any need for overseas conscription. On June 1 he brought to the attention of the war committee advice from the Chief of Staff that after October the question would arise whether an army formation should be broken up or draftees sent over to maintain reinforcements.

Mr. King said that on Aug. 3 assurance was given that there was no need of considered overseas conscription, but Col. Ralston said he could not remember any such reference being made.

On Sept. 22, Col. Ralston had said he could not consent to the release of trained draftees as they might be needed.

"Those are the matters to which I refer and they indicate that the situation was not altogether unmentioned to the cabinet, although I admit quite frankly that had the situation been as I have discovered since, and as I reported to the Cabinet, certainly I would have reported it at once," he continued.

As soon as he checked the situation overseas he hurried home with his conscription recommendation.

Col. Ralston said he could not understand why Mr. King had made a statement that in the cabinet he had asked one colleague after another whether they could take the responsibility borne by the Prime Minister and they declined. Mr. King had said it was easy to oppose a position hitherto assumed by the government and propose new measures, but persons so doing should be prepared to take responsibility for the enactment of such measures and had no right to leave a ministry which might collapse in consequence of their action.

Strange Doctrine.

"I am going to say that is the strangest doctrine I have ever heard enunciated in this House," said Col. Ralston.

"If I were not respectful for the Prime Minister I would call it just plain nonsense, I will call it rhetoric."

Mr. King had asked three colleagues the question, not any more.

Mr. King: "I say to my honorable friend at once that I asked if any member of the Cabinet would take the responsibility."

Col. Ralston: "I am corrected. What I am saying is that he asked three colleagues, specifically."

The Prime Minister was not in genuine search for a successor and had asked "a purely hypothetical question." Col. Ralston said he had answered "No," and none of the others had consented. In the course of discussion Mr. King had indicated he had not intended going to the Governor-General to resign.

Mr. King: "I say to my honorable friend that we were discussing very seriously at the time whether the Government could be carried on, and the only reason I asked the question was that I wished to make sure as to whether I would have to continue to carry this load under the circumstances, or not."

Col. Ralston: "I say to the Prime Minister it was not so taken by the members who were asked. When I asked the Prime Minister if he was asking out of curiosity he either assented to that or indicated that he had not any intention of going down to ask the Governor-General.

Denied By King

Mr. King: "No, that is not correct."

Col. Ralston said Mr. King was taking an untenable position in taking him (Col. Ralston) to task for saying he must resign if the policy he favored were not carried out.

Mr. King asked if, at a subsequent Cabinet meeting, he did not say that if the Government felt it had to take the course of introducing conscription at this stage "I would be quite prepared to resign at the end, and that I would like to know if any of them would be prepared to take my place?"

Col. Ralston said Mr. King could make his statement on subsequent meetings later.

He had asked that reinforcements be made available at once as "the pools of trained infantry reinforcements which had been established overseas have been almost if not entirely depleted to the point of exhaustion. Additional reinforcements are needed at once to re-establish them."

Col. Ralston said estimates indicated that by the end of May, 1945 "we would find ourselves with the units under strength to the extent of several thousand men and with no trained reinforcements immediately available."

8,000 Ready

There were 8,000 draftee infantrymen who could be ready for combat at an early date and 8,000 more would be ready in a month's time. There were 26,000 draftees considered suitable material as infantry reinforcements and "I thought no time should be lost in getting them to the United Kingdom." He had made tentative arrangements for a sailing of such troops late in November, in anticipation of the policy he proposed being accepted. There was little hope of the 15,000 being obtained by voluntary methods.

Col. Ralston said he felt there had been "serious delay" in calling district officers commanding together after Gen. McNaughton took over on No. 2, and they did not meet with the new minister until Nov. 14. He believed draftees could have been got away for overseas on Nov. 27 if action had been taken promptly.

He assumed the government would put into effect further Orders-in-Council specifying additional numbers of men for overseas without any further reference to the House.

Mr. King: "That is correct."

Berlin said the Russians had broken into Eger, 60 miles north-east of Budapest adjoining the vital Budapest-Miskolc railway and guarding a pass through the Matra Mountains into Central Slovakia.

Another Soviet army, the 4th Ukraine, led by Gen. Ivan Petrov, continued to push its way westward in Slovakia across rain-drenched terrain. Moscow said the flank guards of the 2nd and 4th Ukraine armies already have established contact in the border area north of Muskolc, while Petrov was near to clearing the Dukla Pass into Poland on his northern flank.

Arrangements for leave for men with long service overseas had been worked out before Col. Ralston resigned Nov. 1.

Col. Ralston would have been prepared when he was defence minister to accept the provision made by the government since his resignation for sending 16,000 home defence troops overseas, but he would have objected to the "piecemeal" method.

Col. Ralston would support the government on the vote of confidence motion. To vote with the opposition might lead to a delay in getting reinforcements overseas.

amendment might be withdrawn in view of Col. Ralston's speech, but Hon. R. B. Hanson, acting Progressive Conservative House leader during the illness of Gordon Graydon, stated that as far as he knew there was no idea of such a step particularly, he said, as he regarded the speech of Col. Ralston as an indictment of the Prime Minister, and all the more reason why the amendment should be pressed.

The C.C.F. members said they would reintroduce their sub-amendment calling for conscription of all resources as soon as the Progressive Conservative amendment was disposed of.

French Liberal members said they had not yet decided whether they would move an anti-conscription amendment, but in any event most of those against the government's conscription policy would want to speak in the debate and make their position clear.

Opinion was divided whether Col. Ralston's decision to support the government would shorten the debate, but the majority were not hopeful the sittings could be ended this week.

"Never has there been a more thorough understanding of the facts of the economic position and the problems of Great Britain and the United States of America on both sides than we have now been able to reach," Mr. Churchill said.

Lend-Lease a Boon

"Lend-Lease—that very great act—has stood us and our Allies in good stead and we have never asked nor expected any assistance which is not strictly within its terms and provisions," the Prime Minister declared.

Arrangements already had been made in Washington, he said, as to "what the American Administration feel it is proper and right for us to have in accordance with the terms" of the Act. He added:

"The end of the war with Germany will make possible large reductions in some of our requirements. We expect our needs will be met by a program at a rate not much more than half of what we have been receiving in 1944. All of these supplies and services will be exclusively for the joint war effort against the common enemy."

Mr. Churchill reminded the House that Lend-Lease was an Act which "was for the defence of the United States and is strictly limited to what is necessary for the most effective prosecution of the war by the United States and its Allies."

"The prolongation of the war into what will be for us the sixth and seventh year means that certain improvements are essential if our National economy is to be as fully effective as possible for the prosecution of the war.

"Fatigue and abstinence carried too far and endured too long can impede the effectiveness of a people at war at least as much as a more sensational form or privation.

"After the defeat of Germany some release of manpower to increase the supplies available for essential civilian consumption must follow in due course and some improvements in the standards and variety of national diet."

Declaring that "the defeat of Japan must still continue to have the first call on our resources," Mr. Churchill added that following the defeat of Germany, exports would then be subject only to those inevitable limitations "indicated by the needs of the war against Japan."

The Prime Minister expressed "our very great appreciation of the practical sympathy with which the realities of the situation have been examined (in Washington) and of the results which have been achieved."

"I may remind the House," he said, "that it is no part of the lend-least act to provide general relief, or to provide for post-war reconstruction or to aid our export trade. That great act has stood us and our Allies in good stead and we have neither asked nor expected any assistance which is not strictly within its terms and provisions."

May Be Exchanges.

He sad "there is not and never has been any question of re-exporting in commerce any articles we have received under lend-lease, nor in general shall we receive in this country under lend-lease finished articles identical with those we export.

"All such articles will be paid for by us. Where we continue to receive any raw materials the quantities supplied under lend-lease are limited to our domestic consumption, for the manufacture of munitions and the maintenance of our essential wartime economy. We shall pay cash for any additional supplies we may wish to take from the United States for export purposes."

Emanuel Shinwell, Labor, asked Mr. Churchill whether Britain would have to pay for raw materials imported from the United States, or whether the United States would 'take in return goods exported from this country."

The Prime Minister gave no direct answer. He said the question was valid, but that "everything I said in this statement was agreed to almost sentence by sentence by our American colleagues." He therefore asked Shinwell to put the question to him again "after reading the paper either to-morrow or the next day."

The implication was that there would be some further statement in London or Washington.

Birdsall Flier Weds Ruth A. Smith

The Salvation Army Temple was the setting for the marriage of a popular young couple Wednesday evening, when Ruth Harriett Anne Smith, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Smith, Charlotte street, became the bride of Flight Lieut. Murray Thomas, R. C. A. F., eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Thomas, of Birdsall. Major John Wood officiated, against the background of white 'mums and fern which decorated the Temple.

Mrs. G. R. Routly played the wedding music, and accompanied a quartette, Misses Peggy Parnell, Joyce Thomas, Miriam Butcher and Nancy Shadgett, when they sang "Through The Years," during the signing of the register.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was charming in a floor-length gown of white organza, with lace insets. The fitted bodice was fashioned with a sweetheart neckline, and long sleeves coming to a point over either hand. Her veil of silk net was caught to a matching halo with orange blossoms and she carried a cascade bouquet of red roses and bouvardia.

She was attended by Miss K. Bolam as matron of honor and Miss Nola Smith as bridesmaid. Mrs. Bolam, in dusty rose crepe, and Miss Smith in turquoise crepe, wore gowns styled alike, with fitted bodices. Sweetheart necklines, and floor-length gathered skirts. Each wore a matching hat, and carried a ring bouquet of yellow 'mums. Little Carol Routly and Marilyn Thomas were dainty flower girls, with mauve headbands, and carrying nosegays.

Sgt. Wireless Air Gunner Art Shadgett was best man, and the ushers were Sgt. G. Kennedy and Bandsman M. J. Shadgett.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held in the Young People's Hall, where Mrs. Smith received the guests in a black crepe and lace ensemble, with matching hat, and a corsage of Bettertime roses. The groom's mother, also receiving, wore a black and gold crepe gown, with matching velvet hat, and a corsage of yellow roses.

For a wedding trip to Toronto and the Haliburton Highlands, the bride donned a white wool dress with brown accessories, and a dark muskrat-back coat, the gift of the groom. On their return, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas will live at 592 Charlotte street.

ANOTHER ONE.

Another false alarm brought out firemen on Wednesday evening at 6:20, to Box No. 26, located on Chamberlain Street.

Tokyo Blasted Third Time By Superforts

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 30—(AP)—Tokyo, its defences reported by the Japanese radio ot have been penetrated at least twice in five hours Wednesday (U.S. time) by Superfortresses, is getting a foretaste of a campaign "to destroy the heart and the nerve centres of Japan's war machine."

Gen. H. H. Arnold, commanding general of the Army Air Forces, placed that interpretation last night at Kansas City on a gathering drive which has put bombers over T[illegible] in three days within a week.

The air war on Japan proper had these ramifications.

Fires started Wednesday raged for a considerable time in Tokyo.

Incensed Tokyo radio announcers fumed that any flier who parachuted after "blindly" bombing Tokyo would be "killed on the spot by the angry Japanese people."

Premier Kuniaki Koiso held a cabinet meeting yesterday because—to quote Tokyo radio—"in due course various bottlenecks are expected to appear with many expected resulting effects."

In whipsaw action along the bombing road to Tokyo, Liberators from Saipan cratered the volcano island airfields the enemy has been using to send fighters in raids on the Superfortress bases at Saipan.

Today a Japanese Imperial Headquarters communique, broadcast from Tokyo and recorded by Federal Communications Commission, gave this unconfirmed version:

Fires Raging

Twenty Superforts attacked in "several waves" from between midnight and 4:30 a.m. Thursday (Tokyo time).

"The fires that continued to rage in part of the areas affected... were put under control by 5:30 a.m."

No claim was made of any B-29 being shot down.

Incendiary bombs, dropped in the new raid "from great heights from above the clouds," touched off fires in "several places" but "most of them" were put out immediately.

The attacks were spread over "the metropolitan area and its vicinity, also a part of Sunyen district." A domestic broadcast previously had told of simultaneous attacks on Shizuoka prefecture south of Tokyo.

Mining Groups Gain Slightly

TORONTO, Nov. 30 (CP)—Moderate gains were boarded by the mining groups and the industrials and the western oils were slightly lower at mid-day today. Trading was in heavier volume at 335,000 shares for the first three hours.

Selling of Steep Rock was a market feature. The price dropped to 2.40 and was holding around 2.47 this afternoon for a net loss of [illegible] cents. Close to 40,000 shares of the stock traded in the first three hours. Lake Dufault slipped back 12 cents to 1.50.

Hollinger, Kerr-Addison, O'Brien, Upper Canada and Bear were stronger golds while Giant was down 10 to 8.50.

Steel, Food and Miscellaneous Industrials were a little higher. Abitibi Preferred at 48 was up a ¼.

THINK Before You VOTE!

Whether we approve the thought or not, Mrs. Nicholls in leaving the hospital, and endowment to operate it, had in mind the welfare of the "inhabitants of the town of Peterborough, and the village of Ashburnham" only. Any person reading the Nicholls Hospital Act, and the testimonial to Mrs. Nicholls in the waiting room of the hospital, cannot help but be struck by this fact.

But, while the residents of the town and village have derived great benefit from the generous donations of Mrs. Nicholls, the folk who have derived the greatest good from these benefactions, have been, not the residents of the town of Peterborough, and village of Ashburnham, but residents of the neighbouring townships and counties.

For, while the residents of the neighbouring townships and counties, are admitted to the hospital on the same terms, and receive the same kind and very efficient care as city patients do, they do not contribute anything to the deficit accumulating at the hospital from time to time, but this is left entirely to the city taxpayers. Thus, the kindly thought that Mrs. Nicholls had for the welfare of the residents of what is now the city of Peterborough, has been entirely lost sight of, and it is open to question whether that lady would have approved this distortion of her wishes.

Remember this when you vote on the proposed new hospital on Monday next.

J. Coldwell, National Chairman Frank Scott and National Secretary David Lewis.

Mr. Coldwell's stand and that of the other party members in the House of Commons on the draft issue is expected to come under review of the convention next Friday, last day of the convention with keen interest being shown in possible attitude of the more than 35 Quebec delegates attending the sittings.

Council Grants Park Lease To Kiwanians

COBOURG, Nov. 30 — (ENS) — Cobourg town council at its meeting Tuesday night gave approval to the lease of the Horse Show Park to Cobourg Kiwanis Club who plan to convert it into a memorial park in honor of the late T. H. McClelland. Purposes of the park would be to further sports among the young people of the town.

The term of the lease is for ten years and the town has the right to reclaim the property on six months' notice by compensating the Kiwanis for their capital expenditure on the project. In the event of a dispute as to the amount of the rebate, provision has been made for the setting up of a board of arbitration to fix the amount. The lease is renewable under the same terms upon expiration of its term.

Councillor Reuben Jackson commented that he didn't see why the Club should be re-imbursed for the full amount of the outlay as wooden structure would show some depreciation in value during 20 or 30 years. Councillor Judd Kennedy disclaimed any knowledge of legal documents as he was "no lawyer" and asked that he be permitted to vote on the matter subject to advice from his own lawyer as to whether the lease was in the general interests of the town.

"Is your lawyer to pass judgment as to legal technicalities or whether we are doing well?" the mayor asked Councillor Kennedy.

"Just on legal technicalities," replied Councillor Kennedy.

"Good job we don't all have to see our lawyers before we approve of it," dryly commented Mrs. Clara Delany.

Council received the resignation of the rink committee which has been in operation for the past two winters. The members of a committee which has been in operation for the past two winters. The members tee have pointed out that all of their time would be taken up with inter-church hockey and they felt that the responsibility of the rink should now be assumed by others. Mayor Burnett and Reeve Love decided to request the committee to continue, those of whom are willing to carry on, and that the committee be increased by one representative from each factory, service club, Legion and other organizations. Mayor Burnet suggested that Morgan Hewson continue as secretary and that Ed. Campbell carry on as chairman.

In response to a request from a number of local merchants, council agreed to erect bicycle parking racks which will be located in the business section where needed. Merchants have objected to bicycles leaning against their store windows or littering the sidewalk.

Telephone Man Gets Citation

TORONTO, Nov. 30. — For his skill and resourcefulness, which resulted in the saving of a life, George J. Alpin, Oshawa, telephone worker, was presented a framed citation by C. F. Sise, chairman of the board of directors of the Bell Telephone Company of Canada, at a dinner in the Royal York Hotel last evening.

The certificate commended Alpin for responding to a call for aid at the Burnsell Webster farm, near Port Perry, on July 19, when a doctor could not be obtained immediately. Alpin applied artificial respiration for 20 minutes until three-year-old Douglas Webster, who had fallen into a water trough and apparently drowned, regained consciousness. The presentation was made by H. C. Walford, Western Division plant superintendent.

At the same gathering five employees were awarded commendary votes of thanks by the St. John Ambulance Association. The presentations were made by L. St. J. Haskell, Montreal, secretary of the Bell Telephone centre of the association, to Fred T. Guise-Bagley and Harry H. Beatty, Toronto; Arthur Faux, St. Thomas; Arthur A. Gale, Stratford; and Charles H. Mortimer, Lindsay.

Trophies and prizes were also presented to London and Toronto first-aid teams, captained by C. M. Brady and W. Sturgess, respectively, winners of inter-company competitions. A. P. Ross, Toronto, vice-president of the Bell Telephone centre of the St. John Ambulance Association, presided.

Draftees Smash Windows In Protest At Montreal

By The Canadian Press

MONTREAL, Nov. 30—More than 1,000 young men, chanting "A Bas la Conscription" (Down with Conscription) and similar slogans, paraded through Montreal's financial district last night, smashing windows at the French-language daily newspaper, Le Canada, on St. James St., and also at the offices of National Selective Service on Notre Dame St., three blocks away.

The men had paraded from an east-end market hall where they heard Andre Laurendeau, Quebec Leader of the Bloc Populaire, say that a majority had "no moral right" to "bind French Canadians to a conscription measure."

The parade, many of the marchers armed with sticks, created no disturbance, other than the shouting, in the uptown district, but then the marchers turned south to St. James St. and thence to the Le Canada office where they broke all the windows on the ground floor.

Bernard Fournier, 15, a messenger boy for the newspaper, was attacked by some of the youths who threw him to the ground and kicked him before he escaped into the building.

At Le Canada the group split into two, one party heading toward the office of the Gazette, while the other continued through the business district, smashing several windows at the office of National Selective Service on Notre Dame St. The window in a door to a near-by office which had housed the headquarters of the Liberal committee in the last Quebec general election also was smashed.

The party which had headed toward the Gazette smashed windows in a tram car on Craig St., and windows in a number of stores along the route. By the time they reached the Gazette building a squad of police had gathered, and the parade turned around.

The police followed the marchers for several blocks, and when the marchers smashed more windows the police stepped in, and dispersed the crowd. Police said a 15-year-old boy was arrested.

Mr. Laurendeau advocated a political truce in Quebec to "present a united front" against conscription, and said "the majority had no right other than perhaps a constitutional right, or the right of might, to enforce conscription."

He added: "We denounce this dictatorship of the majority as being as tyrannical as any fascism."

Mr. Laurendeau said conscription had been forced on the country by "Toronto's 200 group, Imperialists and financiers, who control the English-speaking press and, unfortunately, part of our French-speaking press."

4 Port Hope People Back From Overseas

PORT HOPE, Nov. 30—Four Port Hopers returned form overseas this week and were met at the station by Mayor Charles Stephenson and members of the Rehabilitation Council of Port Hope, as well as the families and relatives of the four. Opposition To the Hospital Bylaw

Elsewhere on this page we publish two letters from citizens who are not satisfied with the bylaw which will be presented to the ratepayers next Monday, diverting $300,000 of the funds of the City Trust Commission toward the building of a new civic hospital. As both our correspondents represent themselves as speaking for groups of citizens, we feel that they deserve a reply, and so far as we are able, we shall give it.

The first letter proposes two alternative schemes for providing money for the hospital. The first is a tax on meals, after the Montreal fashion. But Montreal is a city with a population of a million, and several thousand meals are served in hotels and restaurants there every day; the minimum hospital tax is three cents and on meals costing $2 or more (and many of these are served in Montreal) the tax is a respectable sum. Peterborough, on the contrary, has a population of 28,000 and comparatively few meals are eaten in hotels and restaurants, and these rarely cost more than a dollar a plate; if a tax were put on meals here sufficiently large to support a civic hospital it would be a hardship to restaurant and hotel keepers, and would unfairly burden many people in humble circumstances who are forced to eat downtown because they have no homes. Peterborough is not a city where a lot of gay life and luxury eating goes on.

The suggestion that hydro be taxed would not, we are sure, meet with general approval. 'Power at cost' has been the slogan of Hydro in Ontario for a long time. Why should Hydro carry a hospital tax? And in what way would this ease the burden on property-owners? We do not think that either of these schemes is practical. We do suggest, however, that the two members of the Peterborough Property Owners' Association who declined to run for City Council should have come out as anti-hospital bylaw candidates; then if the referendum had been defeated they would surely have been elected, and if the referendum were passed and they had been elected they would have been able to act as Council watchdogs on hospital expenditure. As they appear to have built an election platform they should have climbed up on it and found out how strong it was.

The purpose of the second letter appears to be to confuse the electorate on matters which have already been made plain in reports of the Council meetings. It is not necessary for the Council to put the question to the ratepayers as to whether the $300,000 shall be diverted from trust funds or not; the Council has the assurance of the Ontario Municipal Board that it can be done without a vote. But the Council is leaving the decision to the voters in order that the hospital may represent true public opinion. We do not see where any inaccuracy exists in the advertisement mentioned. As for point number (3) we do not know why the statement quoted is of doubtful accuracy; the vote of the hospital trustees has been all but unanimous; it would be foolish to approach the Legislature for a Private Bill without first finding out whether the money to build a new hospital would be forthcoming. As for the $50,000 from the Utilities Commission we are assured that there is no legal doubt about the Commission's authority to turn over that sum to the City, which may then use it as a part of the hospital fund. This is not the first time that the Commission has handed over money to the City with a suggestion that it be used for a specific purpose. As for the questions about a lounge for doctors and running water for nurses, we do not think that they will be taken very seriously; does anyone really believe that the efficiency of the hospital would be increased by denying the chief workers in it any reasonable comfort?

We do not think that any opponent of the hospital referendum who has expressed himself in these columns has made a good case against it. The hospital will cost money, obviously; everything does, which makes a city a better place to live in. The important point is that Peterborough needs a new hospital badly and that the building which is proposed will not be too big for immediate demands. Peterborough's hospital facilities will have to grow with the city, and the building which is proposed will be the nucleus around which an even larger hospital will grow. We cannot prevent this from happening by putting small impediments in the way or imputing bad faith to those who are sponsoring the project. If we want Peterborough to grow and prosper we must accept the responsibilities, as well as the benefits, of growth and prosperity.

Do You Need Vitamins?

The answer to the question is: yes, of course you need vitamins, but you are probably getting all the vitamins you need right now. A few years ago the great food fad was calories, and great numbers of people reckoned the food they ate not in terms of palatableness, but in terms of calory content. They stoked themselves as carefully as though they were furnaces, and not human beings with tastes and fancies. Now the food fad is vitamins, and great quantities of 'vitamin pills' are sold to men and women who eat them as readily as bicarbonate of soda.

The term 'vitamin' was first used by the Polish scientist, Dr. Kazimierz Funk, who probably had no idea what he was starting. There are people who suffer from vitamin deficiencies, and their physicians are able to estimate the extent of the need for vitamins and prescribe accordingly. But it is the opinion of Drs. Julian Ruffin and David Cayer of Duke University that the average man or woman gets enough vitamins from a sensible diet.

They conducted an experiment recently to prove their point. They gave pills to two groups of volunteers every day for 30 days; one group's pills contained vitamins and the other contained nothing but a little sugar and paste. At the end of the experiment there was nothing to choose between the two groups. All the volunteers ate an ordinary diet, dictated by their own tastes, during the experimental period. They had all the vitamins they needed, and the excess which they took in pill form did them no good.

The moral of this seems to be that healthy appetites and obedience to the dictates of the body are good guides to health. Great numbers of people who have nothing very much wrong with them are hypochondriacs, and are forever dosing themselves with nostrums and boluses in the hope of achieving better health. Probably what they need is more sleep, or greater freedom from worry; certainly they have nothing ailing them which can be cured by pills or draughts. But they consume vitamins greedily, without consulting their doctors, and they are wasting their time and their money. Of course, if they enjoy taking pills, there is no reason why they should not do so. After all, it does not do them either harm or good.

Cordell Hull: Statesman

By
BRUCE HUTCHISON

IN the history of our times no record of consistency, clarity, patience and courage will surpass that of Cordell Hull. He ends his public career in triumph and vindication, but its true success can only be measured against the obstacles that he overcame. All statesmen in this age of confusion have faced obstacles of his friends and the overcoming of them was the measure of his greatness.

HULL began life as an obscure congressman from deep south, the offspring of mountain folk, of feuds, ignorance and civil war. He came to Congress with a single great idea—he knew that the world's prosperity and that of his country were bound up in international trade. Persistently year in and year out he fought for the reduction of the United States tariff but only once, in the famous Underwood Tariff Act, did he make any progress. When Mr. Roosevelt took office in 1933 he called this quiet, unassuming man to the highest post next to the presidency. Hull became Secretary of State in the midst of a depression which had paralyzed all constructive statesmanship throughout the world, but never for a moment did he doubt what the cure must be. His first act was to go to the London Economic Conference to seek a reduction of trade barriers, a stabilization of currencies and the resumption of trade.

Scarcely had he begun his negotiations with the others when Mr. Roosevelt, from a yacht in the Atlantic where he was fishing, cabled a message to London which wrecked the conference. Mr. Roosevelt would not agree to the stabilizatoin of currencies without which it was hopeless to proceed. A lesser man than Hull would have resigned then in protest against a fatal policy and in anger against a personal betrayal. Hull was too big for that. He came home and he sat by watching the autarchial agonies of the New Deal, the NRA, the Blue Eagle parades, the theatrical crack-downs and dead cats of Hugh Johnson. He knew this folly would pass, and it passed happily by a sudden decision of the supreme court which mercifully wrung the Blue Eagle's neck.

Now Hull had his chance. The President saw that his brain trusters had led him down the wrong path and he turned to Hull. Patiently and with infinite skill Hull began to work for trade through the reciprocal treaty system which bears his name and will remain forever as his monument.

BUT all this was too late. Hull saw better than any American except the President that all his hopes for economic stability were about to perish in world political chaos. He saw the war coming and was powerless to prevent it and he cried, this old stoic when Congress refused to see it. His mind from the start was clear as to the war's meaning and its end. It must be won, and then the larger task of world settlement must be started afresh. It was with his wise counsel, and his influence upon Congress which the President had largely lost, that the United States was able to repeal the Neutrality Act, institute Lend-Lease and create the United Nations.

Into all these projects Hull wove the pattern of the future peace which was to be built on collective security and on freely moving trade. Finally it was Hull, old tired and ill, who personally flew to Moscow and brought Russia back into the partnership of the western world with the Moscow Declaration. On this document, which was his greatest achievement, all subsequent efforts towards peace were constructed. On it was reared the Dumbarton Oaks agreement, and no living man played a greater part in it than Hull. Finally it was Hull who, with an uncanny feel for American politics, brought both political parties to accept collective security in principle in the recent election and prevented it becoming a punctured political football as happened in 1920. Meanwhile it was Hull, too, who more than anyone faced the issue of war with Japan, he who patiently negotiated with the treacherous Japanese envoys, he who met them on the morrow of Pearl Harbor to deliver a blazing rebuke which will remain a classic of diplomatic castigation.

THROUGH all this Hull had never forgotten his original faith in trade. Where lesser men would have despaired of their own government and colleagues Hull waited until the President had thought himself completely out of the morass of the New Deal's bootstrap economics and in the end he had virtually carte blanche to shape American policy towards world trade. He stood behind UNNRA, Bretton Woods and Section Seven of the Lend-Lease agreements, all designed to open up trade, and in the last few months he was preparing for a world economic conference to parallel the world conference on the Dumbarton Oaks charter. At both conferences he would have been one of the most powerful and effective figures and his loss at this moment is hard to exaggerate.

Age and the facts of mortality have interceded to present the consummation of his dreams, but he has left behind him a government schooled to his principles, a President who will fight for his policies. He has left behind also a record which, on examination years hence, will make him one of the great figures in his nation's history, an American who through the fog of isolationism could see and understand the tragedy and the true hope of the world.

Unconsidered Trifles

Over a drink, the two husbands grew confidential on the subject of their wives.

"Mine is developing a very bad habit," said the first in a worried voice; "she keeps talking to herself."

"So does my wife," remarked the other casually; "but she thinks I'm listening."

The vicar's sermon was so exceptionally short, having occupied less than two minutes that the verger felt justified, in the vestry afterwards, in remarking on its extreme brevity.

"Yes, it was short," said the vicar. "As a matter of fact, I am without my teeth today, and find it difficult to speak plainly."

On the following Sunday the sermon ran to a great length, occupying at least ten minutes longer than usual. The verger felt prompted to comment once again, and added: "I expect you've got your teeth back, sir?"

"No," said the vicar, "I haven't, but I borrowed my wife's, and I wonder I'm not still preaching. I had a terrible job to stop when I did!"

INDEFINITELY POSTPONED —By Thomas

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

TWO ALTERNATIVES

Sir,—I would like with your permission, to reply to the letter of Ald. James Dutton in Monday's "Examiner" requesting an alternative to the proposed financial plan for the new hospital. There are several plans which suggest themselves, and I will give two. (1) The city of Montreal imposes a tax upon meals served at restaurants and hotels the proceeds of which go towards the upkeep of Montreal hospitals. Why cannot we do this in Peterborough? (2) Let a small tax be imposed upon light and power used in the city and county, and let the proceeds of this go to our hospitals. There is now a small tax imposed upon domestic light users, for war purposes, which in the main consists of killing people. Why cannot we have a small tax to help save the lives of people?

Now that I have answered Ald. James Dutton, perhaps I may be allowed to ask a question, for turn about is always fair play. This is my question: How much property tax does Alderman James Dutton pay in Peterborough? Perhaps Alderman Dutton will give his reply through the "Examiner"?

Thanking you, I am, Yours truly,
W. TINKER.

CLAIMS MISREPRESENTATION

Sir,—The concensus of opinion seems to be that a modern hospital is required in Peterborough but there is a great deal of opposition to One million four hundred dollar expenditure.

Many ratepayers think this beyond the needs and resources of the City of Peterborough.

The advertisements appearing in support of the hospital are inaccurate to the extent of a few hundred thousand dollars. The advertisements read:—

(2) "If you agree on Election Day, $300,000 will be transferred from the funds of the City Trust to the Hospital Fund." This statement is not correct.

(3) "The Trustees of Nicholls Hospital have agreed to turn over its Trust Fund of $250,000 to the new hospital as a memorial to Mrs. Nicholls. This, in addition to its land, buildings and equipment." This statement is of doubtful accuracy.

(4) "The Peterborough Public Utilities Commission have offered to donate $50,000 from its surplus account." The Utilities Commission has no such power.

When the statement is made that we can get the new modern hospital for less than half price, that statement is inaccurate to the extent that it is absolutely false.

The $300,000 of the funds of the City Trust belong to the people of the City of Peterborough. The $50,000 of the Utilities Commission belong to the people of the City of Peterborough.

If there was before the people a scheme of administration defined by a private bill, to be submitted to the Legislature, the public would know whether they will be faced with deficits or whether adequate rates would be charged by those using the hospital. This has not been done nor has there been submitted a scheme of the election or the appointment of the governors of the hospital.

The public are entitled to know whether there is to be an expensive lounge in the hospital for the doctors and for nurses, whether there is to be a swimming pool in the residence for the nurses and running water in each room occupied by the nurses or not.

Simply saying that the hospital will cost less than half price is pressure advertising and in addition the statement is not true.

Those who have the responsibility of placing the facts before the voters have a duty imposed upon them to give us accurate, clearly defined facts, because if the hospital bylaw is passed, every home in the City of Peterborough has a first-mortgage upon it to pay the cost for twenty years, to pay the cost of the hospital less such funds that are contributed to it.

Yours truly,
G. N. GORDON.

Inevitable Socialism?

(NEW YORK TIMES)

ONE of our London correspondents reports an influential body of opinion in Great Britain which believes that the American public "in its enthusiasm for private enterprise has failed to grasp to what an extent German National Socialism has made socialism in Europe inevitable, even when unwanted."

Now it would be bitterly ironic if the unparalleled sacrifices of blood and treasure that the United Nations have made to defeat German National Socialism should result merely in the world's taking over substantially the same system. It would mean that in a moral, economic and political sense the vanquished had been in the end the victors. Fortunately, there are strong reasons for not accepting so dark a conclusion.

The reasons that these Londoners give for their belief in the present "inevitability" of socialism, as reported by our correspondent, are not convincing.

1. Russia, we are told, is a completely socialized country. This, however, is nothing new; it is a situation that has now existed for approximately a quarter of a century. Morever, Russia herself has been adopting many devices commonly regarded as essentially capitalistic, such as piecework and incentive wages based on output or efficiency. Russia also favours the gold standard, which prevailing British opinion opposes.

2. Britain, it is said, "although still theoretically capitalist, has accumulated so many debts, lost so much trade and hypothecated so many overseas investments during the war that nothing but controlled collective action over a long term of years can put her on her feet". Much depends on what is meant here by "controlled collective action"; but if it means socialism or a planned economy, it is merely begging the question. It assumes that capitalism is a sort of luxury, that it is all very well for a country already rich and prosperous, but that poor countries or countries in difficulties can be saved only by socialism or by "national planning". This is certainly not obvious. Only those, in fact, who are already socialists or planners for other reasons are likely to accept such an assumption.

3. Private ownership in Europe, it is contended, has been so confused and compromised by the Nazis and their collaborators that European Governments are being forced to take over large segments of it. A Czech official, for example, declares that his Government will be compelled to take over the Skoda works because they have long been a state enterprise under the Nazis, and will be forced to nationalize the big coal mines in the north because the Nazis have bought them. He also stresses the case of mines and factories owned by traitors. Public opinion, he argues, will allow no solution of this problem other than confiscation by the state.

Even if we grant all this, it does not follow that Government ownership or operation in these cases need be permanent. Where possible, European Governments can seek to restore to their previous owners properties seized by the Nazis. Where this is not possible they can sell the properties to the highest private bidder, or issue shares at a fixed price and gradually dispose of them that way. The problem is essentially no different from our own problem of wartime Government-built plants.

There is no reason why socialism need be a one-way process, unless people want it that way; and they will not want it that way if they realize that private ownership and operation in peacetime are not only more efficient but involve considerably less threat to individual liberties. Socialism is no more "inevitable" today than it ever was.

Silver Lining

Notwithstanding the great number of war marriages it is an interesting fact that a great majority of the men now abroad on military service are single and that on their return the number of marriages undoubtedly will increase. In war years also there is another factor that tends to upset the usual balance. It is a tendency for widowers and elderly bachelors to take wives, often much younger than themselves. The survey says in conclusion: "Our single girls have little reason to be discouraged about their marriage prospects. Probabilities are that there will be no serious shortage of husbands." Computations in this field seemingly take no account of wives who have several husbands in succession, nor of husbands who take several wives, but perhaps this does not affect the probability that single women will marry at least once. — New York Herald Tribune.

A Bible Message

And Elijah came unto all the people, and said, How long halt ye between two opinions? if the Lord be God, follow him: but if Baal, then follow him. And the people answered him not a word. Then said Elijah unto the people, I, even I only, remain a prophet of the Lord; but Baal's prophets are four hundred and fifty men. Let them therefore give us two bullocks; and let them choose one bullock for themselves, and cut it in pieces, and lay it on wood, and put fire under: and I will dress the other bullock, and lay it on wood, and put no fire under: and call ye on the name of your gods, and I will call on the name of the Lord: and the God that answereth by fire, let him be God. And all the people answered and said, It is well spoken.

And Elijah said unto the prophets of Baal, Choose you one bullock for yourselves, and dress it first; for ye are many; and call on the name of your gods, but put no fire under. And they took the bullock which was given them, and they dressed it, and called on the name of Baal from morning even until noon, saying, O Baal, hear us. But there was no voice, nor any that answered. And they leaped upon the altar which was made....

And Elijah said unto all the people, Come near unto me. And all the people came near unto him. And he repaired the altar of the Lord that was broken down.... And he put the wood in order, and cut the bullock in pieces, and laid him on the wood, and said, Fill four barrels with water, and pour it on the burnt sacrifice, and on the wood.... And it came to pass at the time of the offering of the evening sacrifice, that Elijah the prophet came near and said, Lord God of Abraham, Isaac, and of Israel, let it be known this day that thou are God in Israel, and that I am thy servant, and that I have done all these things at thy word....

Then the fire of the Lord fell, and consumed the burnt sacrifice, and the wood, and the stones, and the dust and licked up the water that was in the trench. And when all the people saw it, they fell on their faces: and they said, The Lord, he is the God; the Lord, he is the God.

PEACETIME TARIFFS

Tariffs are not scaled down without international agreement. One nation is not going to act unless others take similar action. And perhaps this would be a good time for Ottawa to consider what Canada's tariff policy is going to be. Our own tariff issue has been obscured by war, and by the fact that under war conditions, tariffs of other countries don't influence our export trade so importantly, since we can find buyers anyway for practically all we can produce. This is not so in peace. If the architects of our so-called reconstruction ignore tariffs, it will be a bad day for Canada in general, and in particular for those provinces devoted primarily to basic industries.—Saint John Telegraph Journal.

INDELIBLE MEMORIES

An "incident officer" in Southern England, who was directing rescue operations where a robot bomb had taken several lives and injured several other persons, observed some of the latter with grit ground into their faces by the force of the blast. In a low, tired voice, he observed to a standerby: "After a few days the grit will loosen and they'll be able to wash it off. But I wonder if they'll be able to wash this off their memories?" This man touched a tragic truth of this war when he said that. Its wounds of the mind and its heritage are imponderables which no one can gauge, and posterity alone may know the answer.—Hamilton Spectator.

4 Men Will Hang At Fort Frances

TORONTO, Nov. 30 — (CP) — Execution of four men convicted of the "hot-stove" murder of Mrs. Viola Jamieson of Flanders, will take place at Fort Frances, Ont., Attorney-General Blackwell said to-day. The four men sentenced to hang on December 6 are William Schmidt, George and Anthony Skrypnyk, and Eino Tillonen. They are now in jail at Kenora.

M Blackwell said no other action can be taken under the Criminal Code, but to carry out the execution at Fort Frances where the men were sentenced.

"I have no power in the matter, as existing laws require it to take place at Fort Frances," he said.

Recently the Fort Frances Council protested against the execution taking place in a wooden building on the jail lawn, contending children watched the construction in preceding executions.

Arrangements are proceeding for construction of a similar building for the December 6 execution.

Tyranny In Taxation System

By BRUCE HUTCHISON

Than the chartered accountants of Canada no one knows better the detailed operations of the income tax system. A thousand problems of taxation and its application to individual taxpayers, which few members of Parliament understand, come daily before chartered accountants who are employed to iron out the taxpayer's problems. Therefore opinions which the accountants have formed of the tax system should carry great weight.

Such opinions have been laid down in considered statements by leading accountants at the annual meeting of the Dominion Association of Chartered Accountants and they confirm the view, often expressed in these columns, that the tax machinery of Canada is full of injustices, inequities and arbitrary powers which flout the whole principle of parliamentary government. These appear in the current number of the Canadian Chartered Accountant.

Mrs. C. A. Patterson, a distinguished accountant, puts his finger on one of the worst features of the tax system — its concentration of almost unlimited power of discretion and arbitrary decision in the minister of national revenue, which means, in fact, in his officials. As Mr. Patterson says, the law provides that "when a taxpayer feels that he has been wrongfully or improperly assessed by the minister, he may address an appeal to the minister — that is to the very man who made the assessment, and ask for relief. In determining and deciding such appeals the minister must sit in judgment in a cause in which, as an administrator, he is a party and therefore interested. This violates an elementary principle of natural justice."

This violation of the elementary principle of justice is not permitted in Britain or the United States, where convenient tribunals of appeal are always open to the taxpayer. In those countries it is recognized that the citizen has the right to appear before a court as the equal of the government, whereas in Canada he cannot do so — indeed, cannot appear at all. This fact prompted Mr. R. B. Hanson, a member of the House of Commons, to protest in Parliament on July 17 last, when he said:

"I made an appeal to the minister of national revenue against the present law relating to appeals from income tax assessment. Under the law as it is at present, the appeal is from Caesar to Caesar. . . . The parliamentary assistant to the minister of finance admitted at once that it was an empty gesture and a waste of time. Upon my pressing the minister of national revenue and arguing that the principle was bad, he would not admit it, but he intimated that the department would consider setting up an advisory committee. That does not meet the situation because the appeal will still be to the same jurisdiction."

Up to date there has been no indication from the government that it will repeal or even modify the obnoxious principle of the prosecutor also being the judge. As the law stands, not only is there no avenue of appeal for the ordinary taxpayer but he is constantly confused by the changing tax regulations promulgated by the minister of national revenue. So wide is the discretion of the minister and his officials that their regulations are in operation virtually laws of Canada, Parliament having to a great degree abdicated its right to decide how taxes shall be collected.

As Mr. Patterson says, the rulings of the tax department have no technical effect in law and are merely the administration's interpretation of the law, but, since it is impossible for most taxpayers to carry such rulings to the courts, they are, in most cases, as effective as a law.

"Many of these (rulings) are not publicized," Mr. Patterson says, "and frequently taxpayers know of them only when assessments are proposed. This sometimes leaves a doubt in the minds of the taxpayers as to whether the same ruling will be applied in a uniform manner to all cases with similar conditions. Further, the rulings are not binding upon the minister and presumably may be altered, amended or disregarded by the department as it sees fit and without notice. To appreciate fully the extent of administrative control, a study of the

Outboards Tied At The Top With Westclox

The battling leaders in the Ladies' City Five Pin League failed to break their deadlock in Monday night's games. Outboard Marines swept the boards with Arcos and Westclox took three from Brintons so that the rivals are still tied with 21 points each.

Team honors for the week went to the Corvettes who had a total of 2999 pins.

The standing at end of the first section is:

Westclox	21
Outboards	21
Merry Macs	18
Corvettes	17
Brintons	14
Commandos	12
Empressettes	11
Beavers	10
Five V's	6
Arcos	5

High average—M. Hawthorne, 220.
High single—A. Sisson, 362.
High three—K. Calladine, 766.

A. Sisson of Merry Macs set a new single record for the season when she rolled 362 in the first game against the Beavers. Other high singles were: B. Goldie 313, M. Goldie 283, I. Bullock 274, A. Anderson 250, E. Copping 245, L. Vincent 243, R. Pearse 242, D. Pearson 241, M. Fallen 241, B. Castle 241.

D. Pearson had high three for the week with 693 and other good scores were: "Tommy" Bullock 672, E. Copping 667, B. Goldie 653, A. Anderson 651, L. Vincent 635.

The blind score prize was won by M. Fallen with 583, the exact blind score.

NEW PRO CZAR—Lieut.-Com. James Crowley, former football coach at Fordham University and one of the famed 'Four Horsemen' of football, has been signed to serve as commissioner of the All-American conference, newly organized pro football league. According to the announcement, Crowley, who was to have been the coach of the Boston Yanks of the National pro league following the war, has signed for five years at a reported $125,000.

Mrs. J. Thomas Heads Women Curlers

With President Mrs. J. W. E. Thomas occupying the chair, the Peterborough Ladies' Curling Club held their winter meeting in the club's parlors, Charlotte street Tuesday afternoon.

The main order of business was the adoption of a constitution. A sub-committee had been appointed last spring for this purpose and judging from the remarks, they must have spent considerable time on it as after it was read to the gathering it was adopted unanimously.

Another important item on the agenda was that of choosing the personnel of the schedule rinks. As has been the custom the names are drawn by number but this year the older and more experienced skips stood to one side and allowed the new skips the first choice.

Many other items of interest were brought before the meeting and all in all it appears now that all the lady curlers are waiting for is cold weather and curling ice, a very necessary combination in the sport.

At the close of the business meeting tea was served by the ladies of the social committee.

Officers elected are:

Past president, Mrs. R. H. Turner; president, Mrs. J. W. E. Thomas; vice-president, Mrs. C. B. Westbrooke; secretary, Mrs. J. C. Green; treasurer, Mrs. G. W. Green; executive committee, the above officers, and Mrs. H. Dulmage, Mrs. O. M. Steer, Mrs. O. De Graw, Mrs. V. Selkirk, Mrs. G. Wood, Mrs. M. Holt and Mrs. T. Doughty.

Personnel of the rinks:

Mrs. F. Staunton, Mrs. C. Mowry, Mrs. A. McConkey, Mrs. J. Bruce, skip.

Mrs. H. E. Cassan, Mrs. W. Comstock, Mrs. A. Robinson, Mrs. D. Clarke, skip.

Mrs. F. Bowness, Mrs. A. Boorne, Miss G. Patterson, Miss M. Patterson, skip.

Mrs. H. Scott, Mrs. F. Mowry, Mrs. G. W. Green, Mrs. V. Selkirk, skip.

Mrs. C. W. Nicholson, Mrs. H. R. Martin, Mrs. J. Dunkerley, Mrs O. M. Steer, skip.

Mrs. W. Davidson, Mrs. R. Best, Mrs. J. W. E. Thomas, Mrs. R. H. Turner, skip.

Mrs. H. Eastwood, Mrs. S. Archibald, Mrs. D. Davis, Mrs. C. Westbrooke, skip.

Mrs. B. Baker, Mrs. C. Graham, Mrs. J. C. Green, Mrs. G. A. Wood, skip.

Unattached Players—Miss H. Fanning, Miss H. Munro, Mrs. A. Gibbs, Mrs. E. Metcalfe, Mrs. L. Bearne, Mrs. J. Elliott, Miss B. Martin, rs. Baistable, Mrs. R. T. E. Hicks-Lyne, Miss M. Ross.

Social Players: Mrs. C. G. Graham.

The men curlers are reminded of the annual meeting to be held on Monday, December 4, at 8 o'clock.

STEWART RELEASED

Jack Stewart, former defence star of Detroit Red Wings of the National Hockey League, was discharged from the R.C.A.F. at Winnipeg yesterday under the air force's new demobilization plans. It is understood he will return to his farm at Pilot Mound, Man., though it was said there is a possibility he may rejoin his old club.

SAM'S IN SPOTLIGHT—Slammin' Sammy Snead, the golfing great who has been in the Navy for the last two years, is headlining the golf pack again with fine play in the $15,000 Portland, Ore., open. Snead shot a sub-par 70 to lead after opening play at Portland.

Remember When—

(By The Canadian Press)

Detroit's Joe Louis knocked out Charley Massera in three rounds at Chicago 10 years ago tonight in his 11th professional fight. The Brown Bomber—who later became world's heavyweight champion—collected $1,100 for the nine minutes. Ten months later he flattened Max Baer in four rounds and received $217,337.

SPORTS-Day by Day

By FRED D. CRAIG

The sport-lovers of Peterborough who have started the Memorial Health Centre project well along its way by raising over $200,000 by voluntary subscription have another task to perform to complete the job. That is to make sure that the bylaw providing for a civic grant of $75,000 to the Health Centre fund is passed when it goes before the property-owners for approval next Monday. This additional sum is essential to the carrying out of the program laid out under the Memorial Health Centre scheme and every dollar of it will be needed if the splendid project is to be completed. It would be fantastic if a community that voluntarily raised over $200,000 to finance this great program were to sit back and watch a bylaw to raise $75,000 more to finish the job defeated. Don't leave it to George to see that the Health Centre bylaw is passed Monday. Get out and vote for it or if you haven't a vote yourself get after your friends who are property-owners and make sure their votes are polled. The killjoys will be out early to sabotage the bylaw so that it is up to the progressive element in the community who want to make this a better town in which to live and for the war heroes to come home to, and to the friends of clean sport to do everything possible to have the measure carried.

As a result of this week's games in the Ladies' Five Pin League, the battling teams have begun to string out a little and now the only tie in the standing is at the top of the ladder where the Westclox and Outboard Marines are still on even terms. Both came up with a clean sweep on Monday night and as a result they are tied with 21 points each. Merry Macs who have been in third place right along slipped a little bit off the pace by losing one of their three games with Empressettes and that leaves them with 18 points, three behind the leaders. Corvettes who incidentally had the best team score of the week, just a pin off the 3,000 mark, swamped the Five V's, taking all three games and as a result are just a point behind the third-placers. Brintons failed to win a game from Westclox and are fifth with 14 points. Commandos took two games and are now in sixth position with 12 points, Empressettes have 11, and Beavers 10 while down at the foot of the heap are the Five V's with 6 points and the Arcos with five.

Two Good Games

The senior game between Transports and C.G.E. is the first battle on the weekly double-bill in the Ladies' Basketball League at the Y.W.C.A. on Friday night. The two senior outfits clash at 7.45 o'clock while the high-flying Y Grads and Westclox will meet in a junior tilt at 8.45. In the senior battle both teams are looking for their first win for both have been defeated in turn by St. John's. The latter of course are leading the parade by virtue of those two victories and now the other two clubs are anxious to break into the win column and grab off second spot. It should be a lively contest all the way. C.G.E. sparked by Mary McPherson who hung up a neat scoring record in the game against St. John's would love to slap down last year's champs while the Transports, after their defeat by the Saints are anxious to get going. In the junior game Westclox will tackle the Grads whose big-score victory over Normal a week ago was one of the season's surprises. The Y team came up with a couple of new stars last week who promise to be up with the scoring leaders at the end of the season. The junior game is billed for 8.45 o'clock.

Here is Niagara Falls' Bill Gaynon's comment on the Cossa final game: "Once more a football team has brought interscholastic provincial gridiron honors to Niagara Falls and to Gordon Dorst and his gallant young crew of Falls C.I. gridders local sport circles owes much. Leading the most youthful band of footballers ever to contest district Cossa honors, coach Dorst saw his youngsters follow up their peninsula triumph over Pt. Colborne by moving into Toronto last Saturday morning and add the Ontario title by decisively defeating Peterborough Collegiate. The Bay of Quinte titleholders failed to match the skill of the fellows from the fruit locality and Falls supporters in attendance, say it was the finest display the new champs have given all year. Every department was clicking beautifully and the scrappy easterners could not prevent the onslaught. It marked the first Ontario crown for the Eppworth school since the late Andy Gilles led a powerful crew all the way seven years ago, and home sporting ranks is richly honored by the new conquest."

It's Too Late, Ken

"Now that Jack Doran's St. Mike's "Irish" have the city senior six-man and Bay of Quinte senior Interscholastic rugby championships tucked away in the bag, all that's left is the junior city six-man crown," says Ken Colling in his Belleville sport column. "Leading this pack is Red Townsend's Belleville Collegiate sextette, a game out in front of the Irish....In their initial meeting the "Collegians won 12 to 7 on Oct. 30th, the final game is slated for Wednesday afternoon when B.C.I. can cinch the junior flag by repeating the dose of Oct. 30th....An Irish win tomorrow would force a third and deciding meeting....Skipper Townsend's squad will be minus their rollicking end, Johnnie Rollins, who is on the injured list following last week's football game—Niagara Falls Collegiate won the senior COSSA rugby title by beating Peterborough C.I. 26 to 5 in a sudden death game at Toronto last Saturday....Coach Jack Doran's St. Michael's "Irish" might do worse than play Peterborogh C.I. an exhibition game 'just for curiosity'."

The death in action with the Canadian Navy of Red Garrett, colorful young hockey defence star, removes from the roster of post-war hockey possibilities a very promising figure. Garrett who was with Providence Reds and the New York Rangers two seasons ago and last winter with Pick Hines' Toronto Navy team was a dashing dynamic sort of player, the type that is always popular with the fans and a great future was prophesied for him by the experts. He had been at sea with the Canadian Navy for some time and news of his death will be received with grief by many followers of the game who had hoped that the Toronto boy would come back after the war to rise to the heights in professional hockey. Incidentally he is among the first of Canada's professional players to give his life in the present conflict.

Sporting Chili Con Carne: Official figures give Bill Cowley a four-point lead over Toe Blake and Clint Smith in the N.H.L. scoring race.... The O.M.H.A. annual meeting is to be held this Saturday...Peterborough will take a lot more interest in the 'teen-age organization when the Memorial Health Centre scheme is completed. There will be a chance then for local youngsters to take part in the provincial competitions... With no rink available the kids are just out of luck now....Return of Wally Stanowski to the Leafs adds a colorful figure to the Toronto roster....It looks as if Hap Day may use him at left wing where the Leafs need assistance. They are well equipped with defence men but need some help up front....DeLaat's feat in scoring nine goals for Toronto Bowsers last night must be about a modern record. He scored three in a row in the first period, two in succession in the second and wound up by getting the last four goals of the game in order.. The Quebec Aces also have reinforcement troubles. Their championship team of last season, already well riddled has been hit again by the signing of Ludger Tremblay by the Providence Reds."

Secretary Dan Ferris of the Amateur Union of the United States announced at New York last night that, subject to transportation arrangements and the approval of the International Federation, Gunder Haegg and Hakon Lidman, two Swedish stars, would arrive late in December to compete in indoor track meets over a period of three weeks. Haegg, who holds the 1,500-metre and two-mile world's records, barnstormed in the U.S. in 1943 in aid of war charities. Lidman is the outstanding hurdler of Europe and is credited with doing the 110-metre high hurdles in 14 seconds.

Ludger Tremblay, starry forward of the Quebec Aces, Allan Cup defenders, has been signed by Providence Reds of the American Hockey League, it was stated at Quebec last night. The Aces have lost a goodly portion of last year's championship line-up already.

May Rejoin Leafs

Wally Stanowski, star defenceman with Toronto Maple Leafs of the National Hockey League before joining the R.C.A.F., will practice with his former team today and Friday when the squad prepares for their game against New York Rangers at Toronto Saturday night. Stanowski has been discharged from the air force on medical grounds and probably wil rejoin the Leafs if he is not subject to army call.

After a seven-bout exhibition tour in the States, Sgt. Joe Louis, world's heavyweight titleholder, reported for duty yesterday at Camp Sanks, N.Y., where he will assist in the physical-training program.

3 Strong Teams Dominate N.H.L.

By The Canadian Press.

The symmetrical pattern of the National Hockey League race, woven by a quarter-season's play, will be unaltered by to-night's two games regardless of their outcome.

The league-leading Montreal Canadiens will be at home to New York Rangers, tied for fifth place with Chicago, whose Black Hawks entertain the fourth-place Boston Bruins.

The pattern is simple, consisting of two well-defined halves of three teams each. That basic design has acquired a look of permanence, and indications are that there won't be anything more than local disturbances in the two sections between now and next March.

Prospects are good for an exciting championship battle among Canadiens, Toronto Maple Leafs, and Detroit Red Wings, while in the sub-section Rangers and Hawks are likely to raise strong disputes to Boston's claim on the last play-off spot. But it becomes increasingly doubtful that any club will jump the fence, currently the seven-point barrier between Detroit and Boston, into the "other league."

Canadiens' objective to-night will be to expand their one-point margin over the Maple Leafs, who are idle until Saturday. A doubtful Habitant starter will be Goalie Bill Durnan, who injured an elbow in last Saturday's game at Toronto. Paul Bibeault will be on call.

CHICAGO BLACK HAWKS' LIN-UP INCLUDES OLD AND NEW PLAYERS — Harvey Fraser (Left), of Yorkton, Sask., who played on the Pacific coast where he was picked up from New Westminster Lodestars by Paul Thompson, who summers at Vancouver, B.C. Now the B.C. Hockey Association wants the NHL to pay $500 each for Fraser and Brayshaw. "Mush" March (Inside Left), who is putting in his 17th year as the Chicago Black Hawks' right wing, hails from Regina, Sask. He is a golf pro in Chicago in the summer. Bill Thoms (Inside Right), of Newmarket, Ont., who in 1938 was traded by the Maple Leafs to the Hawks for Elwyn "Doc" Romnes who, incidentally, played two months with the Leafs and then retired crippled with rheumatism. Thoms, playing centre last year for the Hawks, nearly died after an operation. This year he plays defence for the team. "Bus" Brayshaw (Right), of Vancouver, B.C., who is a fast centre for the Hawks and came from the New Westminster Lodestars. The B.C. Hockey Association is asking $500 from the NHL for both Brayshaw and Fraser.

Toronto Leaf Killed In Action

TORONTO, Nov. 30—(CP)—Dudley (Red) Garrett, former professional hockey player and property of Toronto Maple Leafs of the National Hockey League, has been killed in action with the Royal Canadian Navy, his father, Dudley Garrett, said last night.

Young Garrett played with Providence Reds of the American Hockey League and New York Rangers of the N.H.L. in the 1942-43 season, after figuring in the deal that brought Babe Pratt to the Maple Leafs.

Last season he performed with Toronto Navy of the Ontario Hockey Association before service teams dropped from the league.

TORONTO, Nov. 30 — (CP). — It won't come to pass but developments on the Toronto soccer front make one wonder what would happen if the union dispute gets any hotter. There was a little matter of a threatened referee strike last summer, and now the referees' union is asking a closed shop for the officials.. Probably if some scab labor gets out on the field to do the officiating the union refs will have to parade up and down the sidelines with large placards reading: "Unfair to organized bottle-duckers." The union has made a start on tightening things up by asking the Toronto and District Senior Soccer League to bar two referees who didn't take out their union cards last year.

Get Rich Scheme?

Speaking of referees, Myrtle (Montreal Star) Cook doesn't think too kindly of the basketball referees in Montreal who demand a pay boost from $2.50 a game to $3.50. Myrtle says the girls' leagues have to run raffles to collect enough money for the referees and often take up a collection among the players to pay off the officials.

If basketball in Montreal was a paying proposition and the referees depended on their fees for a living, it would be different, the Star columnist said, adding, "$2.50 for 40 minutes actual toil isn't hay — it's victory bond fodder."

Incidentally:

Just to start up another of these "best player" disputes, we pass on Lew Hayman's opinion that former Ottawa star Tony Golab was the keenest thing Canadian football produced in recent years. The former Toronto Argo coach calls Golab because of his hustle and ability to play every minute as though a championship was in the offing . . . Coach Glen Brown of Montreal Navy came up with a 22-carat suggestion with his idea of an all-navy football game for New Year's Day, like the classics put on by our cousins to the south. He suggested Paris, France, as the scene of operations, but the idea would go over in a big way anywhere — weather permitting . . . fans forget so quickly. Norm Smith, who drew his share of home crowd applause when he played with Detroit Red Wings a few years ago, was mistaken for an usher in that same Detroit Stadium the other night.

Bisons Boost League Lead

By The Canadian Press.

Buffalo Bisons last night increased to three points their lead over the second-place Hershey Bears in the American Hockey League Eastern Division by defeating Providence Reds 4-3 at Buffalo. In the Western Division third-place Cleveland Barons won from Pittsburg Hornets, tied with Indianapolis Capitals for first place.

Providence took a three-goal lead early in the game at Buffalo on scores by Jacques Lavoie, George Bellemare and Paul Courteau. Kenny Kilrea began the scoring for Buffalo late in the second period. Tallies by Len Anderson and Doug Lewis in the third evened the score and a goal by George Pargeter in the last minute of play gave Bisons the victory.

Barons were ahead all the way in the game at Pittsburg from Ed (Whitey) Prokops first score midway in the first session. Lloyd Klein was outstanding for Hornets, accounting for two of their three tallies.

Skaters Plan Wedding

HOLLYWOOD, Nov. 30 — (AP). —After seven years of skating around it (their romance has lasted that long), Michael Kirby and Norah McCarthy, Canadian skaters, will be wed in Hollywood shortly before Christmas, Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer Studios said yesterday.

Track Syndicate Is Optimistic

MIAMI, Fla., Nov. 30 (AP)—Members of a syndicate which gambled hundreds of thousands of dollars that Gulfstream Park could make a wartime racing comeback already had won half a victory Wednesday and waited confidently for a meeting opening Friday to bring complete triumph.

Half the battle was over when Miami Florist James Donn and his associates finished a hurry-up refurbishing job begun late in the summer in time to inaugurate Florida's racing season on the earliest date in history.

Spending more than $200,000, they turned a run-down plant which had been idle four years into a spruce horse park, filled the stables with thoroughbreds and lined up a 20-day racing program with a $1,000 purse minimum.

"And we leaned over backward to avoid breaking any wartime rules," Donn commented.

Sticking to his prediction that more than 20,000 spectators will turn out for the opening, Donn refused to be shaken in his belief that there are enough bettors in South Florida this early in the winter to support racing.

And he was just as certain that a horse player will find a way to get 15 miles to a track, even in war time. Gulfstream, Florida's third track, is situated approximately 15 miles north of Miami at Hallandale.

Sports Spice

By HUGH FULLERTON, JR.
Associated Press Sport Writer

NEW YORK, Nov. 30 — (AP). — Ever hear of people who wanted to give away money?.....That's getting to be a hot subject in minor league baseball and one which will be argued over again at next week's Buffalo convention....Last year the Southern Association asked that Class A1 leagues be allowed the privilege of paying bonuses to players other than first-year men....Leagues of lower classification asked to be declared in and the whole business was voted down....This year the Southern is trying a new tack by asking the right to pay bonuses for signing players coming out of the armed forces and the Atlanta Club proposes giving the player his choice between a cash bonus and 10 per cent of the price when he is sold into a higher class....Looks as if they might be worried about the player shortage—only the same league wants to raise player limits right down the line so that clubs can absorb returning servicemen without hardship.

Newmarket Prices May Set Record

LONDON, Nov. 30—(CP-Reuter)—A wartime record in bloodstock prices is likely to be reached at the five-day December sales beginning at Newmarket next Monday. "Hotspur" racing correspondent of the Daily Telegraph said today.

The three major sales this year have reached the total of 530,756 guineas (approximately $2,500,000). Next week's aggregate may be in the region of 400,000 guineas, bringing the year's total to £1,000,000. The record was £1,142,000 in 1928.

The recovery in bloodstock values since the early war days is shown by the increase in the annual total from 220,300 guineas in 1941 to 419,736 in 1942 and 533,734 in 1943.

Scores 9 Goals

TORONTO, Nov. 30—(CP)—Gordon DeLast, prominent Toronto golfer, proved he can handle a hockey stick as well as a golf club last night when he rang up nine goals and one assist in Bowsers' 16-3 defeat of Uptowns in a city industrial league game.

By HYE BOSSIN

That recent blast at Hollywood stars cutting their playing time on the war fronts didn't win much support from soldiers generally, although it appeared in an army newspaper. Paulette Goddard, for instance, mails 23,000 pinup photos monthly to meet overseas requests . . . Cara Williams has had feature roles in films but won't be satisfied until she's a star. Asked by a reporter to name her favorite star, she said "Cara Williams." Refreshing honesty . . . Michael Curtiz will direct "The Life of Will Rogers," a film that many are anxious to see. No doubt it will enjoy greater success than "Mark Twain," a grand picture which did only fair at the box-office. Rogers and his wit are still alive in the memory of most persons.

Do you remember the hit film of two years ago, "Sergeant York?" It was about Alvin York, the soldier who killed and captured more Germans than any other in 1914-18.

In Nova Scotia there is a community called New Germany. The theatre there is operated by a man named Alvan Yorke.

Being a lover of prose I must admire the manner in which Dr. Willard Brewing of St. George's United Church, Toronto, joined his praise of two films with religious themes, "The Great Dr. Handel" and "Going My Way." Said Dr. Brewing: "One is the song of the angels in the hills, the other the echoing song of street urchins. Handel would have exulted to have Bing Crosby's boys' choir under his baton for an hour". . . . Hollywood guide: "That man standing there is the fellow who used to put his right hand in the lion's mouth in animal films." Sightseer: "What's his name?" Guide: "Lefty". . . . Manager of the Imperial Theatre, Canada's largest, is named Tom Daley. He recently played "Arsenic and Old Lace." One of the opening scenes is in a graveyard and there is a tombstone bearing his name. He's been getting jocular condolences ever since.

Censorship of movies is becoming increasingly controversial, some newspapers contending that there should be one board with common standards for all Canada, instead of one in each province.

There are those who think that signs outside of a theatre should explain that certain films are not juvenile fare. Opponents of that idea point out that it is the surest way to accomplish the reverse of what is intended.

Years ago a theatre man whose business was bad, no matter how good the film, got an idea. He pasted signs about the next attraction all over town. And right across the centre of a scene on the sign he pasted a white strip. Everyone got the idea that the censors had ruled that the film had something too provocative for the public to see.

The theatre was crowded that week.

The CBC, which controls television in Canada, intends building an experimental station in Montreal . . . Gracie Fields, 47, told an interviewer the other day: "Nothin' fancy about me. I'm just like anyone else. Can't even sing as good as some. Just a little louder." British producers didn't think she would be a movie attraction, so for her first picture they offered her a percentage instead of a salary and she got rich overnight . . . Joan Crawford, whose getups used to make the girls ah! and the men ogle, will wear 29 different outfits in "Mildred Pierce."

Enemy In Italy Important Alexander Warns

ROME, Nov. 30—(CP-Reuter)—Field Marshal Sir Harold Alexander, newly-appointed Allied commander in the Mediterranean, reiterated "there is no short cut to Germany until we beat the German army."

He told the United States army newspaper, Stars and Stripes, to "give the infantrymen the right picture: That Italy is not of indirect importance but rather of direct bearing on the whole matter. Let him know that he is winning the war as much as any man on the western front."

Field Marshal Alexander said offensives don't just happen. An attack didn't start because Marshal Stalin in the east or Gen. Eisenhower on the western front or he wanted to attack in Italy.

"This is a huge team—I would like to say an American football team except that I don't understand American football. But say it is like our British football—there are some men who hold and then pass the ball and others who score."

Field Marshal Alexander said the Po Valley offered the Germans the best possibilities for a defensive winter as the northern end of the Apennines and the water courses in the valley were a difficult problem problem for the Allied artillery and armor and made Allied assault more difficult than the German defence.

DON'T LET RUMORS CONFUSE YOU . . .

HERE ARE FACTS ABOUT THE NEW HOSPITAL!

1. PETERBOROUGH desperately needs a new hospital. The present Nicholls Hospital is out-of-date, inadequate and uneconomical. Patients are crowded together; others are turned away every day. At present there are 50 patients on the waiting list. Babies are isolated in bathrooms for lack of room. Much suffering and prolonging of illness is caused. If you believe this is a disgraceful situation for a city like Peterborough—

Vote FOR the Hospital

2. THE BEST HOSPITAL AUTHORITIES after a long and careful study, and based on the actual requirements of this district, recommend that:

(a) A 210 bed hospital for acute cases is required.
(b) An additional 40 beds are necessary for chronic cases, and that the 1914 wing of Nicholls Hospital be utilized for these patients.
(c) The Queen Mary Isolation Hospital be closed and 15 beds in the new hospital used for this purpose. This alone would mean a saving of approximately $2,500.00 a year.
(d) The new hospital be erected on the present site of Nicholls Hospital for convenience and economy.

Many months of research and work have gone into making these plans. You can make them a reality —

Vote FOR the Hospital

3. IT IS ESTIMATED that the new hospital, completely equipped, will cost $1,400,000.00. Even if Peterborough had to start from scratch and put up all this money, it shouldn't be too much for a city of this size. But, fortunately, over half this sum is already available and only $600,000.00 is to be raised. The other $800,000.00 is made up as follows:

(a) $300,000.00 from the City Trust. This is an opportunity for the citizens to get some use out of this money and youu will be asked to authorize it on Election Day.
(b) $250,000.00 from the Nicholls Trust. The Trustees of Nicholls Hospital have agreed to turn this money, together with other valuable land and equipment, over to the new hospital as a memorial.
(c) $150,000.00 from the County of Peterborough.
(d) $50,000.00 from the surplus funds of the Public Utilities Commission.
(e) $50,000.00 from the Province of Ontario.

This means that Peterborough can get a new, modern hospital for LESS THAN HALF COST. If you agree this is a good bargain —

Vote FOR the Hospital

4. THE COUNTY OF PETERBOROUGH in agreeing to put up $150,000.00 is carrying its fair share of this hospital cost. As Industry and Business will pay half of the $600,000.00 total, our county neighbours are actually putting up on a population basis dollar for dollar with city residential property owners. This settles once and for all this the old controversy about county patients. This fact alone should make you eager to —

Vote FOR the Hospital

5. PETERBOROUGH INDUSTRY AND BUSINESS FIRMS, because they carry half of the total city assessment, will bear half the cost of the hospital. This leaves only $300,000.00, or less than one-quarter of the total cost to Peterborough householders. Figured on the average residential assessment, this means the hospital would cost the average householder approximately 6c a week. If you think the safety and protection that a fine, modern hospital will give you and your loved ones is worth the cost of a chocolate bar a week —

Vote FOR the Hospital

6. THE $600,000.00 needed to add to the $800,000.00 already accounted for will be in the form of 3%-20 year debentures. There will be no carrying charges on the $800,000.00, so, the cost, as pointed out above, will, to the average householder amount to less than 1c a day. No one ever had cheaper hospitalization than that, so —

Vote FOR the Hospital

7. PROPERTY OWNERS enthusiastically endorse this new hospital. By far the majority of property owners in Peterborough are included in the organizations that are behind the hospital project. These include citizens from every walk of life — Labour, Churches, Veterans, Service Clubs, Medical Profession, Business, All Political Groups, etc. Don't lose your vote — do as the other property owners in Peterborough are going to do —

Vote FOR the Hospital

LET'S SUM UP THE TRUE FACTS . . . YOU GET A HOSPITAL WORTH $1,400,000, FOR ONLY $600,000 . . . BUT AS BUSINESS PAYS HALF OF THIS, PETERBOROUGH HOUSEHOLDERS GET IT FOR THE BARGAIN PRICE OF $300,000 OR TO THE AVERAGE PROPERTY OWNER FOR LESS THAN 1c A DAY.

Some people for their own selfish reason don't want this hospital - - -
Don't let them confuse you

Navy Seeking 300 Ratings Every Month

OTTAWA, Nov. 30—(CP)—Naval Headquarters announced last night the navy will resume recruiting — virtually suspended since Oct. 1— early in the new year on a scale calling for an anticipated average of 300 ratings a month, while Wren recruiting—now at a rate of 150 a month—will be suspended indefinitely in February

The announcement said that last April the Navy still needed 12,000 to reach "approved complement."

"Enlistments during the following six months brought net increases of 8,961 male ratings and 1,199 Wrens and the balance of complement has since been enlisted," the announcement continued. "Recruiting was sharply reduced in October and entry now is possible in only a few categories such as cooks, stewards and supply assistants.

"Special provision has, however, been made for the entry of some sea cadets as ordinary seamen, but the applicant who has had sea cadet training cannot enter in this branch at the present time."

Will Need Replacefents

The schedule recruiting rate starting early in the new year is "calculated to meet replacement requirements." Branches of the accepted are expected to be seamen service in which recruits will be for general service, and communication training, cooks, supply assistants and stewards.

The Wren monthly recruiting rate of 150 will be maintained until February with a particular need for mess women and wardroom assistants.

In explanation of the temporary suspension of recruiting this fall, the announcement said Naval authorities deemed it necessary to maintain a high rate of recruiting beginning early in 1944 until it became obvious that all personnel requirements could be satisfied.

Sunday School Party

MARMORA, Nov. 30 (ENS) — Deloro Community Sunday School held its annual dinner and party for the presentation of prizes in Deloro hall. About 50 children were present for the occasion, 22 of whom received prizes. Rev. J. M. Brownlie and Rev. E. M. Cadigan were guests of the evening.

Supporting New Civic Hospital Bylaw

Support for the Civic Hospital Bylaw was expressed to The Examiner this week by a number of citizens all of whom intend to vote for the bylaw and also for work to assure it passing next Monday.

Hospital Interviews;

ROBERT J. KIDD

As a former member of the Board of Trustees of Nicholls Hospital, Robert J. Kidd said today he was so impressed at the time by the large number of appeals for hospital accommodation that had to be turned down because of lack of accommodation, that he became determined to do everything in his power to further the new civic hospital project.

"That is the main reason, although there are many others," he said, "why I am going to vote for the civic hospital bylaw December 4."

Mr. Kidd, who served as trustee as a representative of Trinity United Church, reported that on inspection visits through Nicholls Hospital, the need for an up-to-date building and the futility of trying to repair the existing hospital, was clearly seen.

He described some of the facilities there, such as the eight cumbersome heating units now in use, as being in a "deplorable state."

"Now we are going to have the opportunity of having a new hospital built, and I think we should take advantage of that opportunity," he said.

Peterborough needs a new, modern civic hospital that will be able to accommodate all those who need hospital care and attention, he said and the necessity will increase not only in the present but in the future when growing population figures make this city much larger.

GEORGE A. MACDONALD

"Because I consider the present hospital inadequate for the needs of a city of this size, I favor very strongly the civic hospital bylaw declared George A. Macdonald, superintendent of the De Laval company and former mayor, today. Mr. Macdonald said the building is out of date, and the costs of operation are high, costs which will go down when a modern hospital is built.

While the people are going to pay for the hospital, he said, they should be quite willing to add a sum of money and erect a hospital suitable to this city. We have, he added, been very fortunate throughout the years, in having the services of the hospital provided for by the late Mrs. Nicholls, but now, a new building is needed badly, and there should be no hesitation about helping to pay for it.

Mr. Macdonald emphasized the importance of a new civic hospital to the people of Peterborough, and firmly advocated support of the bylaw which will be presented to the people December 4.

WILLIAM S. JOHNSON

If a disease epidemic should gain a foothold in Peterborough, existing hospital facilities would be unable to cope with the problem of caring for the afflicted. That is one of the reasons why William J. Johnson, 1943 aldermanic candidate is going to vote "for" the civic hospital by-law, when it is presented December 4.

But, Mr. Johnson stressed, that is merely one reason, and there are many others. Citing the eight heating units now in use in the hospital, he stated that Nicholls Hospital cannot be operated efficiently under present day conditions.

"Peterborough as a city is underhospitalized," Mr. Johnson said. "I am supporting the hospital bylaw because I believe we need a new, and up-to-date hospital here."

HOWARD T. FALLIS:

"I am going to vote for the hospital by-law and I don't see why any one should fail to do so," said Howard T. Fallis, 27 Charles street. "Surely the need of more and better hospital accommodation is apparent to everybody and it is time we as a community did something to remedy the existing situation. Just because Peterborough has got off lightly in the matter of hospital costs for many years is no reason why we should expect to never have to pay for the necessary facilities. You can put me down as one who intends to give his full support to this measure.

RAY P. BEST:

"What have I to say about the hospital by-law? Well, the first thing is that I most certainly am going to vote for it," Ray P. Best, hardware merchant, said. "The next is that there is absolute need of better hospital accommodation. And the third is that we have an opportunity now that may never come again of getting a commodious and modern hospital at a bargain price. If we miss this chance of dealing with a situation that has demanded attention for a long time, we would be guilty of serious lack of judgment. In my opinion the by-law should have wholehearted support."

GORDON MONKMAN:

"We need a new hospital very badly," said Gordon Monkman of G. Whitaker and Sons, "and I most certainly have decided to vote for the hospital by-law. The cost when divided up over 20 years and spread among the property owners seems to be trifling compared to the benefits this community would obtain from a modern hospital capable of meeting the requirements of the community. I am all in favor of the by-law."

T. J. CARLEY, K.C.:

With the hope that the money will be spent for the purpose of advancing hospitalization, rather than "frills," T. J. Carley, K.C., said to-day he intends to support the civic hospital bylaw when it is presented to the people December 4.

Peterbourogr needs a new, modern hospital capable of providing accommodation for all who need it, he pointed out, and people's money, in his opinion, should go toward the purchasing of the most modern medical equipment and hospital facilities, rather than add frills to any building.

MRS. S J GRAHAM

"We definitely need a new hospital", declared Mrs. S. J. Graham, who said today she intends to support the civic hospital by-law at the polls Monday.

"No one is independent of a hospital", she said, "and no one would wish to live where hospital service is inadequate".

Mrs. Graham stated that "we need a hospital and there can be no stronger reason than that".

MRS. R. WHALON:

For anyone to vote against the civic hospital by-law because they do not think they will be using it is a state of selfishness hard to conceive, declared Mrs. R. Whalon, 585 Hamewood avenue today. Mrs. Whalon said she intends to support the hospital by-law with all her energy.

"Obviousy we need a new and modern hospital very badly," she stated. "Although I have never had to go to Nicholls Hospital as a patient, on visits to friends there it has been apparent that the backward features are inconveniencing both patients and staff."

"DR. KILDARE" IN ACTION ON LEYTE — Former Film Star Lew Ayres, whose stand against the bearing of arms aroused a nation-wide controversy when he was first drafted, is pictured in his healing role as a medical orderly with the Allied forces on Leyte Island, in the Philippines. Cast in a role similar to that of the popular "Dr. Kildare" motion pictures in which he starred, he treats the foot of a Filipino native.

Fears Scramble

CHICAGO, Nov. 30 — (AP) — A policy of co-operation in world business was advanced Tuesday night by the Earl of Halifax, British ambassador to the United States, as the solution to the world's postwar ills, with the only alternative a "wild scramble" in a cut-throat war for international trade.

Elect A. E. THOMPSON Alderman

It is time for new blood, new methods and a new deal in civic affairs.

You can give the administration of public business in Peterborough a blood transfusion by voting for

A. E. THOMPSON

Born in the Township of Cartwright, Mr. Thompson spent his early life on his father's farm. Later going into salesmanship, he was top salesman across Canada for a well known hosiery firm. In 1930, Mr. Thompson came to Peterborough and opened a gift store on Charlotte street. In 1934, he entered the real estate and insurance field, and has built his agency into one of the top real estate firms in the city. As a heavy ratepayer, and keen business man, Mr. Thompson is prepared to offer his experience to the city, and deserves your earnest consideration.

Try Courting On Blinker Signal

LEYTE, Philippines, Nov. 30 — (AP). — A Norwegian merchantman dropped anchor at a United States fleet base and word went around that an attractive Canadian girl operated the ship's blinker signal system.

All ships were soon winking their blinker lights. Thus the navy learned she was 23, five feet two and weighed 126 pounds. But the courtship ended abruptly.

The young woman was wooed so ardently that her arm apparently gave out winking back.

There is a possibility that the Canadian girl mentioned may be Wireless Operator Ferne Blodgett Sunde of Peterborough. No confirmation could be obtained from relatives in the city. She is now at sea.

Care Of Plants, December Topic

Final meeting of the Horticultural Society this year, Thursday, December 7, at 8 p.m. in the office of F. C. Paterson, representative of the Ontario Department of Agriculture, will be directed chiefly to house plants and their care.

W. C. Wilks, secretary, comments in his notice that plants are included in Christmas gifts, but some recipients did not know how to take care of them.

A special talk has been arranged with Rev. E. J. Whan as speaker who will give a brief talk on the care of house plants especially the Christmas plants. Mr. Whan is an authority on various types of these plants and his personal collection is envied by all privileged to see them. Mr. Whan was formerly associated with the Fonthill Horticultural Society for many years.

An exchange of house plants will be made at the close of the meeting. If you have a plant or plants you wish to exchange for one you do not possess simply bring it along to this meeting and it is possible you can exchange with some other person. Tags will be supplied by the Society for easy identification. Care should be taken to wrap your plants against possible damage by frost. Simply wrap several layers of newspapers round your plant tying them at the top above the foliage. They should be given to the secretary at the meeting who will tag and place them on display. The meeting is free and is open to the general public. Your questions and problems will be gladly answered and service given.

Ex-Mayor C. Houde To Fight Mayoralty

MONTREAL, Nov. 30—(CP)—Camillien Houde, who has been mayor of Montreal on four different occasions, was left in a straight fight for the mayoralty with Mayor J. Adhemar Raynault, the present incumbent. Deadline for nominations was passed at noon.

Mayor Reynault took out his papers several days ago but Mr. Houde, who spent four years in internment camp for urging citizens not to comply with National Registration Regulations, returned his completed forms only today. Papers were taken out yesterday by his daughter who made the necessary $200 deposit with the city clerk.

TRAFFIC SIGNAL.

In operation 24 hours a day, the traffic signal now at the intersection of Park Hill Road and Armour Road will do much to lessen the traffic hazard at that crossroads point. Similar to those used on the highways, it can be seen clearly at a distance, even in murky weather.

UNABLE TO MAKE HILL.

With the heavy snow of this morning the city bus on its 8.30 run was unable to make the Benson street hill. The driver tried both the Benson street and the Barnardo avenue hills, but could not get sufficient traction. The result was that a number of pupils for the collegiate were late for school.

TOLD YOU SO!

Residents suffering from this year's bumper load of chimney fires, plugged chimneys and other troubles arising from the residential smoke-stack are reminded that way back in June and July, Fire Chief George Gimblett was advising the cleaning of all pipes. WILL BE PROSECUTED

As intimated yesterday charges are to be laid against all bicyclists found riding wheels at night, that do not carry the required lights. Many motorists have been complaining for some time that unlighted bicycles in the early morning hours are a traffic hazard and the police have determined to clean up the situation.

MILKWEED PODS

Frank C. Paterson, representative of the Ontario Department of Agriculture, asked the Examiner to publish the announcement that any of the boys and girls in the city who have sacks of milkweed pods on hand should leave them at his office, Hunter and Chambers street, immediately. Arrangements for collection in the county areas are being carried out, an Otonabee route being covered today.

GETTING IN PRACTICE

Caretakers and shop proprietors were out along the main streets this morning, clearing away the snow from the doorsteps and bringing the snow-shovels out for the first time this season. Some of the services were hindered by slippery roads and reasonably deep snow, with milkmen, bread-salesmen and mailmen all a trifle late. From all signs, the weatherman is giving a lively preview of what's in store during the next few months.

NOT STOPPING TO BE STOPPED

In spite of the fact that a number of motorists were fined in traffic court this week, for failing to bring their vehicles to a full stop before entering a through street, many other drivers are going to find themselves summonsed for the same offence. Police have been making a drive on motorists who persist in breaking this section of the Traffic Act and a large number of offenders already listed will be invited to explain their carelessness to the magistrate. Fines of $3 and $2.50 costs were handed out this week.

City To Buy 2 Trucks For Garbage Pickup

Purchase of two trucks for the garbage collection department at a total cost of less than $2,500 was approved by the council Monday night.

Alderman Swanston, chairman of the property committee, explained that two old trucks have been in use, one that was switched from the parks committee and the other from the Board of Works. One of them was a 1935 product. With the approaching extension of the service to the North Monaghan areas and also because the two old machines were outworn it was felt that the department needed new ones. They are required for the removal of ashes and cans from the incinerator to the city refuse dump, and also in the three collections weekly from hotels, restaurants and fruit stores in the centre of the city.

The committee is ordering a Chevrolet chassis from J. K. Hughes at $1,412 less $450 on one of the trucks being turned in. This chassis will be equipped with the unloading mechanism from one of the old trucks.

The other new truck is an International which has been ordered from Edwards Motor Sales at $2,000 less $500 turn in value on the second old truck.

Plowmen Elect A. Huston As President

Alex Huston was elected president of the Peterborough Plowmen's Association Wednesday night, succeeding Walter Thorne who has been chief director for the last three years.

Vern Campbell is 1st vice-president for the new year, Art McIntyre second vice-president; Frank C. Paterson, secretary-treasurer, and Stuart Hall assistant secretary-treasurer.

The board of directors was re-elected and Mr. Thorne added to their number.

Under Mr. Thorne's presidency the association has been weathering the obstacles of the war years, and the members were all happy wednesday night in the memory of their October success on the farms of George Chambers and Matchett Brothers in Toronto to whom appreciation will be sent for their co-operation in helping the plowmen to carry on. They also recognized that the weather had played genially into their hands, but apart from those helpful factors it was felt that the association has developed among its members a "morale", the will to keep going and also to keep good plowing before its practitioners with a unity of purpose that has accounted for these last three wartime matches.

Some of that spirit induced the members to plan a dinner in January at the Kawartha Club to stimulate plowing interest and to bring farm and city friends together. The association hasn't funds enough to invite everybody, but they are going to ask representatives of the county and city councils, service clubs, and so on.

In assuming his new duites, Alex Huston said he wished to congratulate Walter Thorne on the quiet work that he had done for the association. The times were probably the most difficult the association had ever been through, and although there had been suggestions that probably the plowing match should be abandoned for the duration of the war, the members under Mr. Thorne's leadership had buckled in and made an extra effort, and the assocation was much the stronger for that decision.

Police Annoyed By Phone Calls

For some time the Peterborough police department has been bothered by telephone messages telling them of serious accidents. When they rushed to the place mentioned over the telephone they discovered that the whole thing was a hoax and that there had been no accident.

This morning Chief John W. Thompson received a similar message over the telephone that something serious was going to happen to a young girl this afternoon. The informant happened to mention the George Street north store from which she was speaking and Chief Thompson kept her talking on the line until Detective John Stevenson had time to reach the place.

As a result a 15-year-old girl was brought into the police station and warned against the seriousness of giving false information to the police.

RONALD J. McGRATH

R. McGrath Goes To Maritimes

Ronald J. McGrath, 490 Gilmour street, is leaving Friday night for the Maritimes to join the Davis and Fraser Packing Company as general superintendent of their plants in Halifax, Sydney and Charlottetown. He was fourteen years with Canada Packers Limited, ten years superintendent of their plant in this city, two years in Hull and about two years in Toronto. For the last two years he has been on the staff of Genelco Limited.

During his twelve years in Peterborough, Mr. McGrath has manifested an active interest in community affairs. He is a member of Rotary Club, and at its meeting Monday, Gordon S. Matthews, on behalf of the members, bade him farewell and extended good wishes in his new appointment. As a civil engineer, he has been a member of the Town Planning Committee, nominated by the City Council, and a member of the committee of the Victorian Order of Nurses.

Smith Trucker Given 7 Days

Giving judgment in a case in which the evidence and argument were heard a week ago Magistrate E. A. Gee in police court this morning found Carman Coones, Smith township truck driver, guilty of drunken driving.

Coones had been charged following an accident on the Lakefield Road when his truck ran off the highway and was badly damaged in the ditch.

Magistrate Gee sentenced the accused to seven days' imprisonment in the county jail, and issued an order to the police to impound Coones' truck for three months.

In his judgment His Worship reviewed the evidence given in the case last week and said that he had come to the conclusion that there should be a conviction. He referred to the fact that Dr. Alexander Fraser, who had seen Coones soon after the accident had testified that the truck driver was in a state of intoxication and added that the man's actions at the Lakefield Town Hall after he had been taken there helped to confirm the belief that he was drunk.

Two charges of assault against Joseph Norman Brick and one against his brother, Thornton Brick, were enlarged until December 14 at the request of W. C. Grant, who appeared this morning on behalf of the two brothers.

Fire Hall Suggestion Left To New Council

Fire hall proposals were left by the council Monday night as problem legacy for its 1945 successor. "I don't think we are prepared to do anything about it now," Mayor Hamilton said.

"You'll be in the chair next year," Alderman Sullivan remarked, "and you should not let this question go too long into the new year. The Canadian Underwriters Association has been recommending two substations one in the south end and the other in Ashburnham."

The council"s special committee has suggested enlargement of the present fire station, instead of a south end branch.

Group At C.G.E. Has Given $277 This Year

When the final tale of this present world conflict has come to a close, two outstanding features of co-operation and steadiness of pursuit in all its various branches of endeavor, will have been found to have been quite a contributing factor in the strenuous road that led to victory, for this of necessity has more than ever been the rule rather than the exception.

When it comes down to doing this as a voluntary service, for the benefit of the cause, a greater patriotism may said to have been displayed, this being an expression of personality that requires no payment in money for services given, and as such is to be all the more commended.

Backing up this voluntary service to the cause as has been rendered during the past four years by the Peterborough and District British War Victims' Fund, to assist the victims of enemy air raid and robot bomb attacks on Britain, the Industrial Control Dept. of the Canadian General Electric Co. Ltd., has been an outstanding example of what can be accomplished by this regularity of purpose on behalf of a good cause.

This one group presided over by P. Killingbeck as foreman, has co-operated under the leadership of Phillip Weir to such an extent that they have made one contribution every month of this year to date. They have rolled up the splendid total of $277.03 for the fund, when their donation of $16.51 today is included, giving them a total credit of $431.90 since it began to operate, for which they all deserve considerable credit.

Recital Brings $20.54

Sweet music has always played a considerable part in the celebrations of Christmas, without which it might prove quite barren indeed. It would seem an appropriate thing that it should also be made the instrument through which material joy could be given to those who were in need or distress at that time.

For the 5th time in succession, the annual recital held in St. John's Parish Hall about this time of the year, has been made the means whereby some help has come to the Christmas Fund, the most recent of which held a few days ago, is again doing its bit for that purpose. From this source the fund receives a nice gift of $20.54, which included some help from the two persons who were unable to be in attendance at that time.

Personal giving always displays an individual interest that no other form of assistance can displace, and as such in a large number of instances, grips a person to the point where they wish to continue in such a manner, from the very inward satisfaction that one gets from doing some good for others in a personal way.

Three such gifts are registered today, all of them coming from people who have given in like manner before, mention of which should be particularly made of William A. Taylor of Crawford's Grove, who sought the means to help in this manner, when his opportunities for such were of quite a limited character.

Another nice list of personal gifts is now in the making, and unlike other Christmas gifts, requires very little time in shopping around, for all you need to do is just bring or send it to the Examiner Office, and the fund secretary will attend to all other details for you wtihout any charge or cost.

Too Efficient

CAPOOCAN VILLAGE, Leyte, Nov. 30—(AP). — There's just one little drawback to the war dogs used by the United States Army on Leyte. They're too good. The dogs alert the soldiers for anything—Japs, Filipinos or—well, for instance, one dog had a squad alerted for 20 minutes one day. The squad carefully stalked down a monkey.

CPL. WILLIAM LAWSON

Overseas Flier Returns Home

Stationed with the City of Vancouver squadron for some time overseas, Cpl. William Lawson, 19 Ware street, has returned home on leave after three and a half years spent in the United Kingdom while serving with the RCAF ground crew.

A veteran of many air raids in England, including robot bomb attacks and explosions from V-2 bombs, Cpl. Lawson's work with the flying forces overseas consisted for the most part of metal work on planes, and repairing damage done by anti-aircraft fire.

"I don't think anybody has seen or heard a rocket bomb coming down," he said, adding that the damage done by the Germans' V-2 weapon is quite extensive.

On his first leave home since going overseas in September, 1941, he said today he liked England considerably, except for the weather in that country. He has also visited Scotland while on leaves overseas, and other interest spots in the United Kingdom.

The son of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Lawson, he is a former employee of the structural steel department of the C.G.E. He enlisted in October, 1943. Twenty-three years of age, Cpl. Lawson has three brothers serving with the Navy: Fred, overseas, Jim and Floyd.

Smooth Worker Fools 2 Banks

Two Peterborough banks have been victimized in the last couple of days by a smooth stranger.

This confidence man used the same scheme in both cases. He began by opening a $3 savings account in each of the victim banks. Then he explained that he had a $50 account in another local bank that he wished transferred to his new account. He wrote a cheque for the $50 on the bank he named and handed it in, asking that $30 of the amount should be credited to his account and that he be given the balance in change as he needed some cash.

In both cases the banks concerned were informed next day by the banks on which the cheques had been drawn that there was no such account there. In the meanwhile the stranger who had given two fictitious addresses on Morrow street had shaken the dust of Peterborough off his shoes. It is said that he has been working the same scheme in many other places.

AIRMAN PROMOTED — FO. Gordon Harle, RCAF, serving in the Eastern Air Command, has been promoted to Flight Lieutenant, dating back to August 4. His wife is the former Helen Hetherington, and he is the son of Mr. and Mrs. R. B. Harle, 336 Rubidge street. Prior to enlisting in August, 1941, Flt.-Lieut. Harle was organist in a Midland church.

Plumbing Class Popular At Collegiate

Night classes in plumbing at the Vocational School were recently opened with Plumbing Inspector A. G Metheral lecturer and demonstrator for a limited series planned by the Board of Education as a means of providing a group of trained apprentices for the expected surge in building after the war.

Eighteen young men signed up for the course, and the average attendance is sixteen. Eight of the class are now working in the trade as apprentices; six others are going to school but they intend to take up plumbing when they have completed their studies. Three other boys are not sure what they wish to do, but for the present they are interested in the plumbing course.

One of the Hamilton men attending the plumbing and heating convention here last Saturday said that the Board of Education in that city has been trying for three or four years to organize a vocational class in that trade to meet the shortage of mechanics, but so far they had not succeeded.

Class Popular

Peterborough Board of Education has arranged for one night a week, and the boys have become so wrapped up in the work that they have been wishing more time could be devoted weekly to their subject. In the introductory session Mr. Metheral reviewed the history of plumbing and sketched its development and civilizing effects. The importance of ventilating a sewerage system was stressed "to carry off carbon monoxide and dioxide gases from inorganic wastes in sewage. They are poisonous and must be kept out of houses by the use of trap, vents and other vices. Sewers are ventilated by manholes in the streets which are recognized from their iron grate covering. Plumbing systems are ventilated by the extension of soil and waste pipes through the roof of a building. Vent pipes are conneted into these pipes above the highest waste connection, or extended separately through the roof."

The course provides a background of theory preceding the introduction of practice, and then proceeds to the layout of sewerage systems, types of joints, traps, laying of pipe and kind of pipe, drains, cutting soil pipe, joints and their connection, piping materials for a water supply and so on.

Apparently there is information in this course that is not obtained by apprentices except during the course of long experience. They learn it, but by this assisted method at the Vocational School it is provided in early stages, and is in advance of the explanation of trade tools and their uses.

Court Fines Former Flier

After the defence had called one more witness and argument by W. J. Arthur Fair for the accused and Provincial Constable Archie Grayling for the prosecution had been heard in police court Wednesday afternoon, Magistrate O. A. Langley, K.C., found Earl Hoffman Havelock, guilty of careless driving.

The former member of the R.C.A.F. was fined $7.50 and $2.50 costs.

Hoffman was the driver of a car which was in collision with another automobile driven by Chief William Parcels of Norwood at the intersection of Highway 7 and Colborne street in Norwood.

Provincial Constable Archie Grayling of Havelock, who investigated the crash, laid careless driving charges against both drivers. The case against the Norwood officer was heard first and he was fined $10 and $2.50 costs after being convicted.

In fining Hoffman $7.50 and costs Wednesday Magistrate Langley explained that he did so because he was satisfied that he was 40 per cent responsible for the accident because he had approached the intersection at a rate of speed that was too high under the circumstances.

Are You Aware Of The Fact?

That certain interests are seeking to trail "red herrings" across the path of securing the new Civic Hospital.

That the Ontario Municipal Board has been already consulted about the transfer of $300,000 from the City Trust Funds. It has intimated that such can be done, that a referendum was not necessary, but the City Council believing that the ratepayers should express themselves submitted the question.

That in event of the new Civic Hospital taking form it has been announced that a private bill will have to be presented to the Legislature, but why get a private bill to establish and clear up the Nicholls Hospital Trust question before it is assured that there is going to be money for a new hospital?

That while $600,000 is being asked the general opinion is that the ratepayers will not have to provide more than $500,000. The debentures will be for only the actual amount needed.

That the cost of this new hospital to the average ratepayer will be only the price of a chocolate bar a week.

Mosquito Sets Flying Record

MONTREAL, Nov. 30.— (CP).— The R.A.F. Transport Command announced yesterday that a Canadian-built Mosquito-bomber—KB534—had "completely eclipsed" all transatlantic flight-time records by flying the North Atlantic at its widest point in 6 hours and 8 minutes.

The plane landed yesterday at Prestwick, Scotland, after flying from Goose Bay, Labrador. It was piloted by Capt. Ernest M. Gill of Caterham, England, and Montreal.

Capt. Gill's 368-minute flight on a course of 2,300 statute miles gave him an average ground speed of 376 miles an hour, although the announcement said that he didn't exceed normal cruising speed at any time.

Capt. Gill set up the previous Atlantic record a month ago yesterday when he flew from Gander, Nfld., to Prestwick—100 miles shorter than yesterday's course—in 6 hours and 44 minutes.

Sydney Paper Plays Down Crisis In Canada

SYDNEY, Australia, Nov. 30 — (CP Cable.) — The Sydney Daily Telegraph, under a double-column headline, "Don't Be Misled By Canada's Conscription Crisis," yesterday made the first press comment yet offered here on the present Canadian controversy.

The Telegraph said editorially: "The crisis in Canada over the government's decision to reinforce its army in Europe with some conscripts should not obscure the enormous job Canada has done for the Empire and humanity in this war.

"The main burden of that effort has been borne by about 6,000,000 Canadians of British descent, though people over-simplify the Canadian picture if they imagine that all the 3,400,000 French-Canadians have folded their hands in passive resistance.

"There are French-Canadian soldiers in Europe and they have fought as well as any. In French Canada, too, great factories are turning out arms for the Allies. But Quebec remains the centre of isolationism wherefrom resistance to conscription for overseas service derives in Canada as well as in Australia.

"Canada has 250,000 soldiers abroad who have given and taken a bitter beating. In one of the greatest battles of the invasion, the Canadian Black Watch (of Montreal) was responsible for breaking the stalemate at Caen at the expense of thousands of lives."

The editorial goes on to summarize the chief facts of Canada's war effort—her part in the commonwealth aiar training plan, the enormous increase in her navy, and her huge production of war materials. The Telegraph told of Canada's huge expenditure and said:

"To meet this expenditure, she maintained a spectacularly successful loan drive which might shame us."

The article concluded:

"Whatever comes of the present crisis, Canadians will have no difficulty in holding up their heads when future generations ask what they did to scourge the world of Nazis."

Havelock Red Cross Learns Quotas Been Reduced

HAVELOCK, Nov. 30 — (ENS) — A communication from national headquarters of the Canadian Red Cross Society, curtailing the making of certain garments for shipment to Britain was read at the meeting of the local branch on Tuesday afternoon. The "stop" orders are caused in the main by two things— First: In the civilian garments by the fact that the Red Cross is at present serving people in Great Britain who have to expend coupons for what they receive and who naturally will not use them on something which is unnecessary or a type they feel does not adequately fill their needs; second, because of the lack of storage space in England.

The "stop" orders were as follows: Stop the making and shipping of children's nightwear of all kinds in any size larger than four years; men's shirts for civilian use; stop assembling infants' wear in layettes, infants' garments are required, but not in layettes; any clothings in kits; large-sized women's clothing of all kinds, sizes 36 and 38 should be made with the emphasis on size 36; three-quarter length coats for women and children; cot covers, small size; khaki turtle-neck sweaters; sleeveless sweaters, navy, khaki, and grey; khaki mitts; turtle-neck tuck-ins, all colors; Air Force helmets, all kinds; Air Force scarfs; white convalescent socks for hospitals.

New Orders.

Branches were requested to accept as large a guota of the following articles that are urgently needed as can posibly be handled by the workers: Leggings and legginettes for infants; these are in great demand; infants' diapers; infants' clothing of all kinds on the quotas, with special emphasis on knitted garments.

Comforts for the armed forces: The Navy wants turtle-neck sweaters, long sleeves, navy or grey wool; short scarfs, navy wool; balaclavas are greatly preferred by the Navy to the ribbed helmet, navy wool if possible; gloves or mitts, with emphasis gloves, navy wool preferred. The Air Force needs: Turtle-neck sweaters, long sleeves; gloves and socks. The Army needs: V or boat neck khaki long-sleeved sweaters, khaki gloves and khaki or grey socks.

New Quota.

The secretary reported that the following knitting quota had been received and the wool ordered for same: 20 pairs service socks, grey; 20 turtle-neck sweaters, grey; 10 scarfs, navy; 5 knickers, khaki; 10 boys' sweaters, sizes 2 to 4; 10 boys' socks, sizes 2 to 4.

The Sewing Committee reported that another sewing quota had been ordered as follows, together with material for same: 30 skirts, 30 blouses, and 30 bloomers. A card of Christmas greetings was read from Tpr. Wallace Buchanan of the Ontario Regiment in Italy.

The following accounts were authorized paid: Mrs F. Watson, flannelette, $4.03; E. D. Chiles, thread, $1.40; Transportation of blood donors to Peterborough Clinic, E. J. Leeson, $2; Mrs. B. Post $1.50, B. Haryett $2, A. Holland $1.50.

Tyranny In Taxation

(taxation) act reveals that there are over 40 sections or subsections wherein the minister may take discretionary action, about five where he is required to approve or otherwise, and about eight where the powers he exercises are deemed to be final and conclusive."

To cure these manifest evils Mr. Patterson suggests that full publicity be given to all departmental tax rulings so that the taxpayer may know what to expect and have more confidence in the administration; that the changing principles and policies adopted from time to time by the tax department be written into the law to limit the discretionary powers of the minister of national revenue; that the law prescribe a time limit within which the tax department must assess the taxpayer for his taxes (for at prestnt many taxpayers do not know for years after they have filed their returns what they owe, whether they have underpaid or overpaid, the tax collecting machinery having bogged down under its present load); and finally that an independent board be set up to study and rule upon contentious matters between the administrative officials and the taxpayer — in other words, a tribunal accessible to all.

Men Discharged Subject To New Call-up

OTTAWA, Nov. 30 (CP)—Certain categories of men discharged from the navy and air force are subject to military call, Labor Minister Mitchell said today in the Commons.

He said the navy and air force stipulated the categories in which the "dischargees"—all surplus personnel—were placed.

Recent and future graduates from the Commonwealth Air Training Plan—estimated at 10,000—who will go into a civilian air force reserve under a recent curtailment order, are not affected by today's announcement, an air force spokesman said.

Those not subject to military recall are:

1. Men with service overseas, on the high seas, or over the territorial waters of Canada, providing such service has not been terminated on grounds of misconduct or inefficiency, prior to engagement in actual operations.

2. Men who have served three years or more in Canada and whose services have not been terminated for misconduct or inefficiency. (Previously two years' service cleared a man with the army.)

3. Men discharged on compassionate grounds.

4. Men discharged to civilian posts of high essentiality.

5. Men discharged as medically unfit

Ones Subject to Recall

Those liable to recall:

1. Personnel with overseas or home service who were discharged on grounds of inefficiency.

2. Personnel whose services were terminated on grounds of misconduct by sentence of court-martial or disciplinary courts.

3. Personnel who resigned to avoid court-martial.

4. Personnel discharged because their services were no longer required.

Those definitely subject to recall:

1. Men not covered in the foregoing categories.

2. Navy probationary officers who either resigned or failed to qualify.

3. Men discharged as unlikely to become efficient or unsuitable.

Full Explanation

Mr. Mitchell added:

"In connection with personnel liable or subject to recall and personnel definitely subject to recall, the RCAF and RCN will supply full explanation regarding discharge, including the pulhems profile or medical category. These cases will be considered individually, and decision will be based on the particular circumstances.

"The names of men not subject or liable to recall are reported to the army authorities, who review each case and determine if it is considered advisable to have the man recalled."

Legions Claims 16,000 Plan Not Adequate

OTTAWA, Nov. 30 (CP) — Alex Walker, Dominion president of the Canadian Legion, said today in a statement that the Government should guarantee that more draftees —in addition to the 16,000 already authorized for overseas service—will be provided as reinforcements may be necessary.

In a statement issued from Legion headquarters here, Mr. Walker said the Legion did not "for a moment" agree that the sending overseas of 16,000 draftees, now authorized by Order-in-Council, was an "adequate" answer to its demand for "conscription and total war."

"Only one thing matters now, and that is getting reinforcements into the front lines just as speedily as it is possible to do so," said Mr. Walker. "Any one who still doubts the vital need for reinforcements has only to look at the daily casualty lists and remember that for every name appearing a replacement must be found for an already war-weary soldier who must do double duty.

Insists on Guarantee

"The Government should and must give a guarantee to the Canadian people that the moment the 16,000 figure is inadequate a new Order-in-Council will be passed authorizing as many more trained men to be sent to the battlefront as may be necessary. The war must be won and Canada must continue to do her share. Therefore, let us send the men—those we have on hand—as quickly as possible, to be followed by others the moment they are needed.

Mr. Walker said the Legion "insists that the time has now arrived to stop talking and get on with the job.

"The Legion hopes our legislators will be clearsighted enough, and honest enough, to realize there is but one single issue before them—immediate, adequate reinforcements for our gallant men in the firing lines in Holland and Italy

"They must understand that conscription versus voluntary enlistment is no longer an academic subject the pros and cons of which can be discussed at length or at leisure.

"It is a vital, burning issue upon the immediate solution of which will depend, first, the lives of our sons and brothers overseas, and, second, the honor of Canada, both in relation to her own self-respect as a nation and to the degree of esteem in which she will be held by the Governments and peoples of the United Nations when the war is over."

Tension Eases On West Coast

By The Canadian Press

Tension in British Columbia army camps at which home defence troops have demonstrated against the government's overseas conscription policy appeared eased today with report from Pacific Command officials that the men were carrying out their regular duties and training at Vernon, Prince George, Chilliwack, Nanaimo and courtenay.

Pacific Command reported last night that a troop train carrying an English-speaking home defence regiment from Saskatchewan on a routine move to another station in British Columbia had left the village of Terrace 500 miles north of Vancouver, without incident. The Saskatchewan regiment earlier had been prevented from leaving Terrace by pickets of other units there.

Prime Minister Mackenzie King told the House of Commons yesterday that the situation in British Columbia camps was being "carefully watched and completely controlled."

Meantime military investigations were continuing at points where home defence troops had held anti-conscription demonstrations.

In an interview at Ottawa Defence Minister McNaughton said the disturbances were due to a comparatively small minority who were stirring up other members of the home defence units. At Quebec, Brig. Edmond Blais, officer commanding Military District No. 5, announced that all home defence troops from his district would shortly be returned there for training under their own officers.

2,353 Soldiers Receive Grants

OTTAWA, Nov. 30.—(CP).—Post-discharge re-establishment grants were paid 2,353 ex-service men and women in October, the Veterans Department reported to-day.

During the month 14,202 jobs were found for veterans—10,973 of them veterans of the present war and 3,229 ex-servicemen from the first Great War. Discharges by the army during the month numbered 3,931.

The post-discharge re-establishment order provides for maintenance grants during training or other circumstances after personnel have been discharged. The grants are on a basis of $60 monthly for a single person and $80 for a married man with allowances for dependents, if the veteran is receiving training or continuing his education.

Those out of work temporarily incapacitated or awaiting returns from a business venture or farm are paid at the rate of $50 and $70.

Of the total of 2,353 benefits paid only 301 were to unemployed veterans for whom no suitable work was available and only 157 of these were still in effect at the end of the month.

A total of $113,961 was paid out under the order during the month with $83,669 going to veterans who were taking vocational training or higher education.

Verdict Friday Senator Says

OTTAWA, Nov. 30 — (CP). — Senator J. H. King, government Senate leader, said in the Senate last night he understood there was a possibility of the Commons discussion on reinforcements reaching a conclusion on Friday.

Dr. King said he was giving no assurance of the length of the Commons debate but in view of the possibility of an early conclusion he proposed the Senate meet today half an hour earlier than usual in order to conclude its debate this week.

Discussion of the reinforcement situation in the Senate had been planned last night but was delayed to allow members of the upper house to hear Col. J. L. Ralston, former defence minister, address the Commons.

There will be no motion before the Senate but Dr. King will make a statement on government policy. He will be followed by Senator C. C. Ballantyne, Progressive Conservative Senate leader, and then other members of the House will be free to speak.

Senator John T. Haig, acting Progressive Conservative Senate leader, said his party concurred in the procedure Dr. King had outlined. He felt the Senate debate would be brief.

Junior Auxiliary Organizes For Work

MARMORA, Nov. 30 — (ENS) — A meeting for the organization of a Junior Women's Auxiliary was held in the rectory on Monday evening. The meeting was opened with prayer by Mrs. J. M. Brownlie, followed by a Scripture reading by Marjorie Brownlie.

The election of officers resulted as follows: President, Dorothy Lummiss; Vice-President, Jacelene Leal; Secretary, Virginia Robertson; Treasurer, Audrey Lummiss.

It was decided that the girls would work for their Dorcas badge, and providing the examinations are over by that time, a meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. William Regan on Monday evening, December 13.

Wants New CCF Policy

TORONTO, Nov. 30.—(CP).—Tim Buck, national leader of the Labor-Progressive Party, yesterday sent a telegram to the C.C.F. convention in Montreal urging C.C.F. members and supporters "reject the false and partisan policy of Coldwell and the C.C.F. leadership and fight shoulder to shoulder with all patriotic Canadians" to defeat "the Tory conspiracy around the reinforcements question."

Imported Dessert Recipes For the Entertaining Season

By MARY MOORE

Desserts are a stumbling block when the prospects of guests arises and the last minute of preparing, cooking and serving dinner yourself threatens, and you swear "no more company for the duration."

But I've a treasure of a dessert for you, it's one of those sweets that's surefire for flavor and isn't hurt by reheating—in fact it's improved, so can be made the day before.

It's a kucken type of pudding but calls for sour cream and with all the sour cream to be found at the dairy counters it's a smart way to jump the butter problem.

Sour Cream Kucken

Short biscuit dough: 2 cups sifted flour, 5 teaspoons baking powder, 1 teaspoon salt, 2 tablespoons sugar, ¼ cup shortening, 2-3 cup milk. Mix and sift flour, baking powder, salt and sugar. Cut in shortening with a knife or rub in with finger tips. Add milk gradually and mix to a soft dough. Press into well buttered shallow pan. Cover top completely with wedges of tart apples. Now mix together ¼ cup brown sugar, ¼ teaspoon mace or nutmeg, and anywhere from ½ to 1 cup sour cream. Spread this over apples and bake at 450 deg. Fahr. for 5 minutes, then reduce heat to 350 to finish baking apples. Serve with pouring cream or lemon sauce, or brown sugar sauce flavored with lemon. This may be made before needed and reheated in warm oven before serving—but is best warm.

Norwegian Red Pudding

Because this version of this delicious dish is made with cranberries it is particularly appropriate and convenient to serve this month.

One-half lb. cranberries, ½ to ¾ cup sugar, 1 cup water, (plus additional water—see below), juice ½ lemon, juice of 1 orange, ½ cup cornstarch, butter is optional.

Put picked over cranberries on to cook with the sugar and 1 cup water and cook for about 10 minutes. Add enough water to make these up to 4 cups. Stir cornstarch into ½ cup cold water and add it to the fruit stirring until thick. Then cook over boiling water in double boiler for 20 minutes. When done add 1 or 2 tablespoons butter if desired (I really mean "possible") and the fruit juices, stir in well, and pour into interestingly-shaped mould which has been rinsed out with cold water and set to chill.

Prepare ¼ lb. almonds by blanching them, placing on buttered pan and toasting in very slow oven until pale gold. Turn out pudding on serving dish, garnish lavishly with the almonds,—even pass more almonds at table,—and serve with pouring or whipped cream.

Since almonds are available at a sightly lower price I am giving you one more almond dish. It's tips as a vegetable with roast chicken.

Casserole of Creamed Celery with Toasted Almonds

One and one-half tablespoon of butter or fat, 3 tablespoons flour, 1 teaspoon salt, 1-8 teaspoon pepper, ¼ cup milk, ¼ cup liquid in which celery is boiled, 1 large bunch celery cut in ½-inch lengths. Boil celery until nearly tender in salted water. Melt butter, add flour, salt, and pepper, blend add celery liquid and milk stirring; add celery. Pour into buttered casserole, sprinkle top with mix of ½ cup buttered crumbs and ½ cup toasted almonds, bake till gold.

DOROTHY DIX . . . . .

PROTECTING OUR DAUGHTERS

Mother Should Teach Her Child Principles of Modesty, Decency.

THE pathetic story of an 18-year-old girl who left her home to seek her fortune in Washington, and whose battered and bruised body was found just three months later in the park where it had been left by the man who had attacked and strangled her, not only has filled our hearts with pity for the poor young creature but also has focused our attention upon one of the greatest problems of our day.

And that is, how are we to protect our teen-age daughters against the dangers that lie in wait for them at every turn? They are so ignorant of life, so unfitted to deal with the world; yet, they are so avid for adventure, so impatient of any restrictions being put upon them, so sure that they can handle any situation that may arise. No phrase is oftener on their lips than: "I can take care of myself." Yet, in reality, they are no more fitted to cope with the perils they must encounter than a girl baby is to fight off a pack of wolves that are on her trail.

No More Chaperons

Time was when parents could, to a large extent, safeguard their adolescent daughters. There were chaperons in those days and strict schools in which girls were educated, and Mamie and Susie lived at home under Mother's watchful eye until she turned them over to their husbands.

But that is past history. The chaperon is as extinct as the Dodo. Girls go to school in co-educational colleges where they major in how to get dates and attract boys. And by the time the average cutie is 18, she is bent on a career or getting a job and setting up a little flat with some other girl where they will be free to live what they are pleased to call their "own lives."

Inevitably the big cities attract the teen-agers as sugar does flies, for their secret dream is to be a model in New York, or have a government position in Washington, or to be a star in Hollywood. And what happens to these poor little innocents when they find themselves half-starved and lonely and broke is a story we read through our tears.

But what are the parents to do about it? The stern parent attitude does not work nowadays, for if Father and Mother had too tight a rein on their teen-agers, they simply jump the bars. Lock the doors on Susie and Mamie and they climb out of the window. Forbid them to have their boy friends come to the house and they meet them on the sly. Nor, no matter how vigilant Mother is, can she follow her girls when they go into offices to work.

So in the end, it comes down to every girl having to be her own chaperon, and the only thing that Mother can do to protect her teenager is to begin teaching her in the cradle the rock-bottom principles of modesty and decency that are a woman's only protection. If Mother does that and breeds in her the faith that makes her hold her honor dearer than her life, then her daughter can walk through the fire of contamination without even getting the hem of her garment scorched.

But Mother has to be a fast worker for she has only twelve or thirteen years in which to fit her daughter for life.

THE STARS SAY . . . . .

By GENEVIEVE KEMBLE

For Friday, December 1

THE AUGURIES for this day may be read as decidedly dubious or problematical with most affairs under a restless, indecisive and unsettled impetus. The final outcome may depend upon what degree of circumspect, clever and sagacious tactics are brought to bear upon menacing situations. There is prospect of change, travel, new agreements, contracts and associations and these may not be propitious. Litigation, bad investments, snap judgments, extravagance and over-optimism may be besetting dangers. Sign papers carefully and do not trust too easily.

If It Is Your Birthday

Those whose birthday it is are liable to encounter a year of difficulties and dangers, with the mental, nervous and physical energies under high tension reacting on the power to make wise judgments, sound investments, or otherwise organize plans and programs for their progress, advancement and personal satisfaction. There may be an urge to make sudden changes unsafe journeys, or to be carried away by over enthusiasm into false situations, duplicity and unsuccessful litigation. Sign all writings with precaution, be circumspect in behavior, and shun traps and lures, excesses and over indulgences.

A child born on this day may be restless, fond of change and travel, be romantic and pleasure loving, thus inviting loss of funds and prestige, and probable legal entanglements.

THE TEA HOUR GOSSIP . . . .

My first recipe today is for a very novel salad. It looks nice on the table and is very tasty to eat.

Crazy Quilt Salad.

Soak 2½ tablespoons gelatine in 3 tablespoons of cold water. Add 2½ cups of hot tomato juice, 1 teaspoon granulated sugar, 1¼ teaspoons salt and stir until the gelatine is dissolved. Mix in one tablespoon lemon juice and ¼ teaspoon pepper. Pour a little of this mixture, to a depth of about ¼ inch, into an eight-inch square pan which has been rinsed with cold water. Peel and slice one medium-sized cucumber and arrange the slices in liquid in bottom of pan. Chill rapidly until firm. When remaining gelatine mixture begins to thicken, stir in one cup of finely diced cooked potatoes. Pour this mixture over the set cucumber mixture and chill until firm. To serve unmold the gelatine salad on a bed of crisp lettuce, mark the top off in squares with mayonnaise and add halves of radish.

Orange Cream Pie.

This delectable pie filling can be turned into dessert glasses or individual moulds lined with orange slices, instead of into a pastry shell.

4 tablespoons corn starch, ¼ cup granulated sugar, ¼ teaspoon salt, 2¼ cups scalded milk, 1 egg, ½ cup orange juice, orange food coloring, baked and cooled pie shell, fresh orange segments. Mix together thoroughly, the corn starch, sugar and salt. Gradually stir in part of the scalded milk (scalded in double boiler). Stir back into remaining milk in double boiler and, stirring constantly, cook until mixture is smoothy thickened. Cover and cook, with occasional stirring, until no raw flavor of starch remains. Beat the egg slightly and gradually stir in part of the hot mixture. Return all to the double boiler and, stirring constantly, cook two minutes longer. Cool thoroughly, then mix in orange juice. If desired, tint delicately with orange food coloring. Turn filling into a baked and cooled pie shell. Chill thoroughly. Garnish with fresh orange segments, sprinkled with fruit sugar.

Knitting Group Holds Annual Party

The girls knitting group at Trinity Church entertained their friends at their annual party, Wednesday night, and reported that during the year, their 23 active members had completed 125 pairs of sox for overseas boxes.

This group was formed more than three years by two girls now serving in the R.C.A.F. Women's Division, Cpl. "Pat" Boreham and LAW. Phyllis Harris. The latter, who has just returned from 15 months overseas, was in the receiving line, and had an ample opportunity to see how her work had expanded since its beginning early in the war.

The 125 pairs of sox were divided into 70 pairs for the Army, 22 for the Navy and 33 for the RCAF. In addition, personal gifts were fixed up for eight girls from the congregation who are serving in the forces. Earlier in the year, they did some work for the children at the Shelter and also collected clothing for the Greek Relief Fund. Miss Norma Hughes, a former member of the group, now in Toronto, sent eight pairs of sox during the year that she had knit. This report was given by Miss Myrtle Sargent, leader of the group, who presided for the program.

Christmas Decorations

The ladies' parlor at Trinity church was attractively decorated with Christmas touches. Green branches were arranged artistically around the walls, adorned with red berries and festooned with brightly colored lights.

Receiving the guests were Miss Sargent, LAW. Phyllis Harris, Mrs. W. T. Fanjoy and Miss Joyce Harris. Mrs. Eric Edmison was in charge of the cloak room. Mrs. George Easton and Mrs. Belle Campbell poured tea from a table with a centrepiece emphasizing the Christmas theme. A winter scene which included snow covered trees, figurines, sleigh and reindeer was laid out on a large reflector and around the rim, colored lights had been arranged.

The following artists performed during the evening: Miss Joan Krogh, two piano solos, "Scherzo" and "Russian Dance"; Mrs. Don Holmes gave two readings, "How Not to Fix a Loose Door Knob" and "Sam's Letter"; Miss Margaret Wolstenholme sang "Vale" and "Keep On Hopin'"; Tommy Krogh played two coronet solos 'Melody in F" and "White Christmas"; and Mrs. Helen McNeil and Mrs. W. R. Moore played two piano duets, "The Waves of the Ocean" and "The March of the Hussars." Miss Lillie Brown accompanied the audience for Christmas Carols during the evening and Miss Mignon Mayneord whistled while the guests sang, "It Came Upon A Midnight Clear."

Refreshments were served by members of the club following the program and the special guests of the evening were Dr. George Easton and Rev. William Macdonald.

Bailieboro News

Fourteen tables of progressive euchre ere played at Centreville Hall. First prizes were won by Miss Ivy Sutton and Dawson Rutherford, second prizes by Mrs. Howard Fair and James Gainer, while consolations were given to Mrs. Frank Barnard and Grant Thorn. Proceeds were for the Cigarette Fund for boys overseas.

Mrs. Hector Jewison of Oshawa recently visited friends in the village.

Miss Harriet Hawley of Belleville spent a week at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Plews.

Red Cross Bazaar

HASTINGS, Nov. 30—The Red Cross group of Fife Community met at the home of Mrs. Gordon Warner on Wednesday for their regular meeting. One crib quilt was quilted, which was later sold. Members conducted a bazaar during the afternoon with a large display of fancy work, aprons, home cooking, vegetables and apples. A dainty luncheon was served by the women. The proceeds for the afternoon amounted to almost $28. There were about 24 ladies present, with visitors from Westwood and Hastings.

At Annual Meeting

Mrs. W. H. Morton, president of the Local Council of Women, Mrs. E. Wand, treasurer of the Ontario Council of Women, Mrs. C. M. Scott, a vice-president of the Ontario Council, and Mrs. W. Addyman, and Mrs. K. Simpson, are in Toronto today, attending a two-day annual meeting of the Ontario Provincial Council of Women. Dr. R. P. Vivian, the Minister of Health will be guest speaker at this evening's session, and Sir Bernard Pares, English lecturer who has spent many years in Russia, will speak on that country at Friday's meeting.

Scope Of W.C.T.U. Outlined For Members

Mrs. J. Ellis, Mark street, was hostess Wednesday to the W.C.T.U., with a good representation.

In the absence of Miss Migh through illness, Mrs. E. Wand presided and the meeting opened with silent prayer in memory of the late Mrs. Micks. Miss Boyd read the scripture and Mrs. H. Alton led in prayer. An interesting and enlightening talk on the work being done by the W.C.T.U. was given by Mrs. A. J. Throop, who first pointed out the significance of their emblem, the white ribbon, the white standing for purity and the bow for unity. After reading the W.C.T.U. pledge Mrs. Throop urged that members help to educate society to higher thoughts, teach youth the awfulness of drink and so make Canada a better place. Missionary work is carried on by the W.C.T.U. in Japan, China, India and Palestine.

26 Departments.

This organization has twenty-six departments and costs but $1 for annual membership. Of this dollar 50c returns to the member in a subscription to White Ribbon Tidings, the official journal; 30c a member goes to the work of the county, and only 20c, retained for local work. Members may subscribe for the Clip Sheet and White Ribbon Tidings, even if they cannot attend the meetings. She said "in the battle of life there is no demobilization Let us keep on fighting intemperance.

It was decided that Mrs. Bert Manning be in charge of the Christmas box for Curve Lake and Mrs. V. Whittington was appointed representative to the Health League Council. The hospital bill was read and discussed. Mrs. J. H. Rowe reported on war work for Peterborough - Northumberland counties when 325 articles were made, 1,625 hours of work given and $25 raised for the mobile canteen.

Mrs. James Tinney reported war work by the Peterborough Union, which included 268 knitted articles and 130 soldiers were entertained at Christmas in the homes.

Arrange For Visit.

A committee, Mrs. Throop, Mrs. Allan and Mrs. Whittington, was appointed to arrange for the visit of Miss Duff, field secretary, to do intensive work in this area early in January.

A solo, 'Come Unto Me,' by Mrs. Max Pomeroy, was accompanied by Mrs. Ellis.

Mrs. W. H. Morton spoke briefly on 'Peace and International Relations,' stressing the need for clothing for children and babies in Europe.

A pamphlet by Rev. Andrew Thompson, M.A., B.D., D.D., of Honan, China, "Should the United church go total abstinence" has provoked much interest recently and was presented in a comprehensive review by Mrs. H. T. Rehill. In her introduction she deplored the fact that drinking is now quite common even among church people. Another disquieting fact is the great increase in drinking among women and girls. To make total abstinence a prerequisite to church membership, it would in many communities, practically close the church.

Is total abstinence a christian duty? she said. The seventh general conference declared that it is. Against the life of Christ, how does modern drinking look, and does the presence of the whiskey bottle add to the happiness of the home or does it cast a shadow here? she asked. What good purposes would be accomplished by making total abstinence a compulsory rule?

First it would be an emphatic condemnation of the liquor trade and it would defintely strengthen people against solicitation to drink. It would make the homes of loyal members of the church a safe place for young people to go to and would help to revitalize the church and to remove any reproach from it, because of the patronage of liquor by its members.

Nurses Elect New Chairman

Miss Mary Ross was elected chairman of the Registered Nurses Association, Chapter C, District six, at a meeting Tuesday evening at the Argyle street nurses' residence. Miss E. Young presided for the opening of the meeting, and the new chairman took the chair for the closing period.

Other new members elected to the executive were Miss V. O'Leary, as first vice-chairman and Miss H. McGeary as second vice-chairman. Miss Helen Talbot remained in office as secretary-treasurer, as did most of the committee conveners.

Miss Mary Robson discussed a new drug, and the "History of Sanitation in Canada" was outlined by Ronald McPherson, sanitary inspector. Two skits about chronic patients, produced and directed by Miss Helen Furlong, were presented by three students at Nicholls Hospital, Misses Doris Swain, Evangeline Calvin and Janet Crockett. At the conclusion of the evening, Miss M. Armstrong was in charge of refreshments.

Curtain Goods Hard To Find

Housewives have been struggling ever since war broke out against shortages of what they formerly considered essential materials, and one more item has been placed on the missing list. Lace curtain material has been practically off the market for several months, and the shortage has been so severe that merchants feel if they had several hundred pieces of lace material on hand now, it would all be sold before Christmas.

Official explanation behind this shortage is the same as in many other things, that of production stoppages and changes to more essential war work. Largely emanating from England and Scotland, where now, the material is almost non-existent, production stopped there some time ago, although it was renewed, only to be halted again, for the purpose of accumulating some curtains for export.

There is a great demand today not only in Peterborough but all across Canada for lace curtains. It is believed some of a good quality are being made in the United States, but in any case, few, if any, are finding their way into Canadian stores. Shortages of that material and cotton in the States accounts for that.

For a time, a company in Cornwall was making excellent muslin curtains and other articles of muslin, but that company was taken for government war work, and production was discontinued, one merchant explained.

As in the future, immediately at least, there is no hope for the alleviation of this shortage. Lace curtains and other lace materials have, along with a host of other things, become wartime casualties and production in the future will depend almost solely upon the progress of the war.

SCOTTISH JUDGE DIES

EDINBURGH — (CP). — Lord Fleming, a judge of the Scottish Court of Session and chairman of the committee on public schools whose report was published last July, has died at the age of 67. He was a former solicitor general for Scotland.

King Edward School Sponsors Tea

Members of the Home and School Association of King Edward school sponsored a most successful tea and bazaar Wednesday afternoon. The kindergarten room was decorated in the Christmas theme, and was filled with guests during the afternoon.

Centering the large tea table, dominating the tea room, was a gaily decorated little Christmas tree, on a reflector, flanked by red candles in silver holders. The table was set with a lace cloth, and silver. Small tea tables were arranged around the room, and each had its centrepiece of a decorated miniature Christmas tree. Mrs. G. Harris, president of the Association, welcomed the guests.

Miss J. Lancaster and Miss G. Caddy poured tea during the afternoon. Mrs. F. Cox supervised the tea room, assisted by Mrs. F. Lundy, Mrs. O. Laderach, Mrs. A. Beggs, Mrs. A. Mills, Mrs. E. Blackwell, Mrs. G Young, Mrs H. Turner and Mrs. J. Lawson. Mrs. G. Stevens was convener of refreshments, assisted by Mrs. J. Crocker.

Novelties, and dainty aprons, made by the members, found a ready sale, and the tables were soon cleared. Mrs. G. O'Dette and Mrs. V. Reynolds supervised the miscellaneous table, while Mrs. L. Gibson and Mrs. E. Cook were in charge of the apron display. Tasty home cooking was in charge of Mrs. F. Johnston and Mrs. R. Watson. Mrs. G. MacMillan was treasurer.

EVENING ELEGANCE—The two-piece costume allowing for the all-important contrast not only of color but of fabric, is ideally suited to afternoon and evening clothes, and is of course an extension of the popular separate skirt and blouse team. Shown recently at a fashion show, this two-piece costume is made up of a beautiful jacket blouse in white crepe with delicate all-over beading in tiny white crystal and chalk-white beads. The neckline is collarless and the peplum is ruffled at the sides. The black velvet skirt is cut on very slim lines.—By Alice Alden.

(Last week we printed a reader's recipe for Genoese pastry and some variations and promised more variations this week).

I'll run through the method of making it again for the last time, and warn all who are interested in this very differdent type of batter to clip this now.

Foundation Recipe: Three large eggs, ½ cup sugar, ¾ cup flour, ½ teaspoon baking powder, 3 tablespoons melted butter, and any flavoring. First break eggs into upper part of a double boiler, and beat, then add sugar and place pan over buttom part of double boiler with water simmering—not quite boiling—then beat for 15 minutes or until eggs become so light as to reach the top of a quart sauce pan. The water in bottom must not boil. Meanwhile sift flour and baking powder together twice, melt butter, and when eggs are ready add the flour and butter alternately to them. Flavor delicately with almond, vanilla, lemon or rose extract and bake in moderate oven 25 minutes. Turn cake from pan, cool on sieve, and you have foundation for a dozen varieties of little cakes.

A fancy one-piece dessert is made by baking cake in round pan deeper than layer cake tins, covering with apricot puree when cool and topping with sweetened whipped cream.

Petit Fours are made by cutting the cake when baked on sheet pan, into diamonds, rounds, or squares and frosting with various colors and flavors, and decorating with nuts and cherries or angelica in interesting designs. Fondant Glaze is the professional coating for Petits Fours. (See below).

Fondant Glaze for Petit Fours: 2 cups granulated sugar, ⅛ teaspoon cream of tartar, 1 cup hot water, confectioners' sugar. Combine granulater sugar, cream of tartar, and water in a saucepan. Cook over low heat, stirring constantly, until sugar is dissolved. Cook gently to 226 deg. Fahr., which is a thin syrup. Cool until lukewarm (110 deg. Fahr.), then add enough confectioners' sugar to make of consistency to pour over cakes. Arrange cut cakes on cake rack over waxed paper. Pour Glaze over each row of cakes moving steadily to end of row and back again to cover tops and sides. Let the glaze set for about 5 minutes, then repeat the coating. If glaze becomes hard while using, it may be reheated over hot water. Decorate tops with strips of angelica, canded fruit, slivered almonds, etc., or with frosting forced through pastry tube.

QUESTION: Please be sure to print a good favorite plum pudding sauce before too long.—Your old Friend Minnie.

ANSWER: Sometimes I think you josh me Minnie — who taught me how to make pudding sauce anyway?

Brown Sugar Lemon Sauce.

One cup brown sugar, 2 tablespoons cornstarch, ¼ teaspoon salt, 1½ cups boiling water, 2 to 4 tablespoons butter, juice of ½ lemon and grated rind ½ lemon, dash of nutmeg. Mix sugar and cornstarch and salt. Add boiling water stirring. Simmer for 5 minutes, stirring. Add remaining ingredients. This may be cooked in double boiler 15 minutes when it will be clearer and better, before adding flavorings. Come oftener, Minnie.

Buzz Beurling Wed In Quebec

MONTREAL, Nov. 30 — (CP). — George (Buzz) Beurling of neighboring Verdun was married here yesterday to Mrs Diana Whittall Gardner of Vancouver, in a quiet ceremony attended only by two witnesses.

The ace of the defence of Malta, who has been in civilian clothes for the last week, following his rejection on medical grounds when he attempted to join the R.A.F., was in his Air Force uniform for the wedding. He wore the ribbons of his decorations—the D.S.O., D.F.C. and Bar, and D.F.M.

The bride wore a dark dress and carried a bouquet of white orchids, sent from Vancouver by her mother. After the ceremony the couple left for the Laurentians by car.

The ceremony was conducted in St. George's Anglican Church by Archdeacon Gower-Rees. R. O. Johnson, Montreal businessman, gave the bride away, and A. W. O'Brien of the Montreal Standard acted as best man.

OF QUESTION TO BE SUBMITTED TO THE VOTE OF THE MUNICIPAL ELECTORS AT THE NEXT ANNUAL ELECTION.

The Council of the City of Peterborough by By-laws passed on November 3rd, 1944, is submitting to the Vote of the Electors, qualified to vote on money By-laws, a question.

To secure an expression of the Electors' approval or disapproval the Council provides that:—

By By-law 4404 the following question shall be submitted — "Are you in favour of diverting $300,000.00 from the surplus moneys in the sinking funds of the Peterborough City Trust to assist in financing the construction of a General Civic Hospital?"

The Votes of the Electors, qualified to vote on money By-laws, will be taken on this question at the same polls and during the same hours for voting as the Voting for Election for Council on December 4th, 1944.

On the First day of December, 1944, at Three o'clock in the Afternoon, the Mayor or some member of the Council, appointed for that purpose by resolution, shall attend at the City Hall for the purpose of appointing two persons to attend at the final summing up of the votes by the Clerk, and one person to attend at each polling place on behalf of the persons interested in voting in the affirmative on the said question and a like number on behalf of the persons interested in voting in the negative on the question.

On the Fifth day of December, 1944, at the Hour of Eleven o'clock in the Forenoon at the City Hall, Peterborough, the Clerk shall attend and sum up the votes given in the affirmative and negative on the said question.

A Tenant who desires to vote must deliver to the Clerk, not later than the Tenth day before the day appointed for taking the vote the declaration provided for by Sub-Section 3 of Section 283 of the Municipal Act.

Dated at Peterborough, this 9th day of November, 1944.

I certify that this is a true statement of the question to be submitted.

E. A. OUTRAM,
City Clerk.

NOTICE

NOTICE

AND SYNOPSIS OF TWO SEPARATE PROPOSED MONEY BY-LAWS TO BE SUBMITTED TO VOTE OF THE RATEPAYERS AT THE NEXT ANNUAL ELECTION.

THE MUNICIPAL COUNCIL of the Corporation of the City of Peterborough proposes to pass two separate money By-laws. These By-laws are:

(1) Number 4401 entitled "A By-law to Authorize the Issue of Debentures for $75,000.00 for granting aid to the Peterborough Memorial Community Centre."

(2) Number 4403 entitled "A By-law Authorizing the Borrowing of $600,000.00 upon Debentures for the Peterborough General Civic Hospital and Nurses' Residence."

THE PURPOSE OF BY-LAW 4401 is to authorize the issuing of Debentures for Borrowing the sum of $75,000.00 for the purpose of aiding the Peterborough Memorial Community Centre. This By-law recites that:

(a) The Peterborough Memorial Community Centre is a charitable organization for the purposes of organizing activities for the promotion of the health, social welfare and recreation of the citizens.

(b) The said Peterborough Memorial Community Centre has requested the Council of the said Corporation to grant financial aid to the sum of $75,000.00 to help in constructing the first unit of the Centre.

(c) The $75,000.00 will be raised by the sale of debentures, the said debentures to be repayable on the Instalment Plan during the period of ten years and bearing interest at the rate of three per cent per annum. The amount to be raised annually for payment of the instalments and interest will be approximately $9,000.00.

(d) This By-law shall not come into force until it has received the assent of the Electors entitled to vote on money By-laws and is validated by special Act of the Legislature for Ontario.

(e) No debentures shall be issued or sold until the City Treasurer shall certify to the Council of the City Corporation that the sum of $175,000.00 has been raised by Public Subscription for the purposes of the said Peterborough Memorial Community Centre.

THE PURPOSE OF BY-LAW 4403 is to authorize the issuing of Debentures for Borrowing the sum of $600,000.00 for the purpose of the Peterborough General Civic Hospital and Nurses' Residence, said Debentures to be repayable on the Instalment Plan during the period of twenty years and bearing interest at the rate of three per cent per annum. The amount to be raised annually for the payment of the instalments and interest will be approximately $40,000.00.

TAKE NOTICE, that the foregoing is a Synopsis of the two proposed By-laws of the Corporation of the City of Peterborough to be submitted to the votes of the Electors qualified to vote thereon, at the time of the Municipal Elections on the Fourth day of December, 1944, and at the same polling places and at the same hours at which voting will take place for the Candidates for Election to the Council of the City of Peterborough.

AND THAT the First day of December, 1944, at the Hour of Three o'clock in the afternoon, at the City Hall, has been fixed for the appointment of persons favouring or opposing the passing of either one of the By-laws to attend at the Polling Places. On the Fifth day of December, 1944, at the Hour of Eleven o'clock in the forenoon at the City Hall, the Clerk shall sum up the votes for and against the proposed By-laws.

AND TAKE NOTICE FURTHER that a Tenant qualified to vote under Section 283, Sub-Section 3 of the Municipal Act must deliver to the Clerk, not later than the Tenth day before the day appointed for taking the Vote the Declaration provided for by the said Sub-Section.

IF THE ASSENT OF THE ELECTORS is obtained for either or both of the said proposed By-laws this will be taken into consideration by the Municipal Council of the said Corporation at a meeting thereof to be held after the expiration of one month from the date of the first publication of this Notice, and that such first publication was made on the 9th day of November, 1944.

Dated at Peterborough, this 9th Day of November, 1944.

I certify that this is a true synopsis of the two By-laws.

E. A. OUTRAM,
City Clerk.

Four Candy Firms Are Fined $8,290

MONTREAL, Nov. 29.—(CP).) — Chief Judge Gustave Perrault yesterday assessed fines totalling $8,290 on four Montreal firms for infraction of sugar rationing regulations. The charges included: Obtaining sugar without surrendering ration cheques, failure to keep books showing sugar transactions, and purchasing sugar above quota.

The firms fined were: St. Lawrence Candy Company, four fines of $1,250 each; Bonbons Duchatels Registered, $40; C. J. Relley and Son, $500, and Peanut Vendors, $1,150 and six fines of $100 each.

BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

GO TO ANY LENGTHS

WHEN THE fine player of a No Trump game contract realizes he is beaten if a particular defender ever gets the lead—because that one has enough established tricks to defeat him—his job is to keep the dangerous hand out of the lead if it is at all possible. He should go to any lengths to minimize that vital risk, even laying down aces which might drop singleton kings rather than finesse toward that opponent. If it turns out that the finesse would have won, all that may have been wasted is an extra trick.

North: ♠ 10 6 4 ♥ Q J 10 ♦ A 10 ♣ Q 9 8 5 4
West: ♠ K 8 7 3 2 ♥ 8 6 4 ♦ Q 9 5 2 ♣ K
East: ♠ A 5 ♥ 7 5 3 2 ♦ J 7 6 4 ♣ 7 6 2
South: ♠ Q J 9 ♥ A K 9 ♦ K 8 3 ♣ A J 10 3

(Dealer: West. Both sides vulnerable.)

West	North	East	South
Pass	Pass	Pass	1♣
Pass	2♣	Pass	2 NT
Pass	3 NT

West opened the spade 3 to the A, the 5 came back to his K, and the 2 to the Q cleared the suit. Counting up, the declarer saw that with one spade trick, plus three in hearts and two in diamonds, he had to get three in clubs to negotiate the contract. Next he noted his possession of nine clubs, and he remembered his tables of probabilities which told him the best chance to capture the K when only four were out is by finessing on the first round.

So finesse he did, after leading over to the heart Q and bringing back the club 4 to the J. When the K took that he was licked by West's two set-up spades. "Hard luck" was his verdict when he learned the club K could have been dropped by playing the A.

There was no hard luck about it, merely bad bridge. He was in a spot in which he could afford to lose to the club K if East had it, but absolutely could not afford to let West gain the lead. In order to reduce that hazard to the lowest possible proportions, he should have played the club A on the first round. If it turned out then that East had the K, he need not have worried, for a dangerous spade could not have been returned, and he therefore would have been assured of four club tricks, for a total of ten. And with West holding the singleton K, he would have taken 11 tricks by sound play.

Majority Of American Papers Say Hands Off Canadian Crisis

NEW YORK, Nov. 30—(CP)—A hands-off attitude has been taken by the press of the United States in its editorial treatment of the Canadian conscription crisis with the great majority of newspapers content to report the facts at length, generally with page 1 treatment, without commenting thereon.

The situation has evoked widespread interest throughout the country, day-to-day developments being followed closely even in sections as far from the borders of the Dominion as the deep south and southern Pacific coast. For the United States recalls its own bitter battle in 1940 over conscription and in the few editorial opinions expressed, sympathy with the Canadian position is readily apparent.

Indicative of the position the American press as a whole has taken in what it recognizes as a critical point in Canadian history was last week's comment by the New York Herald Tribune:

"Americans owe their excellent northern neighbor a debt of sympathy in this dilemma. We still have our own troubles arising from the existence of racial minorities, conspicuously the Negro problem. And we should realize that in some respects the problem facing Canada is even tougher than this one of our own....The cleavages in Canada are those of language and religion intensified by a greater geographical and hence political concentration."

Chicago Tribune.

On the other hand, the Chicago Tribune, bitterly isolationist before the United States entered the war, commented Tuesday:

"Most of the opposition to conscription has come from the French-speaking people always more or less exploited economically by the dominant English-speaking strain. The French-Canadians have come to look upon conscription as merely another form of exploitation. It would be none too tolerable if imposed by a home government which was none too considerate of French wishes and is less tolerable because conscription is being enforced in support of an Imperial war."

Other comment included:

Pittsburgh Post-Gazette: "In this crisis the Government of Prime Minister W. L. Mackenzie King has yielded to the extent of ordering partial conscription for overseas service. Only a month ago he had said that such a step would bring on a general election, precipitate national dissension and perhaps weaken Canadian unity and strength for generations to come. Apparently a majority of the Canadian people prefer to risk all that than leave those gaps in the ranks of Canadian volunteers as they drive forward in the climatic battle for a free world in which Canada will again have the opportunity to handle its own peculiar problems in its own way."

Boston Touch.

Boston Herald: "Probably an overwhelming majority of Americans, whose own servicemen, whether draftees or volunteers, are subject to assignment in any part of the world, will wish the Mackenzie King Government a large and quick vote of support."

Baltimore Sun: "The Prime Minister has found himself on the horns of a dilemma....It is possible the present Government may fall and Canada be thrown into a general election sooner than Mr. King had planned."

Fort Worth (Texas) Telegram: "Canada, in the fifth year of a global war, has awakened to the fact that she has as much at stake in the conflict as any other nation, and to the sobering realization that anything short of all-out effort is not enough. It is another case of the people being several jumps ahead of the Government in their thinking."

Allentown (Pa.) Morning Call: "Canadians...did not hesitate to tell us what to do about choosing a President and a Congress. We should not hesitate about telling them America is very much disappointed that Canadians are shying off from participation in the war in Europe. ...The Canadians in all too great numbers seem to have made up their minds to let Americans and Englishmen and Frenchmen fight this common war. We cannot have any high regard for Canada if such a stand be continued...."

300 Work Permits

BELLEVILLE, Nov. 30—(CP)—About 300 Hastings county farmers have been granted temporary work permits for winter employment, H. H. Reed, manager of the Belleville Selective Service office, said today. Some of the farmers will go to lumber and logging camps in the northern part of the county, while others will work in industrial plants at Batawa, Deloro, Belleville, Tweed, Sulphide and Corbyville.

Shows Growth

MONTREAL, Nov. 30 — (CP) — The C.C.F. movement in the last three years has experienced "great growth" because of the many thousands of people who have been thinking of "their future and the future of their children," E. B. Joliffe, Ontario C.C.F leader, said in an address here Tuesday.

Polish Tangle Continues; Premier-Designate Quits

LONDON, Nov. 30—(AP)—A reliable Polish source said he understood that the Premier-Designate Jan Kwapinski had resigned and that Tomasz Areiszewski, president-designate of the Polish Government, had been given the task of forming the new cabinet.

Although there was no official confirmation of the report, it was understood a communique announcing Kwapinski's resignation and Areiszewski's appointment would be issued later today.

Areiszewski, a member of the Socialist Party, was said to have been the most acceptable person to President Wladyslaw Raczkiewicz of those available for forming a new cabinet.

Meanwhile the belief that former Premier Stanislaw Mikolajczyk would be asked to make another attempt to form a cabinet was growing fainter in Polish quarters.

One source said:

"From the trend of affairs this morning, it doesn't look as if Mikolajczyk will accept the mission, or even consider returning to the Government in some other capacity."

Diplomatic observers, however, pointed to Mikolajczyk's talks yesterday with Prime Minister Churchill and Foreign Secretary Eden as an indication that he might be persuaded to take the helm again in a last desperate effort to relieve the Polish crisis.

Polish quarters were frank to admit the situation had reached a critical stage. At the same time, British diplomatic sources made it plain Britain was growing tired of the persistent wrangling among the Poles.

Messrs. Churchill and Eden, who have fought hard to aid the Poles in finding a solution and restore diplomatic relations with Russia, were believed to have told London Polish leaders this might well be their last chance to effect some sort of agreement.

Unconfirmed reports persisted that Mikolajczyk had broken with the London Poles and might go to Lublin to offer his services to the Polish Liberation Committee.

Build Up Strength and Energy to Guard Against Colds—Flu

Many Persons Taking Syntona Say They Have Had Fewer Colds. Rids System of Acids and Poisons. Improves Action of Stomach, Liver and Bowels.

Helps Throw Off Lingering After-Effects

If you are unable to throw off the after-effects of colds, flu or grippe you are probably rundown and need a good tonic like Syntona to improve the action of the stomach, increase appetite, promote elimination of excess acids and poisonous waste matter; and to purify the blood.

Syntona contains 12 medicinal ingredients in a perfectly balanced formula to give the best of results and hundreds who have used this new medicine state that they have never taken anything like it before.

Mrs. Jennie Rouse, of Elmira says: "I was rundown, had a weak, sickly stomach and felt so nervous that the least thing startled me. I had pains through my side and chest and seemed to have pains through my joints and muscles. I'd get severe colds and didn't seem to be able to get rid of them.

"I started taking Syntona and right from the first my food began to digest better. The aches and pains went away and now it is wonderful how different I feel. The nervous, irritable feeling is all cleared up and I haven't had a cold since. I am certainly pleased with Syntona, and I will use it whenever I am feeling rundown."

Make up your mind to begin taking Syntona to-day. See how much better you, too, will be feeling in just a short time. Syntona is sold and recommended in Peterborough at Elliott's Drug Store.—(Advt.)

Venereal Disease

A CHALLENGE TO LEADERSHIP

THE eradication of V.D. is a challenge to leadership.

Those who, yesterday, accepted that challenge left legacies of knowledge, hope and courage.

Through their keen, searching eyes the sinister, squirming syphilis germ was first exposed. From their countless experiments came "606"... and the blood test. From determined lips came words which helped tear away the shroud of prudery.

Today, others have taken up the challenge. Science has made priceless discoveries which rob Venereal Disease of much of its terror. Health Departments are waging aggressive war on syphilis and gonorrhœa. Physicians and nurses are alert.

Leadership is strong on the HEALTH Sector. It must be equally strong on the other three . . . WELFARE . . . LEGAL . . . MORAL.

To welfare leaders, squalor, neglect and insecurity are challenges to be met . . . to be overcome, if the roots of Venereal Disease are to be destroyed.

On the legal sector, aggressive leadership by law enforcement officials, the legal profession and civic authorities can turn the tide of battle against a vicious enemy of mankind. By permanently closing houses of prostitution and cleaning up undesirable places which facilitate the meeting of healthy and infected young people, Venereal Disease will be sharply reduced.

The continuing threat of Venereal Disease is a tremendous challenge to church and home. The moral sector can reduce V.D. . . . IF the moral fibre of the nation is strengthened . . . IF individual character is fortified . . . IF the sanctity of marriage is upheld . . . IF, above all, the moral wisdom of the ages is applied in the practical, daily issues of personal, community and national life in Canada.

Whether your leadership is in a family group, a club or a community, you have an opportunity to serve. Learn the facts about Venereal Disease and its control. Inform others. See that conditions in your community are the kind that will give your son and daughter, and your neighbour's, the chance to grow up in an atmosphere of decency, wholesomeness and good health.

THIS IS YOUR CHALLENGE!

Terrific Winds, Heavy Snow Bring Great Damage, Deaths

By The Canadian Press

The death toll in Eastern Canada mounted to five today as the first snowstorm of the winter continued to hold Ontario and Quebec in its grip. Its fury abated somewhat from yesterday when the snow was whipped about by a gale which reached its highest velocity—an estimated 65 miles-an-hour—in Montreal.

Two of the deaths came in Quebec where the storm reached its height. Fireman John Callaghan died in hospital at Montreal from injuries received when a Canadian National Railways freight train was derailed. At Levis, a man was killed when struck by a roof blown from a house.

Ontario had three traffic deaths—two reported last night from Shelburne and Lindsay and one today from Kingston. Arthur Burnette of Odessa was the man killed near Kingston. He was struck by a car driven by R. Card of Napanee as he apparently was walking back to warn traffic after his own car stalled in a snowdrift.

Traffic Tie-Up.

In the Brockville district, highway traffic was delayed and St. Lawrence River navigation is at a standstill. Highway plows are clearing roads of snowdrifts. Ten inches of snow fell in Ottawa.

In the London area of Western Ontario, the worst highway and rail traffic tie-up in years was reported. Small communities in the district are isolated and traffic in the city itself is virtually at a standstill, thousands walking to work when bus traffic was disrupted.

Snowplows were in use in the Niagara Peninsula after a five-inch fall. Hamilton reported only a few flurries of snow.

Many persons were injured as the storm slowed transportation to a crawl in Montreal, Toronto, and Ottawa and completely tied up traffic in Quebec City.

Meanwhile temperatures in Western Canada hovered below zero, although milder weather was forecast for today. Citizens have been held in a cold spell for the last four days.

Snowfall in Toronto was light, but temperatures dropped to 20 degrees during the night, and the combination of snow and sleet turned to ice creating hazardous driving condiulate Walter Thorne on the quiet tions. More than 20 persons were injured in traffic accidents. At Ottawa, more than six inches of

Denies Shortage Reinforcements

OTTAWA, Dec. 1 (CP)—Maj. W. E. Harris, 40, (L-Grey Bruce), wounded in the fierce fighting near Caen last July said in the Commons last night that it was "definitely not true that the Government has not provided trained reinforcements."

Recuperating from a foot wound, Maj. Harris spoke from his experience overseas and said he knew that at times reinforcement pools were depleted and soldiers called for conscription. Always, however, a shipment came along from Canada and the pools were filled up.

He proposed to vote against all amendments and for the government motion of confidence.

Scots Capture Town In Burma

MYITKYINA, Burma, Dec. 1 — (AP). — With bagpipes skirling, Royal Scots of the 36th Division have marched into Pinwe, seven miles north of the key Burma Railway junction of Naba, 167 miles from Mandalay.

Pinwe was occupied yesterday without resistance. More than 100 Japanese dead were found in the streets and considerable Japanese equipment was captured.

The enemy withdrawal from Pinwe came after two weeks of fighting by troops of the 36th Division.

East African troops, it was announced, advanced along the west bank of the Chindwin toward Kalewa, 140 miles northwest of Mandalay.

15 Cities Hit In Furious Air Attacks

American Losses 56 Bombers Worst Since April

LONDON, Dec. 1 —(CP)—Three thousand tons of fire bombs and explosive set the Rhine-Ruhr city of Duisburg ablaze last night as R.A.F. bombers delivered the eighth devastating blow in a furious, 48-hour blitz on 15 German industrial centres by 11,000 British and American planes.

It was the third time in two days that British bombers had hit targets in Duisberg, regarded as the main centre of rail and water communications at the end of the Ruhr.

Some bombers from the attacking force, estimated at more than 500 Halifaxes and Lancasters, darted to Hamburg with two-ton blockbusters.

Only four British bombers were lost in the operation, the eighth major blow directed at German industry by the R.A.F. and the U.S. 8th Air Force since early Wednesday morning.

Over-all losses for the two-day period marked by the appearance of less than a dozen German fighter planes, were 12 British bombers, four bombers and two fighters of the continent-based tactical air forces, and 60 8th Air Force bombers and 30 fighters.

The U.S.A.A.F. yesterday suffered their worst loss since April—56 four-engined bombers downed by anti-aircraft fire.

Thirty U.S. fighters also failed to return to their British bases after all-day pulverizing attacks by 3,000 planes on synthetic oil plants in the Leipzig area and railyards in the Saarbrucken sector. The tactical air forces supporting ground troops lost three medium bombers and one fighter.

Fire Is Heavy

Not since 63 U.S. bombers went down to combined ack-ack fire and fighter opposition over Berlin in April have Allied planes encountered such concentrated defence fire as they did yesterday, particularly in a 10-mile square area near Leipzig.

Tempering the heavy losses reported by an 8th Air Force communique was the belief that most fighter pilots grounded in friendly territory.

The German air force declined to come up in strength to oppose the massive formations of Fortresses and Liberators. Four enemy interceptors were shot down.

Fortresses struck at Bohlen, Zeitz, Merseberg and Lutzkendorf near Leipzig, roaring over the targets at 25,000 to 30,000 feet with a full escort of fighters. Results here were described as "very favorable."

The blows topped a 36 hour continuous aerial offensive which left Germany erupting from an average of 10 tons of bombs a minute from the 11,000 planes flying on seven major missions in that period and some 4,000 sorties in support of the ground armies.

DECISION DELAYED

OTTAWA—Forecasts on Parliament Hill today are that the House of Commons will reach a vote on the Government's confidence vote next Tuesday or Wednesday and adjourn then immediately until Jan. 31.

Schools Close Dec. 22

ST. THOMAS, Dec. 1 (CP) —City secondary school students who were anticipating a long and profitable Christmas vacation period were disappointed Thursday by a message from the Ontario Department, stating that schools must remain open until December 22. The local school board previously had decided on a December 15 closing date to allow the students to work in the Christmas shopping period.

Germany Has 6 Million To Finish War

By ROGER GREENE
Associated Press War Correspondent

21ST ARMY GROUP HEADQUARTERS, Dec. 1 — (AP). — Adolf Hitler now probably has about 6,000,000 troops to wage the climactic battle of Germany, including about 1,250,000 really fit men between the ages of 19 and 46, according to the best available information here.

Under the leadership of three commanders, Field Marshal Walther Von Model, Col. Gen. Kurt Student and Gen. Hermann Balck, with Field Marshal Karl Rudolf Gerd Von Rundstedt as supreme chieftain in the west, the Nazi Fuehrer has more divisions massed on the Allied front in western Europe than on D-Day. But they are far inferior in quality.

On June 6 there were approximately 65 German divisions on the Western Front, compared with about 70 today, but now many Nazi divisions average less than 11,000 men, it is estimated, as compared with 17,000 men on D-Day.

In recent operations the Germans have been losing about six divisions a week.

On all fronts Hitler today has about 300 divisions. Information here divides them as follow:

Western Front—70.
Eastern Front—130-140.
Italy—About 30.
Balkans—About 20.
Scandinavia—About 20.
Inside Germany—About 20.

The German high command already has bitten deeply into the class of 1928—boys of 16—and now has only about 150,000 left of that class to call upon for badly needed reinforcements.

Russian Army 100 Miles From Austria

Envelop 50 Places In New Drives West Of Danube

MOSCOW, Dec. 1 (AP)—Enveloping 50 more communities in their new drive west of the Danube in southwestern Hungary, Russian troops today moved north to within 78 miles of outflanked Budapest and less than 100 miles from the Austrian border.

Moscow announced a nine-mile advance north along the west bank of the great river yesterday. Northeast of the besieged Hungarian capital other Red Army troops seized the Axis strongholds of Eger and Szikszo which guard invasion routes into central Slovakia.

Russian troops also cut the railway between Miskolc, Hungary's fifth city, and Kassa (Kosice), eastern Slovakian communication hub now threatened by Gen. Ivan Petrov's forces fanning out from captured Ungvar. The line was severed at Arnot, less than three miles northeast of Miskolc.

Petrov's troops, attacking on a 30-mile front, captured 30 villages, including Domasa, 20 miles east of Presov; Moraviany, 23 miles east of Kassa and Zemplin, seven miles northeast of the big north Hungarian rail centre of Satoraljaujhely.

In addition to capturing Eger and Szikszo, Marshal Rodion Y. Malinovsky's troops penetrated Kacs, 10 miles northeast of Eger and 25 miles from the central Slovakian frontier.

Using captured Peces, in southwestern Hungary, as a base, Russian and Yugoslav Partisan forces were driving northward toward one of the main railways which the Germans use to supply their forces of occupation at Zagreb, in northern Yugoslavia.

The Red Army also swarmed southward from Peces, swooping through villages which had been pocketed by the advance across the Danube. The triple Russian aim appeared an attempt to force a decision in Hungary at Budapest, invade Austria, and cut off the retreat of an estimated 100,000 German troops now in Yugoslavia.

Re-elect Wm. Green

NEW ORLEANS, Dec. 1— (AP). —The American Federation of Labor yesterday unanimously re-elected William Green as president for the 21st time, and he immediately pledged himself to work toward union with the Congress of Industrial Organizations and the United Mine Workers.

Franco Plays Safe

PARIS, Dec. 1 — (AP). — Gen. Franco has sent 107 Spanish civil guards into Andorra to balance the 107 French gendarmes Gen. De Gaulle assigned there recently as "a preventive measure" against winter disturbances, the newspaper Paris Presse said today. The newspaper said that Franco matched the French force even to the issuance of 150 cartridges a man.

Senior Members Of Commons Prefer Election

By FRANK FLAHERTY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

OTTAWA, Dec. 1 (CP) — Two senior members of the Commons both former cabinet ministers, one a Conscriptionist Progressive Conservative and the other an anti-conscriptionist Liberal were on record today as considering a general election preferable to continuance of the present political situation.

They are Hon. R. B. Hanson (PC-York-Sunbury) and Hon. P. J. A. Cardin (L - Richelieu - Vercheres). Both spoke yesterday in the debate on the government's motion of confidence relating to the application of conscription for overseas service.

Mr. Hanson expressed regret that Col. J. L. Ralston, former Defence Minister, did not follow up his fight for reinforcements for the army overseas by voting against the government of which he was a member until a month ago. He said other men than Prime Minister King could form a government and the government would go on although certain eventualities might occur.

"Worse things might happen than those eventualities," he said. "Speaking for myself and myself alone because I have not canvassed the situation with my colleagues, I hold the view that this whole position will never be clarified or settled until the people of Canada clarify it."

Cardin's View

Speaking from the opposite point of view, opposing conscription, Mr. Cardin, former Liberal Transport Minister, said he could not understand why a wartime election should be feared. Everyone knew that for months past the Liberal party had been preparing for an election.

"The sooner we have one," he said, "the sooner the clouded atmosphere in which we have been living for the last five years or more will disappear and the sooner we shall be able to follow a policy that will be in the best interests of Canada as well as of the Allied Nations.

"I am not afraid of an election, whatever opposition I may meet from men coming from the party with which I have been so long and so closely associated.

"I have not ceased to be a Liberal but I contend that my party, alas, has been moving towards the other side, towards the Imperial and Tory spirit."

The day's debate brought out the first speakers opposing the government from the anti-conscription point of view. They were three Liberals and two member of the Bloc Populaire Party.

Besides Mr. Cardin, Walter Tucker (L-Rosthern) and Phillipe Picard (L-Bellechasse) announced

Threaten Ruhr-Rhine Area In Solid Assault Line 3,000 Huns Captured Daily

No Reports From Canadian Sector East of Nijmegen

House-To-House Battles Rage In Towns

By JAMES M. LONG—Associated Press Staff Writer

PARIS, Dec. 1—(AP).—Three United States armies beat out hard-won gains across churned battlefields today and drew up solid assault lines along both the Roer and Saar, two of the most important barriers to the Rhine. The British 2nd Army continued pressure on the approaches to Venlo, Meuse River border city guarding the approaches to the Ruhr.

There was no report of action at the northern end of the Western front where elements of the 1st Canadian Army last were reported in action in Germany east of Nijmegen.

Lose 3,000 Daily

As December came over the grim and grey battlefields, the Germans were pouring their final strength into the desperate struggle for a winter line west of the Rhine and were losing 3,000 men a day in prisoners alone. In dead and disabled Hitler was sacrificing more than that.

Security and other regulations lock the secret of Allied casualties for indefinite periods after operations and the cost in Allied lives in the great winter offensive, now in its 24th day, had not yet been disclosed.

But a general rule of war is that assault costs more in blood than defence.

The U.S. 3rd Army today pressed against the west bank of the Saar and the Siegfried Line almost solidly along a front of 12 to 15 miles. Tanks plunged forward half a mile in their latest gains and reached the Saar bend opposite Merzig, after clearing Hilbringen and Battern.

Close to Merzig

The 3rd Army was drawn up close to Merzig on the northwest, west and southwest and looking into the mouths of the Siegfried cannon. The Siegfried Line, with its forts, hundreds of pill-boxes and miles of wire and traps, comes down to the river here, and beyond is the Hunsruck Range running northeast between the Moselle and Nahe Valleys toward the Rhine and main cities of Wiesmbaden, Mainz and Frankfurt.

The U.S. 9th Army captured Welz, one mile south of Linnich, and drew a close arc around that town on the road to the Rhineland city of Munchen Gladbach as virtually the entire army closed up to the Roer and its tributary, the Inde, on a front 15 to 20 miles. Patrols stabbed across the narrow, but flood-swollen Inde.

The Allied campaign, yet to reach its climax of fury, was shaping bit by bit into three great wedges, each forcing the Germans to throw in thinning reserves to block the roads to Berlin.

Two American armies, the 9th and 1st, were hammering at three key towns along the Roer line in the Rhineland—Linnich, Julich and Duren.

The 3rd Army had drawn a curving line along the Saar in Germany and near the southern frontier of the Saarland, threatening not only that rich industrial and mining basin but also the historic guardians of the roads to Coblenz and the cluster of cities at the junction of the Rhine and Main.

The third wedge was shaping up northwest of Strasbourg, where both the 3rd and 7th Armies were

Canadian Army Casualties Total 58,943

OTTAWA, Dec. 1 — (CP). — Defence Headquarters announced to-day the Canadian Army suffered 7,921 casualties in October compared with 9,338 in August and 8,445 in September—the highest monthly totals of the war.

Total army casualties for the war period to October 31 are 58,943.

October figures for the Navy and Air Force are not yet available.

Casualties for all categories were lower in October compared with August and were lower for dead and wounded compared with September. But the missing, prisoner, and interned figure was higher in October compared with September.

In October there were 1,760 dead, 591 missing, prisoner and interned, and 5,570 wounded. September figures were 2,069 dead, 191 missing,

Huns Withdraw From Mountains

ROME, Dec. 1 (AP)—Troops of an Allied 5th Army Indian Division moved forward today along the Florence-Faenza road against only light resistance and reconnaissance reports indicated the enemy was withdrawing from the mountains in that area of the Po Valley.

The German move apparently was to straighten out a bulge in his line between Bologna and Faenza.

On the British 8th Army front there was no change in positions. Allied troops still were engaged in heavy fighting round Alberto, five miles northeast of Faenza.

Southwest of Faenza patrols found the Germans still dug in on high ground behind the Lamone river.

Northwest of Modigliana south of Highway 9 the Monte Fregnanello and Tranmonti areas were cleared of the enemy. Farther west Monte Del Tesoro, Monte Fortino and the Roncosole areas were occupied after several fierce encounters.

A German counter-attack east of Monte Belmonte near Highway 65 south of Bologna was repulsed. The entire highway area was under heavy German artillery fire.

West of the Pistoia-Bologna highway the 5th Army made limited gains north of Bombiana. Still farther west other 5th Army units withdrew after running into strong concrete emplacements and heavy machine-gun and mortar fire.

Nazis Claim Bombs Hit Prisoners

LONDON, Dec. 1 — (CP. Cable). — The German Transocean Agency claimed today that "a major contingent of Canadian prisoners of war was attacked by British fighter-bombers from a very low level and half their number was wounded, some seriously."

The report—which was without Allied confirmation and gave no date—add that the Canadians were admitted to a German field hospital and that they were "all members of the third company of the Black Watch of Canada, fifth brigade of the 2nd Canadian Infantry Division."

The Black Watch, a Canadian 2nd Division unit from Montreal, was represented in the Aug. 19, 1942 Dieppe raid and men of the Black Watch were among the Canadian troops which entered Dieppe last Sept. 1 after its capture by the Canadians.

Cardin Raps Conscription

Says French Canadians Made Concessions

OTTAWA, Dec. 1.—(CP).— Hon. P. J. A. Cardin, former Transport Minister and Liberal member for Richelieu-Verchers constituency in Quebec, said in an address in the Commons last night that a policy of conscription was "no good for Canada now or in the future.

Mr. Cardin, who resigned his portfolio in 1942 when the government sought passage of legislation authorizing the enforcement of conscription when necessary by order-in-council, said he had been one of the leaders of Quebec, but he had nothing to withdraw from what he had told Quebec people.

Mr. Cardin said he was one of those who had gone to Quebec and explained Canada's declaration of war to the people there.

"Since that time we have continued to do the same thing, and there has been no trouble in my province, even though a certain number of my compatriots felt that they had been unfairly treated," he said.

Unity has been maintained in Canada due to concessions made by French Canadians in the House of Commons and elsewhere. Those were strong words but they were the truth and no one could dispute them.

French-Canadians had been blamed for the recent troubles among home defence troops in British Columbia. This was unreasonable. It would be impossible for the handful of French-Canadians in British Columbia to create any difficulty unless they had the support of the majority of the home defence troops in that province.

Ammunition Shortage Slows Eisenhower

Artillery Plays Major Role Reducing Strong Points In Siegfried Line

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
Associated Press War Analyst

The fierceness of the fighting over the water-clogged terrain of the northern battle-front opposite the Rhineland lends particular point to War Secretary Stimson's blunt and unadorned statement that Gen. Eisenhower had to delay his general offensive until enough artillery ammunition accumulated.

The developing battle of the Cologne Plain is a grim business. It bids fair to be one of the toughest, most sanguinary engagements of the war—for it's the final phase of Armagedon. The expenditure of life and material on both sides will be great.

Heavy artillery plays an important role in this bloody crisis. The big fellows, as the Secretary points out, are used not only to destroy the enemy but to smash his fortifications. If these enemy strongholds weren't reduced by high explosive they would have to be stormed by the infantry at terrible cost.

The specific reason for Eisenhower's need of heavy ammunition lies in the much-debated Siegfried Line. Don't let anybody tell you that this string of strongholds, running from 10 to 30 miles in depth, isn't one of the most formidable defences ever created. It's a veritable labyrinth of death. This is the German outer crust which the Allies have to crack in order to get to the heart of Germany.

The Siegfried Line is a terrible, ingenious trap. There is, of course, no solid line of fortifications but the defences are staggered, like the trees of a dense forest. The Nazi heavy artillery is as thoroughly concealed as possible and strongly shielded with concrete. Between batteries is a field of concrete redoubts armed with light cannon and machine-guns which can sweep a wide arc of ground in front of them.

It doesn't take much imagination to see what happens if you send infantry in against such a combination in an effort to take a strong point by storm. Eisenhower turned thumbs down on any attempt to break this line with troops before the defences had been reduced by his big guns.

Storm Lashes New York

19 Inches Of Snow Falls In Syracuse

NEW YORK, Dec. 1 —(AP)—Extremely cold weather today swept the northern area of the United States from the rocky mountains to the eastern seaboard, while freezing conditions extended toward the Gulf of Mexico.

New England states experienced cold weather which added discomfort to communities lashed by wind and rain yesterday causing damage which was unofficially estimated in the millions.

At least five deaths in upstate New York were attributed to storm conditions which were expected by the weather bureau to abate. Nineteen inches of snow was reported at Syracuse.

The weather bureau said there was no immediate relief in sight for sub-freezing temperatures ranging eastward from the Rockies over the northern section of the country.

A 57 mile wind caused damage to signs and building cornices in New York city. Thousands of commuters were delayed yesterday when high tides stalled railroad and ferry traffic on Long Island and in New Jersey.

Many New England communities were without power and telephone lines in the storm which was described as worse than the September hurricane. Coastal communities were flooded by high tides and pounded by huge waves.

Wind velocity reached 80 miles an hour at Dover, N.H.

26,000 Japanese Lost At Sea; 7 Convoys Sunk

GENERAL MacARTHUR'S HEADQUARTERS, Philippines, Dec. 1 — (AP)—Japan's disastrous attempts to replenish her Leyte garrisons have cost her 26,000 troops lost at sea in the destruction of seven convoys—the latest one Thursday with 5,000 men and uncounted supplies aboard.

Gen. MacArthur announced today that low-flying American pilots sank a 9,000-ton transport and three small freighters headed toward the west coast port of Ormoc on Leyte. In addition, a 5,000-ton freighter and a destroyer were hit and left ablaze.

"The transports were heavily loaded with men," MacArthur said in his communique, "and the enemy's loss of life is estimated at 5,000 men"

It was the second convoy destroyed in two days. Thirteen ships were wiped out Wednesday, two at the dock after unloading and the rest at sea with all hands aboard.

MacArthur said 29 transports totalling 103,750 tons and 18 escort ship. have been sunk in the seven convoys knocked out.

Fighters, hitting at masthead level, bagged the bulk of the carefully-dispersed convoy off Masbate and Cebu but one small freighter, falling prey to a night patrol plane, was sunk as far west of Leyte as Mindoro Island.

Another freighter was sunk off Borneo during continued widespread bomber raids on the central Philippines and islands to the south, and a bomber scored a hit on what was described only as a "large enemy vessel."

prisoner and interned, and 6,185 wounded. August figures fere 2,359 dead, 665 missing, prisoners and interned, and 6,314 wounded.

The Canadian Army October fighting was concentrated on the freeing of the port of Antwerp and to accomplish this Gen. Crerar's men waged the successful month-long battle to clear the Schelde Estuary. That campaign in South-western Holland ended November 9.

36,412 Wounded.

In process of the Schelde campaign British and Canadian troops captured 25,000 prisoners and it was considered the German killed and wounded probably reached a similar total.

In to-day's casualty announcement, the 58,943 war total included 15,976 dead, 6,555 missing, prisoner, interned, and 36,412 wounded.

This brought the war total for Canada's three armed forces to 77,-661 made up of 27,446 dead, 12,525 missing, prisoner and interned and 37,690 wounded.

In the 4½ years of the first Great War 628,462 Canadians served, and casualties totalled 190,092 including 62,817 dead.

After five years of war the present strength of the armed forces is estimated at 757,000 and 77,661 casualties up to Oct. 31 do not take into account merchant navy casualties which were 1,200 up to Feb. 22.

Mining Groups Post Gains

TORONTO, Dec. 1.—(CP).—The mining groups posted small gains and industrials weakened narrowly this afternoon on Toronto exchange. Volume was small at 247,000 shares.

Dominion stores advanced ⅜ to a new high, Canners B firmed ½ and Dominion Woollens set a new high at 6⅞, up ⅛.

Mild weakness was shown in golds by Buffalo-Ankerite, Wright-Hargreaves, San Antonio, West Malartic and others. Two juniors, Louvincourt and East Sullivan, traded actively on gains of about 6 cents.

Base metal issues held steady.

Eisenhower Visits Lt.-Gen. Dempsey

WITH THE BRITISH 2ND ARMY IN HOLLAND, Dec. 1 —(AP)—Gen. Eisenhower and Lt.-Gen. Dempsey, British 2nd Army commander, conferred at tactical headquarters last night

The conference, rounding out the supreme commander's series of meetings with northern army leaders, followed a day during which Eisenhower paid his first visit to the British Army since the invasion.

After touring the front along the Meuse River, they went to Dempsey's headquarters about dusk and studied maps and discussed future operations.

The previous day Eisenhower had visited the 1st Canadian Army for 24 hours. He spent a night as the guest of Gen. Crerar

United Church Presbytery Meets In City

Fifty minister and lay delegates attended a special meeting of the Peterborough Presbytery of the United Church held Thursday in George Street Church. Dr. E. W. Young, chairman, presided at the morning and afternoon sessions. A devotional service was conducted by Rev. J. F. Everson and Fred W. Fallis.

Rev. H. Malcolm was appointed to supervise the Hiawatha charge. The following new members were introduced and welcomed to Presbytery: Rev. W. R. Archer, Dr. J. R. R. Cooper, and Dr. James Semple. Rev. M. C. Fisher of Gore's Landing and Rev. Oscar Wagar of Ivanhoe were welcomed as corresponding members.

Dr. E. W. Young was appointed to attend the induction of Rev. Samuel Johnston at St. Paul's Presbyterian Church.

Miss Rachel Young, superintendent of the Children's Aid Society for Peterborough County, addressed the meeting on "The Home, the Bulwark of the Nation".

At the morning session the work of the laymen of the church was seriously considered. A very inspiring and interesting address was given by Inspector R. F. Downey. He emphasized the important contribution the laymen were making to the work of the church by keeping before his audience the subject of the "Minister, Layman and the Church" in which he stated how necessary it was that Christ should be the goal of all effort. A layman, he said, should be a good man, devoted to his church, broad-minded, liberal, generous, cooperative and dependable. He also should be fair with his minister, missionary minded and assuming responsibility of splendid leadership. He drew attention to the duties of the Lay Association in deepening the spiritual life of the church, promoting Christian fellowship and stewardship as well as being engaged in personal evangelism. He should not refuse to preach when occasion arose. It was his duty too to encourage attendance at divine worship and in every way try to stimulate the missionary work. He concluded by making a strong plea for the splendid cooperation of the minister laymen and the church in all its organizations.

Following the address the officers of the Laymen's Association were elected for the ensuing year.

Hon. pres., R. F. Downey; president, E. L. Sackville; secretary-treasurer, F. A. Rogers; members of executive, R. Earle and R. Hamilton.

"Evangelism" was the subject of a very thoughtful address by the Rev. J. F. Everson. He reviewed the several methods of evangelism but kept before his hearers the very important method of prevention in relation to the child life to the Christian way of living. The whole aim of all evangelistic work was to get people to change their way of living and choose Christ. Personal work together with love for man and God were the important things to keep in mind.

Open Discussion

At the afternoon session Rev. F. G. McLeod of Rosedale United Church, Toronto, gave an address on "The Church, Nation and World Order" based upon a document recommended for study in all presbyteries and which was prepared by the commission on Evangelism and Social Service of the General Council. "Often we are so wrapped up in parochial interests that we miss the world vision. In this study we find reports of regional groups representative of a cross section of Canada who aver that while we have many problems in the church we must not evade the problem of world order which is also essential," he said.

Rev. W. E. Honey led the discussion on the theological aspect. "Is our civilization to be Christian? The church must speak out fearlessly as she is the custodian of truth. It is her duty to offer moral and spiritual guidance. The church's function is to win souls and provide regenerative leadership. Our hope lies in God-fearing men, he declared.

Rev. George Murray suggested that in political reforms we always need reform within the nation before approaching the international arena. We must repudiate all religious and racial animosities. National unity is the urgent need of the day, often great statemen are sidetracked because they refuse to conform to party politics.

Rev. E. Snellgrove led the discussion on agriculture. The church should be alive to the problem of rehabilitation and the problem of capital and labour, he said. The true function of industry is to provide service to the consuming public. In the realm of agriculture the farmer needs help to open up new districts, new markets. The farmer is an individualist but is willing to cooperate in worthwhile projects. The young farmer should be encouraged to develop smaller holdings with a view to permanent ownership.

E. L. Sackville proposed a correlation between Christianity and Social Security, sin and self-interest still exist. Thus we need the application of Christ's Gospel to ensure freedom for all mankind. Social services thus far enjoyed by a select few should be made available to all our citizens.

Rev. H. H. Mutton debated the problem of racial superiority. He suggested methods to eradicate this growing evil and commended the report for exposing the unfair dealings with non-Anglo Saxons born in Canada.

Dr. E. W. Young concluded the debate by pointing out our responsibility for securing recruits for the ministry. In the post-war period there will be an unprecedented opportunity for Christian missions.

A vote of appreciation was accorded Mr. Lander who is relinquishing the supervision of Hiawatha charge.

their intention of voting against their party on the main motion of confidence. The Bloc Populaire speakers were Maxime Raymond of Beauharnois-Laprairie and Wilfrid D'Anjou of Rimouski.

Ruled Out.

Mr. Picard moved and Mr. Tucker seconded an amendment to declare the House would aid the government in maintaining a vigorous war effort, but did not approve of conscription for overseas service.

The amendment was ruled out of order by Speaker J. A. Glen and the same fate was meted out to a Social Credit amendment moved Wednesday.

Supporting Mr. Hanson in his criticism of the government's proposals and condemning them as inadequate to provide necessary reinforcements were Howard Green (PC—Vancouver South) and Gordon Fraser (PC—Peterborough West).

Maj. W. E. Harris (L.—Grey Bruce), recently returned after being wounded while fighting with an armored unit in France, supported the government's policy and said he preferred the voluntary system and hoped it would yet be possible that all the men needed overseas would go as volunteers.

Mr. Cardin made a strong appeal to French-speaking Canadians to respect the opinions of others and to maintain order. At the same time he said all the concessions that had been made for the maintenance of unity in Canada had been made by the French-speaking people, none by the English-speaking people.

Doing More

The contribution of French-Canada to the war effort was greater than that of English-Canada because the French were not responding to the call of blood and sentiment. They had only reason to prompt them.

He expressed the hope that Canada would one day be a completely independent nation.

Mr. Fraser said there was no bitterness against French-Canadians but there was bitterness against the government for playing favorites with French-Canadians.

Given Rough Ride

Mr. Fraser said no government could have done worse in this war than the present government.

"Where were you in 1917?" asked a member.

"He wasn't even a zombie," said another Liberal.

Mr. Fraser said men were in hospitals overseas and were sent back to the front again to be killed. He read letter from wounded men.

"I don't remember your name being mention in dispatches in the last war," said Labor Minister Mitchell.

"It wasn't," said Mr. Fraser. "And neither was the Prime Minister's".

"You were my age," said Mr. Mitchell.

It was often asked why the people were bitter against French-Canadians, said Mr. Fraser.

"The people are not bitter against them," he said. "But they are bitter against the Prime Minister and the government for having played favorites with the French-Canadians."

"That is not so," said a Liberal.

"It is so," said Mr. Fraser. "In the province of Quebec creameries were allowed to collect cream every two days and in Ontario they were only allowed to collect it once every four days."

"Aw, get on with the war," said George Cruickshank (L.—Fraser Valley).

pushing past the southern end of the Eifel Range toward Karlsruhe on the Rhine.

The whole operation was being carried out amid ceaseless shellfire, armored forces and infantry were handicapped by quagmires and the weather was so bad that air force officers commented that "even the birds will be walking."

Here was how action was reported from the battle line, front by front:

The British 2nd Army in Holland captured the German-defended castles at Wanssum, 10 miles north of Venlo, and Broekhuizen, eight miles north of Venlo, as well as the village of Broekhuizen.

All resistance in small pockets west of the Meuse thus was eliminated except in the town of Wanssum, at Bierlingsbeek, 17 miles north of Venlo and in Venlo itself.

On the 9th Army front the Americans had driven through the villages of Lindern, Flossdorf and Roerdorf, charred by showers of phosphorous shells. These hamlets, all on the banks of the Roer or near it, are within two miles of Linnich and are in a line running from the northwest of the town to the southeast of it. A mile south of Linnich the Americans had taken Welz after it had been flattened by artillery.

Traffic Keeps Moving

COBOURG, Dec. 1—(ENS)—Cobourg saw its first snowfall of the season and it was no flurry that melted as quickly as it fell. A heavy downfall of snow commenced Thursday morning and kept it up all day until late afternoon. Several inches of snow fell and being wet it clung to branches and wires until the whole town was blanketed. Driving conditions were difficult due to clogged windshield wipers and traffic on the highway was obliged to move very slowly.

Cattle Holdover Reaches Record Volume

TORONTO, Dec. 1.—(CP).—Cattle prices showed no change in trade on the livestock market here this week although the hold over was at record high volume. Calves, hogs, lambs and sheep were unchanged. Several thousand lambs were unsold.

The cattle supply, including 1,300 head from last week, was a record high number for the Toronto yards. Steers and heifers of good to choice quality moved readily at steady prices. The holdover on Wednesday was 5,000 head, including 3,500 cows. Weighty steers sold at $9.75 to $12.25 with a few prime steers at $12.50. Butcher steers and heifers were $8.50 to $10.75 with a few tops at $11. Boners sold at $5.50-$7. Bulls were $5.50-$8. Fed yearlings were cleared at $11-$13.50. A few butcher bulls sold at $7-$9 and a limited number of canners and cutters at $5-$6.50. Stockers sold slowly at $6-$9.50 according to quality with a few good stock calves at $10. Milkers and springers were steady at $130 to $150 for tops.

A moderate run of calves was cleared at $14.50 to $15.50 for choice with common lights and heavies downward to $7. Grass calves were mostly $5.50-$6.

The lamb accumulation was the heaviest so far this year with around 3,000 head unsold on Wednesday. Prices were $12.50-$13 for good ewes and wethers and $11.50-$12 for bucks with culls $5.50-$8. Sheep were from $1-$4.50 according to quality.

Hogs were steady at $17.25-$17.35 for B1 dressed and at $17.65-$17.75 for grade A. Sows were $13 dressed.

Friends Entertain Mr. and Mrs. H. Brady

FRASERVILLE, Dec. 1 (ENS) — Friends gathered in the Orange Hall at Fraserville Wednesday night to honor Mr. and Mrs. Howard Brady. Mrs. Brady before her marriage was Miss Dorothy Moffat, and had been born and raised at Fraserville. After her marriage two years ago she resided at Hoard's Station and her friends at Fraserville had not had a chance to remember her. Now that she has returned to the vicinity they took this opportunity of entertaining her.

Several tables of cards were played during the early part of the evening and later dancing began, music being supplied by MacIntosh Bradshaw of South Monaghan and Mrs. L. L. McLenaghan of Fraserville at the piano.

Russel Darling, acting as chairman, called Mr. and Mrs. Brady to seats of honor and after Leigh Hewitt had read an address, Mrs. K. Moncrief of Fraserville presented them with a pair of woollen blankets and some money on behalf of their Fraserville friends and neighbors. Refreshments were then served and dancing continued.

Maj. Harris said he would vote against the Opposition amendment which declared the government had not provided adequate reforcements because it did not state the truth. When two great soldiers—Defence Minister McNaughton and Col. J. L. Ralston, former Defence Minister—were agreed on what was being done he was satisfied.

Never Any Shortage

In the armored corps in which he served there was never any shortage of reinforcements. It had been said after one good battle the Canadian Army would have no reinforcements.

"Well," he added, "we fought a good many battles and we beat the Germans and we are still fighting."

A campaign directed at Soldiers' next-of-kin had been carried on to try to convince people that untrained soldiers were sent into battle. No commander in the Canadian Army would take responsibility for sending an untrained man into battle. Every reinforcement officer was responsible for seeing that every soldier who went forward as a reinforcement was trained.

The fact that 15,000 home defence troops were from Ontario showed that the draftee problem was not a Quebec problem.

In France he fought alongside French-Canadian troops and they fought as bravely as any others.

In Quebec there were mothers and wives who anxiously awaited mail from their loved ones overseas and feared the arrival of a casualty telegram from the Department of National Defence.

"On returning to this country I would have thought that we would be showing our appreciation of the services of these soldiers on the battlefield," he said. "Instead I find people adding to the suffering of these wives and mothers in Quebec by deriding the efforts of their loved ones."

Later, G. K. Fraser (P.C.-Peterborough-West) charged Maj. Harris with "befuddling the issue" on reinforcements by speaking of reinforcements for the armored corps when he knew nothing of anything else.

Farmers Have Trouble Finding Dynamite

District farmers foraging for dynamite with which to deepen their wells or blast out new ones in quest of water have been enquiring at local hardware stores for dynamite during the last month.

There are no stocks of the explosive in Peterborough, but it was stated that some was available in Campbellford, and that larger supplies were kept at Madoc for the mining industry in Hastings county.

According to reports to the Department of Agriculture in weekly reviews of farm conditions, wells are dry all over Eastern Ontario, farmers have been drawing water for a month or more, ditches and swamps until today were without any moisture, almost like midsummer, and seasonal rains have been abnormally light. Hauling water is evidently to become an additional job for many farmers this winter with its continuing scarcity of labor.

Terrific Winds

snow fell during the night.

Highways Slippery.

Ontario Motor League officials reported highways throughout the province were slippery and visibility poor.

High velocity winds swept the Province of Quebec.

A 45-mile-an-hour gale in the Quebec City district lifted many roofs from houses, and Claude Visien, 42, was killed at nearby Levis when struck by a toppling roof.

Although the storm was not as heavy in Toronto, two persons died as a result of traffic accidents. James Kirkpatrick, 70, died from injuries suffered when struck by an automobile during a snowstorm at Shelburne, where 10 inches of snow was reported to have fallen during the night.

Killed At Lindsay

At Lindsay, W. Barry, a trucker, of Minden, Ont., was killed when his truck ran out of control and crashed through a guard rail into a creek.

At London, in southwestern Ontario, snow was driven by a 45-mile-an-hour wind, leaving huge snowdrifts throughout the city and district. Transportation systems were hindered but kept operating. More than four inches of snow blanketed the area by midnight.

The roof and part of a wall of a three-storey building along the Canadian Pacific Railway right-of-way leading into Palais station in Quebec fell across the tracks and blocked traffic. Further confusion resulted when an outbound train for Montreal was derailed five minutes after leaving the station.

Ferry Tied Up

Ferry srvice between Quebec and Levis was suspended after a ferry had struggled for almost an hour to cross the river. The ship was pulled into the wharf and anchored there. Tramway traffic was suspended when deep drifts made the streets impassable.

Weight of the snow on power wires caused black-outs in many parts of the city and the three city radio stations were forced from the air. The wind blew down the transmitter tower of station CHRC and the studio of station CKCV was plunged into darkness. After CKCV had opened temporary studios at the transmitter station, the wind snapped wires leading to the transmitter. About the same time, CBV went off the air when power lines leading to transformers were broken.

Smashed windows were common throughout the city.

Month In Jail For Bicycle Theft

John Foster Thompson, who pleaded guilty in police court a week ago to stealing a bicycle from Harry Botnik, was sentenced by Magistrate O. A. Langley, K.C., this morning to a month's imprisonment in the county jail

Detective John Stevenson, giving evidence in the case this morning, said that after stealing the bicycle Thompson had sold the stolen machine for $3.

"I made restitution," said Thompson, "I paid the man back his $3."

"So everybody is satisfied," said Magistrate Langley. "The owner has his wheel back, and the other man has his money."

Reading over the accused's record His Worship commented that the man had apparently been going straight for the past two years and accordingly made the sentence a month in jail.

Three Minor Alarms Answered By Firemen

The fire department reports no damage done in three minor alarms turned in since Thursday.

When the stove-pipes fell down, firemen were called to the residence of Charles Orr, 535 Parnell street, at 2:57 Thursday afternoon. Overheated pipes at the residence of H. Schell, 5 Park street south, called out the firemen at 4:49 also. A chimney fire at the residence of E. P. Withers, 332 Park Hill Road was extinguished by local firefighters, at 7:47 Thursday evening.

Two Men Given Watches For Service

Two 20-year awards for long service with the McColl-Frontenac Company were made on Thursday night at a company dinner at the Grand Hotel, when W. A. Sidey at Bridgenorth and W. J. Charlton of Lakefield were honored. The two men received gold watches.

The 20-year awards were presented by G. B. McLean of Toronto, and the 5 and 10-year awards were given by T. I. Thomson of Oshawa, assisted by G. L. Delong and Douglas Trivett.

Those winning awards for 10 years' service were a father and son combination from Brooklin, James and Clarence Pengelly and W. A. Race of Lindsay. They were presented with fountain pens, 10-year buttons and 10-year certificates.

The 5-year awards consisted of pins and certificates, and were given to M. G. Emery, Highway No. 7, Peterborough, C. Stiner, Whitby, Alexander Gilbert, Blackstock, Harold Gill, Burketon, and Frank Wakeford, Little Britain.

Officials attending were: G. B. McLean, divisional manager of McColl-Frontenac, and Thomas Kendall, manager of Sales Promotion, from Toronto: T. I. Thomson, district manager from Oshawa, G. L. DeLong, representative from Belleville and Peterborough, and Douglas Trivett, representative from Oshawa and Lindsay. Also present were three bulk station agents: W. Payne of Peterborough, H. Austin of Lindsay, and Garnet Coulter of Oshawa.

During the evening Mr. McLean explained that these awards were made annually for faithful and efficient service to the company. He explained in terms of good will the company's affiliation with its dealers and the importance of a service to the public.

Mr. Kendall spoke briefly dealing with preparation for the post-war trade, and Alderman Robert S. Cotton, who was present, expressed his appreciation of being a guest. About 75 attended the dinner.

Think, Before You Vote

Why should the city taxpayer be expected to provide and maintain a hospital for the world at large? What has the city taxpayer done that he or she should be saddled with this responsibility and expense? Almost one half the patients at Nicholls Hospital come from the counties of Haliburton, Durham, Northumberland, Victoria, and Peterborough, and receive hospital care at LESS THAN COST. Yes, that is not a mis-print, they receive hospital treatment at less than cost.

And who makes up the difference, who makes up the loss caused by giving hospital care (and excellent hospital care it is) less than cost? Don't laugh when you read this, it's too serious, but Peterborough city taxpayers pay ALL deficits created by "outside" patients at the hospital, in addition to ALL deficits created by city patients.

How much does this cost? Well, during the past four years Peterborough city taxpayers have paid almost $26,000 for "outside" deficits, in addition to over $32,000, for "city" deficits, a total of $58,850.00. Do you think this is fair?

Remember this when you vote upon the proposed new hospital on Monday next.

Will Not Seek Re-election Lady Astor Says

LONDON, Dec. 1.—(CP).— Lady Aastor—first woman to sit in the House of Commons, where for 25 years she has represented the Sutton division of Plymouth—will not seek re-election, it was announced to-day.

The announcement came as the Conservative member celebrated her silver jubilee in the House.

As a member of the present Parliament which has sat since 1935 without a general election, Lady Astor is assured of a place in the House for nearly another year by a recent government act which extended the life of the present lawmaking body.

Virginia-born Lady Astor held a seat in the House for two years before the first British-born woman was elected to Parliament. She was Mrs. Margaret Wintringham.

An Irish Republican leader, Countess Markievicz, was elected to the House in 1918 but did not assume her seat.

Given Dinner.

At a dinner given in her honor last night by the British Federation of Business and Professional Women Lady Astor said the "really terrible thing" about her first appearance in the House in 1919 was that "nobody wanted me there."

Lady Astor was elected when Viscount Astor, then a member of the House of Commons, succeeded to his father's title and took his seat in the House of Lords.

In a joint letter he and Lady Astor said the strain of five years of war made it impossible for him to go through the stress of another contested election and that "it would be difficult for Lady Astor to stand again without his help."

Viscount Astor was Lord Mayor of Plymouth for five years between 1939 and last month when he was succeeded by a Labor member, he said he intended to continue his efforts for physical and social reconstruction of the city.

At last night's dinner in honor of his wife, at which he was the only male guest, he said:

"When I married Nancy I hitched my wagon to a star. When she got into the House of Commons I found I had hitched my wagon to a sort of V-2 rocket."

Fish And Game Club Planned For Cobourg

COBOURG, Dec. 1—(ENS)—Plans are being laid for the formation of a Fish and Game Club and a meeting has been called for next Tuesday night in the county court room at the town hall. A similar club is in operation in Port Hope under the name of the Ganaraska Fish and Game Protective Association. Those who are behind the move to form a club here are hoping that a good turn-out will feature the organization meeting. The duties of such an organization would be to further sport in this district and take measures to correct practices which are opposed to proper development of game and fish. A fertile field for their efforts would be the situation at Rice Lake where drifting weed, which is pulled up yearly at the head of the lake, accumulates and kills the wild rice, spoiling fishing and shooting.

Mrs. L. Richards Heads Cobourg Kinettes

COBOURG, Dec. 1—(ENS)— Mrs. Lillian Richards was elected president of Cobourg Kinettes for the coming year at the annual meeting which was held at the residence of Mrs. C. J. Jones. Other officers elected were Mrs. G. Thompson, vice-president; Mrs. Harold Denton, secretary; Mrs. Norman Noble, treasurer; Mrs. F. Woodley, treasurer of Milk-for-Britain Fund; directors, Mrs. C. P. Jones and Mrs. Don Bolster; Sunshine Committee, Mrs. Noble and Mrs. Frank Parsons; Mrs. M. Pewtress, publicity; Mrs. Keith Caldwell and Mrs. Harold Denton, auditors.

Acquit Vining In Boat Case

TORONTO, Dec. 1.—(CP).—Edward R. (Ted) Vining, 33, of London, Ont., walked out of Supreme Court here late yesterday a free man, a few minutes after a jury acquitted him on a charge of manslaughter. The charge against Vining arose out of the death by drowning of 17 persons who were aboard the pleasure cruiser Olga which partially capsized on June 4 off Port Stanley.

In declaring Vining not guilty, the jury told the court they considered the supervision at Port Stanley "very lax and inadequate" and recommended that attention of proper authorities be brought to the situation.

Mr. Justice G. F. McFarland told Vining he had been acquitted "of a very serious charge" adding he believed the accused had been careless in the matter. Vining and Sidney Smith (one of the 17 who were drowned) were co-owners of the Olga, Vining operated.

The jury deliberated five hours after being charged by Mr. Justice McFarland to bring in a verdict of "manslaughter or an acquittal."

Four Senators Record Views On Conscription

OTTAWA, Dec. 1—(CP)—With Senate discussion on the government's reinforcement policy to be resumed today four members of the Upper House have recorded their views.

At yesterday's session Dr. J. H. King, government Senate leader, and Senator J. W. deB Farris, supported the government's action in passing an order-in-council to make 16,000 home defence troops available for overseas service.

Senator C. C. Ballantyne, Progressive Conservative Senate leader, criticized the government for limiting the compulsory overseas service to European theatres and for not extending it to the entire home army of 68,000.

Senator Sir Thomas Chapais (PC—Quebec) voiced opposition to the principle of conscription. Senator John T. Haig (PC—Manitoba) is scheduled to resume the debate today.

Sir Thomas said Canada's war effort, which was originally conceived on a moderate scale, had grown out of all proportion to the country's responsibility. He supported the stand of Maj. C. G. Power, former Air Minister, who in resigning from the cabinet said the government had no right at this time to tear the country asunder by imposing conscription.

Senator Farris said it was incorrect to describe the order-in-council as introducing partial conscription; it decided the conscription issue. The position Prime Minister Mackenzie King had taken had enabled Canada to enter the war united.

"If the government is going to carry on so Canada can give full support to her war effort we must have restored public confidence," he said.

Dr. King said some of those called up for military service had been "schooled to resist voluntary enlistment in order to force the Prime Minister to bring down an order-in-council." He said this was not to be taken as a reflection on a political party. The group responsible was well known.

Senator Ballantyne said the Canadian people would not be satisfied with the limited form of conscription which the government was introducing.

Hospital Inmate Killed By Truck

HAMILTON, Dec. 1 — (CP). — An inquest will be held December 6 into the death of an inmate of the Ontario Hospital who was killed yesterday when run over by a truck on the grounds of the institution.

Provincial Police said Earl Poole, 37, formerly of Raveona, Ont., patient at the hospital, was found lying on a roadway in the hospital grounds, behind the wheels of a truck owned by the Provincial Government and attached to a hospital at New Toronto. They said the truck was driven by Victor Pearce of Mimico, Ont., an employee of the New Toronto institution.

Million Words Filed On Meeting

By C. R. BLACKBURN
Canadian Press Staff Writer

CHICAGO, Dec. 1.—(CP).—Close to 1,000,000 words have been telegraphed from the Stevens Hotel by reporters covering the international civil aviation conference and the volume will go well over that figure before it is over.

Much of this wordage is complicated detail of formulae proposed by various delegations to meet the problems of international control of world routes, understandable only to experts.

A great deal of the total has been cabled to the United Kingdom and Russia. Two representatives of Tass, the Soviet News Agency, send long accounts each day although the Russian delegation was recalled on the eve of the conference Nov. 1, and the Soviet is not represented.

But Chicago, which calls itself, and hopes to be recognized as the aviation centre of the world, does not seem to be much interested.

The Sun, News, Herald-American and Tribune, all big dailies printing 20 to 30 or more pages, dismiss the conference with quarter - column stories or smaller and often run editions that do not even mention it.

And a city of this size, crowded with war heroes, stage, screen and radio celebrities and other prominent figures scarcely notices the close to 1,000 strangers the aviation conference brought here from 54 countries.

Capsule Comment

Jim Surebig, Associated Press aviation editor, was with a party visiting Don McNeil's program, a popular feature, and Don asked him to say how air conference was going. Well" Jim said, "I don't know about the airplane but the air conference is here to stay."

Canadian prestige high— Canada probably never was so important at an international gathering as at this conference where H. J. Symington, delegation leader, and his associates, have worked night and day to bring the United Kingdom and United States delegations together. The name of Canada is most frequently mentioned of all the countries apart from the Anglo-American and whatever the outcome the conference will reflect credit on the Dominion and its representatives.

Peterborough Business Firms Endorse New Hospital

AND WILL PAY HALF THE COST!

As half the total assessment in Peterborough is on business property, business firms will bear half the cost of the proposed New Hospital.

This means that, as $800,000 of the total Hospital cost is already provided for from other sources, the householders of Peterborough are only actually going to carry half of $600,000 being asked for on Election Day. The residential ratepayers get a new, modern hospital worth $1,400,000 for only $300,000. This is the biggest Municipal bargain Peterborough has ever had—or is ever likely to get again.

Peterborough needs a new hospital badly — our citizens deserve the care and protection it will give— don't lose this opportunity to—

Peterborough's Memorial

Peterborough has chosen to erect a large health and recreation centre as its memorial to the men from this city who die in the present great war. If anyone doubts that the Memorial Centre is truly the people's choice, we point to the fact that a large sum has already been subscribed by the citizens to build it, that even more money has been promised, and that the comparatively small sum of $75,000 has been asked for from City funds. If the people of Peterborough did not want the Centre would so much money have been forthcoming?

There are those who do not think that the nature of the Centre will make it a fitting memorial to the dead. We understand this point of view, although we do not share it. A noble memorial in stone and bronze, standing as a silent reminder of the sacrifice of life which purchased our freedom is admittedly a very fine thing. But we feel strongly that a memorial which is in itself a guarantee that the dead have not died in vain, and that a strong, happy generation is growing up to enjoy and extend the liberty which the dead purchased with their lives, is even finer. That is what the Memorial Centre is intended to be.

Yes, the dissenting voices may reply, but what assurance have we that it will be so, and that this Memorial Centre will not sink to the level of a commercial sports palace, built with the people's money? The question is a fair one, and it can be met with a fair answer. There is no assurance except the desire of the people of Peterborough that the Memorial Centre shall always be kept faithful to the high purpose for which it was built. If we build the Memorial Centre, and then lose interest in it, we can expect it to suffer the fate of all neglected things. The Memorial Centre is a living thing, and it can only flourish if we keep alive our pride in it, and our determination that it shall be a true memorial. The proposed plan for governing and administering the affairs of the Memorial Centre will make it difficult for the Centre to be abused; the vigilant interest of the people of this city can do the rest.

As we have pointed out before in these columns, Canada is still a raw country in some respects, and there are many things that we need more than we need another monument. Indeed, it would be an inexplicable action to build a monument when we are so short of playgrounds, sports facilities and a large place of assembly for meetings and civic events. These are things which will make Peterborough a better place to live in.

Training For Marriage

We observe with interest that the provincial university of British Columbia has decided to establish an extension course on the subject of marriage. The purpose of the course is "to help smooth the rocky road of readjustment for newly-weds, and at the same time establish better relations between older husbands and wives".

This seems to us to be a good idea, but the Calgary Albertan comments on it sourly thus:

"The university evidently cherishes a low opinion of human nature, at least, B.C. nature. It is noteworthy that the material for the course has been prepared by a committee consisting principally of psychiatrists....

"We trust that Canada's other universities will stick to their proper spheres, and not set themselves up as stand-ins for Dorothy Dix".

This is nonsense: for many years it has been a paradox in the attitude of our institutes of higher learning that they have refused to give any instruction at all in the highly important matter of the relation between the sexes.

For at least five thousand years it has been recognized that the man or woman who has not made a satisfactory sexual adjustment (and there are many ways of doing so) has failed to come to grips with one of the primary problems of life. Universities and schools have refused to deal with the matter, and the churches rarely have an opportunity to give advice or help until a crisis of some kind has arisen. Every year scores of marriages are celebrated which have no chance of success because the contracting parties are not ready for marriage, have no notion of what marriage involves, or are essentially unfit for marriage. And not only this marriage problem, but a thousand other problems are the result of the fact that sex, which is one of the mainsprings of the world, is a subject on which every adult is expected to educate himself, however unfitted he may be for self-education or any other sort of education.

We hope that the university of B.C. is successful in its attempt. Then perhaps a few other universities and schools will stop fretting about domestic science and give some attention to domestic relations.

The Resignation Of Major C. G. Power

It is a great pity that Major C. G. Power, the Minister of Defence for Air, felt it necessary to resign because the powers which the Government holds under Bill 80 have been invoked. When that bill was debated in 1942 Mr. Power told the Commons that he was a Canadian before he was a Quebecker, and that he supported the bill, even if it meant a parting with his constituents in Quebec South.

This meant more from Mr. Power than it would have meant from any other member of the House. He and his father have represented Quebec South since 1901, with only one break of three years. The feeling which has grown up between the Power family and the constituents of Quebec South during those forty years is one of deep trust and sentiment; Major Power may truly say that he knows what his supporters think and feel, and that he leads and represents them in a particularly close association. Now that the testing time has come Major Power has been faithful to Quebec South, but whether he has been faithful to the best interests of Canada is a matter for debate.

Major Power has been one of the most able and popular members of Mr. King's cabinet. He created the Royal Canadian Air Force, and he made a magnificent job of it; he was Administrator of the Commonwealth Air Training Plan, and in this work his contribution to the Empire's war effort has been great indeed. He will always be remembered as a great wartime leader and worker.

But he will also be remembered as a man who took the French, rather than the English view in a time of stress, and there are Canadians who will never forgive him for that, and will not admit that his long association with Quebec is an extenuation of his action. In addressing the House Mr. Power criticised General Eisenhower very frankly, and gave offence by so doing. Undoubtedly Mr. Power was unwise to question General Eisenhower's policy so bluntly at this time. But we cannot subscribe to the belief of some of our contemporaries that generals are above criticism; they are but men, and they make mistakes, and when they are out of favour, like General McNaughton, the mob which once fawned on them is equally ready to spit on them. Major Power's weakness lay in the fact that his attack on Eisenhower was clearly the result of his disappointment that conscription had reached Quebec.

The obituary tone which some papers have taken in discussing Mr. Power's resignation seems to us to be uncalled for. Mr. Power is only 56, and this is only an incident in his career. Canada has not so many men of outstanding ability that she can afford to let Mr. Power make his exit from public life at so early an age. We shall need him in the postwar years, if not before.

NOTE AND COMMENT

Pennsylvania has sent a piano-tuner to Congress. Some say it was wire-pulling, and others say that it was to create harmony. But we say that it was to assure sound administration, a general tightening-up and a concentration on key matters.

A great fuss has been made by a group of California preachers because somebody thought they heard President Roosevelt blaspheming in a voting booth, where he was secreted with one of those complicated American voting machines. Now it seems that the President only said 'damn'. The worried clergy should have heard some of the language at Republican headquarters when the returns were coming in — 'bother' and 'drat' and 'tarnation' and similar scorchers.

The World's Most Assaulted Beach

(By JOAN SKIPSEY)

SEVEN hundred and fifty English families—over 3,000 men, women and children—who were unfortunate enough to live in the 25-square mile area in Devon that most closely in all Britain, resembles the Cherbourg coast stormed and held by the American on D-day, are back in the homes that invasion training compelled them to evacuate last December.

They return to the most heavily assaulted six miles of coast in the world. But not a dozen homes are damaged beyond repair. One Women's Institute, one hotel, one cafe, and five or six houses will have to be pulled down, and hundreds of cottages are likely to survive in improved condition, but neglect of the rich soil is the problem, not the ravages of the toughest military operation in history.

"There is no doubt whatever that the availability of this area for our troops' final assault training saved thousands of American lives when they came to invade Normandy," said Brig. General Charles O. Thrasher, Commanding the Southern Base Section, ETOUSA, in which lies this six-mile stretch of beach and cliff.

"The beach, with a peculiar long pool stretching between it and the rising ground beyond, and the high cliffs at either end, bear an extraordinary resemblance to the assault beach on the other side. I have heard boys who landed in Normandy remark 'Why, it's exactly the country we trained over and over and over in England.' For a whole day it was touch and go whether we could retain our foothold in France. The men's familiarity with the terrain may have made all the difference between their eventual success and being driven back into sea.

"Five major manoeuvres were completed between New Year's Day and D-day, June 6, by American and some Canadian troops."

COLONEL Walter T. Wilsey, of Washington, D.C., Chief of Staff to General Thrasher, added that the British and American navies had pumped more shells into the area in covering fire than were fired in the Salerno landing.

This sparsely populated countryside looks no more like Flanders Field than Times Square. It has red earth, woods and meadows now fantastically green and lush, a network of lanes so narrow that a tank can barely crash through them, between hedges on banks so high that a tank turret barely gives a view over them. If the nine villages in the area were amassed and one flying bomb fell on them, they would suffer more damage than is now spread among them.

The villages are Strets, on the brow of a 350 ft. cliff; Slapton, 50 ft. above sea level, half a mile inland, a 100-foot hill concealing it from the beach and sea; Torcross, on the beach at the south end of Torcross Lea, where the "Crowing Cock" Cafe was demolished and British 1940 anti-invasion cliff fortifications blasted and rebuilt countless times; Stokenham, three-quarters of a mile inland, where the Church House Inn got a bad direct hit from naval artillery; Chillington, where one cottage was demolished; Sherford, nearly three miles inland and East Allington, Millcombe and Blackawton, all well to the rear of the area which is 5½ miles in depth.

Almost all the windows in all these villages are broken, though blast has played its usual tricks and a glass porch or conservatory sometimes stands intact near a shattered buildings.

LAST November the British Admiralty requisitioned these 25 square miles, and British and American officials explained to the population that their district had been regretfully selected as ideal for the U.S. assault troops' final invasion training. British officials explained that damage would be compensated under the 1939 Compensation Defense Act, just as if caused by enemy action. A U.S. Army Tank Corps General attended four public meetings to give the U.S. Army's promise that wanton damage would be avoided, that men on manoeuvres would not enter houses, and that churches and buildings of historic interest would be clearly marked. Street fighting training was not to take place.

The people were asked to empty their houses. A few possessions could be stored in lofts if the owners wished, but complete removal of furniture was advised. Farmers leased fields, on farms outside the area, for their cattle. They sold a good deal of livestock in nearby markets.

There were, inevitably, immense personal difficulties and tragedies—some sick and old were among the transferred population. Some have not lived to return to their homes. For all — people of rich farming land who have known astonishingly little change from one generation to another—there was heartache. There was humour, too. All householders were asked to turn their keys over to the Admiralty. "Keys?" laughed on. "Key to this house were lost in grandfather's time. If we get locked out by door we climb in through window." One old man was said never to have seen a train. The nearest is six miles from the centre of the area.

By December 31, 1943 the area had to be, and was, empty. Reverse Lend-lease made it American army terrain. The first manoeuvre broke on New Year's Day.

NOW the battle is over. August 1 was the deadline for U.S. Army engineers to finish removing all traces of U.S. Army presence up to the beginning of actual repair work, at which point the British took over. U.S. troops cleared up broken glass and brick and mortar rubble from streets, gardens, inside blasted houses. The soldiers lived in pup tents, whether it rained or not, though in a real battle zone they would move into any available premises.

A short time ago the three-mile beach was a monstrous tangle of obstacles. The U.S. Army had added tons more obstacles to Britain's 1940 tank traps and mines, laid in defense against expected German invasion and had built Nazi-type pillboxes for the "enemy" defense in the manoeuvres. Today the shore looks like any remote, peaceful picnic beach.

The Ministry of Works has simultaneously set up an office in Blackawton, and a mobile squad of the Civil Defense Reserve—which exists for just such special problems as this—has moved into the area.

General Post Office civilian telephone engineers are already there too, dumping great bales of wire at vantage points along the roads and planning which premises, such as shops and inns shall be reconnected first.

Slapton's condition is the most distressing in the whole area. It is by no means razed, and probably only one house in it will be condemned, but its nearness to the central beach and valley targets and its invisibility from the sea made indiscriminate shellhits inevitable. Shells hit the roof of the south nave of its historic church and shattered the graceful grey stone arches of one of its windows. But it is a small, simple church, and when inches of dust have been cleaned from the wooden pews and high sandbagging removed from the blocked doorway, its scars will not be prominent.

For five months in this deserted countryside man and nature had their fling. Nature, unaided by explosives, missiles or planned strategy proved infinitely the more destructive. Brussels sprouts have gone to seed and produced young forests in field and garden. Vegetables and flowers overflow from backyard to backyard in a riot. Haystacks have not been damaged, but the growing hay is weed-strangled. Thistle and dock have taken command of field after field.

MR. K. G. HARPER, representative of Sir Hugh Elles, South West Regional Commissioner of Great Britain, was responsible for the evacuation of the area and will remain in charge until the return of the native is as completely and satisfactorily accomplished as possible. His job is now to co-ordinate the activities of the government departments and other agencies concerned in getting the area back to normal.

In the national interest, first consideration of all, he said, will go to getting the land back into production. The County War Agricultural Executive Committee and the Ministry of Labour are ensuring priority supplies of farm machinery and labour, including Land Girls. The Committee has divided the area into three zones. Many farmers assess it will take five years to get the complete battle area back into full production, but Britain's success in reclaiming six million acres of land in the first three years of this war, and in producing two-thirds of her food, suggests that this is unduly pessimistic.

Houses repairs will be completed first where habitation for local farm labour is most urgently needed. Thoset whose premises have suffered small damage will get repairs plus the expenses of their evacuation. Compensation for those suffering major damage will be entirely financial at rates prescribed under act of 1939. This permits reimbursement for labour and materials purchased at 1944 rates, but not to an extent exceeding the 1939 value of the property. Walls, hedges, fences and gates have suffered costly damage throughout the area.

FIRST into the battle area when the return flow of people began was the Women's Voluntary Services. They went in a day or two ahead with house keys; set up canteens and made sure the houses were ready, lighting fires and so on where necessary.

Mr. Harper is confident that rehabilitation will on the whole be completed smoothly. "The evacuation didn't go too badly," he pointed out, "and that was very disturbing to the people concerned and had to be done in a great hurry.

"Now we are not working against time, and almost everybody is going to find things a great deal better than expected. There will be no mass return. The families will dribble in. And this time we have experience behind us."

As always, American generosity has played a prominent part in counter-acting the distress of the victims of this essential war move. At the time of the evacuation they set up a fund. A committee including Mr. Harper and Major Edwin Rives, U.S. Army ("Scrubby" to his friends and a County Court Judge back home in Greensboro, North Carolina) examined 319 cases and distributed $20,000 to 184 people. Four thousand dollars is held in reserve for donation in $40 sums to old age pensions and recipients of an official prevention of relief and distress grant, if the journey home reveals further cases of hardship.

NEW FUEHRER

What He Wants Is Gin

(By CHESTER A. BLOOM)

OTTAWA: One peculiar phase of this illogical civilization is the ample scientific knowledge available to all and the equal determination of the mass mind to rely on ancient and honorable magic and witch doctors. The examples are infinite, especially in the field of preventive medicine.

Take the common cold for example. The sure and sensible way to avoid colds is to keep away from where they are. Dodge the public cougher and sneezer as you would a Jap in a jungle—hard to say which is the more dangerous, particularly in a crowded bus or street car.

Remember that picture a periodical ran not long ago showing a scientific photograph of a normal sneeze—the finely divided spray shooting yards and yards from the mouth and nostrils of the sneezer? Billions and billions of microscopic bugs filling the air of the whole room? Free colds for everyone within his range! !

Yet, instead of organizing to deal with this menace as the nations organized against the Germans and Japs, what do we do?

We proceed supinely allowing coughers and sneezers in buses, street cars, halls and theatres to spray our necks and ears and take it with a smile.

Do we demand a law compelling the carrying and use of a handkerchief or nose rag or paper?

No. We continue to rely on aspirin, nasal sprays, chest rubs, cough drops, hot foot baths and now injections of serum and vitamin pills—all scientifically proved to be just about as effective as our grandmother's assafoetida bag around the neck and sulphur and molasses—the old reliance on magic brought up to date.

Do we jail or fine the oaf who wouldn't even trouble to put his hand over his mouth and nose when he explodes in company but thinks his noise is immensely funny?

No. We go meekly home and three days later wonder why the doctors can't do something to prevent these mysterious colds.

DOWN in crowded and insanitary Washington, regular loss of time from colds is calculated in all the government departments. A prolific source is the depressed Negro population, nearly one-third of the total, living under substandard conditions of uncleanliness. Yet they are almost universally employed as chefs, cooks and waiters in the restaurants, hotels and private homes of the wealthy.

A Negro especially loves a loud sneeze. Up in the parlor the superior whites painfully affect not to hear the gargantuan, uncovered sneeze in the kitchen over the meat and potatoes on the stove, and the Rabelaisian laughter that follows—the coloured race's gesture to democracy.

Why bring that up? Because I thought I would be safe on my visit here. But what happened? Almost the first day, a western M.P. exploded a huge uncovered sneeze...and another one...right in my face. And now I sit looking at a bottle of aspirin pellets, a box of cough drops, a bottle of throat and nasal spray, and some chest rub of horrible odor. And wondering where I can get some gin—for a foot bath, of course.

City Council Should Stick To Its Knitting

Acting on the advice of City Solicitor Angus to the effect that the reinforcement issue was not a subject in which the city has jurisdiction, the Board of Control rightly rejected a proposal put forward by Ald. Nathan Phillips for the calling of a special session of Council to express its views on the matter. Subsequently Mayor Conboy has announced that he will call a special session later in the week, possibly on Friday.

This is manifestly not a case where second thoughts are best. As outlined in the report of the Stewart Committee, "the function of a municipal corporation is to provide indispensable collective services and to assess the cost thereof proportionately to the extent of each ratepayer's assessment." When Council goes beyond this field it is meddling in affairs which are none of its business as a Council. No member of Council was elected to proclaim his views on Federal issues.

The special session will give members an opportunity to publicize their opinions in regard to reinforcements. What they will say can be readily guessed, and with most of what will be said The Telegram will be in hearty accord while retaining the view that civic debates should be confined to civic business. Incidentally, no resolution that Council can pass will carry any weight anywhere. It would be more to the point if Mayor Conboy called a mass meeting of citizens at which there could be a demonstration of popular sentiment.

Perhaps Mayor Conboy may feel justified, so soon after proclaiming a "Friendship for Russia Week," in doing something to forward a "Friendship for our Fighting Men Day." But the calling of a special session of the City Council to deal with a subject which is outside its jurisdiction is not the way to do it. — Toronto Telegram.

A Bible Message

Then came together unto him the Pharisees, and certain of the scribes, which came from Jerusalem. And when they saw some of his disciples eat bread with defiled, that is to say, with unwashen, hands, they found fault....

And when he had called all the people unto him, he said unto them, Hearken unto me every one of you, and understand: there is nothing from without a man, that entering into him can defile him: but the things which come out of him, those are they that defile the man....

And when he was entered into the house from the people, his disciples asked him concerning the parable...., And he said, That which cometh out of the man, that defileth the man. For from within, out of the heart of men, proceed evil thoughts, adulteries, fornications, murders, thefts covetousness, wickedness, deceit lasciviousness an evil eye, blasphemy, pride, foolishness: all these evils come from within, and defile the man. (Mark 7: 1, 2, 14, 15, 17, 20-23.)

And as he entered into a certain village, there met him ten men that were lepers, which stood afar off; and they lifted up their voices, and said, Jesus, Master, have mercy on us. And when he saw them, he said unto them, Go shew yourselves unto the priests. And it came to pass, that, as they went, they were cleansed. (Luke 17; 12-14.)

Letter To The Editor

HOW DEBENTURES GROW

Sir,—I wish to pay tribute to the Peterborough Property Owners' Association (be they few or many; large or small) for the very sane view they are taking in the matter of the proposed new hospital.

Reference to the Hunter Street Bridge was timely; we have often wondered what that really would cost, by the time all the principal and all the interest was paid.

I have in mind a sewer debenture which was assessed against my property in the south end of the city. Enquiry revealed that initial cost of tile and labour would cost the city about $9.00 but my tax papers show that I paid $1.98 a year for thirty years; so that I paid all told $59.40. If this is a sample of the way city debentures multiply, to the detriment of the home owner (and I believe it is), then it is to be hoped that Peterborough tax payers will heed the warnings of the Property Owners' Association when they vote on the hospital bylaw.

Thanking you, Mr. Editor, for space in your valuable paper. I am, yours very truly,

T. C. YONGE,
Peterborough Property Owner for Thirty-Five Years.

Lakefield, Ontario.

Unconsidered Trifles

With a cheerful smile the salesman barged into the office.

"What are you trying to sell this time?" asked the manager curtly.

"My firm has just brought out a new idea which I'm sure will interest you."

"Well, what is it?" growled the manager, unable to curb his curiosity.

"An extra key which can be fitted to any typewriter," came the glib explanation. When you—er—your typist doesn't know how to spell a word you just thump that key, which might be an 'a' or an 'e' or almost anything you like."

After having worked his way up to a high government position, a man visited the village where he was born.

"I suppose the people here, Tom, have heard of the honour that has been conferred on me?" he asked an old schoolfellow.

"Yes," was the gratifying reply.

"And what do they say about it?"

"They don't say anything", was the reply, "they just laugh".

A man drew a lucky elephant in a sweepstake. He had three wishes, so he rubbed the elephant once and asked for a thousand pounds. The money dropped right into his hand.

He rubbed it again and asked for something that money cannot buy—a crate of bananas. This appeared instantly.

Then he thought he had better ask for something that would benefit the whole of humanity, so he said: "I'd like to kill Hitler".

The next post brought his calling-up papers.

Mrs. F. Birdsall Advocates Youth Clubs

TORONTO, Dec. 1 — (CP) — Mrs. T. D. Cowan, of Galt, convener of the citizenship committee, yesterday told the Board of Federated Women's Institutes of Ontario that it is the duty of the institutes to try to keep their members aware of the necessity of being well-informed on all matters relating to the post-war world.

She advocated a keener interest in public affairs, which she described as the mechanics needed to bring about better conditions.

Discussion of the problems of post-war agricultural and industrial construction featured the sessions, held under the presidency of Mrs. Clarence Holmes, of Belleville, Ont.

Mrs. L. Challand, of Welland, in her report of the war service work accomplished by the 960 local institutes in this province, said that during the year the institutes have raised $178,800 for war service projects.

Mrs. F. E. Birdsall, of Birdsall, Ont., convener of the agriculture and industry committee, advocated that members pay greater attention to the keeping of farm accounts and give more consistent support to boys' and girls' clubs.

Canadians Face Muddy Terrain In Germany

By DOUGLAS AMARON
Canadian Press War Correspondent

WITH THE 1ST CANADIAN ARMY, Dec. 1—(CP Cable)—The war has taken a personal turn for soldiers of the 1st Canadian Army, fighting on German soil for the first time in this war.

From company, battalion and brigade-scale battles, the fighting has subsided to patrol activity where platoons and sections are coming into their own.

Presence of the Canadians in Germany was disclosed this week but their role has not been spectacular. French-speaking troops are among the Canadians in this German salient.

(This dispatch did not locate the scene of the actions, but a field dispatch from Ross Munro, Canadian Press war correspondent, dated Nov. 22 and released for publication Tuesday, said Canadian troops took up positions in the Nijmegen sector at the extreme north end of the Allied line. He said some units had been holding a narrow strip of German territory just across the Netherlands border east of Nijmegen.

(Another Canadian Press' war correspondent, Maurice Desjardins, saiad in a dispatch dated Nov. 12 and released for publication Wednesday that Le Regiment de la Chaudiere of Lake Megantic, Que., took up positions in Germany in the De Wyler Forest east of Nijmegen and these troops became the first Canadian unit to operate entirely on German soil during the war. The Canadians were about six miles northwest of Cleve at the northern end of the Siegfried Line.

From wooded country overlooking marshy ground where the Germans have their trenches, the Canadians have been sending out patrols and in minor skirmishes have killed or captured Germans and lost men of their own. Artillery and mortar fire exchanges have been moderately heavy.

The weather in the last few days has been against anything but small-scale activity. Cold rain made this muddy — and in some places flooded—country muddier and wetter.

The air force has been pretty well base-bound but yesterday was one of the finest days of the autumn and Canadian aircraft flew 524 sorties. A German headquarters was among the targets.

Meanwhile from Southwest Holland came word of an unsuccessful German attempt by a force of about 30 men to make a reconnaissance raid on captured north Beveland island in the Schelde estuary this week. The enemy underestimated the strength of the force holding the island and lost every man, including one officer killed.

St. Aidan's Auxiliary Plans December Sale

YOUNG'S POINT, Dec. 1—(ENS)—Mrs. R. Nicholson and Mrs. C. Pelton were joint hostesses to the W.A. of St. Aidan's Anglican church at their home, with twelve members present.

The vice-president, Mrs. D. Darling, opened the meeting with the Auxiliary prayer, and presided for the business. Plans were made to have a sale of used clothing, baking and other articles in their Parish Hall on Friday afternoon, December 8. Due to the scarcity of fuel for heating of the hall, it was decided to have a social evening, once a month, in the different homes. Mrs. Perc. Stenner offered her home for the first one on Friday evening, December 8.

At the close of the meeting, Mrs. Nicholson and Mrs. Peterson served lunch and a social hour was enjoyed.

Rowe Declares Anarchy Exists

OTTAWA, Dec. 1.— CP).—Hon. Earl Rowe (PC-Dufferin-Simcoe) said yesterday in the Commons that "we have anarchy in this country now."

He did not elaborate on the statement made during the debate on the government's vote of confidence motion.

Mr. Rowe said that Prime Minister Mackenzie King had stated Monday that anarchy in Canada would be the result of a government not being able to obtain sufficient support to carry on its duties.

"We have anarchy in the country now, and the Prime Minister has lost the confidence of the people of the Dominion," said Mr. Rowe.

"The other day he spoke as though he were indispensable, but in that regard let me say that I have seen governments come and I have seen governments go. I know, and he knows that I know that he does not have to name his successor.

"In the House he turned and asked his colleagues which one would take on the job. He does not have to ask them or anybody else. The Governor-General has that right though he has not the duty. The Prime Minister may recommend, but the Governor-General does not have to take that recommendation unless he sees fit to do so.

"Surely there is no one indispensable. This is not a dynasty; this is a democracy. This is no rubber stamp approval by a colossal majority. This government is being rapidly smothered by the avalanche of dissension so obvious throughout the country."

Airplanes And The Peace

By B. T. RICHARDSON

CHICAGO: As a weapon of war, the airplane has changed the world and the thinking of men, so that in seeking to preserve peace in future the nations must take account of aviation. One of the major conflicts of viewpoint at the international aviation conference at Chicago has existed on the question how the airplane may be maintained as an instrument of peace, unconvertible to a weapon of destruction. In the new age of flight, this is mankind's new problem of disarmament, more difficult and more likely to shatter any feeble framework of world security than the unsolved problem of disarmament in the days when divisions of troops and flotillas of warships alone engaged the fears of peaceful people.

At Chicago the division of opinion has lain between the American viewpoint, which has based its position on the contention that aerial disarmament is not properly a matter for a convention on aerial navigation and transportation at all, and the viewpoints of almost all other countries present. Since the American influence is crucial, the facts and contentions behind it are of utmost importance. Will the prospects of future peace be prejudiced unless international aviation arrrangements are linked with a world security system? The Americans say No. They say disarmament is another matter, to come up in the peace treaty and in the Dumbarton Oaks security system. The British, the Canadians and many others have argued yes.

The honesty of these views cannot be doubted; but they represent a difference of approach that uncovers the whole difficulty of securing effective international agreements now. One dismisses at once glib cries for control, without defining the point at which control should apply. The motion of New Zealand and Australia for international ownership and operation of world trunk air lines was argued by these countries chiefly as a security measure. By setting up a great world corporation, the structure of which would be interesting to study though no one has yet suggested it, to operate all the main airways of the world would, its proponents argued, eliminate national rivalries which might lead to war. It would provide, said Mr. Sullivan, the New Zealand delegate, "the only real security against a recurrence of the dangerous passions aroused by national rivalries."

The conference turned this down, on the ground the time is not ripe. Whether it will ever be ripe, of course, will depend on the future drift of economic organization which will determine whether or not major population groups of the world permanently accept centralized direction of their economic activities and so come to accept centralized direction of international activities. The Brazilian delegate, Mr. Hahneman Guimaraes, solicitor-general of Brazil, pointed out that France and Spain had proposed the same idea at the 1932 disarmament conference without success. Mr. Max Hymans, delegate from France, supported Australia and New Zealand and reserved the right to suggest that an experimental service owned internationally should be tried.

The British and Canadian positions were not far apart on the question of maintaining peace through aviation. The British White Paper proposed that an international aviation convention should "in due course be placed in proper relationship to a world security organization." The Canadians proposed that a specific clause be inserted declaring the aviation contention be subject to a security system, that the international air board be required to direct international air services in time of emergency as the security organization ordered. These similar viewpoints were based — not as Mr. Berle suggested on the idea that transport planes can be used to carry bombs — on the contention that transport planes can carry troops which can assault and capture key points.

The American position, that control of aviation to preserve peace should be included in a world security agreement not an international aviation agreement, has a powerful argument on its side. It is that most of the world's aviation is not international but domestic, and no country will stand for control of its domestic aviation by an outside agency. The logical impasse of Mr. Berle's position, however, is that whether it is done through an aviation agreement, a security agreement, or some disarmament instrument, there will be no feeling of security in the world unless various nations accept sufficient control over their air power to assure others that secret aerial arming is not going on.

Yet it is true that public carriers of the kind that will carry most of the international air traffic of the future represent a small proportion of the planes that will be flying. There will be in addition, military air forces of the victorious power, and there will be domestic public carriers and non-commercial airplanes. In the past 90 per cent of all U.S. passenger air traffic was domestic. Virtually all of Russia's air transport was domestic. Almost all of Canada's was. But the figures were different for European countries. In 1937, United Kingdom air

The Mat Classic Everybody Wanted

FRANKIE SEXTON

Promoter Frank Tunney has booked a natural for the main bout of his wrestling show at Brock St. Arena next Tuesday night for he has matched the two most popular performers in the mat game, Frank Sexton, the Columbus, Ohio, powerhouse and Whipper Billy Watson, British Empire champion. Fast, clean and clever these two stars have had a series of thrilling matches in Toronto, watched by 40,000 people and Peterborough patrons are lucky in a chance to see this big league attraction. There will be two other good bouts. advt

SPORTS-Day by Day

By FRED D. CRAIG

This column has no apologies for again calling the attention of sport lovers to the fact that the duty of the hour is to make sure of the passing of the Memorial Health Centre bylaw next Monday. No question on which the friends of sport and the friends of young people have had a chance to express an opinion has ever been presented to the ratepayers here and it would be a pity indeed if such an opportunity were to be missed through sheer indifference. The success of the whole Memorial Health Centre scheme hinges upon this civic grant of $75,000 which is absolutely needed to round out the fund and make the whole splendid program possible. If the bylaw were to be defeated it would mean that some of the items on the list would have to be scrapped and the whole scheme curtailed. We are sure none of the citizens who have so splendidly raised over $200,000 by voluntary subscription would want that to happen. It can only happen if they lie down on the job. Our hope is that every friend of the Memorial Health Centre project who has a vote will make sure that it is polled and that those who are not property-owners will use their influence on citizens who are ratepayers.

Interest in the Ladies' City Basketball League double-header at the Y.W.C.A. tonight centres in the senior battle between Transports and C.G.E. which will settle for the time being the question of which outfit is to occupy the cellar. Both teams are in need of a victory, after having been bumped off by St. John's and so tonight's clash which incidentally is the first game on the card should be an exciting battle all the way. It will start at 7.45 o'clock. Judging from the showing of the two teams in their games with the Saints the outfits are very evenly matched and that should make for a close exciting tussle when they clash tonight. Transports, usually a high-scoring club were held to 15 points in their opening game and so their snipers will likely be basket hungry tonight. In the junior game which follows the senior argument, Y Grads who look very much like the team to beat in their division, take on Westclox. The Big Bens have been practicing hard for this clash and hope to give the Y girls a determined argument for the honors. The junior game is billed for 8.45 o'clock.

Returning Kicks

Joe Tubman, former well-known Ottawa football star has been commenting on an interesting phase of modern football and Billy Westwick, Ottawa Journal sports commentator has the following to say about his views: When someone referred to Joe Tubman the other night as one of the better exponents of football's return kick, Joe confessed he fails to understand the decline of that weapon in recent years.... 'It not only can pick you up valuable points on occasion, but it can put the opposition in a bad spot many a time if used correctly," observed "Tubby," who developed the play to a high degree of efficiency....Tubman claims the oddest experience he had with it was one day here years ago against Argos, when the Scullers booted over the goal-line with the score 2-2 late in the game....He took this one on first bounce and drove it back near to mid-field without benefit of a catch....Most unusual exchange in his career was the first year Harry Batstone broke in with Argos...."I returned one over the goal-line to Batstone and Harry promptly returned it to me; so I popped one right back to him. Harry was downed on that one, but we had shared in a triple."

* * * * * *

This column would certainly agree with Joe Tubman in his contention that modern footballers for the most part have been overlooking the possibilities of the return kick. Old time backfielders used to use that method of defense-attack with marked success but today the strategy is resorted to so little that each instance of it is the subject of comment. About the last Peterborough player to return kicks with any success was Don Crowe, backfield star of the Orfuns during their senior O.R.F.U. venture. Crowe had the ability to get great length to his kicks while running at top speed; in fact the punts he delivered while in motion almost invariably travelled further than his kicks from scrimmage. Fans will always remember one tremendous punt Crowe got away in that famous game against Sarnia Imperials when he took a Sarnia kick deep in his own territory, started to run back with the ball, dodged a couple of tackles and then let drive with a boot that carried the oval far over the head of the Sarnia safety man. That kick travelled 85 yards through the air and on the roll and drove play back almost to the Sarnia goal-line.

Hap Harrison Tells Them

Old time Peterborough ball fans will enjoy the following paragraph from Cobourg in regard to a recent sporting banquet there: "Reminiscences of the 'good old days' of the Central Ontario Baseball League played an important part in the banquet at the Baltimore Hotel Monday night of the Primeau and Dye Works Softball teams, competitors in the Port Hope Softball League during the past summer. "Hap" Harrison, now a traveller for Canada Packers, and a one-time "great" in baseball circles, was the guest speaker. Mayor J. D. Burnet was chairman of the meeting. Jack Primeau, sponsor of the one team, and Harold Waldon, manager of the Dye, were heard in a few words after a bountiful dinner. Cliff Boundy, local ball enthusiast of many years standing, congratulated the softball players, but admitted that he would rather have seen them playing baseball. He recalled some of the early 'twenties of baseball in Cobourg and introduced the speaker, "Hap" Harrison, who performed in the Central League about 1920 and 1921. "Hap" recalled some of the notables of his day and especially such colorful figures as "Mickey" Murray and "Jake" Solomon. He stated that the ball players used to play indoor softball in the Armories in the winter, and Cobourg took the district championship only to be trimmed by a Hamilton team. Jack Primeau thanked the speaker."

New York Rangers pulled one of the upsets of the season last night when they invaded Montreal and slapped down the league-leading Canadiens 7 to 5. It was only the second win of the season for the Young Men of Manhattan and to pull it at the expense of the Flying Frenchmen made it about the biggest surprise of the campaign. The Rangers split two goals with the Canadiens in the first period and after the Habitants had taken the lead twice in the second session the New Yorkers tied it up on both occasions. Then they dumfounded the Montreal crowd by running in four goals in a row in a little over eight minutes in the final period. Canadiens roared back with two but could not overcome the lead. At Chicago the Boston Bruins after being outscored one to nothing in the first period took command of the game after that and defeated the Black Hawks 7 to 2. It was the third win over Chicago for the Bruins this season and they showed too much power and drive for the Hawks. Kennie Smith, former-

Peterboro Rink Loses In Oshawa

OSHAWA, Dec. 1.— Rinks from more distant clubs, such as Orangeville, Kitchener, Almonte, Guelph, Hamilton and Kingston, constituted the 16 entries who commenced play in the Oshawa five-day bonspiel here yesterday morning.

Late yesterday afternoon two rinks from Hamilton Thistles, one Oshawa entry, and Drysdale's Kingston rink were still in the running for the two quarter-final berths in the playdowns, which commenced on Friday morning.

Lyle Willson's Oshawa rink defeated Dr. White's foursome from Orangeville in the first draw, and triumphed handily over his clubmates, skipped by Percy Eveleigh, in the afternoon tilt. He is slated to meet Cheriton of the Hamilton Thistles in the third game to decide which rink returns to-day. A. R. Tarlton's strong Hamilton rink defeated Percy Skitch of Lindsay in the opening draw, and won handily over G. A. Anderson's Orillia entry in the afternoon. Tarlton meets Drysdales of Kingston in their third game.

In the consolation event, Perry Hall's Kitchener rink, who were defeated by W. Cowan's High Park four in the opening game, won over Lowe of Peterborough, and in the deciding game will face A. C. Halwig's rink from Kitchener also. W. R. Wheeler of Guelph and H. Houston's rink from Almonte meet in the other bracket for the right to meet in the quarter-finals on Friday.

Major League Leaders Consider Plans

CHICAGO, Dec. 1—(AP)—A post-war "reconversion" program, replacing the squad limits to absorb baseball players returning from the armed forces, will get attention from baseball's major leagues at a joint meeting in New York Dec. 13.

A recommendation by the steering committee of both leagues calls for increases in both mid-season and reserve player lists of five and 10 reinstated players, respectively. The limits now are 25 and 40 per squad, with no concession for players reinstated from the national defence list which number about 600.

The proposal was disclosed yesterday by Leslie M. O'Connor, secretary-treasurer of the baseball commissioner's office, who said the ranking item of business will be consideration of the major league agreement and "all other matters" arising from the recent death of Commissioner K. M. Landis.

While attention will be focused on the replacement of Judge Landis, it generally is expected his office will not be filled immediately and that a three-man board of O'Connor and Presidents Will Harridge and Ford Frick of the American and National leagues respectively, will be designated to govern baseball indefinitely.

The player limit reccomendation proposes that the 26-player restriction now effective from one month after the first game until Sept. 1, may be increased to 30, providing that the five additional men are reinstated national defence players. The same is true for the 10 extra players who may be added to the 40-player limit in effect between Sept. 1 and mid-May.

EXIDE BATTERIES ARE HELPING TO KEEP ESSENTIAL TRANSPORTATION ON THE MOVE

To win we must "keep rolling", both on the fighting fronts and at home. To "keep rolling", sure starts, good lights and a dependable source of power are absolutely necessary.

In every theatre of war Exides have proved themselves. For civilian transportation Exides have long been first choice.

Exide BATTERIES

Rationed driving is hard on the battery. Therefore regular battery check-ups are more than ever essential if starting failures are to be avoided.

Visit the Exide Dealer displaying this sign. He is equipped and qualified to give reliable battery service. When necessary, have your battery recharged. If a new one is required, buy a long-lasting, dependable Exide. Into every Exide goes 56 years of battery-building experience.

WINNIPEG, Dec. 1 (CP) — The Winnipeg Tribune said yesterday it had learned from a reliable source that Wally Stanowski, former defenceman for Toronto Maple Leafs who was discharged from the R.C.A.F. on medical grounds in Winnipeg Thursday, had been called for medical examination by the Canadian Army.

Lowly Rangers Vanquish Canadiens Team

By BOB NIELSON
Canadian Press Staff Writer.

If New York Rangers lacked inspiration in their campaign for a National Hockey League playoff berth, they should have gained a large measure from their startling 7-5 triumph over the leading Canadiens at Montreal last night.

Victory gave the New Yorkers three major plums: Their second win of the season in 11 games, a clear two-point title to fifth place over Chicago Black Hawks defeated 7-2 by Boston, and the honor of being the second team to beat the Stanley Cup holders. Toronto Maple Leafs have done it three times.

Another achievement was ringing up four goals in five minutes and 26 seconds without reply, early in the third period. The barrage began with Chuck Scherza's blast on a penalty shot, first successful one of the season.

That proved the break of a tightly-contested match, snapping a 3-3 tie. Walter Atanas' first-period goal for the Blueshirts was nullified by Maurice Richard eight minutes later, and in the second Phil Watson and Hank Goldup matched two scoring efforts by Habitants' Toe Blake.

Watson sank his second at 2:57 of the third period, 18 seconds after Scherza's goal. Ab Demarco followed at 5:40 and Kilby Macdonald did it again at 8:05. Canadiens came back with a little quick-scoring themselves, Rossie Rosignol and Elmer Lach counting within 24 seconds, but Rangers shut the door thereafter.

Calladine Scores.

At Chicago, Rookie Ken Smith and veteran Art Jackson scored two goals each to lead Bruins' rout of the Black Hawks. The Rossmen clinched the decision with a furious third-period assault that netted five goals.

Hawks took the lead when Russ Brayshaw scored the only tally of the first period, but Smith's first goal early in the second and Bill Cowley's 10 minutes later gave the Bruins a lead they never surrendered.

Bill Cupolo and Jackson both intercepted passes and scored on the rink-length dashes to start the last-period avalanche. Lude Check registered the final Chicago goal before Smith and Jackson came back with their second goals. Norm Calladine came out of a pile-up before the net to rap the last one by Mike Karakas.

The triumph maintained Boston's four-point margin over New York and dumped Chicago into the league cellar.

TORONTO, Dec. 1 — (CP). — Johnny Longden, scrappy little Alberta jockey who has met and fed dust to many of the turf's leading riders, says he isn't ready to retire yet for a while. Longden, visiting Calgary and his old home in Taber, Alberta, said he will be back on the track netx spring, with a weather eye cocked at the Kentucky Derby, Preakness and other big races. Beneath his saddle, as the other half of the team, will be Count Speed, a full brother of the great Count Fleet.

Nearly undiluted:

Present day Canadian football in Ontario isn't exactly pre-war stuff, says Al (BrantfordExpositor) Rose, but it's "much closer to 100 per cent than some of the commodities one purchases, whether it be liquids or solids, at this time."

Back to Lansdowne:

That's the cry in Vancouver, which doesn't cotton to the "back to the farm" movement so much. There is talk on the coast the racing season at Lansdowne Park may be lengthened to 28 days in 1945. One week of racing was the limit this year as the horses returned to the track despite wartime hazards.

Incidentally:

Making up the standings of the junior hockey loop in the Montreal district is a complicated business. Shawinigan Falls has an entry in the loop, and plays each of the five Montreal teams once, while the city teams play 13 games each. The standings have to be worked out on a percentage basis as a result.... Kenny Lindsay of the R.C.A.F., Canadian service featherweight champ, is slated to show at a prisoners of war benefit boxing show in Vancouver about the middle of the month. Before the war, Lindsay was a contender for Manuel Ortiz' world flyweight crown.. ..Jim (Toronto Globe and Mail) Coleman relays the report that the Toronto Argos will definitely operate next year—in fact, have started offering contracts to promising players.

Public Prefers Slammin' Sam

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 1 (AP)—Slammin' Sam Snead, who hit golf's comeback trail in winning fashion last week, will be the sentimental favorite when the field tees off today in the 72-hole San Francisco Open but hard-shelled observers bracketed the defending champ, Byron Nelson, as the man to beat for top prize.

Seemingly Made to Order

Nelson, biggest money winner of 1944, tow-roped the field to win the San Francisco Open last year, followed by his running mate, Harold McSpaden of Philadelphia. The Harding Park public links, scene of the tournament this winter as last, seemingly is made to order for the Toledo, O., star and McSpaden.

It is fairly flat, long and tree-bordered but these two seldom have failed to pick its par 72 to pieces. They have the jump on Snead, in one respect—familiarity with the course.

Snead, nevertheless, already has been established as "the people's choice." The golfing public was intrigued by his spectacular return to major tournament competition after more than two years in the navy. He beat practically the same field in the Portland Open, with a one-over par 289 for 72 holes.

More than 150 pros and amateurs will have the same objective as Snead, Nelson and McSpaden, in the $14,500 war bonds event. First prize is $2,666 in bonds. The tournament, 18 holes daily, will end Monday.

Capitals Move Out In Front

By The Canadian Press

Indianapolis Capitals moved to the front of the western division in the American Hockey League last night by shutting out the visiting St. Louis Flyers 2-0, breaking a tie with the idle Pittsburg Hornets. At Providence, Buffalo Bisons defeated Reds, and at Hershey the Bears fought to a 1-1 draw with Cleveland Barons.

It was goalie Harry Lumley's second shutout of the year as Capitals' masterful defence smothered the Flyers' attack. Scorers for Indianapolis were Forbes and Leswick.

George Pargeter starred for Buffalo in the game at Providence, scoring five times. Ken Kilrea notched up one in addition to assisting on four of Pangeter's goals.

At Hershey Harold Cooper drew first blood for the Bears halfway through the second period. Lou Trudel of Cleveland, tied the score in the last three minutes of the game.

Britain Wants Bases On European Coast

LONDON, Dec. 1 — (CP) — Leslie Hore-Belisha, former Secretary of State for War, urged the House of Commons to-day to consider "an offer by Belgium to give us some kind of strategic outposts and economic outposts as well, similar to those we gave the United States in the West Indies."

Speaking in the Throne speech debate, he asserted Britain must "have regard to our flank on the continent."

The House cheered when he asked:

"Do our past experiences show that we cannot stand aloof from the organization of western Europe?"

Bringing before the House the proposal for a pact linking together the western European countries for security purposes, Mr. Hore-Belisha declared "it is sometimes suggested that any advocacy of economic, political or strategic unity in western Europe is a threat to Russia."

"There should be no such thought in our minds and if that thought exists in the minds of the Russians it can easily be removed," he said.

He contended Britain should realize that "America from the First Great War and now Russia from the second have emerged as great economic federations." Britain alone could not attain such size, he said, but the British Empire could.

R.C.A.F. Pilots Have Busy Time

LONDON, Dec. 1 — (CP Cable) — R.C.A.F. squadrons based on the continent flew more than 200 sorties yesterday in the best flying weather of the week, it was announced today.

Spitfire fighter-bombers made a score of cuts in German railway lines as the 2nd Tactical Air Force continued blasting the Ruhr Railway system. One Canadian Spitfire fighter-bomber wing made 13 rail cuts.

Typhoons also attacked railways, destroying or damaging two trains, a station and a factory. The Typhoons also attacked successfully a building on the Meuse River where German Army cadets made a suicidal stand.

No aircraft is missing from yesterday's operations. It was known however, that two R.C.A.F. fighters were missing from Tuesday's operations but the pilot of one is safe.

Battler At 91

BRIGHTON, Sussex, Dec. 1—(CP).—Hale and hearty is more than just a trite description of Brighton's oldest active tradesman, 91-year-old B. McAlister Bannatyne. Two soldiers who took offence when Bannatyne admonished them for being rude to passers-by came at him with their fists. "I gave the first soldier one under the chin and did the same for the second," said Bannatyne. "Their friends took them off after that."

Backlog Of Building

TORONTO, Dec. 1 — (CP) — Surveys made by the Ontario Department of Planning and Development show a backlog of building projects which will keep the construction industry busy for a minimum of 10 years, Dr. G. B. Langford, Deputy Minister of the Department said last night.

New Rental Rules Now In Force

OTTAWA, Dec. 1 — (CP) — New rental restrictions, designed to check evasion of rent control through the sale or rental of furniture, charging of commissions or collecting of rewards, were announced today by the Prices Board.

The new order prohibits any person from charging or demanding payment of a commission or reward from a tenant and not more than one month's rent may be collected in advance.

To prevent exploitation of tenants through the sale of furniture at excessive profits, the order prohibits any person offering housing accommodation for rent from selling or renting furniture to a tenant unless the price or rental for the furniture has been set by the Rentals appraiser.

The order also provides against any new racketeering practice by giving the rentals administrator special directions if "unreasonable or unjust" conditions are imposed on a tenant.

C.C.F. Delegates Argue Over Plant Control

MONTREAL, Dec. 1—(CP)—The "50 delegates to the Eighth National Convention of the C.C.F. party today were scheduled to resume study of a 19-point program for the next Federal election, drafted by the national council of the party.

The delegates last night adopted six sections of the program with the drafting committee charged with the task of rewording parts of the submitted points.

Adjournment to today came late last night following a heated argument between National Secretary David Lewis and Colin Cameron, member of the British Columbia Legislature for Comox, and Harold Winch, C.C.F. House Leader in the B.C. Legislature.

The Westerners objected to the restrictive wording of the sixth section of the election manifesto which stated that "key industries which are monopolistic in operation" would be socialized by a C.C.F. government in its first term of office.

Studied Carefully

Mr. Lewis said he had seen personally to the wording of that controversial section and carefully weighed every word. He was not taking second place to either Mr. Winch or Mr. Cameron in advocating ultimate complete socialization but at the present he was "concerned with winning an election" and "we must think in responsible terms as if we were in power."

Mr. Lewis said the section had been worded so as to assure the "small business men who are afraid of being deprived of their business by a C.C.F. Government that this will not happen." The section which was adopted with the understanding that a clearer definition of industries to be socialized should be given in a redraft, said:

"Where private business shows no signs of becoming a monopoly, and operates efficiently under decent working conditions, and fulfils its obligations to the community, it will be given every opportunity to function, to provide a fair rate of return and to make its contribution to the nation's welfare."

The section added:

"The C.C.F. has always stood for private ownership of the family farm, family home and other personal property. It will build an economic system which will protect farmers and workers in this ownership and avoid the ejections, foreclosures and losses which they suffer under capitalism. In fact, the C.C.F. will make it possible for the people to acquire all the personal property necessary for a high standard of living."

GOT ROMMEL?—Lieut. Harold O. Miller of Santa Monica, Calif., is said by the U.S. Air Force to have "got" Field Marshal Erwin Rommel's staff car, in which Rommel was fatally injured. The U.S. airforce submits as proof a photo of an exploding gas tank. An RAF Typhoon squadron, including Canadians, has been mentioned as having done the trick.

Belleville Girl Hurt In Crash

LONDON, Ont., Dec. 1 — (CP) — Edward Clarence Robertson, 46-year-old Goderich, Ont., jeweler, and his wife, Lillie, 49, were injured fatally last night when the automobile in which they were riding collided with a big United States Army dump truck in north London.

Robertson was killed instantly and his wife died shortly after in hospital.

Two other persons riding in the Robertson car were seriously injured. They were: Mrs. Verna Binks, 22, of Paisley, Ont., who suffered a fractured pelvis and fractures of both collarbones; and Mrs. Lily Clarke, 26, of Belleville, Ont., who suffered lacerations and contusions. Husbands of the women are members of the armed forces.

Police said the army truck was driven by James M. Green of Wyandotte, Mich.

Police laid a charge of dangerous driving against Green this morning and Crown Attorney C. C. Savage announced an inquest will be held tonight.

The truck, police said, was in a convoy of United States Army vehicles.

Hanson Lauds Col. Ralston

OTTAWA, Dec. 1.— (CP).—Hon. R. B. Hanson (PC-York-Sunbury) said Wednesday night in the Commons that the speech of Col. J. L. Ralston, former Defence Minister, had shown that infantry reinforcements were badly needed overseas and already were behind schedule.

Speaking briefly after Col. Ralston had completed a two-hour address, Mr. Hanson said that the country would hold Prime Minister Mackenzie King and Defence Minister McNaughton responsible for delaying during the last few weeks the sending of the needed reinforcements.

Mr. Hanson said he was sure the Commons for the most part was in agreement with what Col. Ralston had said.

After the attempts that had been made during the last few days to make Col. Ralston shoulder responsibilities that had not been his, the former Defence Minister would have been forgiven if he had shown more fire in his address.

Mr. Hanson said he asked for adjournment of the debate as he had been greatly stirred by portions of Col. Ralston's speech, which he wished to analyze. He would commend the greater part of that speech.

Electricity

AN OUTSTANDING CANADIAN ASSET.. CAN HELP PROVIDE MAXIMUM POSTWAR EMPLOYMENT

Here in Canada, today, we are producing more than seven times as much electric power as we did in 1918! By finding new applications for this new power—by utilizing it to light our highways, to electrify our farms, to modernize our industries, to bring new brightness, health, comfort and leisure to our homes — we can create a mass of useful, gainful employment—for years to come.

Already more electricity per person is being used in Canada than in any other country! And Canada, from her rivers and waterfalls alone, can obtain five times as much electricity as she has today. It but remains to put this mighty power to work, in the building of a worthier, stronger, happier nation.

But such a task requires planning—and planning NOW. Even though we cannot yet relax our war effort—still we must plan ahead, to create employment ahead. Only by planning how we shall electrify — our homes, businesses, communities—can we make use of Canada's electric power reserves to help pave the way to postwar prosperity!

For 52 years, Canadian General Electric has played a leading part in the electrification of this great Dominion. Today, its 10,000 skilled workers and the resources of its seven busy plants are being devoted largely to war. Tomorrow, when Victory is won, they will be available again to produce everything electrical for a Canada at peace.

KIWANIS MEETING

The Kiwanis Club met in the Empress Hotel today, for a discussion on club business. A large number of Peterborough Kiwanians and their wives attended the Ladies' Night meeting in Lindsay Thursday evening, as guests of the Lindsay Kiwanis Club. This took the place of their regular luncheon.

CHRISTMAS HELP

Arthur MacNamara, director of National Selective service, announced yesterday at Ottawa that the date on which retail businesses may engage extra help for the Christmas rush without first obtaining a permit has been advanced to Dec. 4, instead of Dec. 13 as previous announced.

SNOW DELAYS COURT

Police court proceedings today were delayed a little by the snow storm. Magistrate Langley had difficulty getting out of his own laneway in Lakefield, the Lindsay bus carrying a number of persons interested in one of the cases was late and as a last straw the police cruiser could not negotiate the court house hill and two prisoners had to walk half down the hill before being picked up.

AGE OF WONDERS

The power of suggestion among people has long had some amazing results, but a new one happened at the Examiner office this morning. A story from Canadian Press was being tapped out across the wires and the words appeared on the Teletype machine, "Telegraph and Telephone circuits are jammed" At that moment the machine suddenly broke down. Even the machines are becoming more like humans in this highly mechanized age.

Orange Lodge Burns Mortgage

The Union Jack is flying over the Orange Hall, Brock street today, because, Thursday night, the members of the local Orange Lodges and L.O.B.A. Lodges celebrated the happy event of the "Burning of the Mortgage."

The chairman of the evening, E. Reid, briefly outlined the history of the Orange building project and told of the struggle of the Order in the years that have passed to secure a building which the lodges could call their own, until today the front unit of the building is entirely free from debt.

The chief speaker of the evening was Loftus H. Reid, Grand Secretary of the Grand Orange Lodge of gratulations from the Grand Lodge British America, who brought conand told of the wonderful progress the Order is making from coast to coast.

The "Burning of the Mortgage" was in charge of Frank Shaw, District Master for the City of Peterborough and Ethel Delong, Past Mistress of Vimy Ridge L.O.B.A. Lodge. Novelty numbers, by Ernie Victor, and instrumental duets by the Gray Sisters all added to the enjoyment of the evening.

Congratulation speeches were given by Rev. Capt. J. L. Hodgson, Rev. Fred Horton, Sister G. Campbell, Grand Secretary of L.O.B.A. Lodge Ontario East, J. M. Carl, Grand Marshal of Ontario East, Harold Scott, M.P.P. and W. J. Hancock and John Edgar, two of the original building trustees. Rev. E. W. Rowland offered a thank-giving prayer and also included a prayer for the many members of the order who are overseas. A hearty welcome was extended to Rev. Dr. James Semple Street United Church, who also addressed the gathering and urged them on to greater achievements.

Adjt. Velma Graham, of the Salvation Army Auxiliary Services, who is in charge of the Recreation Centre on Charlotte street, also spoke as a member of the L.O.B.A. and urged all the members and friends to be true to Christian ideals and Protestant principles.

Morgan Brown, W.M. of Nassau Lodge, brought greetings from that body. During the evening Sid Cole acted as pianist.

Letters of regret at not being able to be present were read from Gordon K. Fraser, M.P., Creighton Devitt, Grand Master of Ontario East, and Wesley Mason, County Master of Victoria County. The chairman told of plans for improvements to the present building and a possible future extension.

Communist Returns

PARIS, Dec. 1 (AP) — Maurice Thorez, French Communist Leader, returned to the political scene before an enthusiastic and almost delirious crowd last night with a demand for a thorough-going administrative purge and political unity for the prosecution of the war. Thorez lived in Russia for the last five years.

An Invitation to the P.C.V.S. Commencement Exercises

The Principal and Staff of the Peterborough Collegiate and Vocational School extend to all interested friends an invitation to attend the Commencement Exercises in the Collegiate Auditorium on Friday, December first, at eight o'clock, when Dr. George P. Gilmour, M.A., D.D., Chancellor of McMaster University, will be the guest sp[eaker].

New Minister Of St. Paul's Is Inducted

The seventh minister to serve congregations of St. Paul's Presbyterian Church in its 111 years of existence in Peterborough, Rev. Samuel Johnston was inducted pastor of that church Thursday evening, before a large gathering of congregational members and friends. Rev. Johnston comes to Peterborough after serving as minister of Queen Street East Presbyterian Church, in Toronto.

The inductional service was conducted by Rev. J. O. Ralston, minister of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church in Campbellford, and Moderator of the Peterborough Presbytery.

Rev. J. Davey, of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, Hastings, led the devotional exercises. Marking conditions in the world today both morally and spiritually as being worse than ever before, he told the congregation it presents a great challenge, "to you, and to me, and to the church of Christ."

There is a great work ahead for all Christians, outlining that these degenerate conditions are widespread. "There is not much difference between Toronto and Peterborough", he said.

He told the congregation of young girls thrown out of hotels, and men and women "living lower than beasts", and said the people of the church congregation "can do more than I am doing", in taking up the great challenge. "There is nothing in the world like the great purifying power of God."

Following the induction of Rev. Johnston, members of the presbytery filed past, offering him the right hand of fellowship.

Delivering the charge to the minister, Rev. Ralston stressed the importance of "being a man".

Courage Needed

The term of being a man should never become obscure, he said, adding that it means strength, of character, courage, power of decision, lack of "wishy-washiness", and backbone. Giving an impression of effeminacy can not heighten the service to the people.

Building up the theme, Rev. Ralston declared a minister must be a Christian man, and this should be borne out also in name, carriage, and deportment. The central power in a minister's life, he said, must be Christ. Then, he said, a minister must be a Christian gentleman.

Warning against a state of being one-sided in outlook, Rev. Ralston stressed the importance of being loyal to church work.

Concluding his address to the minister, he said: "I cherish the hope that your ministry here, now begun, may be rich in fruitfulness, and that rewards may be great. Rev. Ralston also asked Rev. Johnston the regular questions prescribed by the church.

Lauding the congregation of St. Paul's Church for their faithfulness in Sabbath attendance, Rev. W. Patterson, of the Millbrook and Centreville Presbyterian Churches, in his address to the people, urged that the large attendance each Sunday be maintained, and advised that nothing "takes the heart out of a minister more than lack of attendance."

Rev. Patterson appealed to the congregation to express their appreciation of sermons to the minister, which will give him "encouragement and enthusiasm", and strengthen his hand. If your minister is helpful, he pointed out, tell him so!

Torn Apart

Rev. Patterson warned against the familiar practice of discussing the minister of the church around the dinner table, before young children. "There are more reputations of ministers ruined around the dinner table in front of young children than in any other way," he said. It can hardly be expected that children will respect their minister after hearing him "torn apart by their parents at the dinner table."

One other practical note was left by this Millbrook and Centreville clergyman, that of not expecting the minister to do three jobs at once, and feel in the best of health at all times. "He is only one man", he said.

James Dutton, a member of the Presbytery, called upon the people to welcome the minister with all their hearts, and offer him the utmost in cooperation. He expressed his own personal welcome and greetings to Rev. Johnston and his wife.

Mr. Dutton, echoing the sentiments of everyone, praised Rev. W. Newton, who has been supplying at St. Paul's Church pending the induction of the new minister. He has rendered a fine service, he said, to every member of the congregation. Rev. Newton was received by the people, and his work is gratefully appreciated, he stated.

Hold Reception

Mr. Dutton conducted the first portion of a reception for Rev. Johnston and Mrs. Johnston. Among those who brought greetings and welcomes to the new minister were Rev. W. A. Filer, of All Saints Anglican Church, who expressed felicitations on behalf of the Ministerial Association; Dr. E. W. Young, St. Andrew's United Church, who spoke on behalf of the Peterborough Presbytery of the United Church; Canon W. P. Robertson, of St. John's Anglican Church; and the following representatives from St. Paul's Church organizations: W. S. Hill, Clerk of the Session; G. A. Macdonald, Chairman of the Board of Managers; T. MacKay, representing the congregation; Miss Johnston, president of the Choir; R. M. Glover, president of the Men's Association; O. M. Steer, chairman of the Sabbath School committees of Session, and Miss Ruth Hawthorne, of the Young Women's Auxiliary.

A bouquet of red roses was presented to Mrs. Johnston by Barbara Jean Craig, and representatives who went to the front of the church to welcome Rev. Johnston and his wife included those from the Ladies' Aid; The Young Peopl's Society; The C.G.I.T., The Boy Scouts and Cubs; The Women's Missionary Society; the Fraser Auxiliary, and the Mission Band, represented by Little Miss Avis Buchanan.

In a brief address to the congregation, Rev. Johnston, expressed his pride at following such great ministers, who have in the past, built up the church into a strong organization. He said that if he does not possess some of the capabilities of past-ministers, he may have some that they didn't have. He thanked everyone for their warm welcomes, and looked forward to a successful life of ministering in St. Paul's Church. Rev. Johnston then pronounced the benediction. A reception was held following the induction service. Music was under the direction of M. B. Chenhall, and both the senior and junior choirs attended.

Lindsay Mother Gets Light Sentence

Mrs. Shirley Deyell Pogue, Lindsay, was allowed to go on suspended sentence for two years in police court this morning after she had changed her plea to guilty in a charge against her of having abandoned her young baby in Peterborough on the night of October 24.

Represented today by W. J. Arthur Fair, Mrs. Pogue, who had previously pleaded not guilty asking permission to change her plea.

"I do not look upon this case as being anywhere nearly so serious as if the baby had been left out in a field or a marsh," said Magistrate O. A. Langley, K.C., in announcing that he thought a suspended sentence might meet the ends of justice. "As a matter of fact there might have been difficulty in convicting her at all if she had not pleaded guilty." His Worship reference was to the section under which the woman had been charged. The information included the words "whereby its life was endangered." and Magistrate Langley pointed out that the baby had been warmly wrapped and that it had been left at a door of a house that was inhabited and in pain view of passers-by.

Detective-Sergt. W. E. Meagher, giving evidence, said that the baby was Mrs. Pogue's, and that she, in company with a man, had driven to Peterborough on the night of October 24 and the baby had been abandoned at the door of a house on Murray street.

Mrs. Dorothy Maguire, police matron, testified that the baby had been wrapped in two blankets and had a covering over its head. A bottle of milk had been left with the child.

"Was it wrapped up warmly?" asked Crown Attorney V. J. McElderry, K.C.

"Not warmly enough to be left out all night," said the police matron. She added, in answer to a question from the magistrate, that the baby had been left in a place where it was visible to passers-by.

Mr. Fair informed the court that from what he had learned from his client the baby had only been left a few minutes when it was found.

Bad Breaks.

Character evidence in behalf of Mrs. Pogue was given by Rev. H. C. Wolfraim, of Lindsay, and Thomas Hutton, reeve of Ops township for four years.

Rev. Mr. Wolfraim stated that for the past four years Mrs. Pogue had been "going through the deep waters" from a domestic and financial standpoint. Her husband had left her at that time and the woman who had two other children had had a hard time. She had opened a boarding-house, in order to keep herself and the two children, he said.

Mr. Hutton said that he had first come into contact with Mrs. Pogue when she had to apply to the township authorities for relief in 1941. His impression had been that she had been conducting herself since in a satisfactory manner.

Urging a suspended sentence, Mr. Fair said that Mrs. Pogue had been ill for some time before the baby was born and was still not in good health. The events of the night when the child was abandoned were more or less hazy, defence counsel said.

Crown Attorney McElderry, who said that the woman had no previous convictions, concurred in the suspended sentence.

Cecil Clayton, Lindsay truck driver, who had previously pleaded guilty to abandoning the child, was at the request of the Crown Attorney remanded for a week for sentence. It would give time to look up the man's record, he said.

No Planning

REGINA, Dec. 1 — (CP).—The Canadian Congress of Labor had been "continually hammering" at governments to do some post-war economic planning, but to date the outlook was none too encouraging, A. R. Mosher of Ottawa, C.C.L. president, said in an interview yesterday. "Those in authority who could plan apparently are not doing it," he said.

CHIVALRY IS NOT DEAD

That chivalry lives on in its most gallant form was proven to one woman Thursday, who was a victim of the storm. Driving along Charlotte she attempted to slow up her car only to have it shoot across the road into a snow bank at the curb, where she was stuck. A bus, bearing workers drove up behind her and instead of swinging past, stopped. One man came over and inquired cheerfully if she could use some help and then gave his pals in the bus a hail. Ten men, including the driver, tumbled out and put their shoulders to the job and in a few minutes they had the car out of the drifts, and were able to climb on the bus again. — J. S.

Are You Aware Of The Fact?

That although a great deal is being made by the opponents of the new Civic Hospital Bylaw on the score that many of the patients come from Peterborough county and the county is not contributing that under the present Nicholls Hospital set-up, the county has never been asked to contribute or has it any say in the operation of the hospital?

That towards the new Civic Hospital Peterborough county will contribute $150,000; asked for representation on the Hospital Board, and has agreed to participate in the operation of the hospital?

That no city can live unto itself and that this is especially true in regards to hospital matters?

That Nicholls Hospital is totally inadequate for the job it has to do?

That new-born babies have had to be isolated in bathrooms?

That hundreds of patients have been annually refused admission to Nicholls Hospital, and who knows this may some time be yourself, your father or mother, your children, your brothers or sisters?

That the price of the new Civic Hospital to the average taxpayer will be only the price of a chocolate bar a week?

Heavy Snowfall Fails To Block Roads

Shortage of labor is the main problem of keeping Peterborough's streets clear during the three-inch fall of snow which began early Thursday morning, City Engineer Parsons said today.

"There haven't been any complaints about the streets yet," he said today, "and you might say the situation is under control... but not under control the way we'd like to have it."

The sidewalk plows, he said, were out during the night, and of course the regular snow-plows have been out during the day.

The situation in the county was summarized by County Engineer D. A. Maciver today, who said that the roads for the most part are heavy, and in few cases, has trouble been reported. Only one call has been received today, he said, and that came from the Cordova district, where a road is apparently blocked. One plow was out this morning, and another will be sent out this afternoon.

Trains operating in and out of Peterborough were reported on time by both C.N.R. and C.P.R., and Peterborough Public Utilities reported there had been no trouble of any kind as a result of the snowstorms. The Bell Telephone here has had "no trouble" either.

Denure Bus Lines said today that the morning coach from Lindsay arrived here all right, and that apparently the roads between here and Lindsay, while reasonably heavy, are still quite open. Other bus companies awaited the arrival of coaches from the Bancroft and Apsley districts, which are expected to arrive on time.

Main inconvenience of the storm seemed to be the deep snow and the biting wind, bringing snow-boots, big fur coats and other winter apparel into the open for the first time in the season.

Two Pupils Win Sports Medals

Awards to the best boy and best girl in sports in Grade VIII at King George School were presented Thursday in a brief ceremony at which all the students were present.

Mrs. George Bousfield presented the Bousfield Medal to Malcolm Van Allen, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Van Allen, 566 Armour Road. This award is given in memory of Mrs. Bousfield's son, who was a member of the school about 12 years ago.

Adele Gardiner, as the best girl in sports in Grade VIII 1943-44 was presented with a medal by Mrs. William Tinker. This is the gift of both she and her husband, and following the presentation, Mr. Tinker spoke briefly, advising the pupils to get a good education. Adele is the daughter of Mrs. C. Hopcroft, 62 Sophia street. During the ceremony, Rev. A. J. Arthur also spoke.

Daniel D. Delaney Dies At Douro Home

DOURO, Dec. 1 — (ENS). — A lifetime resident of this community Daniel D. Delaney, R.R. 4, Lakefield, passed away on Thursday afternoon at his residence, Lot 10, Concession 6, after an illness of about a month. In his 76th year, he was born in Douro, and has lived in this district his entire life.

Mr. Delaney is the son of the late Dennis Delaney and Honorah Condon. During his lifetime, he was a successful farmer. Educated in Douro, he was a member of St. Joseph's Church, and also belonged to the Holy Name Society.

Mr. Delaney leaves to mourn his loss seven sons, three of whom are serving in the Royal Canadian Air Force, Flying Officer Anthony Delaney, who holds the Distinguished Flying Cross; Flt. Lieut. Gerrard Delaney, LAC. Bernard Delaney, Michael of Windsor, James, Daniel and John, all of Douro. Also surviving are three daughters, Mary and Rita of Toronto, Mrs. Mastia Moher (Margaret) of Douro, and one brother John Delaney of Dummer, and two sisters, Mrs. John Garvey, Douro, and Mrs. Peter Doherty of Otonabee.

The funeral will be on Monday at 8:30 o'clock from the residence to St. Joseph's Church in Douro, where mass will be offered at nine o'clock. Interment will be in St. Joseph's Cemetery in Douro.

Building Permits Total $604,745

Nine dwelling in the November list of permits issued at City Engineer Parsons' office represented realty value of $36,200. Two garages added $31,100 and 42 miscellaneous permits amounted to $14,142 for a total of $53,642 and for eleven months $604,745.

Corresponding statistics for November last year were: three dwellings $10,500; 22 miscellaneous $64,825. Total $75,325. And for the eleven months to the end of November 1943—$320,300.

Permits last month included the conversion of the former W. G. Morrow residence into three apartments. The estimated cost of the work was $3,000. Dr. F. S. Minns of Hamilton bought the property from the Morrow estate.

Havelock Groups Support Christmas Fund

The advent of the final month of the calendar year always brings deeper thoughts of Christmas and its great significance, spreading a spirit that is unequalled in sentiment, and sympathy for those whose lot has fallen upon unfortunate times.

A recent clipping from an English daily press handed to the writer reveals the tragedy that war has inflicted on some people through the flying bomb, this particular instance being in connection with just one of these terrible missiles of destruction that fell in Lewisham, one of the boroughs in the south of England.

This happened during the morning when women were queueing up in the market with their shopping bags. Suddenly there came a roar of a flying bomb, and a warden shouted "Get Down." Many threw themselves down, but others had no time.

The bomb crashed onto a stone mason's yard, and debris was hurled into the air. Buses were wrecked, while men and women were blasted across the pavement, their clothes ripped off or set on fire, and a big store was set ablaze besides other shops being badly damaged.

From this one of many similar incidents, 51 people were killed, and 216 injured, many among them being young children. In a summary that gave some figures in regard to flying bomb incidents, it was disclosed that damage had occurred to 149 schools, 112 public houses, 111 churches, and 98 hospitals.

All people who have a part in this beautiful Christmas spirit that will surely increase as the December days move on, will have some desire to give such sufferers as these something to cheer them on their way at that time.

To-day may really be counted one that belongs principally to the town of Havelock, where three different groups have demonstrated this Christmas spirit in a practical way, by sending donations to assist in aiding these people through the Peterborough and District British War Victims Fund. The fund is represented in that place by Miss Minnie Williams, through whom the gifts were received.

These include the Dorcas Rebekah Lodge No. 98 of Havelock, the Knox Presbyterian Church Ladies' Aid of the same place, and the Women's Auxiliary to the Air Cadets, Havelock, each of whom have responsibilities in other ways concerning their own organizations, and thus demonstrate their ability to look beyond their own circle, by doing good work for others far removed form their own immediate sphere of activity.

The penny box at the Bell Telephone Co., Ltd., office on Hunter is always collected on a monthly basis, the latest of these appearing to-day in an amount of $2, being made up to that amount by the cashier under whose direct care it comes. This makes a total of $143.58 it has now contributed to the fund.

For some time now the members of the Star of Bethlehem L. O. B. A. with Mrs. Wood as convener, have been selling tickets for a draw on a goose and a basket of groceries, and this will be made at the Bingo to be held in the Orange Hall this Saturday night. Bearing a name closely associated with the Christmas season, these women uphold the tradition of such, by doing something in this way to help the Christmas Fund, repeating an act that also gave assistance on previous occasions.

Councils' Bylaws Pass 4,400 Mark

The number of bylaws passed by the municipal corporation of Peterborough since its establishment as a town in 1850 has passed the 4,400 mark.

This fact was noticed at a recent meeting of the council when it was noticed that Bylaw 4,400 was the numerical designation of the Peterborough Community Memorial Centre Bylaw. This is the instrument which authorized the council to issue debentures for the amount of $75,000, whenever needed, to augment the funds of the Centre which were collected by subscription from Peterborough's industries and citizens. It is likewise the bylaw which the ratepayers are being asked to endorse at the polls Monday.

Planes Attack Minesweeper

A member of the crew of a minesweeper which cleared the first channel into Cherbourg Able Seaman Gordon Savage has been spending a furlough with his mother, Mrs. P. R. Savage, 591 Sherbrooke street.

In the Navy since August, 1941, and reticent about his experiences, AB. Savage admitted that they had a little opposition during the time that kept Channel lanes open before and after D-Day. He is a gunner and the invasion action came during his third term of serving overseas. He had previously been over in September, 1942, February 1943, and the last time from January, 1944.

The flotilla of minesweepers with which his ship was working, was attacked several times by German aircraft, but they did not succeed in hitting his ship, although enemy shore installations managed to spray them with shell fragments. He said that they would clear a passage and then frequently have to go over the same area again, as during the night, Nazi planes would sew more mines and E boats would come in behind them leaving a wake of destruction.

Prior to enlisting in 1941, AB Savage was a farmer living in Saskatchewan and his wife lives at Birch Hills, Sask. He is the son of Mrs. P. R. Savage and the late Mr. Savage.

Keene Man Applies For Bus License

W. F. Fletcher of Keene has asked the city council to support his application for a bus license from Millbrook to Peterborough by way of Cavan.

The De Nure buses applied for a Port Perry franchise through Cavan, and in the meantime the council learned that provincial authorities were withholding new franchises until after the war. City Solicitor Huycke was asked to interview Mr. Fletcher to obtain details of his project.

New Post-War Highways To Cost 250 Millions

TORONTO, Dec. 1—(CP).—A five-year postwar highway construction plan to cost approximately $250,000,000 has been drawn up by the Ontario Department of Highways.

This was announced last night by Premier Drew in an address to the annual banquet of the Automotive Transport Association of Ontario who said the program for "the whole five years has been worked out and investigation is proceeding of the various details, such as location, grades and the structures required along the highways."

The Premier said plans also are being made for road development to be undertaken jointly by municipalities and the Department of Highways. This program also will cover a five-year period and is in addition to the plans for provincial highways. It will include the replacement of county and township bridges which have become obsolete.

"These plans will make both commercial and private trucking possible on a scale never known before" and "with these changes there will be a tremendous improvement in the farm-to-market roads which connect the farming communities with the provincial highway system."

While he did not divulge the plans or sites of any of the proposed new highways, Mr. Drew said he believed that the plans already made by the Highways Department "will lay the foundation for a vast postwar development in agriculture, in industry, in tourist traffic, in mining and in the use of our great forest resources."

Truckin Grows.

This is something which is of direct concern to every one in this province. Many cities and towns are entirely, or almost entirely, dependent on trucks for their milk supplies. More than half of our livestock is moved by motor transport. Nearly half of our fresh fruit and vegetables are carried in that way....

"I think it is no overstatement to say that to a very great degree the whole structure of our present way of living is based upon highways and the vehicles moving over them and that the speed of our postwar development in this province will depend very largely upon our highways and the way we use them."

Mr. Drew said further that while "we now have a highway system in Ontario which compares favorably with that of any similar area in the whole world, we have only started to bring our highways into line with the development of the automotive vehicle and the great opportunities which lie before us."

British Oppose United States Plan For Aviation

By C. R. BLACKBURN
Canadian Press Staff Writer

CHICAGO, Dec. 1—(CP).—British opposition to a United States plan for attaching the "five freedoms" of the air to an agreement to be adopted by delegates to the International Civil Aviation Conference here today left the U.S. delegation with its proposal in a separate package from other achievements of the discussions.

The result represented something of a victory for the United Kingdom which would have preferred that the freedoms not be presented in any form, and to some degree a setback for the United States, which had hoped to give the ideals the prestige of attachment to the forthcoming convention.

The "five freedoms" cover the right to cross another country's territory, to make non-commercial stops, to carry outbound home traffic anywhere, to pick up inbound home traffic anywhere, and to carry the traffic of other countries so long as those countries do not forbid it.

Optional Plan.

The forthcoming convention will include an air navigation agreement, including technical standards and procedures; a set of rules for air transport operations, and an international organization to administer the convention.

The United States, acting to make an "open air" policy available to all countries desiring to share in it, had offered its plan as a document which might be attached to the general agreement as an optional pact. British spokesmen were unwilling to give it that status, and in a drafting committee meeting, apparently out-manoeuvred the Americans.

The change appeared to be more in form than in substance, since the document now merely stands alone for individual action.

The action of the sub-committee, a body on which all countries at the conference are represented, disposed of the controversial points which plagued the meeting for several weeks. Now in its second month, the conference is expected to settle to the routine of drafting final versions of the agreements and translating them into French and Spanish.

lines flew 80 per cent of their mileage outside their country. This accounts for the difference of viewpoint.

The case is irrefutable that an instrument covering international aviation alone is not sufficient basis for aerial disarmament. Yet the case is equally plain that international aviation and all other branches of aviation must be made subject to the will for peace if security is to exist.

The American position has another powerful argument behind it. The airplane will be one of the chief agencies of contact and understanding among nations, and it is urgent that routes be set in motion, that the nations secure an expanding use of wings in mankind's new age of flight. Fears that would restrict the advent of that age would close the door to the growth of understanding among the peoples of the world. The "freedom" of aviation which stirs the deep sentiments of all peoples is that the nations shall be free to throw air lines around the globe, linking nations together. To grasp this freedom now has been, after all, the chief concern of the nations meeting at Chicago.

Courting Death

MEAFORD, Dec. 1—(CP).—Army officials and police this week recovered a "live" trench mortar bomb from a local home, the second recovered here in a week. The bombs apparently were taken from the nearby Canadian Army tank range.

Hand Cut On Engine

BAILIEBORO, Dec. 1 — (ENS) — Melville Wood had four fingers of his right hand badly cut while working around the tractor engine. His hand slipped and was caught by the fan, cutting all four fingers, one of which required a stitch to close the gash.

Elect John A. Dewart

As Alderman

In asking for your support at the polls on Monday to elect me Alderman, I do so as a Business Man, who is deeply interested in Peterborough and anxious to see this city progress.

As a ratepayer who pays taxes on an assessment of over $40,000, I feel that Peterborough needs in the next few years a good strong business administration. One that is prepared to make a thorough study of all proposed projects and improvements and ready to PUSH the plans to completion.

In the PAST there has been too much time wasted between DECISIONS and ACTION.

Consideration for the Returned Man

Many of these decisions will effect our returned men and as one who has always taken a keen interest in the affairs of the veteran I feel that I am able to give the fullest consideration to questions relating to the RETURNED MAN.

Endorses Money Bylaws

I most heartedly endorse the Civic Hospital Bylaw and the Memorial Centre Bylaw, but in endorsing these projects, I believe that it will be the duty of the Council to see that Peterborough Ratepayers receive a Dollar's Value for every Dollar Spent. I maintain that all plans and proposed expenditures should be closely scrutinized by the Council, before authorization is given and that the people should be taken into the complete confidence of those in charge of the planning.

I solicit your vote and influence and in return, if elected, will do my best to see that Peterborough gets a GOOD, SOUND and PROGRESSIVE GOVERNMENT.

JOHN A. DEWART.

Elect A. E. THOMPSON Alderman

TO THE PEOPLE OF PETERBOROUGH—

I ask your support in the coming Aldermanic election, and assure you that if I am elected I will devote my time and energy to the welfare of the citizens of Peterborough.

In am one hundred per cent in favor of the new proposed hospital and would advise all ratepayers to vote yes, as Peterborough is growing every year. I am also strongly in favor of the Community Centre Memorial and additional recreational facilities for the youth of Peterborough.

The same ability which has built my real estate and insurance business to one of the foremost in Peter borough is at your disposal if you elect me.

Annual Dance of Alumnae Held at Summer Gardens

Peterborough's first real snowfall of the year marked the evening of the annual dance sponsored by the Nicholls Hospital Alumnae on Wednesday. However, instead of dampening the crowd, the blanket of snow had quite the opposite effect, and everyone entered into the spirit of the approaching Christmas season.

An excellent crowd danced to the music of the Melody Men, or stood talking in happy groups around the floor, and guests continued to arrive throughout the evening.

Patronesses for the dance were Miss E. G. Young, Mrs. John Hornal, Mrs. V. E. Morphet, Mrs. H. A. Mitchell, and Mrs. J. Thornton, Mrs. V. Janeway was general convener for the event, and Miss Betty Beer was social convener.

For Saturday, December 2

THERE ARE signs of a perplexing state of affairs, with obstacles and impediments difficult to handle unless a peculiar degree of pressure be drawn on by tactful measures and yielding where possible while still maintaining sound principles and the sense of obligation to duty, codes and responsibilities. A surprise change or radical rearrangement of programs, may avert fraud, craftiness, betrayal or other illusive and subtle entanglements. Such sagacity may attract support from those in power, either in public or private bodies. With this may develop happier domestic or social relations.

If It Is Your Birthday

Those whose birthday it is may have a year of opportunity to exhibit their ingenuity, cleverness, and originality when engulfed in a tight place. Be alert to treachery and pursue surprise measures, with compromise or flexibility if possible but without employing expediency or sacrificing any tenets of duty or obligation. This show of genius and integrity should enhance public prestige while also restoring personal domestic, social or romantic pupularity and happiness.

A child born on this day should have unique talents and ingenuity, with which it may be called upon to vanquish intriguing persons, subtle situations or sinister entangling alliances. It should win in public prestige.

THE FITTED RAINCOAT—The raincoat is one of America's best handled fashions today, but the trend is usually toward belted and somewhat voluminous models easily recognized as functional old stuff. Here we have, however, a coachman's coat model smoothly fitted as if it were one's best sunny-day wearable, and yet so skillfully contrived that it will slip on easily over the costume one wishes to showerproof.—By Prunella Wood.

DOROTHY DIX . . . . .

SERVICE WIFE TAKES JOB

Questioning Husband Should Be Told His Mother Was the Instigator.

DEAR MISS DIX—My husband is in the service overseas. When he went away, he asked me particularly not to take a job as I have not been strong since our baby's birth and he wished me to recover my health, and also he wanted me to devote myself to giving the baby the best possible care.

But my mother-in-law has been after me ever since he left, urging me to go to work and accusing me of being lazy. So a few weeks ago I got a light job at a defense plant, hoping that would satisfy her. But since I have gone to work, my husband keeps asking me in his letters why I did so. He said he knew that it was not necessary and he couldn't understand it because I had never gone against his wishes before. He wants to know what my difficulties are that force me to get a job.

Shall I write and tell him that it is his mother's idea? I hate to complain to him about his mother, but what else can I do to get this all straightened out?

Tell The Truth

ANSWER—You owe it to yourself and your husband to tell him the truth. You don't need to criticize his mother. Just tell him that she thought it was the proper thing for you to do, and that otherwise you would not have thought of not following his plan.

It is always a mistake to permit yourself to be misjudged in order to cover up some one else's fault. There is nothing noble in sacrificing yourself for another. It is just folly. There is no place for martyrs in this world. Everybody respects the person who stands up for her own rights.

DEAR MISS DIX—I read in the paper about the girl who had sixteen husbands. I am not surprised, for any girl who can get one husband is capable of getting as many more as she wants. I'll bet a dime that this much-married girl has a good disposition, is neat, doesn't wear slacks, lets the men do most of the talking and listens interestedly.

Furthermore, I'll bet she never misses any opportunity to make a man feel big and strong and she lets him know how much she needs his manly care and protection. Also, she hangs on his words and asks his advice and lets him see that she considers him a fascinator.

A man wants a girl to be sympathetic and kind and he likes to be teased and coddled and flattered, and he wants her to think that all the other girls are crazy about him. Any girl who will apply these arts to getting her man can marry as early and as often as she wants to.

ANSWER—Cut this out and paste it on your mirrors, girls, for it contains many a helpful hint that will profit you in the husband chase.

Of course, all men don't fall for the same tactics, but there are certain basic charms that never grow stale and to which practically all men are amenable. The chief of these is keeping the spotlight focused steadily on the man you wish to catch. As long as a woman does his, he is hers. And the beauty of this simple trick is that it works just as well after marriage as before.

DEAR DOROTHY DIX—A young man of my acquaintance dates a girl five times a week, yet he has no intentions of marrying her. I tell him that the girl will think he is in love with her and that he has serious intentions. He says that is all nonsense; that she knows that he is not a marrying man, and that their friendship is just platonic.

Do you think he is being just to the girl?

READER.

ANSWER — Of course, he isn't being fair to the girl, unless you assume that she is such a dumb Dora that she can't read the handwriting on the wall. If she had any intelligence, she would know that a man who doesn't pop the question within six months after he becomes a steady caller, is never going to do it. She is wasting her time and throwing away her chances of making a good marriage by letting this lad hang around. But that is the optimism of women. They always believe that the man they are in love with is going to fall in love with them eventually. That is why there are so many old maids.

Women Observe St. Andrew's Day

The regular meeting of the Church Women's Year of All Saints' Anglican Church was held Thursday afternoon with the president, Mrs. J. Adams, presiding. The meeting opened with the reading of the Bible lesson by Miss L. Elliotson.

Mrs. R. N. Jones, reporting for the Navy League, said that 39 articles had been knitted for the month. In her report for the visiting committee, Mrs. R. Leach said that 19 calls had been made and 12 cards sent to sick and bereaved members.

Alderman William Ovens spoke to the women in support of the Civic Hospital by-law. He outlined the urgent need for a larger hospital and asked them to give their support to it in the coming election.

Mrs. G. S. Shaw, accompanied at the piano by Mrs. W. A. Logan, was guest soloist.

The rector, Rev. W. A. Filer, was the speaker for the afternoon. Since Thursday was St. Andrew's Day, he spoke on St. Andrew, Scotland's Patron Saint. He stressed his meekness and greatness, describing his life as a disciple of Jesus Christ, his missionary travels, and his brotherly love.

The meeting closed by singing the hymn for St. Andrew's Day, and tea was served by Mrs. R. Leach and her group.

ARE YOU AWARE OF THESE FACTS?

That while the ratepayers are being asked to provide $600,000 for the new Civic Hospital, actually $300,000 of this is paid by business and industry for their assessment is half the total general assessment of Peterborough

That the annual cost for twenty years to the home owner whose assessment is $1,000 will be $1.50.

$1,200 will be $1.80	$2,750 will be $4.12
$1,500 will be $2.25	$3,000 will be $4.50
$1,800 will be $2.70	$3,500 will be $5.25
$2,000 will be $3.00	$4,000 will be $6.00
$2,250 will be $3.37	$4,500 will be $6.75

Yuletide Boxes Received By 92 Soldiers

Mrs. D. T. Diplock reported that 92 letters of thanks for Christmas boxes had already been received from soldiers serving overseas, at the regular meeting of the Active Army Auxiliary, Thursday a the Y. W. C. A. She read several of them and said that all expressed appreciation to the Auxiliary, the mayor and the city council, and the citizens of Peterborough, for their part in making possible such an excellent Christmas box.

Since the packing for the Christmas boxes for Canada will be done on December 7 at St. John's Parish Hall, beginning at one o'clock, recent changes in address of men and women of the active army, stationed in Canada, should be 'phoned immediately to Mrs. James Turnbull, 304 Monaghan Road. Members were informed of the Christmas concert for all children of men in all the services, in Canada or overseas, to be held December 9 at 2:30 in the drill hall at the Training Centre. The Citizens' Committee is sponsoring the entertainment; and there will be prizes for the children. Their mothers are also invited.

Mrs. B. D. Hall said that 15 calls had been made on next-of-kin of recent casualties, and Mrs. J. Duncan reported that she had sent cigarettes and airgraphs to eight men wounded or in hospital, and that six replies had been received. The date for the next meeting was announced as December 14, in the Y. W. C. A. and the meeting will open at eight o'clock. Because of the Christmas season, that will be the only meeting for December.

Dr. G. S. Cameron briefly addressed the group on the proposed civic hospital, and said that no one could deny Peterborough's need for a modern, well-equipped hospital. Mrs. W. B. Brown was guest soloist, and sang three selections. At the close of the meeting, refreshments were served by the sociall committee, with Mrs. J. Morley in charge.

Women Praised By Mayor For Persistent Efforts

TORONTO, Dec. 1—Persistence—"working toward objectives in the knowledge that if you do not get what you want this year you will the next or the year after"—has always been the spirit of council work, said Mayor Fred J. Conboy, addressing the annual meeting of the Provincial Council of Women, which began two days' sessions here yesterday. Mrs. R. J. Marshall presided, and representatives from all but one of the 19 local branches of the Province presented reports.

It is the persistence of the Council which has won for the community many of the reforms and social advantages enjoyed today, said the Mayor, speaking especially with refernce to the medical and dental services in the schools.

One of the biggest problems of the moment that warrants Council's continued support is the fight against venereal diseases, said the Mayor.

Points to Responsibility

Women's responsibility in public affairs, especially in the rehabilitation problems which will shortly face them," was stressed in Mrs. Marshall's address.

"War is giving women economic opportunity, and if we press hard enough we will win economic freedom," she said. "Sometimes we wonder if we will neglect the fight for economic freedom as we neglected the franchise. We have no right to criticize our Government if we do not use our franchise," she warned.

"We need women in politics, not just because they are women, but because they are valuable citizens with worthwhile contributions to make. We need informed, educated women," she said. "There is no use of asking for women on committees if we do not have trained, informed women. We must be international in our thinking.

"Fully employment and fully paid employment for women depends upon us," she said. "Our attitude regarding the married woman in industry is also important."

Sees Chief Concern

"Our concern now is that all have fair and equal consideration as citizens in a democracy which should guarantee equal opportunity to any person who needs work and wants to work in the future," she said.

The all-round development of youth is also a "must" of the new order, she reminded, since "a new, will-informed generation of men and women is a primary requisite of the world of tomorrow." This all-round development includes adequate programs of health, recreation, religious training, equal educational opportunity for urban and rural children; it involves social security and opportunity for earning a living in a job of their choice.

War work loomed large in the reports of local councils. Recreational centres as war memorials is an idea being sponsored by a great many.

Welsh Group Enjoys Party

Mrs. M. Edwards, 220 Dublin street, opened her home Wednesday evening for a Christmas program and social evening, sponsored by the St. David's Society. Christmas decorations decked the rooms, and a large number of guests were welcomed.

Various artists taking part in the program were: A quartette from St. George's Church, who sang several selections; Miss Judy Walsh, presenting a novelty tap dance; Mrs. J. Henderson, giving a reading; Mrs. G. Bousfield, Mrs. Walsh and Kitty Flowers, who sang solos. Miss M. Flowers was at the piano. The program was under the direction of Mrs. R. Jones, president of the society.

Mrs. J. K. Hughes briefly addressed the gathering on the question of the proposed civic hospital, and asked for support of the project when the bylaws were presented to the public on December 4.

Mrs. E. Saunders convened the refreshments served at the close of the entertainment. Pouring tea were Mrs. M. Pakenham and Mrs. W. Flowers, and Miss K. Edwards, Mrs. L. Clark, Miss M. Jones and Miss Mary Knox assisted in serving. A sale of Christmas novelties was supervised by Mrs. J. Henderson. The vote of thanks to those taking part in the program and to the hostess was extended by Maurice Parry.

CWL Sponsors Christmas Fair

In spite of the weather Thursday afternoon, the Christmas fair, sponsored by the St. Peter's sub-division of the Catholic Women's League was a great success, and was well patronized.

The booths, set up in the Knights of Columbus hall, were beautifully decorated, each in a different color, and accented by the colored lights. In addition to the fair, tea was served. Convener of the tea room was Mrs. A. E. Cauley, assisted by Mrs. F. J. Hickey, Mrs. J. E. Sullivan, Mrs. F. P. McNulty, Mrs. W. Blackburn Mrs. W. J. Fair, Mrs. T. J. Ryan and Mrs. C. Donnelly.

Supervising the home-made jams, jellies, and candy booth, were Mrs. J. Cameron as convener, and Mrs. J. McCarney. Mrs. E. Riley was in charge of the white elephant booth assisted by Miss A. Simmons and Mrs. T. J. Carroll, and Mrs. R. Rutherford, as convener, and Mrs. George Lynch as assistant, were on duty at the clothing display. Lookinig after the apron booth were Miss T. McNamara as convener, and Mrs. M. Meagher and Miss Murray.

Several draws were conducted during the afternoon. Mrs. P. J. Burke was in charge of the sale of tickets on a large cake, which was won by Mrs. E. Riley. Miss Agnes Grant was winner of a lamp, with the tickets sold at the white elephant table, while Mrs. J. Cameron won a luncheon set Miss Grant was in charge of the sale of tickets on a blanket, and the draw will be made later. General convener for the occasion was Miss Lillian Hurley.

Teen-age Rally Attracts 175 Delegates

About 175 girls, representing many of the Protestant churches of the city and district, gathered at Murray Street Baptist Church Wednesday afternoon and evening for a 'teen-age girls' rally.

Miss Margaret Robb, of Toronto, Ontario secretary of the National Girls' Work Board, was guest speaker. She expressed her pleasure at being able to visit Peterborough, and chatted with the girls about the C.G.I.T. movement, saying that there were about 40,000 girls in the C.G.I.T. in Canada. She also outlined the Senior Quizz, a project for the senior girls between 15 and 18 years of age.

Prior to the banquet, a recreational period was conducted by Mrs. Ada Huffman, assisted by Miss Beryl Hart. Miss Joan Penhall, president of the Girls' Council, welcomed leaders and members, and representatives of the various churches answered the general roll call. A special vote of thanks was extended to Miss Mary Ellis, convener of the banquet. Mrs. Ross McIntyre of Keene introduced the speaker.

Training Centre Dance Great Success

A large number of junior hostesses from the Quaker Oats, the Outboard Marine and W.V.S. groups were in attendance at a dance at the canteen of the Training Centre Thursday evening. Senior hostesses, Misses Marie Kearns, Lola Leach, and Agnes Dixon were in charge of the hostesses.

The Citizens' Co-ordinating Committee provided the music by Jack Marshall and his orchestra, and Supervisor E. Irwin, the Auxiliary Services officer supervised the arrangements at the camp. Refreshments were served by Sgt. Joe DeNoble and his staff, assisted by several C.W.A.C.'s. Miss Gertrude Cox and Mrs. J. K. Hughes of the Citizens' Committee were in charge of the dance, which was presented with the permission of Major H. J. Bowen, acting O.C.

Winners of the various novelty dances were: elimination dance, Miss Clothilde Hurley and Pte. Fred Palmer; statue dance, Miss Helen Wade and Private E. Blake; lucky number dance, Miss Annie Watson and Pte. Wilfred Oliver; birthday dance, Miss Lillian Elliott and Pte. Lavoie.

Hold Reception At St. Paul's

Following the induction service at St. Paul's Presbyterian Church Thursday evening, for Rev. Samual Johnston. Rev. Johnston and Mrs. Johnston were special guests at a reception, in the Sunday school auditorium. The congregation gathered to meet the new minister and his wife, and were introduced by Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Hill and Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Moorhead, who were also receiving.

The Ladies' Aid of St. Paul's was responsible for the reception, and Mrs. W. A. Burrell was social hostess, assisted by her committee. Centring the large tea table was a basket of bronze baby 'mums, and silver services were placed at either end of the lace cloth, with Mrs. A. McIntyre, president of the Ladies' Air, and Mrs. E. Howson, president of the Women's Missionary Society, pouring tea.

The Fraser Auxiliary also was in charge of a tea table, as was the Young Women's Auxiliary, and Mrs. John Anderson and Miss Harriet McGeary poured tea. Members of the Ladies' Aid and the Auxiliaries assisted in serving.

A LEVER PRODUCT

Of Interest to Women

JUST FOR WOMEN

By CONNIE NICHOLSON (Society Editor of The Examiner)

Christmas Problem

"What to give her for Christmas?" is the perennial problem which always rears its head as the Yuletide season nears. The question of appropriate gifts presents a poser not only to the men but also the women, who wonder what would be a suitable gift for a sister, or cousin, or a close friend.

The emphasis is on wartime economy again this year, so gifts should be useful, not too expensive, and appropriate. For the girl who is filling her hope chest, an ideal gift would be a pair of towels, or pillowslips, and a dresser set or anything in dainty linen or cotton would be equally acceptable. Toiletries and perfumes always gladden the feminine heart, so that a close friend would be most pleased to receive an attractive bottle of perfume, and a dainty lace handkerchief tucked in the box wouldn't go amiss, either!

Try to suit the gift to the person. Give a book to a girl who's fond of reading, and have it deal with her pet subject. Musically minded misses will appreciate and treasure a piece of good music. For the hard-to-buy-for friend, an attractive piece of jewellery is always a welcome addition to her wardrobe, and gloves, if you know her size, and dainty scarves are also good. Remember that it's not the price of a gift that counts; it's just the fact that you've remembered, and have taken the trouble and interest to choose a present which you think will please.

Those Men Again!

Gremlins have the unhappy faculty of turning up in the most unexpected places, and living up to their reputation by causing trouble, but the newest and most unlikely spot they're managed to invade is a linen closet or clothes drawer.

However, it a women has the common habit of keeping her knitting articles in one corner of the closet, those little men have a first class invitation. It's been discovered that plastic needles, made of nitrocellulose, release nitric acid, when stored in a confined space without ventilation. The fumes released by this acid are absorbed by the linens, and cause serious damage, which shows up after washing, since the weight of the later parts the previously decomposed fabric. To be safe, and protect cottons, rayons and linens, store plastics in a separate box or drawer.

Lingerie Tip.

To keep that precious wool sweater fresh and soft and fluffy, even after repeated washings, here's a special tip. After a regular careful washing in luke-warm water and rich suds, and thorough rinsings, add two tablespoonsful of vinegar to the last rinse water. This extra rinse not only removes any excess soap that may still be clinging to the fibres, but helps restore its store-fresh sheen and texture.

Sporty Style.

A welcome and useful addition to a business girl's wardrobe is a chic and natty blazer. Since blouses or sweaters, and skirts, are the most popular items for business wear, the blazer helps give a finished suit effect to any ensemble, and adds extra warmth in the office, and under a winter coat when particularly chilly breezes blow.

They are available in many smart and attractive colors. There are navy blue and browns, and reds too, all trimmed with those distinctive white bands.

Kitchen Tips.

As a change from fried fish, try stuffing and baking it instead, or baking fillets in milk. As an extra special treat, try broiling fish steaks, basting them once or twice with melted margarine to which lemon juice and a little minced onion have been added.

Remember to soften and warm lemons by rolling in the oven or in hot water, and roll them again before cutting and squeezing them. A surprisingly larger amount of juice can be extracted.

Did you know that coffee grounds make a satisfactory compound to use in sweeping basement floors, for cleaning and keeping the dust down?

FRANKIE GIVES CLOTHES FOR "RE-MAKE"—Canadian Bobby-sockers are literally getting the clothes off the back of swoon-crooner Frank Sinatra. In Montreal recently, Frankie gave one of his swoon-suits to the ReMake centres operated by the Canadian Wartime Prices and Trade Board's consumer branch. It will be made-over into a smart suit for a high school girl and sent across Canada along with the complete Remake revue wardrobe which shows the younger set how they can save material by making old garments into new. Here a pretty bobby-socker tries the coat on for a fit and receives smiling approval from Sinatra.

THE TEA HOUR GOSSIP . . . .

"I have two recipes for puddings that are different. Are there different tastes in your family? Then, why not finish up one dessert in several ways. It's no more trouble and choosing a favorite is fun for the family.

Variety Pudding

2 cups milk, few grains grated nutmeg, tiny piece of stick cinnamon, tiny piece of lemon rind, 10 raisins, washed and dried, 2 teaspoons grape nuts, a small piece of shredded wheat, broken, 1 small jam sandwich, 2 eggs slightly beaten, 3 tablespoons granulated sugar, little salt, ½ teaspoon vanilla.

Scald milk in double boiler. In the meantime set five individual custard cups in a pan. Into first cup put a few grains of nutmeg, into second cup, a tiny piece of stick cinnamon and lemon rind, into third cup put raisins and grape-nuts, into fourth cup put just a little broken-up shredded wheat, in fifth cup put a small jam sandwich. Mix slightly beaten eggs, sugar and salt. Then slowly stir in the scalded milk. Add vanilla. Strain into custard cups Surround puddings with hot water, and bake in a rather slow oven 325 degrees until a silver knife inserted into the centre of a pudding, will come out clear. Serve hot or chill and turn out for serving. Serve with cream.

St. Nicholas Pudding

2 cups seedless raisins, 1 cup of cut-up stoned raisins, ¾ cup mixed peel, ½ cup blanched almonds, cup chopped suet, cup soft bread crumbs, cup brown sugar, cup of once sifted pastry flour, 1 teaspoon baking soda, 1 teaspoon salt, 1 teaspoon ground cinnamon, ½ teaspoon grated nutmeg, ¼ teaspoon each of ground ginger, mave, allspice, cloves, ¾ cup grated raw apple, 1 cup grated raw carrot, ½ cup grated raw potato, 3 eggs well beaten, ¼ cup grape juice.

Prepare and combine the raisins, prunes, peels and almonds. Combine the suet, bread crumbs and brown sugar. Measure and sift together the flour, baking powder, baking sola, salt, spices. Prepare and mix together apples, and vegetables. Combine these four mixtures thoroughly and stir in well-beaten eggs and grape juice. Turn into two buttered pudding bowls. Cover bowls loosely with scalded pudding cloth or a piece of cooking parchment which has been wrung out of cold water. Steam over plenty of boiling wates closely covered for 3½ hours.

PUT RELIGION FIRST

CARLISLE, England — (CP). — The Bishop of Carlisle, Dr. Herbert Williams says that lack of manpower in the church is the main cause of the decay of religion in England. The needs of religion, he said, should have first priority in consideration of post-war problems.

This Is Our Tribute!

What more fitting Memorial to the men of Peterborough who have fallen in this war, than the Peterborough Memorial Community Centre . . . a centre where young and old can meet and enjoy companionship and community activities, and a spot where our children can play in safety . . . our young people enjoy clean, wholesome supervised sport.

IN MEMORIAM

SWEETING, Fred—In loving memory of husband and father, who passed away 2 years ago, December 1st, 1942.

God called him home, it was His will
But in our hearts we love him still;
His memory is as dear to-day
As in the hour he passed away.

—Lovingly remembered by his wife Olive and Sherman.

ROBINSON, G. W.—In loving memory of dad, who passed away one year ago to-day, December 1st, 1943.

We shall meet with many a loved one
That was torn from our embrace
We shall listen to their voices
And behold them face to face.

—Ever remembered by Frank.

ROBINSON, Mrs. Frank—In loving memory of wife and mother, who passed away December 1st, 1942.

Yes, she sleeps but not forever
In a lone and silent grave
Blessed promise she shall waken
Jesus died the lost to save
In the dawning of the morning
When the troubled night is o'er
All the buds in beauty blooming
Will rejoice to see her more.

—Lovingly remembered by husband and children.

Farmers Name Personnel For Rural Group

Peterborough farmers who refused to let snow and cold north wind keep them at home nominated last night members of the County Agricultural Committee which was authorized by the Legislature at its 1944 sessions.

The personnel of the committee and their affiliations were: George Elliott, Norwood, representing the Cheese Producers' Association; E. L. Birdsall, beef cattle; W. A. Davidson, co-operatives and poultry; C. E. Moore, agricultural societies and Holstein cattle; Harvard White, milk producers; John Kitney, Federation of Agriculture and vegetable growers; Lorne Reynolds, farm young people's organizations and Jersey cattle breeders; Elmer Milburn, swine producers; Alex Huston, Plowmen's Association and Crop Improvement Association.

Two other members are to be appointed by the County Council and H. R Scott, M.P.P. It is possible that farm interests which may have been inadvertently overlooked will appoint another representative or two, but generaly it is felt that the present membership associates with the committee virtually all the Peterborough rural organizations.

The County Agricultural Committees were proposed by Hon. T. L. Kennedy, Ontario Minister of Agriculture, for the purpose of co-operating with and make suggestions to the agricultural representatives throughout the province, and broadly to be of assistance to the department by closer and authorized contact with the farmers of Ontario and their problems. Improvement of agricultural conditions is briefly the purpose of the new committees, many of which have already been organized. It is also hoped that they will be active in promoting farm youth affairs. They are asked to study rural questions and trends in the probability of making recommendations not only to the Ontario Department, but also to county councils and the federal Department of Agriculture.

The county representative of the Department shall be the secretary-treasurer of the committee whose members are not employees of the provincial government, but the committee may receive some financial help from the Ontario Department in circumstances that warrant such support. The Act requires an annual meeting, and it is expected that various meetings will be held throughout the year, especially during the fall and winter seasons.

It has been suggested that the usefulness of the County Agricultural Committee will depend largely upon the initiative and study of its members.

Patrick Coursey, Sr. Dies In 75th Year

An employee of the Canada Packers Company for 52 years prior to retiring in 1937, Patrick Coursey, Sr., after a brief illness, died Wednesday evening at his residence, 565 Romaine street. He was 74 years of age.

Mr. Coursey was born in Elliston, County Galway, Ireland, the son of the late Anthony Coursey and Bridget Lavery. He came out to Canada from Ireland when a little boy, and has lived in Peterborough for 66 years.

Mr. Coursey always took an active interest in politics, and was an energetic worker for the Liberal party. He was widely known and beloved by a large circle of friends, through his kindness and generosity. He was an enthuiastic member of Sacred Heart Church.

Mr. Coursey leaves to mourn his loss the following children, Mrs. T. R. Finewood, (Beryl), Rochester, N.Y., Mrs. Paul Goeke, (Margaret), Norfolk, Virginia; Mrs. Pat Calladine, (Lorraine), Peterborough, and William, of Toronto, and James and Patrick Jr. both of Peterborough. Others who survive are one sister, Miss Mary Coursey, Cleveland, Ohio, and one grandson, Jack, at home.

The funeral will be Saturday morning at 8:40 o'clock, from the family residence to the Church of the Sacred Heart where Requiem Mass will be offered at nine o'clock. Burial will be in St. Peter's Cemetery.

CANUCKS IN AUSTRALIA

In September it was announced that the 1st Canadian Army personnel had landed in Australia — a contingent of nine officers and 63 other ranks.

Sports Day By Day

ly of Oshawa and Art Jackson sparked the Boston attack.

* * * *

Sporting Chili Con Carne: Bill Calladine was back in the Bruins' lineup at Chicago last night and celebrated his return to the game by picking up a goal and an assist... Bill Cowley only secured one scoring point last night and Toe Blake by scoring twice and getting an assist against the Rangers gained on the scoring leader....Scherza for the Rangers cashed in on a major penalty shot....George Pargeter of the Buffalo Bisons did some high-class sniping when he fired five goals to enable the Bisons to turn back the Providence Reds....Wally Stanowski, discharged by the Air Force and slated to play with the Toronto Leafs has received an Army call...Whether he will play hockey or not depends upon the result of his medical examination....Dean Griffing, former Regina coach who played for Balmy Beach this season is taking up residence in Calgary....Bill Calladine sure held his goal against the Black Hawks until the last possible moment. .He beat Karakas with exactly two seconds left to play which is about as close as you can make it. ....Cleveland Barons have a new player named Sprout which is really an appropriate cognomen for a rookie.

Remember When–

(By The Canadian Press)

The New York State Athletic Commission ruled five years ago today that a fighter could not hold a title in more than one division at a time. The decision came as a result of confusion when Henry Armstrong of St. Louis held the featherweight and welter divisions simultaneously.

Romantic Italians

WASHINGTON, Dec. 1—(AP)—"Moderate intimacies with bathing-suited girls outside" was one of a series of incidents that led to removal of Italian prisoners of war from Camp McKay, Boston, Mass., the House of Representatives military committee reported yesterday.

Sought 3 Years Was In Battle

HALIFAX, Dec. 1 (CP)—Sought by Royal Canadian Mounted Police for nearly three years because he was absent without leave from a Canadian Army unit, Harry Everett of Halifax has returned home, after fighting with the British Eighth Army, and serving in the Royal Air Force and in the Merchant Marine.

Local military officers were reported to have withdrawn the charge against him when they heard Everett's record.

In speaking of his wanderings Everett said, "I didn't like the idea of sitting around. If I'm going to be in the army I want to fight, and that's why I left."

Speak In Support Of Hospital Bylaw

The third in a series of five broadcasts over CHEX in support of the new Civic Hospital will be heard this evening at 6:45 when four speakers representing the veterans, business men, professional men and the ladies will be heard.

The master of ceremonies will be James Wharry, and the speakers to-night will be Mrs. F. K. Harris, C. W. Hughes, George Gimblett, and Dr. Roger Chenoweth.

On Saturday eveningat 6:45 over CHEX D. G. H. Melton will speak in behalf of the by-law and on Sunday at 10.45 a.m. Lt.-Col. Murray Fraser, recently returned from overseas, will speak. Dr. Fraser is M.O.H. of Peterborough, and has been on leave of absence for five years.

TRUMPS ARE POLICEMEN

SO LONG as you have one or more trumps, you are in position to stop the run of any suit the defenders fire at you. Such trumps are policemen, as they stand guard over your interests against the threat of hostile suits. Often it is advisable, if you have to let the enemy have the lead, to discontinue offering trumps while you still retain enough to keep the returns from being disastrous.

Taking the first trick with the club Q, West repeated the suit with the 10, and South ruffed with his spade 5. Followed quickly the spade A, K and 7 to the Q to clear trumps, then the heart J, which West took with the K. The club J then was ruffed by the spade J. All too late, South realized that this method of play had used up his last trump while still being under the necessity of giving the defenders the lead with a heart. East won the Q lead with the A and scored the club A for the setting trick.

Just a little looking ahead could have shown South how that sequence of events would down him, but he had an alternative order of tricks which would have worked. After ruffing the second club, he should have scored only two high spades instead of three, then should have attacked the heart suit. A defender winning the first heart could have returned a third club to be ruffed with South's fourth trump. Then a second heart to the other defender could have brought a fourth club lead to be ruffed by South's last trump.

All this time, the spade Q would have remained in the dummy. It could have been reached via the diamond A, and its play would have cleared the suit, the heart 6 being discarded. Back then to the diamond K, for the cashing of the heart 10 and 9 on the last two tricks.

French Regiment Located Inside Germany

By MAURICE DESJARDINS
Canadian Press War Correspondent

WITH THE 1ST CANADIAN ARMY, Nov. 12 — (Delayed). — (CP. Cable). — Le Regment de la Chaudiere took up positions in Germany in the area of the De Wyler Forest east of Nijmegen and the French-speaking veterans of the first Normandy landings last June thus became the first Canadian unit to operate entirely on German soil during this war.

In this sector — the Nijmegen salient carved out by the British 2nd Army in eastern Holland — Germany looks much like Holland but the dikes are less high. Civilians have been evacuated.

"Our whole unit was inside Germany," said the commanding officer. "Every company was firmly holding a position in slit trenches on German soil."

(The dispatch did not indicate whether the commanding officer's use of the verb "was" meant the unit since has been moved.)

Maj. Michel Gauvin of Quebec, Maj. Fernand Lesperance of Montreal, Capt. J. P. Verge of Quebec, and Capt. J. Ross of Quebec were company commanders.

In the first word that Le Regiment de la Chaudiere, an infantry regiment of the 3rd Canadian Division from Lake Megantic, Que., was on German soil came last Friday from Quebec City. There Rev. Emile Turnel, former padre of the regiment, made public a letter in which the commanding officer said the battalion was the first Canadian Army unit to cross the German border.

DOG GUARDS MASTER IN DEATH—A seeing eye dog's loyalty to his blind master even in death proved a barrier to Los Angeles police and coroner's officials. Neighbors reported that Elvardo Patterson, 60-year-old blindman, had died after a heart attack in his apartment. Officials arrived on the scene but found that his Seeing Eye dog, Gwen, a German shepherd, was standing guard over the body. She refused to let the officers take the body to the county morgue. Finally the dog licked his master's face, sniffed and whined and satisfied himself Patterson was dead. She stood aside and the body was removed.

Home Nursing Course Planned

NORWOOD, Dec. 1 — (ENS) — The November meeting of the executive of the local Red Cross Society was held Tuesday, with the president, S. S. Breckon, in charge.

The discussion in connection with the home nursing and emergency course was re-opened. This course will benefit the girls of the three upper grades of the High School and will cover a period of approximately three months with a one-hour weekly lecture by a qualified nurse. It was decided that the local branch would sponsor this week, providing the services of a qualified nurse can be obtained.

Bills were presented for wool, sewing material and notice cards. The new quotas for 30 knitted articles and 50 boys' flannelette undershirts are to be completed by December 15 as all articles are urgently needed. The president stressed the need for more blood donors, and the secretary read correspondence from headquarters urging branches to procure more workers as quotas were not being accepted and completed as had been planned by the Ontario division.

Quilts donated during the month were as follows: Elgin Group, 3 large and 3 small; Donegal Group, 3 large; Mrs. F. Webster's Group, 8 large; Mrs. H. Ford's Group, 7 large and 8 small; South Dummer Group, 1 large; Presbyterian Ladies' Aid, 1 large quilt and 1 afghan; United Church Bible Class, 2 large.

Shipments to headquarters during November included 15 pairs of service socks, 5 pairs of boys' long stockings, 3 pairs of gloves, 10 ladies' nightgowns, 20 crib quilts and 34 large quilts.

Donations received during the month were as follows: Prisoner of war food parcel fund, $7.50 from Mrs. H. Ford's group, and $5 from Mrs. S. A. Sexsmith; general fund, $1 from Mrs. A. Rabal, Cleveland, Ohio, and $5 from the Willing Workers' Group.

King Certain Of Majority On Confidence Vote Call

By D'ARCY O'DONNELL—Canadian Press Staff Writer

OTTAWA, Dec. 2—(CP).—While parliament stood adjourned today for the week-end, attention turned from debate on reinforcements to conjecturing on how large a majority Prime Minister Mackenzie King's government will obtain on the vote of confidence motion. There appeared little doubt even among Opposition members that the Government had survived the crisis and would be supported by a sizeable majority when the confidence vote is taken, possibly Wednesday. Some Government supporters conjectured that the majority would range anywhere from 40 to close to 100.

Col. J. L. Ralston, who resigned as Defence Minister when the Cabinet, certain Ministers excepted, declined to accept his proposal to send Canada's 68,000 home defence troops overseas, has already announced his decision to support the Government.

He said that if he had been in the Cabinet last week when it passed an Order-in-Council making 16,000 of the draftees available for overseas service he would not have resigned, but he would have objected to the "piece-meal" method of supplying reinforcements.

All Satisfield.

Navy Minister Macdonald, Finance Minister Ilsley, Resources Minister Crerar and Revenue Minister Gibson, who were reported as being among those who supported Col. Ralston's stand in the Cabinet, were said to be satisfied with the Order-in-Council.

No Cabinet Minister has participated in the debate as yet. However, they could hardly vote against the Government without first resigning. If they voted against the Government while holding their portfolios they would literally be voting against themselves.

Hon C. G. Power, former air minister, who resigned because of his opposition to conscription, has gone to his summer home to recuperate from a recent operation and is not expected to return to the House before the vote is taken.

Social Credit members—there are 10 in the Commons—have disclosed they will support the government. M. J. Coldwell, C.C.F. Leader, has not indicated how he and his nine followers will vote. The 39 Progressive-Conservative members will vote against the government.

Developments yesterday indicated that many Quebec members will support the administration after ex-

Suicide Attacks Costly To Japs

GEN. MACARTHUR'S HEADQUARTERS, Philippines, Dec. 2—(AP).—Fanatical Japanese made repeated suicide charges south of Ormoc against the U.S. 7th Division, closest American unit to that vital port, but were beaten back after suffering heavy losses, Headquarters communique reported today.

At the northern end of the Ormoc corridor, rain-sodden, mud-caked troopers of the American 32nd Division inched forward for a slight gain after three days of absolute stalemate under tropical deluges.

Allied pace was slowed by quagmire conditions as it pushed to a point 1¼ miles south of Limon, which it captured last week. It was Limon the enemy had elected to take a detremined stand.

As the battle for Leyte Island entered its seventh week to-day, the torrential rains, coupled with stubborn Japanese resistance, put an end to any American hopes for an early conclusion to the struggle considered of crucial importance in the campaign to liberate all the Philippines.

Weather also retarded air operations by both sides.

Japanese casualties in the Leyte fighting, and in attempts to reinforce their garrisons there are believed to be approaching 100,000.

Wholesale Theft

PARIS, Dec. 2—(AP).—How the French gestapo broke American Embassy seals to steal silverware, rugs and furnishings valued at $340,000 was described to the Paris "collaboration court" yesterday as leaders of the pro-Nazi police, charged with collusion with the enemy, went on trial.

Nazis May Abandon Rules Of War

Enemy Provoked By Edict Of French General

LONDON, Dec. 2—(CP)—The German high command says it is considering abandoning international agreements on the laws of war, which among other things ban use of poison gas and provide for humane treatment of war prisoners.

Provoked by the proclamation of French Maj.-Gen. Jacques Leclerc that unless sniping ceased in Strasbourg five German hostages would be executed for each Frenchman shot, the Nazi high command said yesterday, that the "strongest counter-reprisals against French prisoners in Germany would be taken as a result of such a step."

"As conditions are, an inquiry is already in progress as to whether Grmany should continue to regard herself bound by the Geneva and Hague conventions, respectively, as well as by other international agreements about the laws of war, insofar as they have been broken by our enemies," said the high command statement, broadcast by the official German Agency DNB.

Before Leclerc and his French 2nd armored division had a chance to carry out his proclamation they were moved from Strasbourg. It appeared that his order—scheduled to have gone into effect today—would die a natural death.

It had been pointed out previously that execution of hostages in reprisal for sniping could be done within the bounds of the Geneva convention, as long as the hostages were not prisoners of war.

The German high command statement asserted that the inquiry into whether the Nazis should adhere to international rules of war was taken "in view of the increasing infringements of international law by our enemies." These infringements, said the Germans, "can only have been perpetrated intentionally."

Spaniards Look To Great Britain

LONDON, Dec. 2—(AP)—The London Times, calling Gen. Franco's Spanish regime "increasingly insecure," said today there is a danger than when a change comes it will "take the form of a catastrophic upheaval which may well result in civil war."

"Many Spaniards look to Britain as a champion of liberty and tolerance and as an exponent of well-tried methods of compromise and peaceful change," the Times said. "That fact no doubt imposes on this country special responsibility but it establishes no kind of British interest in the survival of a regime which has consistently emulated our enemies and spares no demonstration short of actual war of its sympathy with them."

RAILROAD YARDS SMASHED

LONDON—Three railroad yards in the Coblenz area, on the Rhine about 50 miles behind the western battlefront, were smashed today by more than 250 American heavy bombers and 550 fighters.

PITTSBURGH, Dec. 2—(AP).—When a contingent of marines arrived home from the Pacific, one of the female greeters in the station was surprised when one lad, a total stranger, gave her a hearty kiss. "Haven't you made a mistake?" she sputtered. "No, I haven't," he answered. "I haven't seen a woman for three years."

CCF Manifesto For Election Has 19 Points

MONTREAL, Dec. 2—(CP).)—Delegates to the eighth national convention of the CCF party which ended here last night after three days of active deliberations, were on their way to homes scattered across the country carrying with them a 19-point Federal election manifesto on which they will seek a mandate from the Canadian people.

The 250 delegates who re-elected M. J. Coldwell, member of parliament for Rosetown-Biggar, as their national leader brought only minor changes to the program as drafted by the party's national council whose re-elected chairman is Dr. Frank Scott of McGill University.

The manifesto, covering all spheres of human activity in Canadian life, sets as the objective of a CCF government "the establishment of a co-operative commonwealth in Canada."

Taking into account the rights of "minorities" and provinces, with the central aim jobs and adequate income for all, the CCF proposes to put the following summarized program into effect during its first term of office:

1. Re-establishment of service men and women:

Until satisfactory re-establishment is assured, post-discharge pay at a scale sufficient to insure adequate standards of health and comfort. Pension reform and adequate pensions. The right to periodical medical examination and treatment for life for all who have served in an active theatre of war in both world wars. Educational and training facilities. Financial aid.

2. Reconversion of war plants:

Conversion and operation, under public or co-operative ownership, of government-owned war plants and euipment.

3. Public projects:

A large-scale program of public investment, in co-operation with the provinces and municipalities.

Pressure Grows On Budapest From The Rear

MOSCOW, Dec. 2 (AP)—Russian troops, crossing the Mecsek Mountains southwest of Budapest, headed today onto a plain stretching to the border of Austria 90 miles away.

In this expansion of Marshal Feodor I. Tolbukhin's offensive west of the Danube, the 3rd Ukrainian Army overran more than 60 towns and villages and increased its pressure on the Hungarian capital from the rear. The Russians had beaten down hastily summoned German reinforcements.

To meet the Russian threat, Pest was being evacuated, the German radio announced. Pest is the major part of Budapest and lies on the east side of the Danube.

The Berlin broadcast said bridges were clogged with both military and civilian traffic but that the Germans were preparing for all-out resistance in Buda on the west bank of the Danube.

The capital has been under siege by the Red Army for many days.

Tolbukhin's troops basing their drive from the captured Hungarian industrial centre of Pecs, punched into German defenses in two directions yesterday.

Northward his forces pressed to the outskirts of Szekszard, 74 miles south of Budapest, and already had this stronghold outflanked although there was evidence the Germans intended to make a bitter stand in the town itself.

Other units hammered northwestward toward Lake Balaton, capturing the fortified highway junction of Sasd and the village of Csikostottos on the Haber Canal, 18 miles north of Pecs and 37 miles from the lake.

Having crossed the Mecsek Heights, the 3rd Ukrainian Army reached almost ideal terrain for the vast enveloping movements in which Tolbukhin excels.

While this climactic battle raged in Southern Hungary, Col.-Gen. Ivan Petrov's 4th Ukrainian Army, arriving westward through Czechoslovakia, forced the Ondava River on a 30-mile front and probed within 20 miles of the important railway and highway centre of Kassa (Kosice).

Petrov's advance across the swollen Ondava in the midst of slushy snowstorm bagged 3,000 prisoners in one day's fighting and severed the railway between Secovce and Satoraljaujhely by seizing Trebisov and Upor.

Almost All Burma Road Freed

CHUNGKING, Dec. 2—(AP).—Chefang, next to the last Japanese-held town on the Burma Road in China, has been captured by the Chinese forces, the Chinese High Command announced to-day.

Planes of the 14th Air Force assisted Chinese detachments in the seizure of the town, which left only about 24 miles of the Burma Road to be taken for assault upon the border city of Wanting.

Resistance was scant. Most of the defenders had withdrawn before the increasing pressure. As they retreated they set fire to the nearby villages and bridges to delay pursuit.

Occupation of Chefang in the Yunnan Province offensive came at the end of a 12-day push after the capture of Mangshih on November 19.

Meanwhile, the Kweichow Provincial Government ordered evacuation of all its non-essential employees from the capital of Kweiyang, threatened by a Japanese offensive.

Many of the city's 200,000 inhabitants and thousands of refugees who had taken brief sanctuary there from other danger zones also were leaving.

The Worst Yet

McALESTER, Okla., Dec. 2—(AP).—Postal clerks were really stuck for a while when they opened a mailbag and molasses came pouring out. Someone had mailed a package containing a half-gallon but the lid came off en route. Clerks spent a big part of the day removing molasses from other mail in the bag—and the rest of it explaining why letters and parcels were so sticky.

2 Million Men In Home Guard On Last Parade

By ALLAN NICKLESON
Candian Press Staff Writer

LONDON, Dec. 2—(CP).—The long alert has ended for the 2,000,000 men of Britin's home guard.

To-morrow the streets of cities and towns, villages and hamlets, the length and bread of this island, will resound to the tread of their last parade. The home guard, Britain's bulwark against invasion for 4½ years, has been stood down.

Officially the home guard has been at ease since a month ago, but the stand-down, involving the concentration of weapons and other equipment, is still in progress and this Sunday was set aside for the final formal parades. And this Sunday, too, was chosen for the King's broadcast to these men who served their country so well.

The home guard has not been demobilized and all members are liable to recall in the event of an emergency; but with Germany's own home guards in the battle line few people expect to-morrow's parades to be repeated until the final victory march.

A long association through some of the tensest years in Britain's history ended with the standing down of the home guard. It began one evening in that dark May of 1940 when Anthony Eden, then Secretary of State for War, broadcast an appeal for "large numbers of men in Great Britain between the ages of 17 and 65 to come forward now and offer their services."

Two weeks later the home guard, then known as local defence volunteers, numbered 500,000 men. That figure was double in two months, trebled in four and since then has risen close to the 2,000,000 mark.

Spared War.

Through their own strength the home guard, whom Prime Minister Churchill once described as "just as much soldiers of the regular army in status as the Grenadier Guards," were spared the reality of war which now is the fate of Germany's Volkssturm.

Yet, although they were never called upon to demonstrate their "determination to fight for every inch of the ground in every village and in every street," they were a vital cog in Britain's war machine. Without them soldiers of the regular army could not have been released in such great numbers for overseas service.

"I should like to see the great spirit which you have created permeate all our organizations in this country during the coming difficult years," Lt.-Gen. Sir Charles Lloyd, general officer commanding the London district, said at a stand-down luncheon.

Each man, however, will receive

Germans Expect New Drive In Canadian Sector Claim Troops Shifted Anew

Americans Exploit Collapse In Lorraine Tanks Extend Allied Front Along Saar River To Ten Miles

By JAMES M. LONG—Associated Press Staff Writer

PARIS, Dec. 2—(AP).—U.S. 9th Army troops battled into the Roer River bastion town of Linnich today, shoving the northern arc of the Cologne plain battle within 15 miles of the Rhineland factories of the twin cities of Rheydt-Munchen Gladbach. The 9th Army men hit back into Roerdorf and Flossdorf, lost to vicious Nazi counter-charges, and their U.S. 1st Army comrades farther south chopped slowly through fierce resistance toward Duren on the Roer.

Quiet was almost unbroken on the British 2nd Army front to the north in Germany and along the Meuse River in Holland. There were no reports of action from the front in Germany east of Nijmegen, last reported held by elements of the 1st Canadian Army.

A German propaganda broadcast said the Canadians had been moved "far to the east," and, with Gen. Crerar's troops massed in the Nijmegen salient, a large-scale attack was expected from that quarter.

Tanks of the U.S. 3rd Army lengthened the front on the Saar River opposite Merzig to 10 miles. Lt.-Gen. Patton's armor and men massed in striking positions along the Saar Valley.

On the right flank of this assault base, 3rd Army forces were within two miles of Saarlautern, and farther east infantry was eight miles south-west of Saarbrucken.

U.S. 7th Army troops were exploiting what seemed to be a collapse of the German line across North Lorraine. They drove to the outskirts of Haguenau and in a sweeping flank attack reached a point 10 miles north-west of the city—within 10 miles of the German border.

Attempt Fails.

Strasbourg still was under heavy German shellfire from east of the Rhine. The Germans tried to reinforce their tenuous and shallow bridgehead along the west bank at Strasbourg by boats under cover of a smoke screen, but U.S. artillery collapsed the attempt.

Infantry battled up the staircases of apartment buildings in the eastern suburbs in an effort to pinch out the bridgehead there. To the south, the Colmar Gap beween the 7th and French 1st Army was squeezed down to not more than 30 miles, a front dispatch said.

On the British front in Holland, all was quiet save for patrol activities. A British staff officer declared the Germans all along the western front were suffering more casualties than they could replace with trained men. Company strength in some cases is down to 40 men, compared with the normal 160, he said.

Lt.-Gen. Dempsey's men had only three pockets left to clean out before forming a solid front along the Maas. These were at Vierlingbeek, 17 miles north of Venlo; Wanssum, 12 miles north, and opposite Venlo.

A savage battle raged at Inden along the centre of the bulge toward Cologne. First Army troops fought to cross the Inde river to the eastern part of the town, but were brought under heavy mortar and artillery fire. Heavy guns supported the infantry.

Albereto Falls To Indians In British 8th

ROME, Dec. 2—(CP)—Indian units of the British 8th Army have captured the town of Albereto, scene of three days' bitter fighting, five miles northeast of the Italian road junction of Faenza, Allied headquarters said today.

Meanwhile, Monte Giornetto, 11 miles west-southwest of Faenza, fell to the Allied 5th Army without a struggle.

A continuous drizzle left the 8th Army front soggy, but British infantry, with strong tank support, advanced 500 yards between the Montone and Lamone Rivers northeast of Faenza.

The withdrawal from Monte Giornetto appeared to be a continuation of the enemy necessity of pulling out of the deep bulge he has been holding in the Northern Apennines, in order to prevent his forces from being trapped.

Farther west on the 5th Army front several German counter-attacks were beaten back in the vicinity of Bombiano, 25 miles southwest

Greek Ministers Resent Action

ATHENS, Dec. 2.—(AP).—All six cabinet ministers belonging to the Left Wing E.A.M. party resigned early to-day in the dispute over disbanding Greek Guerrillas.

John Zavgos, Communist Minister of Agriculture, protested what he called the "unilaterial decisions" of Maj.-Gen. Ronald Mackenzie Scobie, British commander of Allied troops in Greece.

Gen. Scobie was quoted by the Athens radio as saying he would "stand by the side" of the "present constitutional government" headed by Premier George Papandreou until it had a national army and was able to hold "free elections."

Thes broadcast said Scobie made his statement after informing the Greek people by pamphlets dropped by British aircraft that he had "undertaken to carry out" the Premier's order on guerilla demobilization.

The General was quoted as saying that he was "convinced that in many parts of Greece freedom of the people does not exist. There is still terrorism and deception. All this delays the distribution of food as well as general relief coming from Allied governments."

Aviation Talks Near End

American Ideas Likely To Be Adopted

CHICAGO, Dec. 2—(CP).—American ideas represented at the International Civil Aviation Conference seemed headed for success to-day as delegates from 54 countries drove toward a wind-up expected early next week.

Last hopes of bringing the Anglo-American delegations into accord on the question of air freedoms faded at a plenary session yesterday.

It now is expected the conference which opened November 1 will have the following general results:

1. Agreement on a draft convention setting up a permanent international air organization with limited authority but carrying annexes on technical operating standards for navigation and airports.

2. Agreement on an interim organization patterned exactly on the lines of the permanent set-up to carry on until the permanent convention becomes operative.

3. Agreement by those countries accepting the United States point of view to provide to signing states the five freedoms of the air—open competition for global air routes. Non-signers would go on relying on bi-lateral agréement as heretofore.

The original four freedoms gave privilege of innocent flight over signatory states, privilege of landing for non-traffic purposes, privilege to set down in one country pasengers from the aircraft's home country, and privilege to pick up return passengers for the aircraft's home country.

Montgomery May Direct Knockout Blow

Germans Think Eisenhower Will Select British-Canadians As Spearhead

By DEWITT MacKENZIE
Associated Press War Analyst

Berlin commentators continue to insist that Gen. Eisenhower has assigned to Field Marshal Montgomery and his 21st Army Group, on the Allied northern wing, the task of delivering the assault calculated to break through the Nazi defences and precipitate the crisis in the battle of the Cologne Plain.

Far be in from us to argue that point. As a matter of fact, we find no flaw in the idea. A powerful flanking movement on that northern wing certainly may be the high "C" of the Allied offensive.

And what captain could handle it better than the great Montgomery, who won his marshal's baton as one of the war's greatest tactical experts? That operation will call for quick and sure judgment.

What Berlin doesn't know, however, and what we don't know, is when Eisenhower is likely to swing his haymaker. My own idea is that it now depends largely on the weather—clear skies for the all-important air forces, and frost and that will tighen up the awful fields of mud.

Up to this point there have been other factors causing delay. One, of course, has been the necessity of ironing out strategical lumps in the Allied battleline as a whole, and, while there still is spade work to be done, the Allied front seems fairly well set. Another vital factor has related to supplies, but this problem now has been solved by the opening—only four days ago—of the great port of Antwerp through which the wherewithal will be funneled to the Allied front.

That puts it up to the weather man, who's been mighty unfriendly to our side.

Today we see Field Marshal Von Rundstedt's 400-mile battle line under the fierce pressure of at least six Allied armies—with other Allied forces ready to come into action. He has committed about everything he can muster to the final defence. Both sides are poised for the big test—which will indicate how long the European war will last. The annihilation of Von Rundstedt's forces is the immediate issue.

Holland Fight Toughest

Battle Conditions Deplorable For Canucks

OTTAWA, Dec. 2 (CP)—Canadians in Holland faced the toughest fight they have experienced yet and the toughest they are likely to face, Alan Randal, who has just returned to Canada after nearly three years overseas as news editor of the London Bureau of The Canadian Press and its war correspondent in Belgium and Holland, said last night.

"The Canadians did a splendid job of cleaning up the Schelde Estuary," he said. "On the Antwerp-Turnhout Canal to the east of Antwerp, shells were on a rationed basis because of the 500-mile supply line from French ports.

"The opening of Antwerp as a port has overcome that and put us in a position to hurl everything we have against the Nazis. That was a job done by Canadians that will be the key to the fighting ahead.

"We are in a much more favorable position than ever before and it is only a matter of time, but the German troops are still good. There is nothing rougher and tougher than the Huns fighting defensively. Our casualties were heavy, the conditions deplorable and we were fighting against picked Germans, but the Canadians finished that job."

After a furlough Randal will go to Toronto as general night editor in charge of The Canadian Press report to the morning newspapers throughout Canada. He returned from Britain by a 16-day corvette trip.

Crisis Facing Liberals Has Run Course

By D'ARCY O'DONNELL
Canadian Press Staff Writer

OTTAWA, Dec. 2 — (CP). — The House of Parliament stood adjourned to-day and the crisis which beset the Government in mid-October appeared to have run its course.

Developments yesterday indicated that there would be no mass break of Quebec Liberals from Government benches over the conscription issue, and consequently the administration would have considerable support on the forthcoming vote of confidence motion.

Joseph Jean (L-Montreal Mercier) opened the way for Quebec Liberals and other anti-conscriptionists to express their opposition to conscription without voting against the Government on the main motion.

He moved an amendment urging that general service personnel in Canada and volunteers overseas be used to the best advantage to provide reinforcements without resorting to conscription.

Mr. Jean, who disclosed after moving the amendment that he had resigned as Parliamentary Assistant to Justice Minister St. Laurent, said conscription was not the issue before the House. Conscription was an accomplished fact and the question to be decided by the House was whether the present Government was to remain in office or be replaced by another.

He knew there were many members in the House who still favored the voluntary system of enlistment and he asked that his amendment be acccepted so that through it they could express their opposition to conscription.

Prime Minister Mackenzie King said he had accepted Mr. Jean's resignation because the member had wished to be released from duty so that he might stand out as doing something without fear or favor in any direction.

Replying to Gordon Graydon, Progressive Conservative House leader, who asked if Mr. Jean had resigned, Mr. King replied that he had. However, he was not at all sure that a parliamentary assistant should resign simply because he moved an amendment to a government motion. He felt a parliamentary assistant should be as free as any member or cabinet minister.

White Speaks

Besides Mr. Jean, the House heard R. W. Mayhew (L.—Victoria, B.C.), George White (PC.—Hastings—Peterborough), Ross Gray (L.—Lambton West), Lt.-Col. J. A. Ross (PC.—Souris) and T. L. Church (PC.—Toronto Broadview).

Mr. Gray termed the government's overseas reinforcement policy "a halfway measure" but said he would support the government in its motion of confidence.

Mr. Gray said he had urged action to assure adequate reinforcements immediately after the casualties at Dieppe in 1943.

"When I find that the country is still to be saddled with two armies — one voluntary for service anywhere, another conscripted which may or may not be used — I must in justice to my constituents do my duty as I see it and with, I believe, their full support protest against this halfway measure," Mr. Gray said.

"There is no halfway house to victory. There must not be any halfway house in our effort now that this step has been taken."

Mr. Gray said he agreed with Prime Minister Mackenzie King that conscription was not an issue in the debate but it was true only in a broad sense. Conscription would continue to be an issue so long as Defence Minister McNaughton "clings tenaciously to the voluntary system."

"Surely the minister of defence must realize that we have exhausted the alphabet in our endeavors to secure volunteers from the N.R.M.A.", he said.

"By that I mean from A—appeals to manhood — to Z—Zombie characterization—and without success. If you want us make the order cover any or all is their cry. By what magic does the minister feel he can succeed where others failed."

Once the policy of conscription was settled it became only a matter of fair and equal application to prove it the most Democratic system yet evolved.

Needed Firm Stand

"If we had taken a firm resolute stand on this issue, not the timid one suggested by the Minister of National Defence by which the draftee can proclaim himself a volunteer up to the moment he crosses the limits of our territorial waters, then we as members of parliament would have regained some of the respect we have lost over the years of hesitation and indecision," he continued. "As it stands now we are leaving our next step in doubt, a dangerous situation."

Mr. White said he had advocated conscription as far back as 1941. He said the men in the front line had "long past fulfilled their duty to Canada". They should be brought home and their places should be taken by men from the N.R.M.A.

Mr. White said the procedure in the House was ridiculous. There was no need of a vote of confidence to permit the government to enforce an order-in-council under a conscription act passed two years ago.

"I would like to ask when has it become the duty of the members of the opposition or the general public to raise recruits for the Canadian Army," said Mr. White. "The raising of recruits is the sole and complete responsibility of the Minister of National Defence and the government."

It came with poor grace from the Prime Minister to complain that the voluntary system failed because of lack of co-operation from the opposition and the press.

"Why should 16,000 men be discriminated against?" Mr. White asked. "I can not blame them for protesting."

The order-in-council was only a half-way measure.

The Wartime Information Board, at public expense, had distributed 87,000 copies of Mr. King's recent radio address on the reinforcement question. In fairness, the Board should distribute 87,000 copies of the speech made by Col. J. L. Ralston, former defence minister, in the Commons Wednesday.

He believed that all home defence troops should be made available for service anywhere. He also believed that before the House adjourned cabinet should state publicly whether they are satisfied or not with the Government's order-in-council.

Lack Confidence

Col. Ross said members of the House no longer had any confidence in the Prime Minister. They had confidence in only a few of the cabinet ministers. He believed that democracy should be allowed to function, and that it would be possible to form another government without an election. He proposed to suggest such a government.

The alternative to the Prime Minister was John Bracken, Progressive Conservative national leader, who has not a seat in the House. Mr. Bracken had in the House "at least six members who are stronger than the average of members of the present cabinet," said Col. Ross.

"He has, also, Charles P. McTague, who recently resigned from the bench, Henry Borden, who was co-ordinator of controls in the Department of Munitions and Supply, James Macdonnell who has great experience in finance."

"There are many others. I am satisfied Mr. Bracken can obtain the services of strong and able citizens who have refused posts under the present Prime Minister."

Mr. Mayhew said he would support the government. He had told officials in his constituency as early as last January that he would support conscription if it came before the house.

Mr. Mayhew read a message from a soldier member, Maj. Alan Chambers (L-Nanaimo). Maj. Chambers, serving in France, said if the only trained men available for reinforcements were not willing to go overseas they should be sent anyway.

MRS. CLEMENT BAYES

CAMPBELLFORD, Dec. 2—(ENS)—Mrs. Ellen Isabel Bayes died at her home, Front street in her 75th year. Born Ellen Elizabeth Smith, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Smith, Rawdon township, she spent her early life in Seymour township. After her marriage they moved to Campbellford and she has resided here since. Mrs. Bayes has been in ill health for the past three years. She was a member of the Presbyterian church. Surviving beside her husband is one son, Earnest at home and one daughter, Mrs. Ada King.

The funeral will be held Monday at 2 p.m. from her late residence, Front street. Rev. J. O. Ralston officiating. The bearers will be Lewis Wilson, Harold, Samuel Wallace, Jonothan Thain, John Locke, Grafton, William Lime and William Cleugh.

Farmers To Delay Beef Cattle Killing

Beef cattle farmers are being urged from within their own ranks and also without to avoid marketing any of their stock for the next three or four weeks. Production was increased this year, and the marketing and killing has for some months been at a higher rate than ever.

Some serious disruption of the ordinary course of the business was caused by a dispute between employers and employees some weeks ago, resulting in a slowing-down in killing, accumulation of stock in the markets and in primary hands, and generally a reaction adverse to producers.

In the meantime farmers are assured of a steady market for their cattle in Great Britain at prices with fixed floor and ceiling. It is a strong market, and the trade has been hoping that farmers will take some extra time to finish their stock in the expectations of selling after this present excitement subsides, rather than rushing into the market and helping to aggravate the confusion and congestion that is being reported almost daily of late.

pressing their opposition to conscription in an amendment to the main motion.

Criticism Eases

Joseph Jean (L-Montreal Mercier) told the Commons conscription was an accomplished fact and the question before the House was to decide whether the present government was to be allowed to carry on until the end of the war.

Many Quebec members have stated privately that they believe Mr. King's conscription is more acceptable than the total conscription which would be enforced if he were defeated and succeeded by another.

Some of the opposition to the government will come from four Quebec Liberals who crossed the floor of the House in protest against passage of the order-in-council. Maxime Raymond, leader of the Bloc Populaire Party, and his three followers will vote with the opposition.

Another Quebec Liberal, Philippe Picard Bellechasse, announced he would vote against the government, but he did not indicate whether he planned to leave government benches. He moved an amendment, seconded by Walter Tucker (L-Rosthern), expressing opposition to conscription.

The amendment was rejected by Speaker J. A. Glen. It was not known whether Mr. Tucker, who recently resigned from the Canadian Army with the rank of captain, would oppose the government on the main motion or whether he wished to express his opposition to conscription through the amendment.

Hon. P. J. A. Cardin, former minister of public works and Liberal member for Richelieu - Vercheres constituency in Quebec, made it clear that he planned to oppose the government.

Supper Club Told Need For Hospital

The great need for a modern civic hospital in Peterborough was outlined Friday evening in the Y.M.C.A. building, by Alderman Adam Sands, chairman of the hospital committee of the city council, who spoke before a meeting of the Friday Night Supper Club.

Taking as his topic, "Efficent Hospitalization," Mr. Sands pointed out a new hospital in Peterborough will mean a private room for everyone who wishes one. Much time will be saved, he suggested, by efficient hospitalization. A nurses' residence could be built, he said, which would provide room for all nurses-in-training and explained that the kitchen in a new hospital will be able to be operated almost wholly by mechanical means, insuring the patients of receiving hot meals, while they are hot.

Jerry Seabrook introduced the speaker, and a hearty vote of thanks was tendered to Alderman Sands by Norm Dallin. George Roper, General Secretary of the Y.M.C.A. in Peterborough, invited everyone to Supper Club church parade at Trinity United church in January. Don Cottingham won the draw, and Alderman Sands picked out the winning ticket.

Man Arrested For False Alarm

Quick work by Officers W. A. Clarke and Leo Murphy resulted in the arrest early this morning of Laverne B. Healey, 184 Westcott street on a charge of turning in a false fire alarm.

When a fire alarm came in at 3:15 o'clock from Box 5, situated on George street in front of Canada Packers, the officers knowing that a number of false calls had been coming from that box, one in fact at 8 o'clock Friday night, jumped into a police cruiser and sped down George street.

Two men loading a truck at Canada Packers informed them that they had seen a man running south and looking down the street the officers could see their quary at Rink street. They overtook him near the corner of Westcott street and the fugitive ran through the snow in the direction of Sacred Heart School. Constable Murphy followed and overtook Healey who was placed under arrest.

Later Sgt. W. E. Wigg, Fire Chief George Gimblett and Constable Murphy took Healey's overshoes and found that they fitted perfectly into the footprints in the snow near the fire alarm box.

In police court this morning Healey entered a plea of guilty to a charge of turning in a false alarm of fire and at the request of Crown Attorney V. J. McElderry, K.C. was remanded until next week for sentence. Mr. McElderry said that the authorities wished to make further investigations.

Cold Weather Affects Market Attendance

Cold weather forced many of the outdoor stalls into more sheltered places at the Saturday Farmers' Market, and only a few hardy merchants chose to face the elements despite frosty winds.

Apples were plentiful, with big Spies selling generally at 60 to 70 cents a peck, and $1.50 to $2.50 a hamper. Talman Sweets were on hand at some stands for 40 cents a six quart basket, and a few Pippins were selling for $1.50 a bushel. Baxter apples also sold for $1.50 a bushel.

Vegetables for the week-end dinner plates seemed popular, and carrots were selling for 25 cents a six quart basket, parsnips held firm at 35 cents a six quart basket, Savoy went for price between five and 15 cents, and onions sold for 35 cents a six quart basket. Turnips were 25 cents a six quart basket, or five cents each, and cabbage was steady at five and 10 cents each, according to size and quality.

Eggs ran the price range from 38 cents to 50 cents a dozen, again depending on size, grade and general quality. Chickens were for the most part steady at 32-33 cents a pound, and roasted chicken was at the standard 50 cents a pound.

Potatoes were selling at 35 cents a peck, pumpkins at 10 and 15 cents each, and squash at 10 and 15 cents.

Snowbound Roadways Slow Mail Delivery

As a forerunner of what the winter may hold in store for them, rural mailmen buttoned up their coats Friday and took out their shovels, prepared for trouble, and many of them got it. The heavy snowfall of Thursday and early Friday plugged some of the country roads badly, and several men were only able to cover part of their routes.

The rural mailmen carry out Post Office traditions. In any kind of weather they are on the road, and if they can make it at all the mail is delivered, even if they have to stop and shovel every few yards.

At 5 o'clock Friday afternoon, the man covering the Lakehurst area had still not been able to get through to his customers, but the following sections had had a partial delivery:

Those living on Highway 7 and around Fowler's Corners at RR 2; those by the Filtration Plant and in the Selwyn area, RR 4; Crawford's Grove and Springville, RR 5; the Flat Road, Otonabee, RR 6; the Old Norwood Road, Otonabee, RR 7; Keene Road, RR 8, and Douro, RR 9.

Airmen Are Building Homes At Very Remote Air Post

By KATHLEEN REX
Canadian Press Staff Writer

A WEST COAST R.C.A.F. PATROL BASE, Dec. 2 (CP)—A 15-minute trek through the forest and you're in Dobbieville. Sometimes it's difficult getting there at night because the road you travel is dark and the path is no highway.

The clay mud sticks to your boots and when you miss one of the sharp turns in the trail you may bark your shins on a tree-stump if you're not careful. But once you've stubbed your toe on your own door-step and landed inside your own cabin—well, it's swell to be home.

Married air force personnel at this remote bush station hacked Dobbieville out of the wilderness themselves with the help of a few axes, a bulldozer and typical R.C.A.F. bulldoggedness.

Perhaps when Sqdn. Ldr. Roland Dobson, officer commanding a certain squadron up here, suggested to his men that they build homes near the station, he little realized so many would take him at his word. First one log cabin, then another, went up until a typical pioneer settlement stood in the small forest clearing. It was named Dobbieville after its founder. Sqdn. Ldr. Dobson, whose home is in Barrie, Ont., has since been posted to Toronto but his 'city' continues to flourish. Dobbieville still spells home to many an airman and his family.

Take the Majors for instance. FO. Charlie Major, his wife Gerry and two-year-old John, claim Winnipeg as their home-town but they insist that life can be fun even if you have to lead it in a home-made cabin.

Of course once in a while it does have its little difficulties, Gerry said. "I still have to get used to this business of ordering food by mail."

It seems that Gerry had waited nearly a month for the weekly boat to bring food and household supplies she had ordered from Vancouver. "It all came at once," she said. "—just look at that food—$50 worth of it." She pointed to the crates and boxes which lined one wall of the small cabin.

"This is great country for children," Charlie said. "Plenty of fresh air and at least you don't have to fret about them getting run over by automobiles up here — there are none."

"The only thing I have to worry about with John is that the airmen keep giving him candy," Gerry sighed. "I think I'll put a sign around his neck one of these days saying 'Please do not feed.'"

Provincial Council Of Women Urge Pre-Marital Blood Tests

TORONTO, Dec. 2 — Assurance that "all outlets for liquor" in the Province, beverage rooms as well as liquor stores, will be closed on V-Day was given by Premier George Drew to the deputation of Provincial Council of Women at Queen's Park yesterday, according to Mrs. R. J. Marshall, re-elected president, who headed the deputation.

Recommendation "to close all beverage rooms" and that "all churches be opened for prayer and thanksgiving" on V-Day was one of eight resolutions presented by the deputation, made up of Provincial officers and presidents of local councils from many parts of the Province. Resolutions were presented informally, and it was arranged to prepare them in the form of a brief with covering information and send copies to the Premier and Ministers concerned for consideration early next week.

Resolutions urged the closing of all beverage rooms to women, as a curb on venereal disease; compulsory premarital blood tests, routine blood tests for expectant mothers, scientific blood tests in the case of alcohol suspects involved in accidents and the suspension of license as well as any penalty imposed in such cases.

The Provincial Department of Education is being asked to appoint a visiting teacher or school social worker as liaison officer to assist attendance officers in investigating work permits to students. Legislation is asked to ensure that no child attending either elementary or secondary school shall be employed more than three hours on a school day, eight hours on a holiday, or both Saturday and Sunday during the school term. It is also urged that it be made unlawful for a child under 16 years of age to be committed to a common jail, penitentiary or other prison where adult offenders are undergoing imprisonment.

Resolutions urging that the Provincial Government petition the Dominion to completely revise part 17 of the Criminal Code and Prisons Act so that juveniles under 16 will be dealt with, not as criminals, but as delinquents; also that it be made unlawful to impose hanging sentence on persons below 16 years of age, were sent to National Council of Women for action.

Another resolution urged that pressure be brought on the film industry to provide special theatre programs for children on Saturdays and holidays.

Sir Bernard Pares, well-known authority on Russian affairs, was the luncheon speaker.

Other officers elected were: vice-presidents, Mrs. A. A. Affleck, London; Mrs. W. R. Scadding, Toronto; Mrs. Angus Graham, Smiths Falls; Mrs. George Cockshutt, Brantford; Mrs. R. B. Ledingham, Weston. Recording secretary, Mrs. E. D Kyle, Owen Sound; corresponding secretary, Mrs. Kenneth Dewar, Toronto; treasurer, Mrs. Edmund Wand, Peterborough. Conveners, Mrs. deW. W. Harrison, Chatham; Miss E. Breithaupt, Toronto; Mrs. E. F. Burton, Weston; Mrs. J. E. Large, Niagara Falls; Mrs. F. Underhill, London; Mrs. W. Addyman, Peterborough; Dr. Aileen Cline, London; Mrs. James R. Roberts, Ancaster; Mrs. W. R. Lang, Toronto.

The wartime day nursery for children of working mothers has done a splendid job in saving the child from effects of neglect and poor feeding, said Dr. Aileen Cline of London, reporting on mental hygiene. "But what every child needs most is a feeling of security in his own home, and a happy amily life is indispensable to his best mental development," she added.

While wartime measures have curtailed to a certain extent democratic freedom, "it is heartening to see the return of a vigorous press in national affairs," said Mrs. George Cockshutt, Brantford.

Fall From Window Fractures Skull

PORT HOPE, Dec. 1—(CP)—Falling out of his room window on the third floor of a hotel, Frank Davis, 45 landed on the pavement, about 35 feet below, and suffered a fractured skull and broken wrist. He was taken to Port Hope hospital, where his condition is serious. Guy wires near the ground helped to break his fall.

Canada At War Booklet Very Popular

By JACK BRAYLEY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

OTTAWA, Dec. 2 — (CP). — From a crowded office in the Wartime Information Bureau's suite in the new post office building overlooking the Canadian War Memorial here, a group of industrious researchers and writers prepare a monthly record of "Canada at War" — and they call their attractive booklet just that.

The booklet tells about the armed forces, the industrial front and bacon production. Graphs show the division of mutual aid, casualties, services intake figures and production fluctuations.

Quiet, capable J. Robert Herbin, native of Wolfville, N.S., and alumnus of the Saint John Telegraph-Journal and the Toronto Star, is chief of the section in charge of the booklet's production. He is assisted by Miss Magdalena Polley of Calgary.

Last month 191,500 English copies and 50,000 French copies were distributed. They go to various foreign countries, to the armed forces, newspapers, libraries, schools, trade boards, trade unions, universities and individuals. The armed forces take nearly 50,000 copies and the United States takes about 20,000.

The booklet also has been published in Spanish and Portuguese and distributed in Latin America.

Generals: aiding Defence Minister McNaughton in developing his reinforcement plans in Canada are group of men who served under his command overseas at the start of the war.

They include:

Maj.-Gen. G. R. Pearkes, V.C., Vancouver, commander of the Pacific command, was a brigade commander in the general's 1st Division in 1939 and eventually he succeeded to command of the division when Gen. McNaughton was made corps commander.

Maj.-Gen. F. F. Worthington, Kingston, Ont., Camp Borden commander, took over the 1st Canadian armored brigade in 1940 and it served under the general in the field.

Maj.-Gen. A. E. Potts, Winnipeg, commander of M.D. No. 2, was entrusted by Gen. McNaughton with the task of leading the Spitsbergen expedition early in the war.

THINK.... Before You Vote

This is our last message before the election on Monday next, and we would like to thank the readers of our advertisements for the interest displayed, and for their many messages of goodwill.

We have tried to point out what we consider the unfairness of the present and proposed financial arrangements at Nicholls Hospital. We have tried to avoid extreme language, and have thrown no mud at any person or organization. Neither have we painted in too lurid colours the dangers of civic extravagance, which we believe to be very real.

The verdict now rests withe the taxpayer, who on Monday next will give his decision.

We have a vote on five Aldermen, two Utilities officials, and three money bylaws. There's a program to delight the heart of any person who believes in democracy, and we should all turn out to vote, even at some personal inconvenience. Don't let us be like the voters Ogden Nash writes about, who

Have such refined and delicates palates,
That they can discovered no one worthy of their ballots,
And then, when some one "terrible" gets elected,
They say "There, that's just what I expected."

The secret ballot is a priceless heritage. Let us not discard it lightly, or refrain from using it when we have an opportunity.

BE SURE TO VOTE ON MONDAY NEXT

Spirit of Christ Key To World Fellowship

By NEWMAN CAMPBELL

(The International Uniform Lesson on the above topic for Dec. 3 is John 17:18-23; I Cor. 1:1-3; 12:4-14; II Cor. 8:1-9, the Golden Text being John 17:20, 21. "Neither for these only do I pray, but for them also that believe on Me through their word; that they may all be one.")

ON THE night before His death, just before He went to Gethsemane, Jesus prayed that "As Thou didst send Me into the world, even so I sent them (the apostles) into the world. And for their sakes I sanctify Myself, that they themselves also may be sanctified in truth.

"Neither for these only do I pray, but for them also that believe on Me through their word; That they may all be one, even as Thou, Father, art in Me, and I in Thee, that they also may be in Us: that the world may believe that Thou didst sent Me."

Jesus always lived a completely sanctified life while He was on earth, but this night, the last of His life here, His sanctifying seemed to be "His free surrender of Himself over to the Father's will unto death," as the commentator puts it.

By so sanctifying Himself He hoped that His disciples, whom He had chosen to carry on His work, might feel themselves "sanctified in truth."

Paul Greets Corinthians

Paul wrote to the church he had founded in Corinth, "to them that are sanctified in Christ Jesus, called to be saints, with all that in every place call upon the name of Jesus Christ our Lord, both theirs and ours."

The church at Corinth was one of the most famous in the Roman world, founded by Paul on his second missionary journey. Paul's words indicate a unity that bound together believers everywhere. These men of Corinth were "called to be saints," because they were divinely called from without as well as consecrated by their inward conversion to Christianity.

In the 12th chapter of Corinthians, Paul speaks of the diversity of gifts of those who minister in the Christian church. Some have the gift of wisdom; some have knowledge, another may be able to work miracles (or could in those days), but in all the gifts listed by Paul, nine in all, "worketh that one and the selfsame spirit, dividing to every man severally as he will.

"For as the body is one, and hath many members, and all the members of that one body, being many, are one body: so also is Christ."

There are many diversities of opinion strictly on theology in the Christian church, but if the Spirit of Christ works through all, if all are united in His Spirit, trying each in his poor way to follow Him, all really are one. One man may be an eloquent speaker, preaching the word of God with power; another may not be so good as a preacher, but he will have the power to touch hearts because of his great wisdom, or his ministry to those who need him. Just as our hands, our feet, our heads, hearts, are all part of our earthly bodies each having its special task to perform, so each of these men adds his gifts to make a perfect, working whole in the churches of Christ.

Different Lives, One Spirit

Each child in a Sunday School is an individual, coming from a different home than all the others, living under different circumstances. But when all meet in their church school, study the same lesson and each does his best to live so that the school spirit is manifested to the world generally, to those inside the school and those on the outside, these members of the school are one in spirit, are they not?

In the eighth chapter of the second letter from Paul to the Corinthians he is begging for financial help for the poorer brethren in Jerusalem, from the Corinthian Christians, who were Gentiles. We do not know why the church members in Jerusalem were particularly in need of help at this time, but Paul may have thought that if these Gentile members of the church sent liberal aid to them, it would silence those who still believed that Gentiles should not be admitted to the church. He was the apostle of the Gentiles, you remember.

At any rate, Paul pleads with the Corinthians to give generously, "For ye know the grace of our Lord Jesus Christ, that, though He was rich, yet for your sakes He became poor that ye through His poverty might be rich."

Urge Kiwanians Back Centre

The Kiwanis Club in Peterborough and Kiwanians everywhere have always taken the welfare of children and young people in the community as their own special responsibility, and in the Memorial Community Centre project, another occasion is presented for them to show again their deep interest in Peterborough's young people, reported Tom Rodger, reading an address to members of the Kiwanis Club at their weekly meeting on Friday afternoon.

He mentioned the fact that perhaps he was repeating facts already known, adding that the community centre is still uppermost in everyone's mind.

During the meeting, plans were discussed for the big bingo and draw program which the Kiwanis Club will present on Wednesday, December 6, in the Drill Hall of the Training Centre. All-wool blankets valued at $8.75 will be offered as prizes, it was reported, and there will be five draws for two blankets each.

Kiwanian Dick Raine reported on the successful Ladies' Night in Lindsay on Thursday evening, bringing greetings from the Lindsay Kiwanis Club to Peterborough members unable to attend. Mr. Raine said that 23 Peterborough members and their wives attended, and five Kiwanians from Cobourg also were there. Entertainment was of the finest calibre, and the entire program was an outstanding affair, he declared.

President-elect Jack Lewis told the meeting of the circumstances which presented him and John Troke from attending the Kiwanis Instructional School in Oshawa today, for newly-elected officers. Although the Peterborough men left early on the trip, bad weather conditions and blocked roads made progress unadvisable. Weather beyond their control held the trump card, and the two men returned to Peterboroough.

Alvie Wilson was the winner of the weekly War Savings Stamps draw conducted by Bob Everett. President Charlie Saunders was in the chair.

Child's Trust In the Lord Is Revealed In Parable

By REV. E. R. JAMES

Andrew saith unto Jesus: There is a lad here, which hath five barley loaves and two small fishes: but what are they among so many?—St. John 6:9.

A satisfied small boy in the crowd of hungry people. His thoughtful mother has given him his lunch; just five barley loaves and two pickled fish as a relish. To his great surprise he is brought into the very Presence of the great Teacher Himself, whose Name is on the lips of the multitude. He looks into the Eyes of the Pure One Who asks him for his little lunch. With a boy's instinct for hero worship he offers Him everything; he keeps nothing back. What an example to us grown-up children.

The Master has been preaching the Word of God and the people have been drinking it in; for they hunger for the things of God. Surely there is the same hunger in the hearts of men and women today when the Good News is declared through the burning lips of men who have been touched with the Divine Fire.

Today as never before the Master says: "Give ye them to eat." You place your little knowledge of the truth, your stammering tongue and faltering lips into His Hands. He will accept them, small though they are. He will give thanks for them and break them for the multitude according to their needs. You will marvel at the results. "It is the Lord's doing," you will exclaim.

Let us go back to the lad. His eyes are fixed upon the great Teacher. He watches and remembers every movement. He sees the great Teacher lift up the loaves and fishes and give thanks to the Father for them—just ordinary every day black bread of the multitude. The multiplication of the bread and fishes are unseen, yet the people are fed.

The late Archbishop Temple reminds us that this is a creative act on the part of the Lord Christ. This can only be possible if He is indeed the incarnate Son of God, Who has come down from heaven for our salvation. If you do not believe that He is the incarnate Son of God then the miracle is impossible to accept. This is the fundamental truth of this miracle.

This happened more than nineteen centuries ago. Can it happen today? Jesus Christ is the same yesterday, today and for ever. His ears are open to the cries of the untold multitude of hungry and tortured people. He cannot help them without your help. This is the law of God. "Give ye them to eat" is His command. His Voice whispers in your heart: "What can you do?" He will take your little and give God thanks. He looks to you for trust and obedience. Your reward will be a peace which passes all understanding that the great Lord has taken something of yours and blessed and multiplied it for the need of others.

The following incident took place before the Japanese war:

"It is a true story and brand new. Yuan lives in Manila. For years he wanted a bicycle and worked to earn it. He saved thirteen dollars for it. Then the thought came to him that many children were starving in China. Being just a child Yuan took direct action. He went to the bakery and bought $13 worth of bread. Then he took it to the committee room for the China relief. The people in charge thanked him and gave him a receipt. They wondered what they could do with the bread. They took it to the Chinese schools and sold it for "patriotic bread." The people bought it eagerly. By nightfall Yuan's thirteen dollars had brought in over fifty dollars. The committee took the fifty dollars and bought more bread and sold it the same way. In a few days more than fifteen hundred dollars were gathered up and sent to China in the little boy's name. Today Yuan's biycycle supports an orphan boys' home for fifty lads." "But what are they among so many?"

A SACRIFICE TO GOD FOR A SWEET SMELLING SAVOUR.

ILLUSTRATED SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

By Alfred J. Buescher

Scripture—John 17:18-23; I Cor. 1:1-3; 12:4-14; II Cor. 8:1-9

Jesus prayed: "That all may be as one: as Thou, Father, art in Me, and I in Thee, that they may also be one in Us: that the world may believe that Thou has sent Me."

Paul writes to the church at Corinth "to them that are sanctified in Christ Jesus, called to be saints, with all that in every place call upon the name of Jesus Christ our Lord."

"For to one is given by the Spirit the word of wisdom: to another the word of knowledge by the same Spirit . . . to another the gifts of healing by the same Spirit."

"For ye know the grace of our Lord Jesus Christ, that though He was rich, yet for your sakes He became poor, that ye might be rich."

GOLDEN TEXT—John 17:20, 21.

When a true genius appears in the world, you may know him by this sign, that the dunces are all in confederacy against him. —JONATHAN SWIFT.

SATURDAY, DECEMBER 2, 1944

It's Up To You

In the municipal election which was held on January 1 of this year, thirty-three per cent. of the voters in Peterborough used their franchise. That was a miserable showing, and reflected shamefully on the civic spirit of this city. The date of the municipal election has now been altered to the first Monday in December, in the hope that more people will show an interest in local affairs on that more convenient date. If you have a vote—that is to say, if you are a property-owner or a tenant—go to the polls and use it. There is a great deal of loose talk about democracy these days; one thing that democracy means is government according to public opinion; if there is no substantial body of recorded public opinion, democracy suffers. Show your interest in the city of your adoption by voting in the municipal election.

During the past week the Examiner has put forward the reasons why it thinks that the Memorial Centre and the projected civic hospital should be given full public support on Monday. We should like now to recapitulate those reasons, and we shall deal with the Memorial Centre first. The large sum which has been raised by public subscription shows the measure of concrete approval which this project has brought forth. As the Centre is designed to serve as a monument to the memory of the Peterborough men who give their lives in this war, it is fitting and necessary that the City should make a contribution toward it as a corporation. As the public has already subscribed generously the sum which the City is asked to put up is a comparatively small one. Is there any first-rate reason why this money should not be voted for this purpose? If there is, we have not heard it yet.

Peterborough needs what the Memorial Centre can give. As a large and growing city, which is the cultural and sporting centre for a big district we have to think not only of immediate needs, but of future needs. As an industrial city, with thousands of workers who make their homes here and find amusement and their enlightenment here, we need a place which will serve as a focus for all kinds of artistic and sporting efforts. And finally, we need a memorial for our war dead. If we cannot have the Centre we shall doubtless have a stone and bronze monument, an ornament which will be about as valuable to us as a pearl stud would be to a man who had no shirt. Let us support the Memorial Centre, determining as we do so that it shall be a worthy and vital memorial.

Now let us consider the matter of the civic hospital. The principal fact to bear in mind is this: Peterborough needs much more hospital accommodation than it has at present, and the proposed hospital will not provide one bed more than is wanted for present needs. It is not proposed that a hospital should be built which will be a white elephant; it is proposed merely that a hospital be built which will allow Peterborough to hold up its head among cities of comparable size and wealth in Ontario. At present we are dangerously and shamefully short of hospital accommodation. What are we going to do?

There is a choice, of course. Either we can build a new civic hospital, to which it will be possible to add as necessity demands, or we can keep on with the present irredeemably out-of-date and inconvenient structure. If we choose the latter course the city of Peterborough must expect to go on paying bigger and bigger deficits, and pouring more and more money into an institution which will show nothing in return. Is it not better to build a new and admittedly costly hospital, and have a fine institution for the money, than it is to buoy up the old one with greater and greater sacrifices of money? Again we repeat: hospitals cannot be expected to make money; the most that they can do is to pay their way. A new hospital could do that. The old one will never be able to do it. Are we going to refuse to take a step which is necessary for the health and prestige of Peterborough?

It is on these two questions, and on the choice of aldermen, that you will be given the right of election on Monday. You are asked to register your true opinion, and how you vote will remain your own secret if you choose to keep it so. This is your city, and you are responsible for the conditions that exist in it. The vote which you have is the prize of several centuries of political struggle. Do not scorn it, for it is the chief ornament and weapon of your citizenship.

An Age Limit For The Senate

We do not like the principle of age limits; we do not think that it is possible or wise to say that a man's usefulness is exhausted at any particular age. That is why we disagree with the suggestion of the Calgary Herald that Senators should be compelled to retire at the age of seventy-five. Why seventy-five? Why not fifty or a hundred? Either age would make equal sense. There are men under fifty in the House of Commons who are of very little use; the late Sir William Mulock, in his hundredth year, was a better critic of Canadian affairs than many men half his age.

There are certain tribes of savages who kill their old people when they consider that their usefulness is finished. We are slightly more subtle in our methods, but we kill many old people by telling them that, having reached a certain age, they are no longer of any use, and must settle down to a life of idleness. Death by a blow from a cannibal's club is at least quick; our method is typically civilized in its lingering cruelty.

As long as a man is able to travel to Ottawa and take his seat in the Senate he is likely to have something to say which will be of value to the Dominion. If he had any brains when he was appointed he will retain them until he dies. For stupidity is not a particular characteristic of age; it merely shows itself more grossly in the old, who have lost their power to conceal it. A man who is intelligent at 25 will be intelligent when he is 90; a man who is a fool at 25 will be an old fool at 60. Folly cannot be rooted out of government by establishing retiring ages, which are merely arbitrary sentences of death, passed by unthinking committees who accept the popular and ignorant prejudice against old age.

Acceptance Of Conscription

Upon the whole, the response of the anti-conscription element in Canada to the Government's announced intention to send N.R.M.A. men overseas to support the volunteer forces, has been less violent than was anticipated. Let no one suppose that the anti-conscriptionists are to be found in Quebec alone. When the 1942 plebiscite was taken, the smallest anti-conscription vote in any province was 17 per cent. of the total, and in three English-speaking provinces the numbers ran as high as 30 per cent. Presumably a number of recent immigrants to Canada, and extreme nationalists were responsible for these figures. But the No vote in Quebec was 73 per cent., and it is among French-Canadians that the greatest disturbance is being caused now.

There have been no disturbances of a truly alarming nature, and we think that if there were going to be any serious riots, they would have happened already. Whatever political storms may follow, conscription has been ordered in Canada, and is now in action.

Some people who are wise after the event are saying that there should have been conscription as soon as we entered the war. Perhaps they have forgotten that there was a rush to the recruiting offices in 1939; were those young men to be sent home to wait for a call-up? And perhaps they have also forgotten that this war began as a 'phoney war', and that for the first six months of the belligerent period the need was not for men, but for something to occupy the time of the men already in uniform and trained.

The time came in our war effort when conscription was necessary, and it has been put into effect, with the approval of a majority of citizens. That is the main thing. There will certainly be political repercussions, but they are of secondary importance. Except for a few small and comparatively orderly demonstrations, conscription has been accepted in Canada.

Diary Of Unimportant Matters

By SAMUEL MARCHBANKS

SUNDAY: Did a lot of typewriting today, and got a stiff neck. I taught myself to use the typewriter, and I cannot say that I have really mastered it. I use two fingers and I can work up quite a speed, but if I do too much typing my health begins to break down. Stiff neck is the first symptom, soon followed by unravelling of the spinal cord and cerebral hotbox.... I notice that professional typists sit up very tall, and keep their feet flat on the floor, and rattle away with all ten fingers at immense speed. They make just as many mistakes as I do, and they are without exception abominable spellers, but their endurance is astonishing. They rise from their desks after a day's typing as merry as grigs, and can dance half the night, whereas I, after an hour at the machine, can barely drag myself upstairs to plunge my poor bruised hands into a mustard bath. Perhaps my assault upon the instrument is too passionate; I attack it as Lizst attacked the piano, with similar pyrotechnical results.

MONDAY: Aldous Huxley's new novel arrived for review today, which brightened my life considerably, and this was a good thing, for shortly afterward snow began to descend in large wet gobs. How foresighted I was to buy a new pair of overshoes last week! I am so rarely prepared for these changes in weather that I went about all day congratulating myself on having outwitted the elements....As always, people greeted me with "Looks as though winter had come at last, eh?" and I replied, haughtily, "This won't stay". And it didn't, either....Received a note from the Income Tax people, very much thumb-marked. If these people represent His Majesty (in one of his less charming avatars) I wish that they would wash their hands before sending out letters. In earlier days the headsman always begged for pardon before dropping his axe; surely an Income Tax gatherer might scrub up before applying the squeeze.

TUESDAY: Met an acquaintance today whom I have not seen for a month or more; he looked worn and haggard, and I asked why? His story was a pitiable one....He and his wife have a son who is rising four. A fortnight ago they bought the lad two gramophone records, upon which somebody called Paul Wing tells the story of Little Black Sambo, with sound effects. The boy now refuses to go to bed until he has heard Little Black Sambo (with sound effects) and his affection for this simple tale is growing with each repetition. The harried parents see no sign that it will ever end; meanwhile, their nerves are breaking down under the strain. Their child now addresses them as Black Mumbo and Black Jumbo, and will not answer to any name himself except Little Black Sambo. He also wants beautiful little purple velvet shoes, with crimson soles and crimson linings. The child is having the time of his life, but his parents fear that their reason may be unhinged.... Children live wonderfully imaginative lives, but it is the parent who pays, and pays and pays.

WEDNESDAY: A man who knows a lot about bedbugs was telling me today that the bugs do not invariably bite; he had lived for three years in an apartment which was full of bedbugs, and was never once bitten. They were only troublesome during the mating season, which comes in April and September; then they would crawl about on the woodwork and amaze his guests....I see that a Montreal doctor says that a healthy person does not need to take vitamin pills, as his natural food cravings will supply him with all the vitamins he can comfortably hold. This is good news, as I no longer need to worry about vitamin deficiencies in my system. Hitherto, when I have felt out of sorts, I have worried about my vitamins, and wished that I had a gauge somewhere on my chest which would show how my supply stood. Now I can rest assured that my vitamin tank is permanently full....To return to bedbugs, they are not always found in old or dirty houses. Some people I knew built a fine new house, and found it infested in the first week. The maid (an easy-going type) brought them in her clothes. As maids are scarce, they had to have her fumigated at their own expense.

THURSDAY: A friend of mine who does a good deal of quiet betting on the ponies was complaining to me today about a tax injustice which he thinks ought to be looked into by a Royal Commission: he is not taxed on the money he wins, but he is taxed on the money he loses. This is a hardship to him and deprives the government of a handsome sum each year. I explained to him that it would be immoral for our government to recognize a low human urge like gambling, and collect money on it. Our government never considers the nature and passions of real human beings at all; it thinks exclusively in terms of an Ideal Citizen who works like a beaver and pays taxes without a whimper; if he wants a drink or a smoke they soak him; if his wife wants a box of candy, they soak her. Anything which reveals a man or his wife as pleasure-lovers, such as a visit to the movies, is frowned upon by the government, and the frown takes the form of a tax. Governments are desperately moral, scrupulous institutions except when they are dealing with other governments; then their morality takes a corkscrew twist.

FRIDAY: Nothing special to record today. I ate an excellent T-bone steak for the first time in months; I gave up eating steak when it was so tough; now it is really very good, if you can overlook the taste of embalming fluid.... Bought a copy of the 'Gospel Witness,' a neglected journal which contains the work of some of the best humourists writing in Canada today.... Felt a slight hint of cold, so boiled my head. This is how I do it: I put a pot of water on an electric plate, and when it boils I drop some extract of balsam into it. Then I make a tent with a bath-towel, under which I hide my head and the boiling pot. I breathe in and out as deeply as I can, and when my head is completely boiled I stop. This is a sure remedy for the early stages of a cold, but it should not be carried to extremes. When the brains begin to seethe and bubble in the skull, it is time to come out of the tent.... My great-uncle, the Rev. Hengist Marchbanks, used to throw a few poppy-heads into the pot with the balsam and this led to a personal interpretation of Revelations which, in turn, led to his dismissal from the Presbyterian ministry.

SATURDAY: A visitor today complained of the Elizabethan stench of my office; he pointed out that the air was heavy with tobacco smoke, that it was hot and close, and that the windows obviously had not been opened for days. I admitted all these charges. I am no great enthusiast for fresh air; I work best in a friendly frowst....But although my office undoubtedly smells, it is not much worse than most other offices I visit, which smell of cough-drops, overshoes, waste paper, stuffed moose heads and the rank sweat of toil and anxiety. I find that most people cherish the delusion that they have no personal smell, but that others reek. I happen to have an extremely sensitive nose, and I have no delusions about myself or about the rest of mankind. There is a fern in a basin in my office, and when it begins to pine and turn brown I open the windows for a few minutes; too few of my acquaintances possess a warning fern....My friend, who complains about my office, drives a car which smells like a pool room at midnight on a Saturday, but I am not proud; I will accept a lift with him any time he asks me.

KNOWS MUNICIPAL BOARD

Sir,—Your ascribing motives to your correspondents may be newspaper tactics, but really what the public wish to have is facts.

The Examiner says that the Council has the assurance of the Municipal Board that the $300,000.00 can be diverted from the City Trust surplus for a hospital, without the vote of the people.

I wish to say, that the Municipal Board never gave any such assurance, and the statement is not true. And furthermore, the Municipal Board has no such power.

The Municipal Board is a body of autonomous judges, and I know the members of it too well to believe that they, or any other judge, would after hearing one side of a case, give judgment as to what their future decision would be.

In addition to that, the $50,000.00 Utility Commission surplus cannot be diverted in any such method as the Examiner suggests.—Yours truly,

G. N. GORDON.

EDITOR'S NOTE: Our correspondent puts his own unsupported assertion above the statement of the committee which consulted the Municipal Board on this matter and reported what was said. The Municipal Board did not give a judgement; it explained a point of municipal law, and we assume that it has an intimate knowledge of its own powers in such matters. As for the Utilities Commission surplus, the Commission understandably assumes that what it did in the case of a piece of fire-fighting equipment, it may do in the case of a hospital. If our correspondent believes that this not so, he should say why, and not trust to a bald assertion to carry his point.

THE RATEPAYERS' BURDEN

Sir,—Why is the City of Peterborough short of 1,500 homes?

Because there is no incentive for any builder to build where there is no revenue.

Because of the fear of increased taxes and assessments.

Because the present property holders have been taxed and assessed until many have had to go on old age pension.

Because the taxpayer has been carrying the load of city maintenance for so long it has become a habit or custom. It's time for a change.

Because the Government pegged rents, not only in 1941, but early in the 1930's when they told the taxpayer rents would be set for relief people at $6.00 to $16.00 monthly whether you had a $10.00 or a $50.00 house or apartment and you took it or held your property vacant. Rents are still frozen and the ratepayer has to like it. How many landlords are still taking relief rents and will they collect the losses they have taken?

Because the taxpayer is tired of being continually taxed for everything, the majority of the population ask for. Put the taxpayer on the same level as the majority of our population. As one of our political organizations are advocating by reducing school taxes in Ontario.

Too little consideration has been given the taxpayers who have kept roofs over too many of the civilians at a great loss to himself, all through the depression and still paying, playing the part of the good Samaritan all through the years of depression. It's homes we need.

How easy it is to spend the other persons' money where there is no investments. Peterborough City is a very solid financial city and I am afraid all the expenditures confronting this city are large. Be careful or we will be facing a severe reverse.

I believe in home ownership and sound administration but do not believe in taxing the minority of its population beyond what is fair, just and equitable. I do believe that Peterborough needs factories, playgrounds, city hall, arena, etc., and I will pay my fair, just and equitable share—but do not intend to keep paying for those who always want. It is not fair just and equitable for a few to always be harping at our city council for donations for this, that and the other, forgetting that they are using the funds of the ratepayers or in other words, the property owner. How about putting the property holder on an equitable basis with all other civilians. Those bond and stock holders, those who derive money from businesses, farms or any other source of revenue. We think the property holders have been doing more than their share for years and it is time for a change.

Why should any person owning property either for a home or an investment be taxed to build any accommodation of any kind for the general public any more than the person who invests his money in stock or bonds or any other class of investment?

Ratepayers get out and vote — Exercise your Franchise.

Sincerely yours,
J. A. GIBBS.

PROPERTY OWNER'S VIEWPOINT

Sir,—As one of the property owners most adversely effected if the Hospital and Memorial Centre vote is carried, there are one or two points I should like to express an opinion on. Notwithstanding the arguments by one of the speakers on the broadcast, when the ceiling was placed on rents, the owner, and not the tenant or boarder, has to foot the bill. I do not think a tax on meals would be the fairest. It would cost considerable to collect. If as in some places this was put on the water, light, or other rates or taxes it would give a far greater number the opportunity to have a share in such a good cause. With so much social legislation in sight the sooner the community as a whole understand, this will cost money the better for all concerned.

I am thankful we have enough firms in the city to take care of half the money to be voted on. It will not be taken out of their pockets but the Dominion Government in the loss of excess profits and income tax. I intend to vote for both. The church which I belong is constantly reminding me of my duty towards God and my duty towards my neighbour, that's what we are fighting for, Christian principles.

Yours truly,
C. E. COLEMAN.

WEALTH AND POVERTY

Sir,—Said Karl Marx: "An accumulation of wealth at one pole of society indicates an accumulation of misery and over-work at the other".

There are times when I rather like Karl Marx. His was a clear and penetrating mind—occasionally he had a sense of humour. He was not afraid of work, an excellent quality in an age when so many seek ease. But in this statement Karl Marx was wrong. I know that he was, so do you.

Henry Ford developed the automobile, made himself one of the richest men in the world, but the world is richer today because of his effort. We made him rich beyond the dreams of avarice, he produced a product we wanted—sold it at a price we could pay. He gave in return an improved system of transportation, an opportunity to know and enjoy the land we live in. The span of life is short. In time his wealth will pass to other hands. The things he gave will remain forever, proof of his service to humanity.

The same applies to all our great inventions, the aeroplane, the telephone, the telegraph, the list is large. A few made money—much money. What does it matter? Life would be poorer, much poorer, without the men who tried to do great things—and succeeded. They did not bring poverty to the world, they brought opportunity.

Men should be measured by their contribution to life. The world is impoverished by its power, not by its rich. It is a happier and a better world, because men invented things, wrote good books, painted fine pictures, or in some way added to the sum total of human pleasure and delight—not all the wealth of the world can be measured in dollars.—Yours,

R. J. DEACHMAN.

Getting Ready For Bed

Of course if one gets his heat by jiggling a little metal lever on the wall or can merely open the drafts in the coal furnace, he is not so concerned regarding salubrious techniques of going to bed. But there are, according to a recent survey, 7,600,000 homes where coal is used only in kitchen and parlour stoves; there are other millions where wood is the sole fuel.

The bedroom directly above the living room isn't too bad if there's a register between. In many farm homes there's a downstairs bedroom and if the door is left open a crack during the evening, the winter chill is tempered. But there are other rooms remote from the heat. Getting ready for bed successfully for these frigid quarters requires foresight and experience. It is the 'learning by doing' technique.

Bricks, stones, and pieces of hardwood may be heated in the oven of the kitchen stove. Half an hour before bedtime these are wrapped in pieces of flannel. Usually two warmed objects are tucked between the cold blankets. They give one a couple of spots around which to try to curl.

On really cold nights, the youngsters like to undress in the corner behind the stove and then make a dash for bed. Among adults, there's a division of philosophy. One school believes in preparing the bed. The other believes in preparing one's self with heavy nightclothes, warm bed-socks, and even a close-fitting nightcap. Each method has its advantages. There is also a third group who don't mind going to bed; their major problem is the morning after. When the red mark in the column is close to zero, they contend—perhaps rightfully enough—that it requires more courage to get up and start the kitchen fire than to go to bed.—Christian Science Monitor.

A Bible Message

And there sat a certain man at Lystra, impotent in his feet, being a cripple from his mother's womb, who never had walked: the same heard Paul speak: who stedfastly beholding him, and perceiving that he had faith to be healed, said with a loud voice, Stand upright on thy feet. And he leaped and walked.

And when the people saw what Paul had done, they lifted up their voices, saying in the speech of Lycaonia, The gods are come down to us in the likeness of men. And they called Barnabas, Jupiter; and Paul, Mercurius, because he was the chief speaker.

Then the priest of Jupiter, which was before their city, brought oxen and garlands unto the gates, and would have done sacrifice with the people. Which when the apostles, Barnabas and Paul, heard of, they rent their clothes, and ran in among the people, crying out, and saying, Sirs, why do ye these things? We also are men of like passions with you and preach unto you that ye should turn from these vanities unto the living God, which made heaven, and earth, and the sea, and all things that are therein. (Acts 14: 8-15.)

Unconsidered Trifles

"My, what beautiful hands you've got! Tell me, after you've cut your nails, do you file them?" asked a chorus girl.

"Oh, no," replied her typist friend, "I throw them away."

Two small boys—aged four and six—had been chastised and packed off to bed in a very sulky mood. Their mother, in the next room, could hear the voices of her offspring.

"Do you", asked the younger boy, "love our mother?"

There was a long silence, while mother breathed heavily in suspense.

"Well", said the elder, very grudgingly. "I like her cooking!"

Two waiters were standing by the table over which the tired diner had fallen asleep.

"I've already wakened him twice", said the first waiter, "and I'm going to wake him a third time".

"Why don't you have him taken out?" suggested the other.

The first waiter shook his head.

"Not likely", he whispered. "Every time I wake him up he pays his bill".

Counsel was cross-examining a farmer.

"Now," he said, "don't quibble. Do you understand a simple problem or not?"

"I do," replied the witness.

"Then tell the court this: If 15 men ploughed a field in five hours, how long would 30 men take to plough the same field?"

"They couldn't do it."

"Why not?"

"Because the 15 have already ploughed it."

LAC. GEORGE RICE

Nowhere have Allied airmen received such an enthusiastic welcome as in Greece, writes a Marmora boy, LAC. George Rice, who is stationed in the country, which in the past, has contributed so much to the shaping of the world's history.

"I'm somewhere in Greece now and it's the best place I've hit since I left England. The cities seem to be modern and very clean, and the welcome we received has been and still is tremendous. We'd read about the welcome the boys received at Tunis, but this is the first time we have experienced it.

"The buildings are covered with flags and signs 'welcome our Allies', and such like. There were banners across the streets with floral wreaths on them. The people are very friendly and nearly everyone has been 'adopted' by a family. The number who speak English and have been to Canada or the States, is amazing. All around, they are good linguists, many speaking three or four languages — French, Italian, Greek, English, German and others.

Grateful to Canada

"All the boys are happy and it is swell to be in a country where the people are friendly and happy. As you walk along, you hear people say "Canada" and from speaking to several Greeks at different times, I can tell you they have had a pretty bad time of it. Canadian wheat and the International Red Cross made things much easier for them. They all agree that the Jerries are cruel, soulless beasts, who can't think for themselves."

LAC. Rice, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Rice, Marmora, graduated from Marmora High School, and had been serving in Italy, prior to his transfer to Greece. He enlisted in May 1941 and went overseas in February 1942. Two months were spent training in England and then he was sent to North Africa where he served nearly a year before going on to Italy for four months.

To Get Badge

Men released from the R.C.A.F. as a result of the curtailment of the British Commonwealth Air Training plan and attached to a civilian reserve, will be given a badge to indicate their reserve membership.

Members of the Reserve are subject to recall to duty with the R.C.A.F.

Beautiful Surroundings

One of the most important jobs connected with the war, is the care with which military cemeteries overseas are tended, and preserved, giving row upon row of graves a dignity and peacefulness even in death.

Mrs. Frank Bell, 194 Auburn street, received a letter from her mother containing a newspaper clipping describing Harrogate Air Force cemetery, where several Peterborough fliers are at rest. She says that their home is opposite one end of the cemetery and she felt that parents here who have lost dear ones overseas would appreciate the knowledge of the care the graves are given.

In the quiet of Wetherby Road, Harrogate, there is an area of about 2½ acres covered with neat crosses, and it is here that many of the air force casualties lie. Their graves are tended by Harrogate Corporation in conjunction with the Imperial War Graves Commission.

The cemetery, which serves the counties of Northumberland, Durham, Yorkshire and parts of Lincolnshire, was chosen, not only because of its central position, but also because it was thought that the surroundings should be as pleasant as possible for the benefit of those who visit them. Parents of Dominion airmen, who cannot visit their sons' graves, have received photos from the Imperial War Graves Commission.

Keep Up Grave

"In spite of the difficulties of wartime, members of the Corporation staff who tend the graves, have planted them with simple flowers, touching tributes to the valor of those who lie there.

"It is hoped after the war to erect a memorial and facilities are being arranged for visits by relatives. The cemetery will serve not only as a resting place for men of the Dominions, but also as a constant reminder of the tremendous price which has been paid for the freedom, which some of us take so much for granted.

"Many of the men buried at Harrogate died in gallant attempts to bring home their planes and crews. Many of them succeeded, at the cost of their own lives. Others died in accidents, but all are members of the great and honorable company who died for freedom's sake."

GNR. WILFRED BOWEN

A Warkworth boy, Gnr. Wilfred H. Bowen, is now serving in Holland. He enlisted with the Battery at Cobourg and before going overseas in the Spring of 1941, he trained at Woodstock and Kingston.

He is the oldest son of Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Bowen and prior to enlisting, he was engaged as a printer with the Warkworth Journal. His youngest brother, Lloyd, is serving in Italy.

Canada Honored

Papers reaching Peterborough from Greece tell of a plan the people of Greece are adopting to show a little of their appreciation to Canada for the help which has been given them.

One of the main streets in the capital Athens, is to be named "Canada", tribute to the Dominion for the wheat and other supplies which she sent to the starvation smitten country.

Canada's Post-War Aviation Plans

By B. T. RICHARDSON

CHICAGO: We fastened our safety belts, and the big plane moved down to the end of the flight strip, warmed up and took off in an easy climb. It gave the impression of effortless flight, and we unfastened the belts and looked out at Chicago lying below. We flew over to the shore of Lake Michigan and watched a sham battle, a beach-head landing that the U.S. Navy was staging for the new American victory loan drive. Then we flew over the Loop district, above the tall buildings and circled back to the Douglas Aircraft testing field.

This was a C-54 military air transport, big enough to carry 50 men and their equipment, with supplies. It was the military model of the DC-4, the plane which has been chosen for Trans-Canada Air Lines services after the war. The big DC-4 will be built in Canada for Canadian transcontinental services and for flying across oceans. It is the plane in which Canadians will fly, when the war is over, between Winnipeg and Toronto, Vancouver, Montreal and Halifax on T.C.A.'s main line.

THE DC-4 was first built and flown by Douglas Aircraft in 1938. That first model cost $1,000,000. With some re-designing, the plane was ready for commercial service, and four big U.S. air lines placed orders. Production was ready to start in 1940. Bigger than any plane which has been placed in civilian service, the DC-4 can carry 42 passengers. It cruises at 220 miles per hour, with top speed of 280-5 per hour. It has four engines and a pressurized cabin. With only three engines it can fly at 18,000 feet altitude, an example of the safety factor built into it.

But the war prevented any civil air line from getting delivery of DC-4's. The U.S. army air services took over all production of it in 1941, and changed its designation to C-54. The Douglas Aircraft Company has six huge production plants in operation in the United States, but the Chicago plant, where we saw the whole assembly line from the point where parts are finished to the final point where the big plane is wheeled out to fly, is concentrated wholly on the C-54A, a designation which means that it is a troop carrier.

The C-54, or DC-4, carries 3,800 gallons of gasoline, and can fly to a range of 4,500 miles. It weighs 65,000 pounds gross when loaded. To fly 200 miles per hour, as it does on long ocean flights, the pilot throttles the engines down to 50 per cent of their power. Inside the United States, at 60 per cent of power, its speed is 220 m.p.h.

About a year and a half ago, Canadian government aviation experts picked the DC-4 as the best plane in sight for future T.C.A. services. Last March, Hon. C. D. Howe announced the arrangements had been made to build the plane in Canada, and that an order for 50 had been placed with Vickers company in Montreal. One detail of change in the Canadian version, which will be the DC-4M, will be different engines. The United States C-54's use Pratt and Whitney double Wasp motors. The Canadian version will have Rolls-Royce Merlin 51 engines. These are more powerful, and the Canadian DC-4 will have an economical ceiling of 23,000 feet compared with the American figure of 10-12,000 feet. The Canadian version will be faster.

The DC-4 has two double wheels, and a single wheel under the nose, giving it a tricycle landing gear. The cabin is 12 feet in diameter, and its wing spread is 117 feet. The Douglas Aircraft company is already re-designing the DC-4 with added dimensions, room for eight more passengers, and more powerful Wright engines. It is being called the DC-6. An official said it was "under design" and would be ready "after the war." An even bigger plane, the DC-7, is being built by the same

Young Peterboro Becomes Propagandists In Civics

By HARRY THEOBALD

Young Bill and sister Mary are going to be propagandists in civics when they arrive home from school next Monday, municipal elections day.

This is the idea the Council adopted early in the year on the recommendation of City Clerk Outram who informed the members that it had been tried in several cities, notably Kingston, and had apparently produced results.

And the result desired by the Council, frankly and repeatedly stated, is mainly a large proportion of the voters going to the polls and marking their ballots.

The children will go to school at nine o'clock and their teachers will tell them about the city's elections, and how the municipality is administered, and finally the importance of men and women making use of their franchise. The children will be dismissed at 10 o'clock. Most of the schools will be made ready as polling places. One hundred teachers have been appointed to the fifty voting spots, as deputy returning officers and poll clerks. The old guard has been cleaned out, although some of them have been demoted to special constables for the day.

So the youngsters are expected to become emissaries of civic duty, reminding their parents at noon and probably throughout the day until the voting job is done. The polls will be open from 11 a.m. until 7 p.m.

The Council has also had 8,500 cards printed instructing every person on the voters' list where to go on Monday to vote. These cards were addressed by the Women's Voluntary Services, and they have been mailed this week.

So, the boys and girls of the primary grades become collaborationists of the city fathers in this year's planning to persuade the citizens they owe to themselves and their city an active interest in its affairs, and especially in the electing of its administration.

Members of the Council said at the nominations the other night that they would rather be defeated in a heavy vote of the people than elected in a light, negligible and negligent vote. Manifestation of keen public interest is the wish of the members of the Council and other elective boards because, as it was said, their members then feel that the people are actively interested partners or municipal stockholders, and that the aldermen and trustee boards are directorates.

NOT GUILTY—Edward R. Vining, of London, Ont., who was charged with manslaughter in the death of one of 17 persons drowned at Port Stanley, when his pleasure boat, the Olga, carrying 30 persons, capsized in the lake, has been found "not guilty." Jury suggested, however, that supervision at Port Stanley is lax.

Geo. Curtis, Brickmaker Given Life Membership With Ceramic Society

By HARRY THEOBALD

Life membership in the Canadian Ceramic Society was conferred on George Curtis of Peterborough at the the Engineers' Club, Toronto, last Monday night.

George Curtis is the senior member of the partnership long established in Peterborough as Curtis Brothers, manufacturers of brick and tile products. Associated with him are his two sons, Stanley M. J. and Alderman Floyd Curtis.

Other life members of the Society are Dr. Ross C. Purdy, secretary of the American Ceramic Society and Gordon C. Keith, M. Sc., secretary of the Ceramic Society.

Life memberships, as reported to the Examiner by Mr. Keith, had been held by the late General C. H. Mitchell, dean of the faculty of Applied Science and Engineering of the University of Toronto; the late Dr. Mellor, secretary of the British Ceramic Society; and the late William Burgess, a leader in education in Toronto and East York, and outstanding ceramist.

First In Ontario

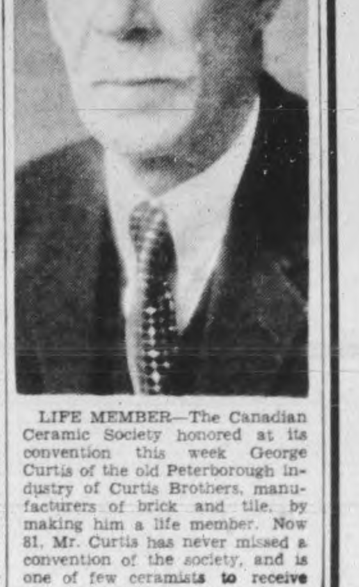
The Curtis brick plant was the first in Ontario. It was established by Lazarus Curtis, grandfather of George Curtis, around 110 years ago. The family had been engaged in brickmaking for years before Lazarus Curtis came to Canada from the vicinity of Bristol in England. He lived for several years at Millbrook, but decided there was more opportunity for his business in the new settlement of Peterborough on the banks of the Otonabee. Locating suitable clay on the eastern margin of Ashburnham, Mr. Curtis acquired substantial acreage and founded the business that has come down through generations of his family continuing their manufacturing enterprise on most of the original site.

The founder was succeeded by his son Mark Curtis, and the name of the business was changed to Mark Curtis and Son. The son was the late Charles Curtis. Later its business title was changed to Curtis Brothers, Charles, Albert and George. Since then the name has been retained by the personnel, which has altered with the years. George Curtis is still actively interested in the business with his two sons, and his brother Albert is also living.

Always There

George Curtis was one of the earliest members of the Canadian Ceramic Society which was organized in 1901. He is a regular attendant at its meetings and has never missed a convention. He was accompanied to Toronto last Monday by his son Alderman Floyd Curtis.

Curtis Brothers is regarded as the oldest manufacturing industry in Peterborough. About 40 years ago workmen at the plant unearthed a piece of baked perforated clay, presumably made years before for a brewery. It was identified by Professor Montgomery of the University of Toronto as part of the floor of a malt bed.



LIFE MEMBER—The Canadian Ceramic Society honored at its convention this week George Curtis of the old Peterborough industry of Curtis Brothers, manufacturers of brick and tile, by making him a life member. Now 81, Mr. Curtis has never missed a convention of the society, and is one of few ceramists to receive this distinction.

Fallacies As Accepted Facts Are Found To Number Up In The Thousands

By DON McGIBBON.

"To unlearn is harder than to learn," according to an old saying, and like most ancient adages, it rings true in many cases. Fallacies accepted as facts number thousands

You don't have to go far to find someone who is under the impression a man accommodates one less rib in his body than does a woman. This idea probably originated from the Bible, in the Creation given in Genesis 11, 21-22. There are plenty of human skeletons in natural history museums throughout the world however, that testify that there is no difference; each sex has twelve pairs of ribs.

For some reason, the Bible is the beginnings to many popular fallacies. Contrary to public opinion generally, the proverb "Money is the root of all evil," while it may be true, does not appear in the Bible. Paul's version of it was "The love of money is at the root of all evil."

Similarly, the proverb "Cleanliness is akin to godliness," does not appear anywhere in the Bible. However, many cases have been found where a Holy Bible quotation has been dressed up in a new costume, and attributed to the Good Book. Along that line, the proverb, "The merciful man is merciful to his beast," appears in the Scriptures as "A righteous man regardeth the life of his beast."

Here is an error that must cause embarrassment during the summer months. Along the Otonabee River banks, or on the shores of Little Lake, it has been seen that the mere sight of a dragon-fly moves some people, including adults, to run from them, afraid of being stung. A harmless little creature, the dragon-fly belongs to the Neuroptera class of insects, and could not sting you if it wanted to, because it has no sting.

It is not strange that people should think India-ink and India-rubber come from India; the name implies that belief. The fact remains, however, that India-ink comes from China, not India, and in France is known as Chinese-ink. India-rubber is produced in the Americas, and is no more Indian than the Red Indians.

Inviting Danger.

To use a cobweb to stop a cut from bleeding, according to a well-known belief, is inviting danger, because of numerous disease germs scattered through the web in natural conditions.

Here is one that has gained great prominence, especially in Canada and the United States. In a few cases sugar is harmful to one's teeth, but in the majority of cases this fallacy has no foundation in fact. The natives in the West Indies consume large amounts of sugar regularly, and still their teeth are unexcellent in whiteness and soundness.

Even in 1944, housewives sincerely cut three inches from the end of a cucumber, and rub the two portions together vigorously, supposedly to take the bitterness from the vegetable. According to scientific tests, the extreme end of a cucumber is formed of coarser material, and is a trifle bitter, but there is no earthly reason for rubbing the two pieces together.

Getting Rid of Sty.

Some fallacies, of course, are not true errors in the essential sense of the word. Elaborate medical remedies as an example might possibly benefit the afflicted, but are too dangerous or complicated for general use. If someone tells you to let a dog lick that sty formed above the eye to cure it, remember that possibly this might do the trick, but the chances of contracting some more dangerous infection are great.

The dog's rough tongue might break open the infection and wipe away the liquid, but there are more practical ways of ridding oneself of a sty than that method.

There are some who would have you believe that the fruit Eve ate in the Garden of Eden was an apple but there is absolutely no justification for this belief. It could have been a pear as far as anybody knows. Or any other fruit. The story goes on in some cases that when Eve gave Adam some of the fruit to eat, it stuck in his throat, thereby giving rise to the fable of the origin of the Adam's apple, scientifically the thyroid cartilage of the larynx, more prominent in men than women.

An interesting fallacy is that a cat can see better in the dark than in the daytime. Because of the adaptability of the iris in the cat's eyes, it can undoubtedly see much better in the dusk than in the daylight, but in total darkness all animals are equally helpless with regard to sight. Sometimes special organs connected with other senses, such as the "feelers" or antennae, enables an animal to see better in darkness.

There are hundreds more, in each case untrue, but taken as a matter of truth by many citizens. Everyone has heard that "cats suck the breath away from young babies," or a "drowning person rises to the surface three times," or "stepping on a spider will bring rain."

Often it is hard to separate fallacies from superstitions; there is a marked difference. Fallacies can be just as amusing as superstitions which involve every rite from throwing salt over the shoulder to clasping fingers and whispering "smoke goes up the chimney."

Although known in their true light for years, popular fallacies continue their work of impressing people as facts, and will probably continue doing so. "To unlearn is harder than to learn," written years ago, may hold out for a similar length of time in the future.

Five Species Of Grebes Are To Be Found In Canada

By G. H. RICHARDSON.

Waterfowl are still flocking in numbers, although by now the species in evidence are mostly ones from the Arctic or nearly as far north which are arriving to spend the winter.

As well as ducks and geese, there are coots and grebes of several species. Grebes moult their brightest colors in the fall, replacing them with whites and greys. There are five species of these in Canada. Two of these are purely Western, three are found over the entire country in migration, two of which nest only in the West and one, the pied-billed, nests almost everywhere in the southern part of the country and up to Great Slave Lake in the West.

The Holboel's grebe is the North American race of the red-necked grebe of Europe, a large species, about 10 inches long, almost duck-like in size and sturdiness of build (which impression is more pronounced when the birds sit with their heads resting on their backs, for then the greater length of neck does not show).

Change Color.

In summer, the crown is black with a green gloss, the cheeks and throat silvery white, the neck rich chestnut. In winter the cheeks are washed with grey, the chestnut is replaced by a grey, leaving a white line down the middle of the foreneck.

Holboel's Grebe (Winter Dress).

At this time they come south and east (for they nest in the Prairies) some years in large numbers, and although most pass on to the south to winter a number stay with us in the more suitable stretches of fairly open, but sheltered water.

Grebes dive very smoothly, almost like loons, rather than with the plop of a duck.

Even if this species is too far away to judge the size, it can be distinguished from the smaller horned grebe in its winter plumage by the grey cheeks and neck, where the horned is black on top of the head and back of the neck and glistening white on the throat, the cheeks and foreneck.

Grebes have a strange satiny sheen to their plumage, quite unlike the appearance of a duck's as seen at close range.

Northern Shrikes.

In the open fields where thorn bushes are fairly common, the northern shrikes spend the winter. Arriving in October, they stay until March. Then they are replaced by the common shrike and, indeed, for a short period in March, a shrike may be of either species. Both are alike in general pattern.

Pine Grosbeak.

The northern is a trifle lighter on the back and the breast has fine wavy lines across it. These lines only show at close range. If seen close enough for these to show the lighter bill of the northern may be noticed, particularly the spot at the base of the lower mandible, which is very pale violet, almost white. In the common shrike the bill is all black.

Pine grosbeaks come to us at this time, and although some winter, most are here only before Christmas on their way farther south. They are large finches, almost robin size, with very short, heavy bills and in the males, dull rosy plumage. Females are grey with bronzy crowns, cheeks and rumps. They are partial to "key" seeds, such as are on maple and ash trees.

SPORTS-Day by Day

By FRED D. CRAIG

The career of the Peterborough juniors which began in rain and mud at Riverside Park will end for the season this afternoon in frost and snows on the wind-swept spaces of Alexandra Park in Oshawa where they were billed to meet the Hamilton youngsters in a game for the unofficial junior championship. The Peterborough team has been battling against adverse conditions all season. It was impossible to get any O.R.F.U. grouping and the only way in which it was possible to secure competition was to bring down teams from Toronto. The Westsides, Vikings and Balmy Beach juvenile outfits co-operated splendidly, each making a trip to Peterborough but as the expenses had to met locally the exhibition games represented a heavy drain on the treasury. To make it worse weather conditions were none too good for several of the games. Now with a sudden-death game arranged for the unofficial provincial junior honors comes the advent of winter and any chance of getting sufficient gate at Oshawa to defray a portion of the expenses rode out with the blizzard. The Peterborough youngsters have had plenty of luck all season but practically all of it has been bad.

Frank Shaughnessy, president of the International League, former coach of the McGill football squad and well-remembered here as manager of the Ottawa club when Peterborough was represented in the Canadian Professional Baseball League back in 1912-13 and 14 is out with a suggestion that teams in Canadian rugby should be cut down to eleven, dropping the flying wing. That would put the playing strength on the same basis as in the American game and there is something to be said in its favor, especially in these days when material is not too plentiful. Incidentally, speaking of the American game, we have been getting into the habit on this side of the border of calling outside wings ends as they are called in the United States brand. There is nothing much wrong with that but if we are going to refer to our outsides as ends we might as well be consistent and call middle wings tackles and inside wings guards and use centre instead of snap for the man who starts the plays in motion. Certainly the American names are easier for the sport writers. You can describe a play as "off tackle" whereas to use the expression "off middle wing" would seem rather clumsy.

Tonight's Cage Card

There will be activity on the Y.M.C.A. basketball front tonight with a House League double-header that should provide two interesting cage battles. In the 7:30 o'clock fixture the two winners of last week Gord Johnston's Lions and Ray Routley's Panthers will provide the argument and it should be a lively tilt all the way. Both outfits played fine basketball last week in winning their opening games and with the leadership at stake tonight they promise to turn on the heat and come up with a lively tussle. The Lions will have a job on their hands looking after Ed Nicholls who opened the season with a high-powered scoring session that saw him top man for the night. Harry Currie was tops for the Lions last Saturday night but has since reported to the R.C.N.V.R. and may not be available tonight. The second game on the card will see Bill Kemp's Trojans and Roy Johnston's Tigers hook up and should provide another spirited battle. The loser drops into the cellar so that both clubs will have an incentive to step on the gas. The Cougars were to have made their debut tonight but the outfit led by Clarence Davern and Spud Turner were unable to field a team and the card was altered accordingly.

Transports, last season's senior girl basketball champs found their scoring touch last night and sparked by Beryl Dobbin who tossed in ten field baskets defeated the C.G.E. team 32 to 24 to win their first victory of the season. The win gave the Transports second place. With the first round over St. John's are in the lead with two straight wins. Transports second with a win and a loss and C.G.E. hold the basement spot with two losses and no victories. The teams gave a fast and pleasing exhibition last night and the Electricians, led by Mary McPherson who racked up 12 points, made it decidedly close in the early stages and battled it out to the end. Y Grads whose one-sided defeat of the Normal team last week interested the fans, showed that their high-scoring on that occasion was not a flash in the pan by piling up 37 points to beat the Westclox by a big margin. The Big Bens were minus some of their regulars but at that the Grads gave a convincing exhibition of scoring power with Betty Lou Braund, Shirley Curtis, B. Boutett and Kathie McCaig, formerly of Cobourg, supplying most of the punch.

It Will Be A Battle

A number of Peterborough fans are figuring on a trip to Oshawa tonight when the Generals will clash with the powerful St. Mike's squad in a game that is expected to throw a lot of light on the Junior A outlook. The first meeting of the season of these two rivals should produce a game brimful of excitement as both outfits have classy squads. Here is what Oshawa's George Campbell has to say of the clash: "Oshawa hockey fans will need no urging to attend the big game here Saturday night. The new Junior "A" O.H.A. schedule, published in today's paper, reveals that the 7 Junior teams have been moulded into one compact group and will play a complete doubt-schedule throughout. Each team will visit the other twice during the season and there will be six teams in the playoffs, on a system similar to the N.H.L. playdowns. St. Mike's will be bringing their full team here on Saturday night for the important game with the Generals. They are bringing 200 rooters, too, and already the sale of tickets indicates a sell-out crowd of Saturday night. Gus Mortson, ace defenseman and McCormack, the centre-ice star with the devastating sweepcheck, will both be on hand Saturday night. The "Irish" have quite a few of last year's team still available, including goalie Boehmer, while Blute and Samis, a couple of their imports, also Turik of Trail, are going like a house-afire for the Bay Street club."

* * * * * *

Jerry Philbin who played defence on the champion R.C.A.F. hockey team several seasons ago is back from overseas—he comes back with the rank of squadron leader by the way — and Billy Westwick, Ottawa sports commentator has had an interesting interview with him in which he says that 14 of the champs are scattered all over the shop overseas. Here is an interesting paragraph from the interview: Philbin's hockey enthusiasm is contagious. In the last two years and a half he has gone through more experiences than he once figured he'd have in a lifetime. He's been in some tight spots, figured in a bad crash, plenty of raids, was shot down over occupied France before the invasion and was battered up around the mouth and legs. He was around Paris a month before the Allies marched in. But all this you learned from other sources. Jerry likes to talk of sport, and hockey is his favorite topic. He'd mentioned before that there was quite a future for the game in England, and the more he thinks of it the more he figures that it will be a greater field than ever before for Canadian players. "They never have lost their enthusiasm for the game over there," he recalled. "They are thinking of the day when they can have it again on even a greater scale than before the war. I was in to see Mr. Herberts, of Wembley. They are already planning there for the day hockey returns. No more pool there and he tells me that hockey and skating will be featured. It's the same all over and, while they won't go any more professional than we were over there before the war, it will be quite a spot for Canadian players."

Transports Beat C.G.E. Team In Fast Battle

Turning back the C.G.E. in a fast and well-played battle in the Y.W.C.A. gym on Friday night by 32 to 24, Transports took over second place in the senior division of the Ladies' Basketball League, and pushed the losers down into the cellar. In the junior battle the Y Grads came up with another fine exhibition of sniping to smother the Westclox girls 37 to 11.

The senior game was voted about the fastest and cleanest of the season with both teams handling the ball smartly and turning in a neat all-round display.

In the early stages the scoring was evenly divided and neither team was able to open up much of a lead, but Transports finally drew away toward the end of the first half and led at the rest period by 18 to 15. Beryl Dobbin, after being kept under control a week ago, broke loose in a scoring rash that saw her hit the hoops for seven baskets in the first half and that exhibition of accurate shooting was the big factor in the lead set up by the champions. After the rest, Transports increased their lead by outscoring the Electricians 14 to 9 in the second half, although C.G.E. never stopped trying and made it an interesting battle to watch.

Beryl Dobbin was the big scorer for the winners, adding three more baskets in the last half to give her a total of 20 points for the game. Fran Bestard, with eight points, also helped the Transport attack, while Jean Castle and Irene Stewart were very effective defensively.

For the losers Mary McPherson hung up 12 points in a fine scoring exhibition and J. Hickey and Dot Allen with 5 and 4 each, were a big help.

The teams:

Transports (32)—Isobel Crary 2, Jean Castle 1, Beryl Dobbin 20, Isobel Bullock, Fran Bestard 8, R. Fleming, B. Northover, Irene Stewart 1.

C.G.E. (24)— J. Hickey 5, Shirley Mortimer 2, Dot Allen 4, B. Mantell, Mary McPherson 12, M. Carson, Jean Metcalfe, Nona Whetung 1, G. Davies, J Rahmel

Referee, J. Cooper. Umpire, Howie Macdonald, Timer, A Neiman.

Westclox found themselves minus a number of their regulars in the junior game with Y Grads, and as a result the Big Bens were under a handicap in tackling the powerful Y outfit.

Grads won the game 37 to 11, thanks to a scoring barrage in the first half when they registered 31 points, against 5 for the losers. Westclox rallied after the rest and battling valiantly in the second half had the satisfaction of scoring point for point with the winners. The checking was much closer than in the early stages, and as a result the sniping of the Grads was held under control. Both teams scored six points in the second half, leaving the winners with exactly the same margin they had had half way home.

Scoring honors were well divided among the winners. Betty Lou Braund led the parade with 12 points, Shirley Curtis and B. Boutette registered 8 each and Kathie McCaig added 7 more to the total.

Olive Hanwell did practically all the scoring for the losers, getting 10 of the Westclox' 11 points. The other was a successful free throw by Dot Dawson, who played a good game defensively at guard for the Westclox.

The teams:

Y Grads (37) — A. Metheral, Betty Stewart 2, Shirley Curtis 8, H. Duncan, M. Braund, Kathie McCaig 7, B. Boutette 8, Betty Lou Braund 12.

Westclox (11) — M. Woodcock, Dot Dawson 1, Olive Hanwell 10, V. Clarke, D. Preston, F. Hanwell, J. Hobbins.

Referee, H. Smith, Umpire, J. Cooper, Timer, A. Neiman.

SKATING STARS WED—Norah McCarthy of North Bay, who will wed her skating partner, Michael Kirby of Winnipeg, Man., in Hollywood, shortly before Christmas. Kirby, former Canadian senior figure skating champion, is under contract to Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer studios where he is being groomed for romantic leads. Miss McCarthy is on tour with the Ice Follies of 1945.

ONLY SHUT-OUT IN N.H.L.—Frank McCool, star goalie for the Toronto Maple Leafs, who has to his credit the only shut-out in the N.H.L. this season. He was discharged from the army for medical reasons.

A Navy team from Quebec, representing H.M.C.S. Montcalm, has been booked to play five clubs of the Eastern U.S. Hockey League in a series of games opening against the Olympics at Boston, Jan. 26. The matches will count as League fixtures for the American teams.

New York State derived a revenue of $27,847,314 from pari-mutuel betting from the tracks within its territory during the past season, an increase of almost 50 per cent over the receipts for 1943, the previous record.

A crowd of 10,446 racing fans, instead of the 25,000 predicted by President James Donn of Miami, attended yesterday's opening card at the revived Gulfstream Park track. Outsiders, Firepower and Good Going, won the two divisions of the $2,500 inaugural handicap.

It was announced at Hagerstown, Md., last night that Toronto Leafs of the International Baseball League would train in the Hagerstown Stadium next spring, through arrangements made with the parent club, Philadelphia Athletics. It was also stated that first-baseman Harry Davis had been appointed Manager of the Toronto team.

GOES TO LEAFS—Roger Bedard of Quebec who has joined the Toronto Maple Leafs hockey team.

Army Favorites To Take Navy

By FRITZ HOWELL
Associated Press Sport Writer.

BALTIMORE, Dec. 2 — (AP). — The Army-Navy football game — moved to-day from the conversational stage to the gridiron.

And, as the chips went into the pot for the Municipal Stadium showdown between the United States' two top-ranking elevens, plenty was at stake. To all-victorious West Point victory meant the national title and the first unbeaten season since 1916.

Navy, 14-point or 2-to-1 underdog, had to win to stretch its victory string over the Cadets to six straight, longest domination in the bitter pigskin rivalry dating back to 1890. Of the previous 44 contests Army won 22, Navy 19, and three were deadlocks.

A portion of the expected crowd of 70,000 purchased war bonds reported worth $50,000,000 to obtain tickets after the annual classic was transferred from the comparative seclusion of nearby Annapolis.

A two-week layoff from competition put both squads in tip-top physical shape for the crucial clash, and each coach fractured all the rules by admitting his team had a chance to win the contest getting under way at 2 p.m. EDT.

In winning eight straight this year Army rolled up 481 points to 28 for the opposition, while Navy counted 229 against 64 in winning six of eight.

Hamilton, Kitchener Curling Rinks Win

TORONTO, Dec. 2 —(CP)—Rinks skipped by Ross Tarlton of Hamilton Thistles and Perry Hall of Kitchener Granites won trophies in the five-day curling bonspiel which ended here last night. Tarlton's four defeated Ed Young's Toronto Royal Canadians 13-6 in the final to win the R.S. McLaughlin trophy. Hall's rink defeated a Toronto High Park rink skipped by G. Meetch 10-7 in the final of the Sykes Memorial trophy event. Sixty-four rinks participated in the 'spiel.

Maple Leafs Switch Training Location

HAGERSTOWN, Md., Dec. 2 (AP) —Toronto Maple Leafs will do their baseball training in the Hagerstown Stadium, the Field Athletic Association having closed the contract with Philadelphia Athletics, parent organization, Frank Colley, Morning Herald sports editor, said today.

Colley said Harry Davis, firstsacker for the Leafs last season, and 1945 manager, had suggested that the club train here so Toronto would be able to fill out an exhibition game schedule. The A's will condition at near-by Frederick.

Buffalo Bisons, who trained here two years ago, will return to Hershey, Pa., again next season.

Leafs trained at Lancaster, Pa., last year.

Braves Trounce Cornwall Team

CORNWALL, Dec. 2 — (CP). — Cornwall Cookies lost their first game on home ice last night when beaten by Valleyfield Braves 3-2 in an Interprovincial Hockey League tilt here. The victory sent the Braves further ahead in the standings, giving them a six-point edge over Cornwall.

Bobby Carragher started the scoring for the Cookies with Frank Burr earning the assist and for a time it seemed like the Cookies were going to continue their winning streak. Toward the end of the first period, Bissette equalled the score and in the second period went ahead on Joannette's goal. Bissette added another for Valleyfield in the third and Marshall scored the last Cornwall counter.

Fans Are Delighted Over Mat Classic

WHIPPER BILLY WATSON

The announcement that Whipper Billy Watson and classy Frank Sexton of Columbus, O., have been matched for the main bout of the Tunney wrestling show at the Brock Street Arena next Tuesday night has made a real hit with the fans. A battle between the two most popular figures in the mat game, with the accent on speed, dexterity and science promises to supply one of the fastest and most thrilling exhibitions of wrestling ever seen here and it is safe to predict a record crowd. Sexton has almost as many local admirers as Watson and everybody has been asking for a chance to see the two tangle. advt

Mark Fry Tops Golfing Throng

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 2 (AP)—Lanky Mark Fry, Oakland, Cal., racked up a par-shattering 69 on a rain-soaked course Friday to take the first-round lead in the 72-hole San Francisco Open golf tournament.

Two-time former California State Open champion and one of the five Coastwise prominent golfing Fry brothers, Fry topped a fine field.

His 36-33 over Harding Park public links, a par 36-36—72 test, stole the spotlight from such stars as Slammin' Sam Snead of Hot Springs, Va., and Byron Nelson of Toledo, Ohio, leading money winner of the year and former United States Open as well as P.G.A. champion.

Snead, winner of the Portland, Ore., Open last week, and Nelson teed off as the pre-tournament favorites. They tied at even par figures with five others. Among them was Fred Wood of Vancouver, B.C., who carded a pair of 36's.

Between them and pace setter Fry were: John Geertsen, Salt Lake City, and George Fazio, Pine Vally, N.J.

Geertsen was a party to an unusual golfing act when his wife, Marie, served as his caddy, pushing a two-wheeled cart throughout the 18 holes.

Mrs Geertsen enjoyed the unusual experience, caused by a lack of regular caddies. She shared this with another, however, as playing in the same threesome was Leonard Ott of Denver. His wife, Mary Agnes, also pushed a baby cart, but Leonard's game was not quite as sharp, he having a 75.

Canadian Sport Snapshots

By SYD THOMAS
Canadian Press Staff Writer

TORONTO, Dec. 2 — (CP). — In whimsical mood the other night Dick Irvin cooked up a scheme, purely imaginary, for paying his players on the merit system. Dick's idea, as outlined to Elmer (Montreal Herald) Ferguson, is approximately to wit: Sign each man to a $1 contract, then set a maximum rate of $100 for each of the 50 scheduled games—making a maximum salary of $5,001....Then, according to the kind of a game he played, each man would get $100, $90, $60 and so on down the scale ....Thinking sadly of the 2-0 defeat handed his Montreal Canadiens by Toronto last Saturday, Dick averred heatedly there were a couple of men that night who wouldn't have received a cent. In fact, they should have paid Irvin $25 each "to soothe my harried nerves."

International brigade:

Mike Rodden of the Kingston Whig-Standard isn't at all certain enough French-Canadian players could be gathered together to form a football team. In fact, says Rodden, if Eddie Quinn of Montreal enrolled all the Habitant players who displayed any marked brilliance in the Canadian game for the past 25 years, "he would still have to call on the Irish, English, and Scots" to make up a team. Eddie has visions of a professional team made up exclusively, or almost so, of French Canadiens.

Here and there:

Vancouver baseball men are apparently none too hopeful they will ever get a franchise in the Pacific Coast League, and are turning in other directions. It is reported the Western International League may operate again next year in Spokane, Tacoma, Salem, Yakima, Vancouver and Victoria....Frank McCool, Toronto goalie, is plugging along just behind Montreal's Bill Durnan for the N.H.L. netkeeping honors —all that and stomach ulcers and a broken toe as well, so Coach Hap Day just disclosed. We wonder what McCool would have done if he had been in perfect health.

Toronto Must Beat Rangers To Take Lead

By BOB NIELSEN
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Toronto Maple Leafs can regain the leadership of the National Hockey League tonight by defeating the team that gave them the opportunity—New York Rangers. The blueshirts, in upsetting Canadiens 7-5 at Montreal Thursday, froze the Frenchmen's margin over Toronto at a single point.

Although Rangers are winless in two games with the Leafs this season, they may be hard to beat. In their only previous appearance at Maple Leaf Gardens Frank Boucher's men chilled opening night fans by holding a 1-0 margin most of the game, only to succumb to a two-goal Leaf rally in the final period. Their home-ice showing was less impressive, ending in a 6-3 defeat.

The New Yorkers, heartened by the Montreal victory and reporting no casualties, are in prime mental and physical shape to extend their newly-cast "giant killer" role. The Leafs are not so fortunate. They still lack two main offensive cogs, Wingers Sweeney Schriner and Lorne Carr, through injuries. Wally Stanowski, former star Toronto defenceman recently discharged from the Air Force, has been turning out with his old mates but will not play until he learns whether the Canadian Army wants him.

Leading the Ranger resurgence is colorful Phil Watson, who proved at Montreal Thursday that he delights in whipping old team-mates. Back with New York after a year's absence, he drove home two goals against the Habitants, for whom he played last year.

A Ranger victory would lift them to within two points of the fourth-place Boston Bruins.

The Sports Round-Up

By HUGH FULLERTON, Jr.
Associated Press Staff Writer

NEW YORK, Dec. 2 — (AP). — So many new pro football leagues have sprung up in the United States in the last few months that the prospective customers have begun to distinguish them by the names of their organizers . . . the two good names — National and American — already have been pre-empted, so why not go all the way and officially name them for famous football figures of the past? . . . the "Walter Camp" League or "Jim Thorpe" League would be a handier tag than "All-American" or "Trans-America." . . . the same idea might be applied to the minor baseball leagues that will be revived or started up after the war . . . baseball has shown a great lack of originality in naming its circuits after states and sections, so why not honor some of the baseball greats identified with the regions in which the leagues operate? . . . of course, it might be hard to get the right players for a "Dizzy Dean" or "Bugs Raymond" League.

DATED PRINCESS — Princess Antoinette, beautiful 23-year-old blonde daughter of Princess Charlotte of Monaco, who gave Sergt. James J. Kaporis of Chicago the thrill of a lifetime when she kept a date with him at the Royal Palace in Monaco. It all happened when the princess stopped to watch the sergeant clean the windshield of his jeep. They got acquainted and she gave him her address. When Kaporis showed up he was standing in front of the royal palace in Monte Carlo where the royal guards were expecting him and he was ushered inside to be greeted by the princess. According to Kaporis he and the princess danced to American jazz records and it wasn't long before she mastered the "boogie-woogie" rhythm.

Saints Become Senior Leaders

By The Canadian Press

St. Catharines Saints attained undisputed leadership in the senior O.H.A. series at the expense of Toronto Staffords last night by making a runaway of the fixture on St. Catharines ice 11-4 for their second straight win of the young season. Staffords fell deeper into the cellar on their third successive loss against no wins.

Umbo Concessi, ace of the Saints, enjoyed a field day with five goals to return him to the top of the league column for individual scoring while Wallace had a nice evening with no less than six assists. Fritz and Tottle notched two goals each and Bellinger and Goble one apiece. The Toronto scorers were Moorehouse, Dafoe, Carr and Strongman. There was nary a penalty.

In the junior "A" series, Port Colborne, finally won a game, after three defeats, by turning back Toronto Marlboros 6-4 at the port, thus leaving Galt Red Wings in sole possession of the bottom rung in the standing.

Most everybody had a finger in the scoring pie because Matheson of the Ports was the only puck-chaser to find the mark for a brace of goals. For the winners, markers were registered by Savicky, Cunningham, Kodatsky and Bowen. Marlies' goals went to McNabney, Lovelace, Raglin and Marzlak. There were 11 penalties.

Football Pays Dividends

The Football Star

Gen. Bradley

Lt.-Gen. Omar Nelson Bradley of the U.S. army, was a football star in his college days. Bradley was born in Clark, Mo., on Feb. 12, 1893, and entered the United States Military academy in 1911. The first two years of his colorful career as a West Pointer, Omar was held down to the "B" squad football team. His youth, inexperience and slight stature were not of the type to cope with the bull-necked men in the game those days.

But above all Cadet Bradley had the guts and determination to master the rugged game and set as his goal the varsity end position. He made the team in his third and final years and played some great football. His tackling and offensive play were definitely of the highest calibre. For his outstanding play he was awarded the coveted "A" and a souvenir football.

Omar loved football but the grid fame was not his only forte. He possessed a powerful throwing arm that received the deepest respect throughout the collegiate baseball world. And could he hit that ball! His three-year batting average on the Army varsity was a neat .383—a commendable record in any league.

END OF A PERFECT DAY AND NO BEAR STORY—Nimrods should be jealous of this trio of hunters for the boys have made a nice bag on the south shore of Lake Superior. The bag consists of two deer and a 350-pound black bear. The hunters are, Left to Right, Carl Keiser, Barney Szumal and Art Kling, all of Mt. Clemens, Mich.

I.B. And O. Railway Nightmare Line Nature Laughs At Time Schedule

Perhaps the only railroad in Canada that could operate with a calendar instead of a timetable is the one-time Irondale, Bancroft and Ottawa Railway, now part of the C.N.R., which navigates the 55-mile stretch between Bancroft and Howland and is seldom less than three hours late.

The railway had its start 10 years after Confederation, when a prospector, Charles J. Pusie, found himself owner of iron ore deposits at Irondale and needed a railway to carry his ore four miles west to Furnace Falls. Charlie built himself a railway and as the steel neared Furnace Falls his enthusiasm raced past. He would become a railroader. He applied—and got—a charter to build a line to Ottawa.

When his railway was hardly six miles long a conference of railway presidents was called at Chicago. The story goes that the owner of the six-mile system did not get a bid to attend. He complained, and it was pointed out that six miles of track hardly made a railroad. "That may be so," said Charlie. "My railroad may not be as long, but it is just as wide."

Paid Off Help

Since 1677 many things have happened to the erstwhile I.B. & O., including the fact that it never reached Ottawa. For the record, it never got as far as Bancroft. Pusie's bankroll, thinned by high construction costs and limited know-how, vanished at York River, three miles from Bancroft. He sold his steel and paid off the help—but he still had the charter for a railroad to Ottawa.

"We had a lot of trouble in those days," Frank Askey, an old oldtimer, recalled. Frank worked as a $1.25-a-day construction hand when the railway was new and was a brakeman on the road until he retired a few years ago. He lives at Bancroft. "Once we really had a rush job. That was the time we were supposed to have an engine standing at Gooderham by a certain day if Pusie was to hang on to his charter. We built two sections of track and by playing leapfrog with these sections we managed to get an engine into Gooderham in time. The engine got there all right, but there were no tracks behind it for six miles and none in front. Pusie kept his charter."

Mr. Askey branded as "rot" a yarn saying that the early builders of the I.B. & O. looped past a big pine stump rather than take it out. The place where the tracks go around the pine stump is now known as "Pine Stump Curve." "If you look again you'll see that the stump is on a rock. We couldn't get the rock out."

Had to See Pusie

Because Charles Pusie held the charter for a railroad to Ottawa he was the man with whom the Canadian Northern Railway had to do business when they sought running rights into Ottawa. They bought the I.B. & O., completed it to Bancroft and then made Smiths Falls the jumping-off point for a railway into Ottawa.

If travelling on the I.B. & O. was an adventure in the 90's, it remains so today.

The timetable schedules the train—No. M323—for an 8.30 a.m. departure three days a week—Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday. The train may be counted on to leave Bancroft on the right day, but even Frank Askey cannot recall an instance when it left Bancroft on time. If the train gets away only 45 minutes behind time, it's a good day. There is shunting to be done, cars to be picked up and dropped off and sometimes passengers are late. The last job is to draw off two milk cans of hot water from the boiler in the engine. The water is for J. M. Joynt, C.N.R. station agent at Bancroft, who uses it for his daily shave and any washing that must be done.

Thursday is the big day on the former I. B. & O. That's the day the commercial travellers ride. Their customers come down to the train on the westbound trip and pick up a prepared list of "specials." On the trip back in the evening the customers are on hand at the station platform again, this time with their orders filled in, ready for the salesman to say "thank you." Business comes easy along this right-of-way.

15 M.P.H. Limit

Speed on the line is held to 15 miles an hour. That is because the steel is light, only 58 pounds to the yard as compared to 120 pounds per yard on the main line, and the turns are so sharp only two engines in the entire C.N.R. system can make the corners.

No railway grade in the Canadian Rockies compares with the grade up Baptiste Hill, nine miles west of Bancroft. Railway engineers say it rises more than three and one-half feet for every 100 feet forward—a 3.64 grade.

At the top of Baptiste Hill is a stop which is not scheduled in the timetable. The stop is to take on water, not for the engine or the passengers but for members of the crew.

"The finest spring water in the world," swears Bob Ferguson, rear-end brakeman and baggageman.

Marmora News

St. Paul's Ladies' Guild held a euchre party in the parish hall, with fourteen tables in play. The winners were Frank Leal and Mrs. George Kerr.

Messrs. F. Smith, A. Warren and R. Gunrod of Madoc, and Mrs. H. H. Alger and Mrs. A. S. McConnell of Stirling attended the Induction service at St. Paul's on Thursday evening.

Owing to the heavy roads, the dance, to have been held in the town hall on Friday evening under auspices of Marmora Women's Institute, was cancelled.

Seeking Divorce

RENO, Nev., Dec. 2—(AP)—Divorce action Hubert Scott-Payne, British speed boat and airplane manufacturer and co-winner of the Schneider Cup in 1922, against his wife, Mrs. Brenda Hockey Scott-Payne, has been continued for submission of new evidence.

The adjournment of court came after Scott-Payne, chairman and founder of the British Power Boat Company and also chairman of The Canadian Power Boat Co., Ltd., had testified yesterday as to his Nevada residence qualification and that there was no community property in this state. The couple was married in 1916.

A Life-Saver

KITCHENER, Dec. 2 (CP).—A letter from his sweetheart, who prefers that they both remain anonymous, was a real life-saver to a Kitchener boy serving overseas. In his reply he says he was standing in the doorway of a shed with two corporals when the letter was delivered. He had moved across the room to get better reading light when a German shell demolished the shed. Both corporals were killed.

Millbrook Road Blocked With Snow

MILLBROOK, Dec. 2 (ENS) — Following Thursday's all day snow fall, and the high wind that prevailed throughout the night, roads were completely blocked on Friday morning, the cars taking workers who go to Peterborough every morning getting no farther than O'Brian's gateway, a short distance east of the village.

As, apparently, the contract for the county snow-plow to begin the season's operations does not start until December 15, some other means of opening up the roads will have to be taken until that date.

Personals

Mr. and Mrs. Havelock Graham, who have been living in Montreal, are moving to Toronto to reside, and have been visiting her mother and sister, Mrs. A. A., and Miss Muriel Smith.

Pte. Brenton Dawson, who has been taking training in the West, is being transferred from the Air Force to the Army, and is on furlough with his mother, Mrs. B. B. Dawson, for the current two weeks.

Dr. Arthur Walsh, who has been in New York for over two months taking special treatment for his eyes, was a recent guest of his cousins, Mr. and Mrs. T. A. Campbell. Mrs. Charles Walsh accompanied her son, with whom she had been staying in New York, and has now left for her home in Vancouver, B.C. Dr. Walsh is remaining with his uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Bert Dawson, Port Hope, the latter two being here with him on his brief visit.

Miss Francis Turner, of Toronto, spent the early part of the week with Dr. H. A. Turner and Mrs. Turner.

Grace Presbyterian church is changing its hours of service for the winter months, and beginning Sunday, December 3, Sunday School will be at 2 p.m., and church service immediately following at 3 o'clock.

AT CONVENTION—Dr. W. H. Brittain, vice-principal of Macdonald College, Ste. Anne de Bellevue, Que., and president of the Canadian Association for Adult Education, will be the speaker at a joint banquet to be held by the Ontario Federation of Agriculture in Toronto December 6.

George P. Paterson, commercial attache, Canadian Embassy, Washington, D.C., Canadian executive officer combined food board, will speak on "Post-war Markets" at the convention of the Ontario Federation of Agriculture.

ANNUAL MEETING.
The annual meeting of the Peterborough Club is slated for Wednesday night next.

PLANES OVER CGE.
Three yellow planes manoeuvred over CGE-Genelco roofs this morning. They were flying high and in changing formations. In one turn they crossed the big pale face of the waning moon which might otherwise have been unnoticed.

PRESUMED DEAD.
Previously reported missing on active service, Pilot Officer Donald L. Huband, son of W. H. Huband, Fenelon Falls, has now for official purposes been presumed dead, his father has been informed.

TO GIVE RETURNS.
Peterborough Examiner have made arrangements to broadcast the election returns at 9 o'clock Monday evening over radio station CHEX. Pete McGillen, telegraph editor of the Examiner, will handle this special events broadcast and will also give a final roundup of returns after 11 o'clock over CHEX.

HAS HOPES.
Walter Wright, North Monaghan candidate in the aldermanic field, says he might "come into town" with 1,600 votes Monday. At least it could be. There is a kinship south of Lansdowne street that is likely to give the suburban entry a strong following, and if the rest of the city distributed their favor with some consideration and welcome to the new ward, Mr. Wright feels that he might be in that top five Monday night.

MARKET CRIMPED.
This winter is taking itself seriously and with such chilling atmosphere that this morning at 9.15 o'clock only one producer had arrived at the market.

CAR IS STOLEN
An automobile belonging to Donald McKay, Bridgenorth, was stolen here Friday afternoon. McKay had parked it in front of the Royal Bank and when he returned 40 minutes afterward the machine was gone.

TO ADDRESS ROTARY
Indian Trade Commissioner Ahuja will be the speaker at Monday's luncheon of the Rotary Club. He will speak on "Canada and India."

WORK HALTED.
Snow and cold Friday halted the work on the fractional motors building at CGE. The contractors had a long run of helpful weather until December took over the controls, and stretches of the brick wall have been raised to eight or nine feet. A few workmen were on the job this morning, but the work generally may have to wait for a lift in the mercury.

COLLAR BONE BROKEN
Wesley Logan, Lakefield, had his collar bone broken Friday in a collision between an automobile in which he was a passenger and a city bus. The accident happened at the intersection of Langton and Water streets. The bus, driven by Walter Ramsay, was backing out of Langton street when the car driven by William Jessup collided with it. Logan was taken to the Clinic for medical attention.

THEATRE GUESTS
As reward for collecting this week 35 tons of paper, the children of the primary schools of the city were guests of the three theatres this morning. Twenty-three hundred of them converged from all parts of the city, jamming the buses and finally arriving noisily for the entertainment they had so well earned. They filled three cars with the papers and magazines which they had gathered up from homes and stores, and carried to points of collection.

TRUCKS COLLIDE
A truck owned by Johnston Cleaners and driven by Clifford Clarke, 172 Hunter street, was damaged Friday when a truck owned by the city of Peterborough and driven by Jack Hynes backed into it. The Johnston truck had been parked on Aylmer street, just north of Dublin street.

THE NEW ORDER
A resident on Rubidge street is still scratching his head in amazement today at a radical departure from usual business procedure which occurred, Friday. He was working hard on his snow filled walks when three youngsters, armed with shovels, asked if he'd like some help and began shovelling with a will. The householder asked the boys to wait a minute till he got some money to pay them, and when he came out they were gone. He still doesn't know whether it was the Christmas spirit or just poor business sense.

TWO CARS DAMAGED
Cars driven by Mrs. Rose Sopha, Havelock and Ray A. Horne, Norwood, were considerably damaged this morning in an accident on Highway 7, 10 miles east of Peterborough when the two vehicles collided. No one was hurt but the front axle, fenders and a wheel on the Sopha car and the fenders and two tires on the Norwood machine were damaged. Provincial Constable Price Morris investigated.

Final Appeal Made For Memorial Centre

"I feel confident the property owners of Peterborough are going to complete on Monday the job we have started as a group of citizens contributing finally $175,000 to the Peterborough Community Memorial Centre fund," said J. A. Jebson, chairman of the general committee, in a last reminder and appeal this morning.

"Men and women in our factories, girls in the offices and stores, and our people generally, with the very substantial help of our manufacturers, have undertaken to put into a pool $175,000 of their subscriptions. They have done their part for an undertaking which we have every reason to believe will be a great benefit in the future, especially for the boys and girls of the next two or three generations of Peterborough, and that is a long span of living.

Citizens appointed me chairman of the general committee, and everybody knows by this time what we have been doing. Now we have come to the final stage of our planning—the vote on Monday by which the property owners have the opportunity of providing $75,000 to complete our Memorial Centre Fund. It is their chance to complete the job the hundreds of citizens have started. It is a worthy cause. It has the generous support of our Peterborough industries and a large number of our citizens—and finally the enterprise from the beginning onward will be owned by the citizens and controlled by them through the city council."

Roy Family Always Serves King In War

Robert Maitland Roy V., is serving with the Royal Navy, Fleet Arm. He is the son of Major Robert Maitland Roy of Hamilton, who was born in Peterborough, and served during the last war with the Indian Army, and in this war with the Argyl and Sutherland Highlanders.

Major Roy is the son of Robert Maitland Roy III, late of the Central Bridge Company. He is the son of Robert Maitland Roy II, familiarly known in Peterborough as Bob Roy, a well-known amateur yachtsman and sailor, who served during the Rebellion of '66.

In each war, this Peterborough family of Scottish descent, has provided at least one member of the family to the Crown. Robert Maitland Roy V, is a cousin of Tel. Rob Roy, R.C.N.V.R., now on active service with Canada's naval forces. He is the son of Fred L. Roy, Peterborough photographer.

Attacked In Rear

NEW YORK, Dec. 2—(CP)—The Polish Telegraph Agency reported today in a London dispatch that strong Polish home army detachments have opened a wide offensive in the rear of German troops facing the Red Army in the Carpathian hills, with hundreds of Germans reported killed and wounded and the destruction of bridges being used by the Germans fleeing from Soviet forces.

St. Paul's Group Assists Christmas Fund

When any community commences any work for the good of a suffering humanity, it should naturally follow that it would receive both the moral and practical support of all Christian bodies, for it is actually the tenets of their teachings into practical effect.

This should be all the more so at the blessed season of Christmas, which began the sequence of events upon which all their beliefs are founded, and has ever struck a responsive note in the hearts of people, and had more influence for good than any other fact recorded in history.

Commencing with the Christmas of 1940, the Peterborough and District British War Victims' Fund has made a special appeal at each recurring celebration, in order that those who have suffered so much from enemy air attacks from the skies over Britain, might have something extra to cheer them on their way at that time, besides reassuring them that goodness still exists in the world, in spite of the desolation that other influences have caused.

Today sees a nice gift of $25.00 recorded from the Cheerful Workers group of the Ladies' Aid of St. Paul's Presbyterian church through Mrs. Davidson their treasurer, for this very purpose, who thus endorse and give practical support to the appeal now being made for this Christmas season.

During the past four years it has been found that a number of citizens travelling at some distance from this city, have thought sufficient of this purely city and district effort, to speak of it to others, and this invariably has resulted in some help coming through them, from sources that would otherwise have passed by unnoticed.

In this manner a contribution for $10.00 comes from Mr. McMurchy of Huttonville Woollen Mills near Brampton, the manner in which it came being entirely subsiduary to the actual good it can do for the boys and girls across the water.

Then Corinthian Lodge No. 101 A.F and A.M. is again, as in the past, represented with a gift to the fund at this time, carrying the fraternal spirit to a wider field beyond their own immediate select circle.

Otonabee Euchre Club

The Roundabout Euchre Club of Otonabee has in the past given quite some help to the fund through Mrs. Ernest Fife, and they too have come forward to assist in the Christmas Cheer Fund at this time with another gift of $5.00, made by holding social parties in the homes of their members.

Then the Penny Box at the Utilities Office on Simcoe street would seem as if it would like to emphasize the spirit of Christmas by raising more than its most recent collections, in adding $4.15 at this time to the day's receipts.

50-Year Sentence

Are You Aware Of The Fact?

That in spite of the fact that opponents of the Civic Hospital Bylaw have been deriding Peterborough county for not contributing towards the Nicholls Hospital deficit, the County of Peterborough has actually paid this year $4,519.34?

That should the Civic Hospital Bylaw be defeated the Peterborough taxpayer will continue to sink thousands of dollars annually into Nicholls Hospital, an uneconomical project that never can be made pay under modern hospital demands?

That Peterborough ratepayers are required by Act of the Ontario Legislature to meet all deficits of Nicholls Hospital?

That on the Board of Nicholls Hospital of twenty-one there are only five representatives of the people (the Mayor and four nominees of the Council)?

That while the property owners are the ones who vote on the Hospital bylaw the tenants are also interested for they pay their taxes through the rents?

That for the price of a chocolate bar a week to the average taxpayer in Peterborough a new Civic Hospital costing $1,400,000 can be had?

That the only way the bylaw will carry is to get out and vote for it? Favoring the bylaw but staying at home will not bring a new hospital.

That before any hospital can be built or money spent a private bill must be secured from the Ontario Legislature and it is here that the rights of all concerned are given the utmost consideration?

That polling hours are from eleven to seven and if you vote early you will be sure to get your vote?

COMMISSIONED — Serving overseas with the RCAF since October, 1943, G. E. H. "Ted" Carruthers has been commissioned a Pilot Officer, and finished his tour of operations, according to information reaching his parents, Staff Sergeant Clifton Carruthers and Mrs. Carruthers, 212 Brock street. Employed at Genelco before enlisting, the young airman has been serving with the Pathfinder Squadron overseas.

D. Munro Heads McMaster Group

At a dinner meeting of the local branch of McMaster University Alumni held prior to his visit to the Collegiate Institute and Vocational School, Friday night, Chancellor George Peel Gilmour indicated various ways in which University work is changing and must go on changing.

Stressing the fact that war years bring unusual problems, he insisted that there are nevertheless changes due to war that will probably leave permanent marks on education. Canadian universities are doing more work in research than ever before and also rendering more service to the general public than ever before.

"These two comparatively new avenues of work," said Dr. Gilmour, "show that the university is serving the specialist on the one hand and the populace on the other, in addition to the traditional work with undergraduates.

Because research is very expensive and links pure science to the needs of industry, he predicted that there would be a close tie-up between the laboratory and the workshop than before. And because popular education, especially adult education touches the broad community, he predicted that more people would have a part-time connection with universities hereafter, even though the numbers having full-time connection does not change materially. He then went on to speak of ways in which the total work of McMaster University may be reorganized in post-war years to meet these new needs for services of a kind not thought of when the University was begun.

After the Chancellor's address, Rev. M. C. McLean of Gilmour Memorial Church, the president of the Association, thanked the speaker on behalf of the gathering. As this was the annual meeting of the Alumni Association the election of officers for the ensuing twelve months took place as follows:—President, C. Donald Munro; vice-president, G. W. Hodgson; secretary-treasurer, Ronald Calder.

During the evening, the following musical program was enjoyed: a duet by Dr. S. J. Graham and Charles Westbrook and a trio made up of Rev. J. H. Sutcliffe, Dr. Graham and Mr. Westbrook.

Mailing Dates Announced For Christmas

Public response in mailing overseas letters and parcels according to the Post Office has been wonderful, Postmaster Charles Lacheur said to-day, and if Peterborough citizens follow the same procedure with Christmas mail, with the emphasis on mailing deadlines, delivery can be assured by Christmas Day.

Indications are that there will be a very heavy Christmas mail, and because of this, the burden on the Post Office will be lessened by mailing well ahead of the deadline.

One of the best ways of facilitating prompt delivery of Christmas mail, and all other mail too, is to have the envelopes fully and correctly addressed. Also the return address of the sender should be plainly marked on the outside.

A large amount of Christmas mail is expected to be addressed to the United States, so December 10 has been set as the deadline if it is to be assured delivery by Christmas. Parcels particularly should be mailed well in advance of December 10, in order to allow for customs clearance. Mail to British Columbia should be in the letter box by December 15, and letters destined for Alberta and Saskatchewan are requested on or before December 16.

The last day for guaranteed Christmas delivery to Manitoba and the Maritime Provinces is December 17, and letters going to points in Ontario and Quebec should be mailed on or before December 16. Local delivery letters will reach the recipients by Christmas Day, if they are dropped in the letter box on or before December 19.

If Christmas and New Year cards do not bear correspondence, they may be sent in open envelopes or unenclosed for 1 cent for two ounces to each separate address anywhere. If cards are in sealed envelopes, they will be sent letter rate. Cards bearing a seasonal expression or greeting not exceeding five words can be sent for one cent for each two ounces to each separate address.

TAKING NO CHANCES
Here is another "power of suggestion" story. A man was walking along Sheridan street Friday wearing a rather large hat, of the type children delight to hit with snowballs. A group of little boys stood at the end of the street, fondling snow in their hands, and watching the progress of the man with greedy eyes. After a careful glance around the man removed the topper and held it firmly in his hands until the children had been by-passed.—D. M.

Delay Sentence For Ex-Soldier

When Ellsworth Scott, former soldier, appeared before Magistrate O. A. Langley, K.C., for sentence on a charge of stealing a pensions cheque to which he had pleaded guilty, W. J. Arthur Fair appeared in his behalf.

"You are not surely asking that he be allowed to change his plea now," said Magistrate Langley. "He has been tried, pleaded guilty and the evidence has been heard. All that remains is to sentence him."

Mr. Fair said that the accused had spent seven months in the Westminster Hospital where military mental cases are dealt with.

"You know what Westminster is," said defence counsel. "The army send their mental cases there. They don't put them in unless they are very bad and they let them go as soon as they know enough to get out through the door."

Scott was remanded until next Thursday for sentence. In the meantime the jail physician will be asked to report on his mental condition.

Entering a written plea of guilty to careless driving on Highway 45, James Grieves, Roseneath, was fined $16.50 and $6.50 costs.

Provincial Constable Archie Grayling of Havelock who laid the charge said that Grieves had been drinking and had been driving erratically.

Shaver Reports $145,000 In For Centre

City Treasurer Shaver informed the Examiner today that "we have now $145,000 in the bank to the credit of the Peterborough Community Memorial Centre."

Mr. Shaver said he "had checked the amount last Tuesday." At the Centre office, Water street, opposite Peck, Kerr and McElderry's office, it was stated that payments are being paid regularly as pledged, and if anybody has slipped behind it has been for such a short time that it is not worth mentioning.

The last estimates of the Centre committee was that the total receipts from the public would exceed $200,000, but the basis of agreement with the property owners is $175,000 in the bank.

Life In Bermuda Shown In Pictures

BAILIEBORO, Dec. 2 — (ENS) — Pictures of Bermuda and various parts of Canada were shown by Cecil Carveth of Newcastle in the Anglican Church. The life of the people of Bermuda was pictured, and fishing as their main industry. Of special interest were shots of the Duke and Duchess of Windsor. A wonderful display of floral beauty was shown around many beautiful homes, including the summer home of the late Sir Henry Oakes. Pictures of parks and lakes in Northern Canada included an unusual close-up of a deer swimming for its life across a lake after being chased into the water by a wolf. There were also many local pictures of Newcastle and Durham County, including a crop of apples on the orchard of Frank Richard, M.P.

Obituary

MRS. MICHAEL J. MURRAY

A large congregation paid their last respects to the late Mrs. Michael J. Murray by attending her funeral mass celebrated by her pastor, Rt. Reverend Monsignor J. J. O'Brien at the Church of the Sacred Heart on Wednesday morning, which was held from the J. J. Duffus Funeral Parlours.

The late Mrs. Murray will be sadly missed, not only by her sorrowing husband and the members of her family, but likewise, the people of the congregation with whom she was exceptionally popular and very highly respected. She was an active member of the Altar Society and the Catholic Women's League, whose members were present in large numbers.

Among those from out of town who attended the funeral were Messrs. Anthony and Joseph Murray, Detroit, Michigan; Mr. and Mrs William Murray, Jr., and Patricia, Buffalo N.Y.; Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Murray and family Windsor; adn Mr. and Mrs. Allan Medd, Sudbury.

Casket bearers were Messrs. Allan Medd, Fred Stewart, Michael O'Toole, William Moher, and John and Murray Hallihan.

Interment was in St. Peter's Cemetery, burial services being conducted by Reverend Charles Coughlin.

HOW V-2 STATION LOOKED BEFORE VISIT FROM BOMBERS

British Plan To Support Belgian Premier

LONDON, Dec. 2 — (CP) — Foreign Secretary Eden told the House of Commons to-day in a reference to Prime Minister Churchill's visit to Moscow that "we hope in due course others will visit us here frequently as we have visited others."

Mr. Eden did not amplify his statement but turned to discussion of British foreign policy. He said that in dealing with European countries, Britain's aim was three-fold—"Victory, order, and the fair and untrammelled election of governments, dynasties and parliaments alike."

"In Belgium," Mr. Eden explained, "we will support the authority we believe has the support of the people and we can only judge that by the elected chamber and the way it expresses itself."

Mr. Eden said: "We are really not dominated by a cabinet by the desire to set up a government of the right in this place or a government of the left in another."

Dealing with the position in Italy, he asserted "we did not feel that Count Sforza was a particularly happy choice as foreign minister."

Mr. Eden said that in his judgment and according to his information, Count Sforza recently had been working against the government of Premier Bonomi "who has given us loyal support and fulfilled all his obligations towards us."

Ugly Situation.

Mr. Eden spoke after private members in the Throne speech debate demanded information on the government's policy regarding Belgium and Italy.

Labor member Aneurin Bevan said that a "very ugly situation had been created in Italy, where the British government insisted that the Italians should submit their own choice of ministers to them.

Mr. Pethick-Lawrence, speaking on the Belgian question, said Gen. Eisenhower had declared his intention "of supporting the Belgian government by force, if necessary, against the pretensions of certain people in Belgium."

While not saying that Gen. Eisenhower was wrong Lawrence declared that where such a serious step was taken, it was up to the foreign secretary to explain the position to the House.

Circle Studies Pacific Islanders

MILLBROOK, Dec. 2 — (ENS). — Mrs. W. R. Howard was hostess for the November meeting of the Golden Links Mission Circle, held at her home, Anne street, Wednesday evening, with the president, Mrs. Cecil Paulson, in the chair.

The theme for the opening worship period was, "Great Spirit of Love give me light", Mrs. Franklin Bannister reading the lesson from John 1, 1/14, and the responsive readings being in keeping with the devotional theme. Mrs. J. W. Thorndyke presided at the piano, and Marjorie Skitch gave the Christian Stewardship message.

Mrs. D. L. Lunn gave the secretary's report in the absence of Miss Betty Lunn, $14 being received in thankoffering at the October gathering, and $1.80 collection. The study, "They braved the Pacific", from "West of the Date Line", was given by Mrs. Edmund Ball, using a map to illustrate, the islands mentioned being in the headlines every day because of the war. Lives of missionaries who are high on the honor roll of the church, and who carried on their life work in the Southern Pacific were studied, including John Williams, John Geddie (Canada), John G. Paton, Bishop Patterson, and James Chalmers, of New Guinea.

At the close the hostess served refreshments, and announcement was made of the election of officers at the annual meeting the fourth Wednesday in December, which will be at Mrs. Ball's home.

EMPLOY EX-SERVICEMEN

CAPE TOWN — (CP). — More than 1,250 discharged soldiers not previously employed by the South African Railways have already been taken on under terms of the decision to employ 2,500 ex-servicement. The railways have a special department to deal with re-absorbing ex-servicemen.

SIR HARRY LAUDER VISITS NAVY SHOW—One of the highlights at the opening of the Royal Canadian Navy's show, "Meet the Navy," at Glasgow recently, was the appearance of Sir Harry Lauder. The camera caught him surrounded by a bevy of beautiful Wrens backstage. The show is touring the United Kingdom after a successful coast to coast run in Canada and Newfoundland. It is expected to tour the continent sometime in January before playing in London.

UEW Auxiliary Wants Child Care Centres Established

At the regular weekly meeting of the Ladies' Auxiliary, United Electrical Workers (C.I.O.), held Thursday evening, the members endorsed the sending of a letter to Dr. R. P. Vivian, Minister of Public Welfare of Ontario requesting that the province in conjunction with the Federal Government take action on setting up child care centres for the children of working mothers.

The letter pointed out that the Government is urging the recruitment of 57,000 women for work in vital war industries and that a difficulty attending this request is the lack of adequate facilities for the care of children while the mother is employed. The Government was urged to immediately take all necessary steps to ensure the establishment of child care centres and in this way guarantee the full war effort of the people.

The need for facilities for the care of the children of working mothers is very apparent in Peterborough, the letter stated, where with a population of 28,000 no facilities exist.

Plans for the Union Christmas Tree were discussed and it was decided that the Tree be held on December 18.

Mrs. F. Lundy presided at the meeting and refreshments were served by Mrs. A. G. Buott.

Ladies' Aid Holds Successful Sale

MILLBROOK, Dec. 2 — (ENS). — A successful sale and tea was held in the waitingroom, under the auspices of the Ladies' Aid Society, of Grace Presbyterian Church, which netted more than $83 for the treasury of the organization.

The home baking table was well supplied with cakes, pies, homemade bread, tarts, and tea biscuits, and the country store section had a variety of vegetables that were quickly bought up. Mrs. H. A. Kerr and Mrs. A. S. Hall were clerks, including the fancy work in their stock, and for the hot supper, which was particularly well patronized, table conveners were Mrs. W. Charles Thorndyke and Mrs. I. W. Larmer. Fall blossoms added to the attractiveness of the tables, and the minister, Rev. W. Patterson, was present to aid in greeting incoming guests. Mrs. Patterson is in Peterborough assisting Mrs. S. Johnston, wife of the new minister of St. Paul's church, in getting settled at the Manse.

Since the acting president, Mrs. S. E. Eakins, is in Toronto for the winter, Mrs. J. R. Thompson is carrying on in her place until the election of officers at the December meeting.

WERE SUPPLY PORTS

Cherbourg and several beaches along the Normandy coast were the Allies' main supply depots until September.

Egg Receipts Are Sufficient

TORONTO, Dec. 2 — During most of the current week egg markets in Toronto held a quiet and steady trend with receipts arriving in fair volume sufficient to meet the present demand. The inquiry centred on Grade A large, one cent above spot quotations being procured for this grade when sold alone. Grades A large and A pullets firmed slightly. Grade A medium inclined to drag while Grades B and C remained steady. Yesterday's market was weak on spot top grades and receipts appeared to be in excess of demand. Selling prices to the retail trade fell one cent on all grades, except Grade B. Butter markets remained steady with the light receipts being cleared on arrival. Demand for the under grades has shown a slight improvement.

DeWolf Is Appointed Assistant Chief Of Staff

OTTAWA, Dec. 2—(CP)—Capt. H. G. DeWolfe, D.S.O., D.S.C., of Bedford, N.S., and Ottawa, commanding officer of the Tribal class destroyer Haida, has been appointed assistant chief of naval staff, Naval Service Headquarters announced today.

Capt. DeWolf, whose appointment is effective today, succeeds Capt. Wallace B. Creery, formerly of Vancouver, who has been appointed to command of the anti-aircraft cruiser Prince Robert, effective Dec. 8.

Capt. DeWolf will be succeeded as captain of the Haida by Lt.-Cmdr. R. P. Welland, D.S.C., of Halifax, who has been in command of the River class destroyer Assiniboine.

Girls Of Sewing Club Demonstrate Stitches

HAVELOCK, Dec. 2 — (ENS). — The Belmont Girl's Club were entertained at the home of their leader, Miss Marie Dafoe, for a continuation of sewing instructions in connection with their study "accessories for our bedrooms".

The senior girls gave a demonstration using the stitches taught at the previous meeting. Miss Dafoe instructed the class in finishing seams, different bindings for dresser scarves, and new embroidery stitches. During the afternoon a bed spread was cut out and each member answered the roll call by naming the accessories she had chosen for her bedroom.

No Permits Needed

OTTAWA, Dec. 2 — (CP). — Trade Minister MacKinnon announced here last night that about 175 groups of commodities will be removed on December 11 from the export permit regulations. He said the effect of the action would be to exempt such commodities—ranging from fence posts to cars to machine tools and cosmetics—from the requirement of an export permit when shipped to Empire countries or the United States.

JAP BOMBER GOES UP IN SMOKE — In a cloud of smoke and steam, a Jap dive-bomber (white smoke) crashes into the ocean near a burning U.S. destroyer (black smoke) off Leyte Island in the Philippines. The bomber came in through heavy flak to attack the U.S. ship.

Lindsay Coach Serves Mount Royal Patrons

LINDSAY, Dec. 2 — (ENS). — James Workman, Wellington Street, has just shipped the last hack in Lindsay to a Montreal buyer, who intends putting it in service on the Mount Royal scenic hack route almost as soon as it arrives.

The coach, complete with runners for winter use, is 30 years old, but has not seen service for several of those years. Mr. Workman states that with proper care and upkeep, these hacks have an almost unlimited length of operating life to draw upon, and he has no doubt that the Montreal purchaser will get many more years of service from the vehicle.

The Workman family have long been associated with the hackney business. Mr. Workman's father and grandfather before him were both veterans of the business. His father was the first man to drive a hack in Lindsay, while his grandfather Hugh was for many years associated with the livery business of Lindsay, at one time maintaining a large establishment on York Street.

8th Route Army Kills Many Japs

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 2 — (AP). — The Chinese Communists' 8th Route Army in a recent four-day battle killed, wounded or captured 826 Japanese and puppet troops in Kiangsu Province north-east of Hsuchow in northern China, a wireless dispatch from the Communist-operated station at Yenan said today.

Five garrison points were captured in the action, lasting from Nov. 16 to 19, said the broadcast, recorded by the Federal Communications Commission. The puppet commander-in-chief, and a battalion commander were captured, while the puppet chief of staff, Liu Liang-Tu, was "among those killed or wounded", the dispatch added.

PROTECT BEAVER

The beaver, fairly plentiful in the southern valleys of Norway, was saved from extinction by government restrictions against killing.

Huge Airliner Crashes In Fog

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 2—(AP)—A Transcontinental and Western Airlines passenger plane, with 23 aboard, crashed in a heavy fog in the nearby San Fernando Valley early to-day as it was nearing its destination at Burbank en route from San Francisco. Police reported that at least seven were killed.

T.W.A. officials said the army had taken over at the scene of the crash and army officials told them seven military personnel were dead and nine alive. The number of civilians aboard the plane was not immediately determined.

Twenty passengers and three crew members were on the plane but no names of dead and injured were disclosed immediately. Survivors were taken to Los Angeles and Hollywood hospitals.

Who's Who In Monday's Civic Election

ALD. HERB. I. BRADBURN

A member of a Peterborough family whose name has long been associated with civic affairs, Ald. Herb. I. Bradburn, after seven years' service in the council, is again offering himself as a cadidate for that body. One of the younger group, Ald. Bradburn has proven himself a hard-working and clear-thinking member of the council, as might be expected of the son of a sire, the late W. H. Bradburn, who long served the community as alderman, mayor, member of the Utilities Commission and member of the Ontario Legislature. Ald. Bradburn has taken the keenest interest in the Memorial Health Centre project and has championed the idea from the start, helping in no small degree to bring the undertaking to its present stage. During recent years he has acted as chairman of the city's manufacturers' committee and also of the airport committee.

JOHN A. DEWART

A resident of Peterborough for 25 years, a native of Peterborough County and one who has played a prominent part in military and civic affairs John A. Dewart is offering this year, for the first time, his services as a candidate for alderman. Col. Dewart is president and manager of the Dewart Milling Company and is a large property owner.

He served overseas in the last war winning the Military Cross. On returning home he interested himself in the Canadian Militia and was one of a small group of men who kept the militia alive in Peterborough. On the outbreak of the present war he offered his services and following the fall of France and mobilization of the Stormont, Dundas and Glengarry Highlanders he took command of the Peterborough Rangers and was O.C. of the unit for two years after it went active.

Deeply interested in the welfare of the returned men Col. Dewart is a member of the Ontario Soldiers' Aid Commission. He served two years on the Board of Education and is at present chairman of the Citizens' Committee planning suitable observance of "V-Day."

HURRELL DODDS

A veteran of the last war and member of the Peterborough branch of the Canadian Legion, Hurrell Dodds has long been widely known throughout the city. He is a property owner living in the Engleburn district. As chairman of the playgrounds and wading pool committee of the Lions Club he originated the idea of a wading pool at Riverside Park, and put a lot of dynamic leadership into a shallows for children that provided many of them with a holiday play spot right in the centre of the city. Mr. Dodds is a customs appraiser at Peterborough Customs House, and has helped every service club make money at carnivals by supplying games of his own handicraft for that special purpose.

ALDERMAN JAMES DUTTON

Long a member of the city council and with a record of good work in many capacities in the civic setup Ald. James Dutton is a candidate for re-election to the council. Ald. Dutton's record in community efforts reveals a citizen with a strong sense of responsibility for he has found the time and energy to devote himself to many movements in the public interest. In his earlier years in the council he had the responsible position of chairman of the relief committee and for the past two years has been head of the city's largest spending department, the Board of Works. Ald. Dutton is also chairman of the Town Planning Committee. Chairman of the Board of Health for a long time, he has served, too, as president of the Children's Aid Society, of the Victorian Order of Nurses and of the Peterborough Rotary Club.

FRED HILLS

Fred Hills who is again a candidate for the Utilities Commission after completing three years as a member of that body is widely known in business and military circles in Peterborough. Mr. Hills is a member of the insurance firm of Hill, Weddell and Hills and as an insurance broker is a well-known figure in the city's business life. He was a veteran of the First Great War and on his return after that conflict continued to take an interest in military affairs. When the Peterborough Civilian Home Guard organization was formed early in the present war Mr. Hills was in command and later he commanded the Veterans' company in the Prince of Wales Rangers. He has been a member of the Utilities Commision during the past three years.

MEL. MORROW

A veteran of the last war, and Welfare Officer of Branch 52, the Canadian Legion, Mel. Morrow is a candidate for alderman. The son of Mrs. W. G. Morrow, and the late W. G. Morrow, he has been president of the Red Patch Club for three terms including this year, and a member of the executive for many years. He is married to the former Ida Northey, daughter of Alex Northey and the late Mrs. Northey. Mr. Morrow's work in the Legion has brought him into close association with veterans of both wars and their families, and he keeps their interests very much at heart.

ALD. ADAM B. SANDS

Ald. Adam B. Sands, four years a member of the city council, is a candidate for re-election to that body. Ald. Sands whose work in connection with the hospital situation has brought him prominently to the fore is a young man with a keen interest in civic affairs. Born in Glasgow, he has been a resident of Peterborough since he was three years old. He graduated from the Collegiate Institute here in 1926 and ever since that time has been identified with the Canadian General Electric Company and was president of the Foreman's Association. He is a member of the Kinsmen's Club and of the Kawartha Club. During his term of office in the council Ald. Sands interested himself in the bus franchise and as a result the city was able to make a better bargain with the bus company and the civic treasury has benefitted materially.

ERNEST R. SHIRLEY

Member of the engineering staff of the Canadian General Electric Company, Ernest R. Shirley, candidate for the Utilities Commission obtained his degree as Bachelor of Science from Queen's University, and also Bachelor of Arts from the University of British Columbia. Prior to his coming to Peterborough he was engaged with the British Canadian Power Company at Cobalt as assistant superintendent; was electrical superintendent for the Canadian Exploration Co. in the Sudbury district; and was general superintendent of the Laurential Power Company, now part of the Shawinigan Power Company, Quebec. He is a member of the Engineering Institute of Canada, and returns to the Peterborough Utilities Commission field with fifteen consecutive years as a member.

KEN. SLOANE

Ken. Sloane, who for the past twenty years has served the people of Peterborough in business on George street, is a candidate for alderman in the coming municipal elections. Mr. Sloane has taken an active part in the Community Fund in Peterborough, and has also worked in the interests of the Memorial Community Centre when that campaign was in operation. He promises to give careful supervision of all city business, to support the requirements of local personnel in the armed forces, and to give the best possible service to Peterborough citizens.

JOHN E. SULLIVAN

Alderman John E. Sullivan, executive of the Quaker Oats Company, has been a member of the city council four years, three of them as chairman of the fire and light committee, and for the last two years chairman of the salary evaluation committee. Improvement of the city's fire department has received the close attention of the fire and light committee during the last three years, particularly in new equipment, and also in a survey of the city's protective needs with expansion in the near future. Alderman Sullivan has had a long and responsible business experience, including presidency of the Ontario and Canadian Credit Men's Associations. He in secretary of the Peterborough War and Community Chest Fund.

MAX SWANSTON

The details of planning for the transfer of Peterborough's collection of garbage from private contract to public enterprise has been a major concern of Alderman Max Swanston as chairman of the property committee. The arrangements which are now virtually complete will be ready to absorb the North Monaghan areas on January 1 have been prepared with the full cooperation of the council, but in all these matters details fall largely on committee chairmen. Alderman Swanston is secretary-treasurer of the Peterborough Printing Company, enlisted in the R.C.A.F. in the last war, and prior to his election to the council had a long appearance before the public especially with the Peterborough baseball team.

A. E. THOMPSON

Backed by general business experience gained during 10 years of serving the people of Peterborough in the real estate and insurance business, A. E. Thompson is a candidate for alderman in the coming municipal elections. Born in Cartwright township, where for a time he farmed, Mr. Thompson came to Peterborough in 1930 and operated a gifts shop on Charlotte street before entering the real estate and insurance business in 1934. A strong supporter of the hospital bylaw, he is keenly interested in civic affairs. Mr. Thompson feels that whether or not he is elected to council, every vote-holding citizen should exercise his franchise December 4.

WALTER E. WRIGHT

A Peterborough businessman for 32 years, including 20 years completed in the insurance business here, Walter E. Wright, 163 Morrow street, is a candidate for alderman. In the past, Mr. Wright was instrumental in organizing the Exhibition grounds ball parks, and worked the sections south of Lansdowne avenue and the newly-annexed districts during the recent Community Centre campaign. Mr. Wright was born in Peterborough district and has lived here all his life, except for a period during the last war, when he served overseas with the Canadian armed forces. He is a resident of the section of North Monaghan to be annexed into the city on January 1.

Takes on New Job

WITH THE CANADIAN ARMY IN FRANCE (Delayed) — Stretcher bearers have been doing a splendid job in the Canadian Army. One of these is CPL. E. R. (VINCE) VINCENT of Havelock, Ont., serving with the Cameron Highlanders of Ottawa. He however has had an experience which is probably unique among stretcher bearers.

On the trip over to Normandy the regimental mascot, Sgt. Minnie Blitz — a cat which attached herself to the regiment in England — gave birth to a family of kittens. Vince acted as 'mid-wife' and delivered the family without loss.

Minnie was in such a rush to get into action in France that she rather skimped her job and as a result some of the kittens were born without tails. The regiment held a Court of Inquiry which exonerated Cpl. Vincent from any blame.

company for the U.S. army as a cargo carrier It has wing-span of 175 feet and cabin diameter of 16 feet. It is two and a half times the C-54 in weight. One U.S air line has already ordered some for postwar delivery, for use as a freight carrier.

But the DC-4 will remain the best plane in passenger class for some years, Douglas Aircraft officials believe. Canadian T.C.A. officials share this belief. Six years of experience went into this plane before Canadian production of it was arranged. One of the has been that its economical operation will permit profitable business. Its predecessor was the DC-3, of which the military model is known as the C-47. More than 5,000 of them are in operation, and it was the plane with which American commercial air line operators first began to make money.

Vote A. E. THOMPSON For Alderman

Present factory expansion plans for Peterborough indicate a growth in population here after the war. Present housing difficulties are apt to grow more acute, and I believe that the Council should adopt some definite plan to relieve the situation.

My experience in real estate and contracting will prove a decided asset in working out a solution to this difficult situation.

Ratepayers Are Now Asked To Complete Job

The Peterborough Memorial Centre Bylaw which is being submitted to the property owners at the municipal elections Monday embodies an agreement between the Corporation of the City of Peterborough on the one hand and the Peterborough Memorial Centre on the other.

The qualified voters are being asked to ratify this agreement by their approval at the polls. An outline of the agreement was published at the time of its preparation and drafting. Its salient features are reviewed herewith as a reminder to the voters of the proposal that is being referred to them.

Here is an important basic clause: "Upon receipt of a certificate from the City Treasurer (Morley E. Shaver) that the minimum sum of $175,000 has been received (by him) from public subscription to construct the first unit of the Memorial Centre for the purpose of providing proper facilities for recreation and sports for the children, youth, industrial workers and citizens generally and a forum for public gatherings, the Council shall grant to the said special Centre Fund a sum not exceeding $75,000 to be used for such purpose."

This clause manifestly means that no money is to be raised by the Corporation of the City until public subscriptions to the Centre Fund amount to $175,000 and that amount has been received by the City Treasurer.

Building Committee

When that is done—"A Committee known as the Building Committee, composed of four members nominated by the general committee of the said Centre and three members nominated by the Council shall then be appointed."

The first meeting of the building committee shall be called by the Mayor not later than one month after the Council obtains authority from the Ontario Legislature to raise and grant the sum of $75,000 for the purpose of the Memorial Centre.

The duties of the building committee are summarized from the agreement as follows:

To secure plans and specifications for presentation to and approval by the Council and the general committee of the Centre.

To call for tenders and let such contract or contracts as may be deemed advisable, upon obtaining the approval and adoption of the said plans and specifications by the Council and general Committee of the Centre.

To supervise construction of the said unit pursuant to the plans and specifications; make monthly reports to the Council and Centre Committee reporting progress of construction; and recommend and approve all monies to be to contractors.

"Upon completion of the said unit of the Centre, the "Building Committee' shall cease to exisit."

Another clause directs the City Treasurer to pay all accounts out of the aforesaid Centre Fund as approved and submitted by the building committee. Any alterations in the plans and specifications as finally approved shall not exceed $250 without the further approval of the Council and Centre Committee.

Board Of Trustees

The next important feature is the appointment of a Board of Trustees.

The Building Committee of seven members, three of whom are appointed by the Council passes out of the picture when the first unit, described as an Arena for winter sports and various other uses, is completed.

"Prior to the completion of the unit, there shall be constituted a Board to be known as "The Board of Trustees of the Peterborough Memorial Centre."

The Board shall consist of seven members, all of whom shall be appointed by the City Council and all of whom shall be residents of the city.

The council has the power of appointment of the Board, but this is added: "Generally speaking but without limiting or restricting the power of appointment of the Council in any way, the Board shall consist of one member representing each of the following groups of citizens: Labor, Veterans, Business Men's Association, Chamber of Commerce, Women's Organizations, Manufacturers and one member of the City Council.

The tenure of office of the first appointed members of the Board shall be:

Two members for 3 years; two members for 2 years, and three members for 1 year. All subsequent appointments shall be for a period of three years except that the member of the Council shall be appointed annually, and such appointments shall be made at the first meeting of the Council in January of each year.

Council Member

The member of the Council shall remain a member of the Board only so long as he or she is a member of the Council.

If any member of the Board should for any reason cease to be a member of the Board, the Council shall appoint a successor immediately who shall serve for the expired term."

The general management of the Centre shall be vested in and exercised by the Board of Trustees, "and it shall be the duty of the Board to maintain, regulate and control the said Centre in accordance with the terms of this agreement."

Surplus Funds

"Such portion of the funds remaining in the hands of the Corporation of the City and raised for the purpose of constructing the Centre shall be transferred to the said Board, and may be used for the construction of such further units for recreation and sports as are deemed advisable by the Board and approved by the Council, or for the purpose of operating and maintaining the said Centre."

The powers of the Board of Trustees are set out at length. For example: to pass bylaws not contrary to or inconsistent with the agreement, to provide for the regulation and conduct of the proceedings of all its affairs; to fix charges and fees for the use of or admission to the Centre; to employ necessary help; improve grounds; carry insurance; provide fuel, lighting, etc.; "to do all things of an ordinray nature to keep the Centre in a proper state of preservation and repair."

To keep books of account of financial affairs and records of proceedings to be audited by the City Auditor, who shall render an annual financial statement to the Council. Borrowing in any one year for current account shall not exceed $2,500.

Capital Expenditure

"No expenditure for capital or permanent improvements, such as the construction of further facilities or units of the Centre or elsewhere in the city shall be made until the approval of the Council has been obtained by bylaw or resolution."

Another separate clause provides that any surplus from operations shall be retained by the Board and Credited to a surplus account and "may be used only for the purpose of providing further facilities for sports and recreation at the Centre, and other locations in the city, or any other purposes incidental to, or for the promotion of sports and recreation. No reserve other than for depreciation of equipment shall be maintained by the Board."

If the operation of the Centre should show a deficit in any year, "the Council shall upon receiving application from the Board include such deficit in the budget estimates for the year in which such application is made, providing that, in the opinion of the Council, such funds are required by the Board.

The Board shall meet at least once every three months or more frequently is so desired, "and there shall be furnished at each quarterly meeting the financial statement of the Centre."

The members of the Building Committee and the members of the Board of Trustess shall serve without remuneration, but may employ such professional assistance as they deem necessary.

As previously reported, the $75,000 to be provided by the Corporation is to be raised by the issue of debentures.

PATTERN FOR TOKYO BOMBING — When the newest cycle of Tokyo bombings from Saipan Island (1) began on November 24, the B-29 Superfortresses had engaged in 18 major air attacks—plus the original Tokyo blast on April 18, 1942. Previously the attacks had been launched from China (2) or India from which a new raid on Thailand (Siam) (3) was made. The circles on the map indicate the most effective bombing radius of the B-29's although the tip of Korea was hit during one flight. June 15 marked the beginning of the Fortress campaign on Japan and such visits are scheduled to become steadily more frequent.

People Of Sumatra Very Religious

The monthly meeting of the evening auxiliary of the W.M.S., was held at the home of Mrs. T. J Jackson, with seven members in attendance.

Watchtowers who responded were Mrs. Claren Rowan, Mrs. T. J. Jackson and Mrs. Claude Porteous. The scripture reading, John 10 chapter, verses 1—14, was read by Miss Weatherill, and the program in the missionary monthly was followed, all the members taking part.

Mrs. Henderson then took the study book period and gave an interesting description of the church in Mayla, and Dutch East Indies. Those chapters, from "West of the Date Line", introduced members to fellow Christians of these areas, and on the Island of Samatra is one of the strongest Christian churches in the East. When the Japanese invasion swept over this area more than 1,700,000 Christians were enslaved and cut off from their comrade in the world church.

WELL DESERVED TRIBUTE

We confidently recommend Hurrell Dodds to the voters as a man of action — a "does." He proved that in the way he proposed the wading beach for children at Riverside Park, and then "chased" it through to actuality and completion —with energy and determination.

Vision of projects is one thing. Sticking at it until you get them done, is another. Hurrell Dodds combined these qualities, and in the municipal field we believe they would prove an additional asset in the administration of Peterborough.

You have a chance Monday to put another man of action—a "doer"—to work for the city by electing Hurrell Dodds to the Council.

This advertisement is sponsored and financed by a group of Mr. Dodds' friends.

Compulsion Unavoidable In Wartime Senator Says

OTTAWA, Dec. 2 —(CP)— The view that Canadians should accept the proposition that compulsion was inevitable in wartime was expressed in the Senate yesterday by Senator John T. Haig (P.C.—Manitoba) during a debate on the government's policy on conscription and reinforcements which saw Senator Norman Lambert (L—Ontario) predict that an extension of the life of Parliament was more likely than dissolution.

"When we go to war we have got to accept compulsory service, and our people have got to accept that possibility," said Senator Haig. Senator R. B. Horner (P.C.-Saskatchewan) said he favored the principle of compulsory service. He had favored the principle of conscription since 1916, and said such a policy was the only fair means of meeting war obligations.

The view that an election would have been held before now had the opposition in Parliament not desired to assist in the war effort was expressed by Senator F. B. Black (P.C.—New Brunswick).

He said Senator Lambert was "sadly mistaken" if he believed the country "will stand for any prolongation of the life of parliament." There should be no prolongation unless "very extraordinary conditions arise," Senator Black said. The life of Parliament expires April 16.

Blames Rivalry.

Rivalry between Ontario and Quebec had contributed to disunity, and had there been "less propaganda and more education" there would be wider understanding between French and English-speaking Canadians, Senator Black continued.

Now that men have been conscripted there is "not much left," for wealth already has been conscripted.

"Notwithstanding the C.C.F. we cannot go much farther unless industry is to be throttled and initiative destroyed. That is the one thing we must avoid."

Senator Lambert said he was expressing his own view in saying that if public opinion as to the length of the war is correct he thought prolongation of the life of Parliament was more likely than dissolution.

"I trust that if necessary — in spite of all the Prime Minister said to the contrary—he will not hesitate to prolong the life of this Parliament. I do not think he has said anything to preclude that possibility.

"Oh. yes, he has," some Progressive Conservative members said.

MEL. MORROW, Aldermanic Candidate

VETERAN OF THE LAST WAR

Mel. Morrow, candidate for alderman in the coming Municipal Election, is the son of Mrs. W. G. Morrow and the late W. G. Morrow who was in business as a blacksmith on Water street, on the site now occupied by the J. J. Duffus Co'y.

Mel Morrow carried on business as a blacksmith both in the city and in Lindsay for some years, and is at present Welfare Officer of Branch No. 52 of the Canadian Legion, a position that brings him into close association with the veterans of both wars and also their families. He has their interests very much at heart and does his uttermost to see that anything concerning them shall receive consideration and representations made to the authorities if needs be.

He has been a member of the Executive of the Red Patch Club for many years and has been their President for three terms including this year.

If he should win the confidence of the electors and be elected he will do his utmost to look after the interests of all the citizens and of returned men and their families.

VOTE TO Re-Elect HERBERT I. BRADBURN Alderman

7 Years' Experience as a Member of the City Council

Elect John A. Dewart As Alderman

In asking for your support at the polls on Monday to elect me Alderman, I do so as a Business Man, who is deeply interested in Peterborough and anxious to see this city progress.

As a ratepayer who pays taxes on large assessment in this city, I feel that Peterborough needs in the next few years a good strong business administration. One that is prepared to make a thorough study of all proposed projects and improvements and ready to PUSH the plans to completion.

In the PAST there has been too much time wasted between DECISIONS and ACTION.

Consideration for the Returned Man

Many of these decisions will effect our returned men and as one who has always taken a keen interest in the affairs of the veteran I feel that I am able to give the fullest consideration to questions relating to the RETURNED MAN.

Endorses Money Bylaws

I most heartedly endorse the Civic Hospital Bylaw and the Memorial Centre Bylaw, but in endorsing these projects, I believe that it will be the duty of the Council to see that Peterborough Ratepayers receive a Dollar's Value for every Dollar Spent. I maintain that all plans and proposed expenditures should be closely scrutinized by the Council, before authorization is given and that the people should be taken into the complete confidence of those in charge of the planning.

I solicit your vote and influence and in return, if elected, will do my best to see that Peterborough gets a GOOD, SOUND and PROGRESSIVE GOVERNMENT.

JOHN A. DEWART.

Monica Lawless And Ernest Lee Awarded Prizes For Head Girl And Boy At PCVS Commencement

For excellent scholastic achievements, participation in school athletics, leadership and high character, Monica Lawless and Ernest Lee have been selected head girl and head boy of Peterborough Collegiate and Vocation School, C. S. Browne, principal, announced at the annual commencement exercises held in the Collegiate auditorium Friday evening.

Ernest Lee was also awarded the Melville C. Robinson Memorial prize, instituted in the memory of Melville Robinson, who was head boy the last year he attended Collegiate, and the principal's prize.

In naming the two top students of P.C.V.S., Mr. Browne also paid tribute to three other girls and three other boys, whose athletic, scholastic and character traits made them worthy of the prize. They are: Dorothy Hicks, Jean MacTavish, Catherine Scott, John Gillespie, James Rush and Donald Whittaker. Only one head boy and girl could be chosen however, and the final vote of both teachers and students chose the two best all-round students. Mr. Browne presented Miss Lawless with her award in the absence of Mrs. R. F. Downey.

Mr. Browne told the large audience of students, parents and friends that the late Dr. H. R. H. Kenner, beloved educational leader in Peterborough who passed away this year, originated the head boy prize.

The days when it was considered a treachery to accept an education when a "conspiracy of waste became a sort of social custom" have gone, but may return, emphasized Dr. George P. Gilmour, M.A., D.D., Chancellor of McMaster University in Hamilton, who addressed the graduating classes.

Diseased Outlook

Time was, he said, when only those students who would "drag a foot and throw a monkey-wrench into the educational machine" were considered "regular guys", and only the student with great moral fortitude could triumph over "this diseased outlook".

Reminding all young students who are "exposed to education" to avoid that wasteful attitude which can contribute to the defeat of the educational system, he said experiments and improvements combined with the vocational guidance and career planning courses, are attempting to stop wastage at the source, and are correcting the mental attitude of students.

Dr. Gilmour commended to the graduates that they ask themselves four questions: "What must I do?", "What need I do?", "What can I do?", and "What can be done?". Dr. Gilmour, although addressing the graduates spoke also to everyone else in the audience, who "happened to be listening".

The answer to the first question: "What must I do?", he said, is the truant officer. This question regards education as merely something a student is forced to take. "There are none here tonight in that category", he said, "because they don't get diplomas".

"What need I do?", is the thinking in terms of "getting by"; of considering the next immediate step, and nothing beyond. It is one of the threatening tragedies of university education, he pointed out, when students take only those subjects necessary to their course, and neglect others which while they are perhaps more difficult, will bring rich rewards to one's life. It is a case of shutting the educational gate too soon!

Don't Overload

"What can I do?" Dr. Gilmour said, "Make yourself do everything of which you are capable". Not overloading yourself with work beyond your capacities which leads to madness, but everything of which you are capable. He commented amusingly that signs of overstrain are not very evident in most quarters. Only by doing things the hard way, he said, can you learn to do hard things easily.

"The Dominion is starved for people to give themselves to the country spiritually, intellectually and culturally", he said. He warned against attempts to be "someone else", and trying to do things which others do. This envy, he explained, stems from the fact people do not enjoy contentment when they are in the second rank. Dr. Gilmour advised the graduates to be content with their capabilities.

The final question examined by the McMaster Chancellor, was "What can be done?" Do not make the mistake of believing everything is possible. Hard work is in store for everyone, and 20 years or more of it usually attains what one wishes to do in about six months.

The tragedy of education . . . "colossal wastage", he said, is being corrected today just as fast and far as it can be done.

Dr. Gilmour concluded his address to the graduates by expressing his hope that the school will be benefited by the students who have left it, just as the students have benefited by attending it!

G. Wilson Craw, chairman of the Board of Education, introduced the speaker.

Chairman of the commencement program, Mr. Craw in his remarks, offered his congratulations to the students winning diplomas and other awards, and told the audience it is not an easy thing to win awards and diplomas in Peterborough Collegiate and Vocational School, because of the large attendance, and very keen competition. He also congratulated the parents of the children, who have made in every case, outstanding progress in their education.

Vivian E. Martin delivered the valedictory address. Describing life at Peterborough Collegiate as something no student will forget no matter how far away from the school they may travel, she paid tribute to teachers and fellow-students, all of whom contributed to making Peterborough Collegiate school days happy and memorable events. Miss Martin added her tribute to the late Dr. Kenner.

A. S. Zavitz, Collegiate teacher, presented the academic honor diplomas. Many of the graduates to whom the diplomas were awarded were unable to be present at the commencement, because of service with the armed forces, or attendance at a university. An exceptionally large number of the boys are now serving with Canada's fighting forces at home and abroad. Mr. Zavitz also presented academic graduation diplomas.

Present Certificates

L. H. Collingwood presented the commercial graduation diplomas, and the special commercial one year certificates.

Miss M. A. Bailey presented the industrial arts graduation diplomas to the students, all boys, and the home economics diplomas to the girls. Miss Bailey outlined to the audience the courses and work of the vocational curriculum of P.C.V.S.

Mrs. F. W. K. Harris, member of the Board of Education, presented the Nicholls Scholarships for general proficiency to the winning students, French prizes donated by Miss Margaret White. Latin prizes donated by Miss Helen McGregor; Canadian History prizes donated by Peter Robinson Chapter I.O.D.E. and the Edith Alexandra Murphy Memorial Scholarship for English. Mrs. Harris told the audience that the late Mrs. Charlotte Nicholls had left $2,000 for prizes for general proficiency, and that approximately $5,000 has been awarded since. "Figure that one out, if you're good at mathematics", she said to the accompaniment of laughter.

Presentation of the W.G. Morrow Scholarships was made by P. D. Scollard, a member of the Board of Education. These prizes were for general proficiency in the commercial department, industrial arts, and home economics departments.

Special Prizes

J. F. Reed, member of the Board of Education recently returned by acclamation to assume for two more years at least the position he has filled in the past on the Board, offered the awards to students winning prizes for public speaking, donated by the C.G.E., typing, donated by Canadian Raybestos Company; sewing, donated by C.D.S. for Grade XI., and sewing, donated by Richard Hall Limited, for Grade X; the Sam Rogow Memorial Scholarships for art, donated by B'Nai B'Rith Lodge of Peterborough; mathematics, donated by C.G.E., scholarships for science, donated by Outboard Marine and Manufacturing Company; stenography, donated by the Quaker Oats Company.

Mr. Browne presented the awards for literary work donated by the Peterborough Examiner Limited. He explained that the awards are presented for the best work printed in the Echoes, and that the Examiner instituted the awards because of the fine writing shown in the school magazine.

As previously announced, Winona Rostocky was awarded the $400 Dominion - Provincial Scholarship for general proficiency, and is now attending university.

During the evening, musical selections were played by Miss Jean Hills, at the piano, and Norman Hurrle and Norman Lowes, duo-pianists. After the exercises, tea was served in the Collegiate Library, and the students enjoyed dancing.

DUTY OF LETTER WRITING

Men at War Also Owe Their Women Mail to Help Them Through Crisis

We continually are urging wives, who have husbands in the war, to keep up their men's morale by writing them bright, cheery letters, filled with home news about what they are doing, that the baby is cutting a new tooth and how old Towser won't sleep anywhere except across his door.

Above all, we urged these war wives to fill their letters with love and tenderness and to tell their husbands over and over and over again how much they love them and miss them, and how proud they are of them and of all the plans they are making for their lives together after this cruel war is over.

All of which is fine and dandy, for, no matter where we go, the little bit of earth that was home to us is the one place that is more important to us than any where else in the the world. We are more interested in the doings of the people we know and love than we are in the rise and fall of empires, and we are more amused at the funny thing little Johnny said than we are at the wise-cracks of the most brilliant wit.

Waiting For Mail

So it doesn't take much imagination to picture the eagerness with which men, who are far away from home and who are going through all the stress and strain of war, look for the letters that are the tie that binds them to the things dearest to them in life, and how bitterly disappointed they are when there is not even a scratch of a pen to show that anyone thinks of them.

But what is sauce for the gander is also sauce for the goose, and that is a little fact we seem to have overlooked in our wartime propoganda. Nobody says anything to the service men about it being their duty to keep up the morale of their wives and mothers by writing them love letters, telling how they think of them by day and dream of them by night, and how they are planning to build a new kitchen, with all the newest gadgets, as soon as they get back home.

Yet the women on the home front are fighting just as hard a battle as their men are on the war front and one that calls for just as much courage to face as if their foes were Nazis or Japs, instead of loneliness and heart-hunger and anxiety. They, too, know what it is to watch with trembling suspense for the postman's step, and when he passes them by, to be plunged into the hell of nameless fears.

Sometimes these women who watch for the letter that never comes are girl brides away from home and Mother for the first time. Sometimes they are women with little children who have had to give up their comfortable homes and crowd in with relatives for a place to live. Sometimes they are frightened young mothers faced with the ordeal of bearing their first child alone. Sometimes they are gray-headed old women whose whole happiness in life is centered in a son at the front. And God knows if there is anybody on earth who needs to be bucked up, who needs to have their morale strengthened, it is they.

Yet the husbands and sons who love them and who do not mean to be unkind are neglectful, so often that days and weeks and months go by without even sending them a line, simply because they hate to write letters. Which is a poor excuse, for it is just as much the duty of the husband at war to build up his wife's morale as it is hers to build up his.

LaFave—Crough

A pretty wedding took place in Sacred Heart church when Carmel Catharine Crough, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James J. Crough, of Otonabee, became the bride of Gerald Henry LaFave, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. LaFave, of Peterborough. Rt. Rev. Monsignor J. J. O'Brien officiated at the ceremony. The church was decorated with yellow and white 'mums. John Armstrong was at the organ, and Mrs. W. Prindible sang during the ceremony.

Given in marriage by her grandfather, T. H. Crough, of Ennismore, the bride was becomingly gowned in floor-length ivory slipper satin, with full skirt falling into a train. The fitted bodice was fashioned with a Sweetheart neckline, and long Bishop sleeves coming to a point over either hand. Her long veil of illusion net was caught to a matching Queen Anne halo, and she carried an arm bouquet of American Beauty roses.

Miss Helen Crough was her sister's maid of honor, frocked in floor-length white sheer, with round lact neckline, full skirt, long Bishop sleeves, caught at the wrist with a narrow band of lace. She wore a pink taffeta Dutch hat, with matching shoulder-length veil, and carried a bouquet of American Beauty roses.

Misses Teresa and Doreen Crough, also sister of the bride, were bridesmaids, and were frocked alike in floor-length blue taffeta, long torso lines with full short sleeves. Each wore matching Dutch hats trimmed with white lace, long white gloves, and carried nosegays.

Louis Ronco of Peterborough, was best man, and James Bingham and Gerald Blackwood, also of Peterborough, were ushers.

Following the ceremony, about 3[illegible] guests were entertained at receptio[illegible] at the home of the bride's parent[illegible] when the bride's mother recei[illegible] in a two-piece dress of Air[illegible] blue, black accessories, and a [illegible] sage of red roses. Y.W.C.A. Club Doings

The members of the '38 Club enjoyed a delicious supper on Wednesday evening prepared and served by Marion Pogue, Edna Whetter and Elaine Adler and Winnifred Metcalfe. The president, Lena Dewart, presided at the business meeting. Roberta Deyell thanked the social committee and Misses Ailwen Jones and Marion Young were appointed to act as publicity committee. Miss Brownscombe, guest speaker for the evening, had the girls write out questions they would like to have answered about Switzerland. In her talk Miss Brownscombe told many interesting features of her trip a few years ago, answered the questions and adding several personal experiences to the outline. In closing the girls were shown a number of souvenirs which she had retained as a reminder of her delightful trip.

To Hang Greens

The Girls' Council are in charge of the "Hanging of the Greens" which is to be held Friday, December 15 and all Association members and friends are invited to participate in this festivity.

The Thursday Supper Club had their first snack dance of the season and about 60 attended. Mrs. Donald Duncan and Mrs. J. Roper acted as hostesses and Margaret Braund and Lela Rostocky assisted Barbara Hughes with the refreshments.

Swim Club

The Gym Swim Club at their meeting presided over by Mrs. J. Dwyer completed the plans for the soldiers' dance December 4 and at the next meeting the girls are assisting with the making of garlands and the December 21 meeting will be their Christmas program. At the close of the meeting there were recreational games and lunch.

The Old Country Club amateur night was held Tuesday. The club was entertained with a reading by Mrs. W. Magee, stunt by Mrs. Halstead, Mrs. Leach and Mrs. Carter; solo, Mrs. Butcher; talk, Mrs. T. Craig (How to Be Beautiful); Band selection, led by Mrs. Isle with Miss J. Day, Miss B. Gilmour and Mrs. T. Craig; "Lesson on How to Cook," B. Gilmour; imitations by Mrs. A. McKinley and a Scotch song and dance. Miss Clara Barnes was mistress of ceremonies and led the group in sing songs. Refreshments were served by Mrs. Sawyer White, Mrs. Isle and Mrs. W. Magee. Plans for the Christmas party December 12 were completed.

The first meeting to plan the Christmas formal was held Friday and the date was set for December 29. Dorothy Hicks and Barbara Weir will be in charge of the ticket sale; Jean MacTavish and Nancy Sootheran, decorations; Gwyn Reid, refreshments, and Mary King, music.

For Monday, December 4

Monday's astrological forecast is an intriguing and exciting one, with all sorts of openings and opportunities for attaining cherished objectives, despite many strange, critical and subtle chances for doing the wrong thing, and plunging into self defeat and disillusion. This situation may be dramatic and thrilling but offers occasion for display of unique talents and perhaps spectacular skills. Superiors would be quick to endorse exceptional talents.

Those whose birthday it is will probably have a year of exceptional and unique opportunity for taking affairs in hand, with brilliant ideas and progressive measures for defeating radical, peculiar, possibly sensational difficulties or strange problems. Initiative, inventive genius, or curious intuitions or hunches, may attract support from high places. Personal life is also strangely and dramatically affected, but restrain emotional intensity.

A child born on this day may have diversified talents, with exceptional openings to express them, although emotional and impulsive, yet kindly.

King's Own Class Holds Bazaar

Members of the King's Own Bible Class, St. James' Sunday School, sponsored a successful tea and bazaar Thursday afternoon and evening.

The primary room was decorated in Christmas colors, and a constant stream of visitors were in attendance during both afternoon and evening.

Centering the lace-covered tea table which dominated the tea room, was a miniature Christmas tree with many candles and streamers, while small tables following the Christmas theme were scattered about the large room. The president, Mrs. E. Kitney, welcomed the guests.

Supervising the apron booth were Mrs. G. Rowe, Mrs. Zolymy, Mrs. Tate and Mrs. Bell and their dainty work found ready sale. The miscellaneous collection was in charge of Mesdames J. Goldie, Ross Moncrief, Walter Wright and Mrs. Allen.

Home-cooked dainties were speedily sold by Mesdames G. Harris, K. Sloane and L. Gibson. Mrs. W. Prest was assisted in the tea room by Mesdames Hanlon, B. Pitchford, Woodcock, Aitchison and L. Bristow.

English Bride Brings News Of Boys Overseas

"Say hello to my folks for me, and tell them I'm fine," said the boys at Canadian Military Headquarters, London, to Mrs. Gwendoline McQuarrie, as she bade them good-bye preparatory to boarding a ship for Canada. Mrs. McQuarrie, whose husband, Pte. A. C. McQuarrie was killed in action in July at Caen, recently arrived in Peterborough to stay with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. T. McQuarrie, 720 Elcome Crescent.

She enjoyed doing clerical work at Military Headquarters, and says that the Canadian boys were cheery and "grand to work with." When they discovered that she was coming to Canada, she was bombarded with messages to deliver to parents, to tell them everything was okay, and give them love from their boys serving overseas. "I have the addresses of several families, and intend to write them or visit them when I get settled," she says.

The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. Battley, Mrs. McQuarrie was in London during the blitz, and also lately, in the robot raids. She explained that "doodlebugs" are much worse than regular bombs, since they seem to have a larger blast. "You just listen for their motors," she continues, "and when they cut off, you just hold on and pray for luck." She explained that most families who had shelters slept in them, as they did during the blitz, but since their home had no shelter, they just "sat tight." She says that they were lucky, for although their windows were blown in, the house itself suffered no damage, and when they saw large sections laid waste in their vicinity, they realized how fortunate they had been.

Wearing the silver Memorial Cross awarded to her husband, Mrs. McQuarrie is a smiling little woman, slender and of medium height, with a pleasing personality. Although she has had little time to gain much of an idea of Canada, and Peterborough, she particularly likes the snow, admitting, however, that she was not fond of it in England, and with a great many other Londoners was quite disgruntled when a light snowfall occasionally "hung around" for a couple of weeks.

Miscalculation.

When the Canadians at C.M.H.Q. told her about their Canadian winter, warning her of its severity, she good-naturedly assured them that she would come well prepared and just as good-naturedly accepted the somewhat disparaging remarks they passed about England's rainy, damp weather, as contrasted with Canada's sunny clime. However, on the evening of her second day in Peterborough, the rain came down quite heavily, and continued for a day and night "Will I have some fun when I write them and tease them about the 'sunshine' that greeted me," she laughs.

When she was married, in June, 1943, Mrs. McQuarrie gave up her position to be with her husband, but later returned to London, because he was continually being moved. In the early summer, when the robot bomb attacks were increasing in severity, she evacuated to the country at her husband's request, but returned to London when she received the news of his death. His parents had asked her to come to Canada, and she decided to go ahead and make arrangements.

The large displays of articles in Peterborough "shops" still amaze her, and she is pleasantly surprised when she receives her parcels wrapped in paper. The lighted streets are also a treat to one accustomed to blackout for over five years. When asked about her post-war plans, she said that she would like to return to England to visit her family, but imagined that she would return. "English living in Canada have told me that you want to return to the Old Country for a visit, but soon get homesick for Canada," she explains, "so I suppose that I'll feel the same."

Art Group Enjoys Musical Program

The Green Room of the Y.W.C.A. was filled Friday afternoon for the December meeting of the Women's Art Association, which took the form of an entertaining Christmas musical program. It has been an annual custom of the Association to use the December meeting for a Christmas program, and the appreciative audience gave proof of the wisdom of that choice. Mrs. J. E. R. Munro, the president, in thanking the artists taking part, said that the delightful program had shown that the Association should make a point of seeing that a Christmas program was always included in the outline for the meetings.

Mrs. H. A. Mitchell arranged the program of varied instrumental and vocal selections, and was complimented by Mrs. Munro on her willingness to take the responsibility of the arrangements, and the excellence of the entertainment. Miss Mary Jane Wharry played three violin selections, "Adoration," "Salute d'Amour," and "Prayer of Rosemarin." Mrs. R. L. Hale sang three solos, "Sylvia," "Call of the Cuckoo," and "For You Alone," accompanied by Mrs. H. V. Dobson. Mrs. D. McDermott was heard in three piano solos, "The Dance of the Happy Shades," "Aria," and the "Spanish Dance." Concluding the program, a trio, Mrs. Ford Turner, Mrs. H. A. Mitchell and Miss Mary Medd, sang three love Christmas carols, "How Far Is It to Bethlehem?," "Christmas Song," and "The Carol of the Birds." The latter number was particularly effective, since it was sung without accompaniment. Miss Musa Cox was at the piano for the other numbers.

TOWERING TURBAN—It's always high season for the oriental charm of the intricately draped turban, so becoming to so many women. Depicted here is an ultra sophisticated turban designed by Jeanne Tete. It is of felt and satin all black without a hint of color or sparkle to dim its lustrous beauty. The black satin headband clings tightly and covers the hairline while the soft, high felt crown gives it the current "more hat" look.—By Alice Alden.

THE TEA HOUR GOSSIP . . . .

Hats are hats again. The hat has come into its own once more. Today it is the highlight of the whole costume. The hat is bigger, more dressy and more important looking than in years just past. The new hats are as wearable as they are smart and they make the little beanies, that have been gallivanting all around town for so many years, look all wrong.

Don't think because the styles have changed, that there is any lack of variety. Oh no, there are plenty of styles to choose from. Of course some styles are more pronounced than others, for instance the late Victorian and Edwardian styles now so much in the limelight such as the sweeping hat of black felt, with its curling ostrich plume, in purple, chartreuse, tangerine, gold, or fuchsia shades.

Then there is the smaller hat, in a pointed pillbox, worn level on the head, with the point on the forehead often having a beaded pin or a jewelled motif. The high, draped, Oriental turban, in two

ALL THE Extra VITAMINS AND MINERALS . . . SHE NEEDS

Authorities say the difference between husky children and those who are poor eaters, underweight, and nervous is often simply a matter of proper nourishment, especially an adequate supply of vitamins and minerals.

But don't worry about vitamins and minerals! Children who eat 3 average-good meals including fruit juice, and drink 2 glasses of Ovaltine each day, are getting all the extra vitamins and minerals they need.

In addition to its well-balanced food values, Ovaltine adds significant amounts of Vitamins A, B_1, and D and the minerals Calcium, Phosphorus and Iron. So, if your child is not developing normally, remember this rule:

3 good meals plus 2 glasses of Ovaltine every day.

Miss Marion Arnold, George street, is the guest of Miss Doreen Peterson, Warkworth, for the week-end.

Miss Barbara Bothwell and Miss June Wallis left Friday to spend the week-end in Toronto. While there, they will attend the Ice Capades at Maple Leaf Gardens.

Miss Mildred Spicer, who is attending the University of Toronto, is spending the week-end with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. S. Spicer, Downie street. She attended the Commencement exercises at the Collegiate Friday evening.

John Snelgrove, of Perham, Minn., who has been visiting his sisters, Mrs. George Curtis, Park Hill Road, and Mrs. Mary E. Armstrong of Lakefield, for the past month, left for his home this week, accompanied by his daughter, Mrs. Cecil Smith, of Iowa City, Iowa.

Miss Vivian Martin, who is attending the University of Toronto, is spending a few days with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. Martin, 400 Monaghan road. While in Peterborough, she attended the Commencement exercises at the Collegiate.

Mrs. J. Cameron convened the jams, jellies and candy booth at the Christmas fair sponsored by the Catholic Women's League, and she was assisted by Mrs. P. Bard, Mrs. C. Wolfe and Mrs. D. Macdonald. The home cooking booth was in charge of Mrs. F. J. Lynch as convener, and Mrs. D Emery, Mrs. D. Sullivan and Mrs. J. McCarney assisted.

His many friends in Peterborough will be glad to learn that Rev. F. E. Smith, rector of the Cathedral at Peace River, has been made a canon of the Diocese of Athabaska by the Bishop, Rt. Rev. A. H. Sovereign, D.D. Canon Smith is also secretary of the Synod. For a time, he was student assistant at All Saints' Church in Peterborough.

PO W. Blackburn, R.C.A.F., son of Rev. J. Blackburn and Mrs. Blackburn of Calstock Indian Reserve, has been awarded the Distinguished Flying Cross. Rev. and Mrs. Blackburn and "Billy" spent some time in Peterborough, when Rev. Blackburn worked in the mission for All Saints' Church in Brownton. Their son attended Queen Mary School, afterwards going on to Ridley College, St. Catharines.

LaFave—Crough

A pretty wedding took place in Sacred Heart church when Carmel Catharine Crough, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James J. Crough, of Otonabee, became the bride of Gerald Henry LaFave, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. LaFave, of Peterborough. Rt. Rev. Monsignor J. J. O'Brien officiated at the ceremony. The church was decorated with yellow and white 'mums. John Armstrong was at the organ, and Mrs. W. Prindible sang during the ceremony.

Given in marriage by her grandfather, T. H. Crough, of Ennismore, the bride was becomingly gowned in floor-length ivory slipper satin, with full skirt falling into a train. The fitted bodice was fashioned with a Sweetheart neckline, and long Bishop sleeves coming to a point over either hand. Her long veil of illusion net was caught to a matching Queen Anne halo, and she carried an arm bouquet of American Beauty roses.

Miss Helen Crough was her sister's maid of honor, frocked in floor-length white sheer, with round lact neckline, full skirt, long Bishop sleeves, caught at the wrist with a narrow band of lace. She wore a pink taffeta Dutch hat, with matching shoulder-length veil, and carried a bouquet of American Beauty roses.

Misses Teresa and Doreen Crough, also sister of the bride, were bridesmaids, and were frocked alike in floor-length blue taffeta, long torso lines with full short sleeves. Each wore matching Dutch hats trimmed with white lace, long white gloves, and carried nosegays.

Louis Ronco of Peterborough, was best man, and James Bingham and Gerald Blackwood, also of Peterborough, were ushers.

Following the ceremony, about 80 guests were entertained at reception at the home of the bride's parents, when the bride's mother received in a two-piece dress of Airforce blue, black accessories, and a corsage of red roses. The groom's mother, also receiving, wore a tailored gray suit, black accessories, and a corsage of red roses.

For a wedding trip to the United States, the bride chose a turquoise wool dress, black Princess style coat, and matching accessories.

Y.W.C.A. Club Doings

The members of the '38 Club enjoyed a delicious supper on Wednesday evening prepared and served by Marion Pogue, Edna Whetter and Elaine Adler and Winnifred Metcalfe. The president, Lena Dewart, presided at the business meeting. Roberta Deyell thanked the social committee and Misses Ailwen Jones and Marion Young were appointed to act as publicity committee. Miss Brownscombe, guest speaker for the evening, had the girls write out questions they would like to have answered about Switzerland. In her talk Miss Brownscombe told many interesting features of her trip a few years ago, answered the questions and adding several personal experiences to the outline. In closing the girls were shown a number of souvenirs which she had retained as a reminder of her delightful trip.

To Hang Greens

The Girls' Council are in charge of the "Hanging of the Greens" which is to be held Friday, December 15 and all Association members and friends are invited to participate in this festivity.

The Thursday Supper Club had their first snack dance of the season and about 60 attended. Mrs. Donald Duncan and Mrs. J. Roper acted as hostesses and Margaret Braund and Lela Rostocky assisted Barbara Hughes with the refreshments.

Swim Club

The Gym Swim Club at their meeting presided over by Mrs. J. Dwyer completed the plans for the soldiers' dance December 4 and at the next meeting the girls are assisting with the making of garlands and the December 21 meeting will be their Christmas program. At the close of the meeting there were recreational games and lunch.

The Old Country Club amateur night was held Tuesday. The club was entertained with a reading by Mrs. W. Magee, stunt by Mrs. Halstead, Mrs. Leach and Mrs. Carter; solo, Mrs. Butcher; talk, Mrs. T. Craig (How to Be Beautiful); Band selection, led by Mrs. Isle with Miss J. Day, Miss B. Gilmour and Mrs. T. Craig; "Lesson on How to Cook," B. Gilmour; imitations by Mrs. A. McKinley and a Scotch song and dance. Miss Clara Barnes was mistress of ceremonies and led the group in sing songs. Refreshments were served by Mrs. Sawyer White, Mrs. Isle and Mrs. W. Magee. Plans for the Christmas party December 12 were completed.

The first meeting to plan the Christmas formal was held Friday and the date was set for December 29. Dorothy Hicks and Barbara Weir will be in charge of the ticket sale; Jean MacTavish and Nancy Sootheran, decorations; Gwyn Reid, refreshments, and Mary King, music.

THE STARS SAY . . . . .

By GENEVIEVE KEMBLE

For Sunday, December 3

SUNDAY'S Horoscope holds definite encouragement for placing difficult and menacing situations upon a happier, more lucrative and all round progressive productive and sound basis. This demands clever and affable readjustments of critical circumstances with skill and good nature and not by employment of drastic or impetuous or erratic moves. Adaptability assures real gains.

Those whose birthday it is may be brought up against some critical or dangerous circumstances, the outcome of which depends upon the use of clever, tactful and amiable methods rather than stubborn, erratic or impulsive acts. With moderation, shrewdness, knowing when to yield graciously, certain drastic or uprooting situations may be happily composed in business and private life.

A child born on this day should have good abilities and opportunities. Its skill in handling drastic matters, with grace and flexibility, will determine its fortune and happiness

For Monday, December 4

Monday's astrological forecast is an intriguing and exciting one, with all sorts of openings and opportunities for attaining cherished objectives, despite many strange, critical and subtle chances for doing the wrong thing, and plunging into self defeat and disillusion. This situation may be dramatic and thrilling but offers occasion for display of unique talents and perhaps spectacular skills. Superiors would be quick to endorse exceptional talents.

Those whose birthday it is will probably have a year of exceptional and unique opportunity for taking affairs in hand, with brilliant ideas and progressive measures for defeating radical, peculiar, possibly sensational difficulties or strange problems. Initiative, inventive genius, or curious intuitions or hunches, may attract support from high places. Personal life is also strangely and dramatically affected, but restrain emotional intensity.

A child born on this day may have diversified talents, with exceptional openings to express them, although emotional and impulsive, yet kindly.

King's Own Class Holds Bazaar

Members of the King's Own Bible Class, St. James' Sunday School, sponsored a successful tea and bazaar Thursday afternoon and evening.

The primary room was decorated in Christmas colors, and a constant stream of visitors were in attendance during both afternoon and evening.

Centering the lace-covered tea table which dominated the tea room, was a miniature Christmas tree with many candles and streamers, while small tables following the Christmas theme were scattered about the large room. The president, Mrs. E. Kitney, welcomed the guests.

Supervising the apron booth were Mrs. G. Rowe, Mrs. Zolymy, Mrs. Tate and Mrs. Bell and their dainty work found ready sale. The miscellaneous collection was in charge of Mesdames J. Goldie, Ross Moncrief, Walter Wright and Mrs. Allen.

Home-cooked dainties were speedily sold by Mesdames G. Harris, K. Sloane and L. Gibson. Mrs. W. Prest was assisted in the tea room by Mesdames Hanlon, B. Pitchford, Woodcock, Aitchison and L. Bristow.

English Bride Brings News Of Boys Overseas

"Say hello to my folks for me, and tell them I'm fine," said the boys at Canadian Military Headquarters, London, to Mrs. Gwendoline McQuarrie, as she bade them good-bye preparatory to boarding a ship for Canada. Mrs. McQuarrie, whose husband, Pte. A. C. McQuarrie was killed in action in July at Caen, recently arrived in Peterborough to stay with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. T. McQuarrie, 720 Elcome Crescent.

She enjoyed doing clerical work at Military Headquarters, and says that the Canadian boys were cheery and "grand to work with." When they discovered that she was coming to Canada, she was bombarded with messages to deliver to parents, to tell them everything was okay, and give them love from their boys serving overseas. "I have the addresses of several families, and intend to write them or visit them when I get settled," she says.

The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. Battley, Mrs. McQuarrie was in London during the blitz, and also lately, in the robot raids. She explained that "doodlebugs" are much worse than regular bombs, since they seem to have a larger blast. "You just listen for their motors," she continues, "and when they cut off, you just hold on and pray for luck." She explained that most families who had shelters slept in them, as they did during the blitz, but since their home had no shelter, they just "sat tight." She says that they were lucky, for although their windows were blown in, the house itself suffered no damage, and when they saw large sections laid waste in their vicinity, they realized how fortunate they had been.

Wearing the silver Memorial Cross awarded to her husband, Mrs. McQuarrie is a smiling little woman, slender and of medium height, with a pleasing personality. Although she has had little time to gain much of an idea of Canada, and Peterborough, she particularly likes the snow, admitting, however, that she was not fond of it in England, and with a great many other Londoners was quite disgruntled when a light snowfall occasionally "hung around" for a couple of weeks.

Miscalculation.

When the Canadians at C.M.H.Q. told her about their Canadian winter, warning her of its severity, she good-naturedly assured them that she would come well prepared and just as good-naturedly accepted the somewhat disparaging remarks they passed about England's rainy, damp weather, as contrasted with Canada's sunny clime. However, on the evening of her second day in Peterborough, the rain came down quite heavily, and continued for a day and night "Will I have some fun when I write them and tease them about the 'sunshine' that greeted me," she laughs.

When she was married, in June, 1943, Mrs. McQuarrie gave up her position to be with her husband, but later returned to London, because he was continually being moved. In the early summer, when the robot bomb attacks were increasing in severity, she evacuated to the country at her husband's request, but returned to London when she received the news of his death. His parents had asked her to come to Canada, and she decided to go ahead and make arrangements.

The large displays of articles in Peterborough "shops" still amaze her, and she is pleasantly surprised when she receives her parcels wrapped in paper. The lighted streets are also a treat to one accustomed to blackout for over five years. When asked about her post-war plans, she said that she would like to return to England to visit her family, but imagined that she would return. "English living in Canada have told me that you want to return to the Old Country for a visit, but soon get homesick for Canada," she explains, "so I suppose that I'll feel the same."

Art Group Enjoys Musical Program

The Green Room of the Y.W.C.A. was filled Friday afternoon for the December meeting of the Women's Art Association, which took the form of an entertaining Christmas musical program. It has been an annual custom of the Association to use the December meeting for a Christmas program, and the appreciative audience gave proof of the wisdom of that choice. Mrs. J. E. R. Munro, the president, in thanking the artists taking part, said that the delightful program had shown that the Association should make a point of seeing that a Christmas program was always included in the outline for the meetings.

Mrs. H. A. Mitchell arranged the program of varied instrumental and vocal selections, and was complimented by Mrs. Munro on her willingness to take the responsibility of the arrangements, and the excellence of the entertainment. Miss Mary Jane Wharry played three violin selections, "Adoration," "Salute d'Amour," and "Prayer of Rosemarin." Mrs. R. L. Hale sang three solos, "Sylvia," "Call of the Cuckoo," and "For You Alone," accompanied by Mrs. H. V. Dobson. Mrs. D. McDermott was heard in three piano solos, "The Dance of the Happy Shades," "Aria," and the "Spanish Dance." Concluding the program, a trio, Mrs. Ford Turner, Mrs. H. A. Mitchell and Miss Mary Medd, sang three love Christmas carols, "How Far Is It to Bethlehem?," "Christmas Song," and "The Carol of the Birds." The latter number was particularly effective, since it was sung without accompaniment. Miss Musa Cox was at the piano for the other numbers.

TOWERING TURBAN—It's always high season for the oriental charm of the intricately draped turban, so becoming to so many women. Depicted here is an ultra sophisticated turban designed by Jeanne Tete. It is of felt and satin all black without a hint of color or sparkle to dim its lustrous beauty. The black satin headband clings tightly and covers the hairline while the soft, high felt crown gives it the current "more hat" look.—By Alice Alden.

THE TEA HOUR GOSSIP . . . .

Hats are hats again. The hat has come into its own once more. Today it is the highlight of the whole costume. The hat is bigger, more dressy and more important looking than in years just past. The new hats are as wearable as they are smart and they make the little beanies, that have been gallivanting all around town for so many years, look all wrong.

Don't think because the styles have changed, that there is any lack of variety. Oh no, there are plenty of styles to choose from. Of course some styles are more pronounced than others, for instance the late Victorian and Edwardian styles now so much in the limelight such as the sweeping hat of black felt, with its curling ostrich plume, in purple, chartreuse, tangerine, gold, or fuchsia shades.

Then there is the smaller hat, in a pointed pillbox, worn level on the head, with the point on the forehead often having a beaded pin or a jewelled motif. The high, draped, Oriental turban, in two

ALL THE Extra VITAMINS AND MINERALS . . . SHE NEEDS

Authorities say the difference between husky children and those who are poor eaters, underweight, and nervous is often simply a matter of proper nourishment, especially an adequate supply of vitamins and minerals.

But don't worry about vitamins and minerals! Children who eat 3 average-good meals including fruit juice, and drink 2 glasses of Ovaltine each day, are getting all the extra vitamins and minerals they need.

In addition to its well-balanced food values, Ovaltine adds significant amounts of Vitamins A, B_1, and D and the minerals Calcium, Phosphorus, and Iron. So, if your child is not developing normally, remember this rule:

3 good meals plus 2 glasses of Ovaltine every day.

IN MEMORIAM

HARRIS—In loving memory of Evelyn Isabel Harris, who passed away December 2nd, 1936.

Just when your life was brightest
Just when your years were best
You were called from this world of sorrow
To a home of eternal rest.

—Ever remembered by mother, father, brother and sisters Violet and Betty.

HARRIS—In loving memory of Evelyn Isabel Harris, who passed away December 2nd, 1936.

Two little hands are resting
A loving heart is still
A little sister we loved is waiting
For us just over the hill.

—Ever remembered by Thelma, Lillian and Caroline.

CAREW—In memory of a dear father and grandfather, George R. Carew, who passed away one year ago, December 3rd, 1943.

He is gone, but not forgotten,
And, as dawns another year,
In our lonely hours of thinking,
Thoughts of him are always near,
Days of sadness will come o'er us,
Friends may think the wound is healed,
But they little know the sorrow
That lies within the heart concealed.

—Fondly remembered by his son Calvert and family.

CARD OF THANKS

or more shades of felt or velvet is another type. A lovely one of this type of hat is made in very soft strip felt, in the colors, purple, fuchsia or lime green, caught in front with an ornament of the same three shades.

The beret still continues in popularity, but now it is called the pancake, because it is much larger than has been worn. These hats are trimmed in sequins, or flat feathers and some have large, bright colored velvet roses.

Materials shown for winter hats are nearly all felts, and velvets and are lavishly trimmed with fur, jewels, beads and velvet flowers.

To be up to the minute your hat, if not a bright color itself must have bright trimming with gloves, and purse to match.

$200,000 by voluntary subscription but we cannot win unless we convert. ....And that $75,000 bylaw represents the placement kick that means either victory or defeat....Make sure the measure passes....It is essential to the carrying out of the complete scheme....Hamilton is also voting Monday on a $1,500,000 bylaw for park development and the erection of a public auditorium that will serve as a war memorial....Speaking of such plans to honor the memory of Canada's sons who are giving their all in the service of their country and Jim Coleman, sports commentator of the Globe and Mail points out "The men who are giving their lives in this war are our young men. Not so long ago they were part of those same "noisy pleasure-bound crowds." They are fighting to preserve a way of life which they themselves enjoyed." In short, service men everywhere approve of such a memorial....Many of Peterborough's soldiers, sailors and airmen have contributed to the local Memorial Centre Fund.

Christmas Toys Are Scarce

—ELECTRIC TRAINS
—MECCANNO SETS
—TRICYCLES
—WIND-UP TRAINS
—METAL FIRE ENGINES
—METAL TRUCKS, etc., etc.

. . . in fact almost all the favorite metal toys, spring toys and electric toys are off the market owing to wartime restrictions. The toy makers have done well in producing other non-metallic toys but the children love those old favorites.

If you have such articles in your home and no longer need them you can sell them quickly and easily.

"FINAL BATTLE"—AS EISENHOWER SEES IT—"The only sensible course for Germany is to fight to the bitter end west of the Rhine," General Eisenhower has told war correspondents. Shown in the shaded area of this map is the size and location of the battleground. He said the crossing the Rhine would "amount to a naval operation." It was pointed out that Rhine bridges can be or have been blasted by bombers. Small stars show locations of the key Rhine bridges. On the fighting front (1) the French 1st Army moves northward along the west Rhine bank after the Belfort Gap coup. The U.S. 7th (2) has taken Sarrebourg and aims at Strasbourg. The U.S. Third strikes up the Moselle toward Koblenz, and pushes below Metz and (4) bitter counter-offensives have been meeting the drive on Cologne and the advance from Geilenkirchen made by British and American forces. The Rhine is closest in this sector.

Blizzard Fails To Hold Back Donors From Peterborough District

"They're the grandest sports in the world," exclaimed officials at the Red Cross Blood Donors Clinic, Thursday night, as small groups of donors from Apsley, Norwood and Lakefield, straggled in in spite of the blizzard which was sweeping the countryside.

The donors themselves, some of whom, would have driven 80 miles before they got home, laughed and said it was nothing at all to make such a trip when giving their blood was involved, but finally admitted the roads hadn't been too good. They are upholding the record of donors from the same sections who kept up a faithful attendance during the worst storms that struck Peterborough during last winter.

Donors on Monday were:

BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

ECONOMIZE ON TRUMPS

ON DEALS which require the use of your trumps separately for ruffing, it behooves the forward peering declarer to conserve as many as he requires for that purpose. Leading trumps and trying a first round finesse may wreck his plan if the finesse fails. Winning that trick, the defender may fire back another trump, which makes two tricks on which you have used up a total of four of your trumps. That may not leave you enough for the essential ruffs.

That same contract was reached by almost the same bidding at both tables of a team match, but the play was widely divergent. It began the same in both cases, with the heart K, ruff of the heart A by the spade 2, and a lead to the diamond K. Then one declarer finessed the spade J, losing to the K, and West returned the spade 3 to the A. The club K drove out the A, and West returned his last trump to the 10. The club Q and J furnished a discard of the diamond 5, the diamond A was cashed and the diamond 2 ruffed by the spade Q. But then South had to give up two hearts at the end, so was down two.

After ruffing the second heart and leading to the diamond K, the second declarer led the club 7, the K forcing the A. West shot back his spade 3, leaving a guard to his K, South winning with the J. The club Q and J furnished a diamond discard, then the diamond A was taken and the 6 led. West ruffed too high for the dummy, with his spade K, and returned his spade 7 to the 10. There had been only two trump leads, so the dummy had two spades left. Between them and the spade A the last three tricks were cross-ruffed, a club and a diamond in the dummy and a heart in the South.

Your Week-End Question

What are the three main purposes which may be accomplished by leading an honor from a three-card sequence against a No Trump contract instead of leading the fourth best card of the suit?

Algonquins Push From Caen Into Holland

By ROSS MUNRO,
Canadian Press War Correspondent

WITH THE 1st CANADIAN ARMY, Dec. 2 —(CP)—The Algonquin Regiment from Northern Ontario first went into the line south of Caen at the end of July and, with scarcely a break from combat duty, has fought from France into Belgium, and from Belgium into Holland to the lower Rhine—establishing a fine record for accomplishing hard infantry tasks.

The Algonquins are infantry and that in itself says a lot. It has been the infantry who carried the biggest burden in the battles from the Normandy beachhead to the German frontier.

They got their baptism of fire at the town of Hubert Folie, south of Caen, shared in the advance on Falaise, crossed the Lison Valley in the great Canadian tank and infantry attack. Fought in the Trun Gap and then pushed on, without rest, to the Seine and the Somme.

Across the Pas De Calais went the Algonquins and they fought a savage action on the Leopold Canal in mid September. They had a part in the October battle for the Schelde and later were in the spectacular attack north of Antwerp.

The Algonquins were at Esschen, Bergen Op Zoom and Steenbergen in the drive to the lower Rhine. The story of the Algonquins is a tireless procession of actions, big and small, from Caen to the lower Rhine.

The Algonquins have been commanded by an Edmonton lieutenant-colonel through most of their battles and second-in-command is Maj. L. C. Monk of Montreal. Company commanders include Maj. Bob Herbert of North Bay, Ont., and Maj. G. L. Cassidy of Cobalt, Ont. Capt. Bob Shervill of London, Ont., is adjutant. George Murray of Niagara Falls, Ont., is regimental sergeant major and company sergeant majors include Jack Forrestel, Guelph, Ont.

Casualties Heavy

Casualties have changed the compositions of the Algonquins, as is the case in every infantry outfit, but originally the regiment had companies from North Bay, Huntsville and Parry Sound, Timmins, Kirkland Lake and Cobalt. On its badge is a moose head with the Indian motto "Ne-Kah-Ne-Tah" — we lead, other follow.

The Algonquins have done their full share of leading in this campaign.

In the fight for Falaise, for instance, they were spearhead with the British Columbia regiment which exploited the Aug. 8 break-through by the 2nd Canadian Division south of Caen.

From there, the regiment pushed on to Trun and occupying a high hill behind the Trun Gap, shares in the slaughter of the German 7th Army. The Algonquins took about 5,000 prisoners.

Take 3 Algonquins .. . .)nun

The advance to the Seine followed and the unit crossed the Seine at Criquebeuf, south of Roun.

By mid-September, they were east of Bruge, in Belgium, and were ordered to cross the Leopold canal at Moerirke. It was known that the Germans were preparing to defend the south shore of the Schelde from positions along the canal, but the enemy strength had to be determined in this area which later became known as the Schelde pocket.

Crossed Leopold.

On Sept. 14, the Algonquins crossed the Leopold canal, which at Moerirke consists of two stretches of water, each 150 feet wide, with a narrow island between. As soon as the regiment hit the opposite bank, German fire beat down on them. For hours they endured intense mortar and shell fire and counter-attacks were made against their bridgehead.

The Algonquins estimate they wiped out about a battalion of Germans. They were fighting troops of the 64th German division and this foray over the canal proved that the pocket was strongly held. It was the information that army headquarters wanted but the Algonquins had to fight masses of the 64th to get it.

From the Leopold the regiment moved east and fighting through flooded country captured the towns of Phillipine and Isabell in the strip of Holland south of the Schelde.

While other Canadian troops carried out the big attack on the Schelde pocket to destroy the 64th division, the Algonquins were ordered to an area north of Antwerp for the operation to drive the enemy from southwest Holland.

They were attacked with Canadian infantry and tanks on Oct. 20, with their objective the town of Esschen. First they cleared a dense woods and a German training area which was being strongly defended. For eight hours the Algonquins fought from slit trench to slit trench and then pushed ont to Ess-trench and then pushed on to Essthe Lincoln and Welland regiment which carried them into the town. The Colonel, lugging his favorite weapon—an American carbine—led his men into Esschen.

In that night attack through the fields, the Algonquins had to cut 43 barbed wire fences, wade at least nine streams and plough through heavy mud. All this was done with the battalion strung out in single file, Indian fashion.

Inside Esschen, the regiment was subjected to terrific shelling from enemy self-propelled guns. Some mathematically-minded officer calculated that 600 shells were fired at short range into the town until it was knocked flat. Miraculously the Algonquins' casualties were not heavy.

War Bride Suffers Wound Delivering Despatches

Bright and smiling, and carrying as a "souvenir" a piece of shrapnel which lodged in her knee during an air raid in England while she was delivering an important dispatch, a Scottish war bride, Mrs. N J. Marsden, has arrived in Peterborough. Mrs. Marsden, whose husband, Pte. N. J. Marsden is serving in Belgium, was a special dispatch rider before her marriage, and has come to Canada to stay with her husband's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Marsden, St. James street, until her husband returns.

A member of the WR.N.S., Mrs. Marsden delivered secret and important dispatches which the command would not trust to the radio, and often made long trips on her motorcycle to get a message to its destination in record time. She remembers one trip that took her 22 hours, stopping only for meals, and says that messages always travelled as quickly as possible, the riders taking only brief respite while on a mission.

She got her little 'souvenir' while taking a dispatch through southern England while a raid was in progress. Explaining that riders were permitted to take shelter during a raid, she said that nevertheless she elected to continue and get the message through, and had just arrived at her destination when the shrapnel lodged in her knee. She pulled it out, but in so doing ripped the flesh quite badly, and spent three weeks in a hospital, and still bears quite a deep scar a memento if that trip.

Previous Training

Before Peterborough girls decide to travel to Great Britain en masse, and become dispatch riders, it must be explained that Mrs. Marsden knew how to drive a car and a motorcycle before she enlisted, and thus was able to put that knowledge to good use. Besides going to Skerry College in Edinburgh and learning to handle a typewriter and take dictation, she found time to become junior tennis champion of Scotland, indulge in a good deal of swimming, her other favorite sport, and travel throughout England and Scotland.

Formerly Agnes Vincent, Mrs. Marsden is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. I. Vincent, of Livingstone Station, Mid-Calder, Scotland. When queried as to the exact location of Livingstone Station, "in the north, central, or southern section of Scotland", she explained that there were only two territorial divisions in Scotland, the highlands and the lowlands, and her home town was situated in the latter. Her father, a motor mechanic, has been to the United States and Canada, and described the country to her, so that she did not feel quite so strange coming to a new land. However, she adds, with a smile, "I don't know what you do with all the country you have".

Speaking of her trip to Canada, she said that it was quite uneventful, and was proud of the fact that she had not gotten seasick. On the ship, she met Mrs. G. McQuarrie, who also came to Peterborough, and they were in the same cabin together. As have all the brides who have come across to Canada, Mrs. Marsden was filled with admiration for the excellent work of the Red Cross, and the Canadian Army. At the ports of embarkation and debarkation and in Montreal, Red Cross workers were always on hand to help and advise, and aided greatly in taking away that "lost" feeling that invariably turns up when one is far away from home and friends.

So Much Food

Also in the pattern of her predecessors Mrs. Marsden is thrilled to be able to walk into a store and order stockings without surrendering any coupons. The large displays of food also amazed her, but said that "over there" people didn't mind going without many delicacies, since they knew ships were being used for vital materials of war. However, the sight of a banana the other evening nearly upset her equilibrium, and the abundance of other fruit seemed a little unreal.

Pte. Marsden met his bride-to-be while both were on leave in Edinburgh. After their marriage in May, 1943, Mrs. Marsden received her discharge from the W.R.N.S, and went to England with her husband. While living there, she met several well - known Peterborough men, who were in the same unit as Pte. Marsden. Among them were Capt. R.T.F. Brain, Capt. Athol Stewart, Fred Lockhart, and Hugh Davidson, and she got a copy of the Examiner to send the pictures of the recent investitures of Capt. Brain and R.S.M. Lockhart to her husband.

When asked about the celebration of Christmas in Scotland she said that Christmas was more for the children, and the New Year's was the big holiday there. In England, however, they mark Christmas as the holiday, much the same as Canadians do. Speaking of her home town, she said that in the centre of the village was a big oak tree, which in addition to being the town bulletin board, served as the dividing line among three counties. She also told a story about the old inn, where Cromwell is said to have slept. "They also claim he took a bath, and show the old iron bathtub as evidence", she laughs, "but no one has been able to prove it."

With two brothers now serving in the Royal Navy, and another in the Army, while a fourth gave his life in his country's service early in the war, Mrs. Marsden, in spite of her cheery ways, fully realizes the tragedy of war. However, smiling and confident, she is settling down to prepare herself to take charge of her home when Pte. Marsden returns.

Pravda Eulogizes Allied Prowess

MOSCOW, Dec. 2—(AP)—Pravda saluted the first anniversary of the Teheran conference today with eulogies of Allied military prowess and friendship and said all Nazi attempts to break the Soviet-British-American alliance had failed.

But at the same time the Communist party organ said that some Hitlerite sympathizers were still active in neutral countries and even in Britain and the United States.

"Remnants of fifth columns and collaborationists with Hitlerite Germany change their colors, yet act in the latter's interest," Pravda declared.

The newspaper said that the Germans received hopefully "different plans looking toward restoration of pre-war combinations and attempts to obtain a lenient attitude toward the aggressors and designs for a return to the old order, from which Hitler's new order originated and which is so dangerous for freedom loving people."

245,000 Casualties

NEW YORK, Dec. 2—(CP)—A Polish Telegraph Agency dispatch from London said yesterday that the Poles had suffered 245,000 casualties in killed and wounded in fighting against the Germans since 1939. The figures do not include recent actions in France and Holland and the merchant marine.

Mrs. Roberts had been returning home from a visit at Bangor, Me.

Bishop Lyons Inducts New Rector At Marmora Service

MARMORA., Dec. 2 (ENS)—Despite the weather, St. Paul's Anglican church was filled Thursday evening for the induction and institution of the new rector, Rev. John Murray Brownlie, L.Th., S.Th., by the Lord Bishop of the Diocese, assisted by Rural Dean W. J. Robinson of Tweed and Rev. C. C. Brazill, rector of Stirling.

Owing to heavy roads occasioned by the snowstorm Very Rev. Seeley, Dean of Ontario, who was to have been the special preacher, could not proceed on his way to Marmora further than Deseronto. Bishop Lyons took his place in the pulpit and gave an inspiring address from the text comprising the great commission of Christ, "Go ye into all the world" as given in St. Matthew's gospel.

The service was marked with an innovation hoped for by parishioners for years past, the choir wore vestments, which were made by members of St. Paul's Ladies' Guild within the past two weeks, and entered and left the church in processional and recessional for the first time in the seventy years' history of the church.

The Bishop spoke words of congratulation to the parish for this and other accomplishments of the past few months, preceding his address. During the offertory a quartette, Mr. and Mrs. L. R. Rundle, Mrs. P. Gray and Mrs. I. B. Nichol sang "Living For Jesus." Following the service, parishioners adjourned to the town hall for a pleasing reception at which the Bishop, the Rector and others expressed felicitations, and refreshments were served.

The Goodyear Research Laboratory, dedicated to scientific research, is believed to be the finest laboratory for its purpose in the world.

This is a Goodyear Synthetic Rubber Tire!

Goodyear dealers have it . . . for eligible drivers only. It is the result of Goodyear's forty years' experience in tire-building plus Goodyear's specialized knowledge of synthetic rubber . . . gained through unceasing research and testing.

Out of Goodyear Research...

...A RUBBER LIFERAFT ...A BULLET-SEAL "GAS" TANK

...MANY SECRET DEVELOPMENTS OF WIDE POSTWAR USEFULNESS

...AND A CONTINUOUS STREAM OF TIRE IMPROVEMENTS!

Since its foundation, at the turn of the century, Goodyear has carried on with relentless energy its quest for improvement in the making and application of better rubber products.

In the Goodyear Research Laboratory, skilled chemists and engineers with "shirt sleeve" imaginations, utilize all the skill, all the experience, all the knowledge Goodyear has acquired through more than forty years of working with rubber.

There is no waiting for the results of Goodyear research. Ideas and improvements, created by need, become practical realities in the laboratory. Then, tested and proven, in day to day service . . . they are incorporated into modern Goodyear products.

Spurred by war, many history-making products, born of Goodyear research, are serving the fighting forces of the United Nations. Some of these are illustrated below, some must remain secret until another day.

During the years that have passed, many Goodyear discoveries have been adopted as standard in the tire building field. During these years tire performance has improved immeasurably . . . tire costs have consistently reduced.

Goodyear continually reaches ahead of tomorrow to provide the best for you today. That is one reason why there was no delay in utilizing synthetic rubber to meet the needs of wartime. Goodyear was ready when the need arose. Long ago Goodyear discovered how to use this new material.

In today's Goodyear Synthetic Rubber Tire you get all the benefits that Goodyear skill and experience can put into a modern tire. If you are eligible for new tires . . . Goodyear is your best buy.

Allies Sweep Across Saar River

British Drive Into Venlo Suburbs; Saarlautern Entered

By JAMES M. LONG
Associated Press tSaff Writer.

PARIS, Dec. 4 — (AP). — Third Army troops and tanks cleared all of Saarlautern west of the Saar River to-day and poured across the captured bridge under shellfire from Siegfried Line guns to deepen their wedge into the section of the city east of the stream.

For 16 unbroken miles northwest of Merzig, the Americans stood on the west bank of the barrier river. Progress continued, it was said officially, but details were withheld.

At the northern end of the front, the British 2nd Army advanced a mile into the western suburbs of Venlo and completed mopping up the German bridgehead west of the Maas River in that corner of Holland. The Nazis destroyed the Maas Bridge last week, and the Tommies reached its ruined entrance to-day.

First Canadian Army troops continued their patrol activity east of Nijmegen.

Meanwhile the Germans reflected their rising alarm at the Allied menace to the rich Saar arsenal with a succession of counter-attacks against the Americans. None was in great force and none won back an inch of the cratered battlefield. The reaction, however, underlined the likelihood that the Germans would lash out from their Siegfried Line defences with the fullest force possible in an attempt to plug the Saarlautern Gap. Siegfried Line artillery concentrated on the captured and intact bridge inside Saarlautern, second city of the Saarland.

The U.S. 9th Army still battled for the sportground on the wes-

Reds Capture Miskolc Rail Centre

Move 11 Miles Closer To Austrian Border

LONDON, Dec. 4—(CP)—Russian troops smashed ahead in Southwestern Hungary today within 72 miles of the Austrian frontier, and cracked strong enemy defences along the Slovakian border with the capture of Miskolc and Satoraljaujhely.

A German broadcast early today said a major Russian force had reached the area of Lake Balaton, 60 miles southwest of Budapest and at some points on the far shore only 45 miles from the Austrian border.

Miskolc, a vital military supply centre for German and Hungarian armies, fell yesterday to Marshal Rodion Y. Malinovsky's 2nd Ukrainian Army, elements of which joined with Gen. Ivan Petrov's 4th Ukrainian Army in taking by storm the communications junction of Satoraljaujhely, 45 miles to the northeast. Miskolc is 85 miles from Budapest and was bitterly defended by the Germans for several weeks.

In the drive west of the Danube toward the Austrian frontier, Marshal Feodor I. Tolbukhin's 3rd Ukraine Army captured Tamasi, 21 miles south of Lake Balaton, in an 11-mile advance, and seized Kaposmero, in the closest approach to Austria.

These forces also drove northward 5½ miles along the west bank of the Danube, capturing Dunafoldvar, 43 miles south of Budapest, in a push to take the Hungarian capital from the rear.

The sweeping gains of Tolbukhin's army engulfed more than 80 places in a steadily expanding front south of Lake Balaton, guardian of strategic approaches to Austria, and won for him a 36-mile stranglehold on the Budapest-Zagreb-Trieste railway connecting German defenders of Budapest with German forces in Yugoslavia and Northern Italy.

21,745 Prisoners

The Russians also were within 36 miles of Nagykanizsa, junction of another major railway line between Budapest and Zagreb.

In addition to capturing Miskolc, Malinovsky's troops seized Homrogd, 11 miles to the northeast, and the Societ communique said they took 21,745 German and Hungarian prisoners in the fighting along that front from Nov. 8 through Saturday.

The fall of Satoraljaujhely strengthened the junction of the two great Russian armies, while to the north Petrov's troops increased pressure on the Slovakian communications centre of Kassa (Kosice) prime objective of the sweep west from Ungvar. Celovce, 17½ miles southeast of Kassa, was taken. Farther north his troops were within 15

Denies Smythe Yarn

TORONTO, Dec. —(CP).— Leslie Roberts, Canadian writer who has just returned from a visit to the Western front, said in an address last night that Major Conn Smythe's charges that Canadian Army reinforcements lacked training were "perhaps the most light-headed statements made by any Canadian during the course of the war."

"Our troops, who fought through Normandy, Falaise and Caen, require no bill of health from me or anybody else," he said. They were the key troops in clearing the Scheldt Estuary.

"Eisenhower and Montgomery don't put green troops in tricky spots or tough jobs such as these. They put Canadians there because they are the finest fighters on the face of the earth."

Blame Leftists for Strike Guerillas Raid Two Barracks

ATHENS, Dec. 4 — (AP). — Gen. Catsotas, acting military governor of Athens, gave armed formations of the Leftist E.A.M. 72 hours notice today to quit the areas as a consequence of Sunday's violent clashes. Twenty-one persons were killed and 140 injured in the clashes with police yesterday. A general strike ordered by the E.A.M. had the Greek capital in a tense grip today.

Numerous incidents developed into night-long shooting last night. The E.L.A., the armed formations of the E.A.M., raided two government police barracks at Piraeus, the port of Athens. The streets of Pireaeus were filled with striking dock workers armed with staves, knives, sticks and a few firearms. They were parading and shouting slogans.

Apparently unorganized formations had taken up positions in air raid trenches with machine-guns and had posted themselves in other points of vantage.

A semi-private war between the E.L.A.S. and Royalist bands raged in the Thesseum district of the capital.

E.L.A.S. besiegers worked their way over the top of Philoppos Hill back of the Thesseum, which is near the Acropolis, this morning. From this position they were firing down into the Thesseum quarter, which faced attack from three sides. The sound of rifle and machine-gun fire could be heard almost continuously.

British Move In

British troops surrounded and disarmed a column of 800 E.L.A.S. marching on Athens from the Thebes district last night without a shot being fired, headquarters of Maj.-Gen. R. M. Scobie, British commander in Greece, announced.

Another band of 1,200 was disarmed by a British patrol north of Athens and the "officers and men put in confinement," the official Greek New Service reported.

The first courts martial were put into operation today under newly proclaimed martial law.

Catsotas ordered the Elas who seized the Piraeus barracks to withdraw from the buildings or take the consequences.

British troops in trucks were stationed at several strategic points in Piraeus. The first British casualty was a Royal Navy rating who was shot in the hip while riding from barracks to naval headquarters in Piraeus

Drastic Action

Catsotas' order to the E.L.A.S. to quit the Athens area of Attica province and the immediate surroundings, said any of the E.A.M.'s militia attempting to enter the Athens city zone would be "treated as enemies" after midnight Dec. 6.

Elas outside the specified boundary were ordered not to move. From 4 p.m. today any move by the E.A.M. military forces by day or night will be considered a hostile act and will be followed by sharp official measures, it was understood.

Meanwhile Premier George Papandreou, whose efforts to bring about disarmament of the E.A.M. precipitated the crisis, and several members of his cabinet conferred in the heavily guarded Hotel Grande Bretange.

British-supported Premier George Papandreou charged the E.A.M. faction with deliberately fomenting civil war out of the struggle to disarm the E.I.A.S., the armed resistance formations of the Leftist E.A.M.

Australian Analyses Political Crisis Claims Conservatives Precipitated Action

SYDNEY, Australia, Dec. 4 — (CP. Cable). — The Sydney Sun yesterday published a dispatch from its special correspondent in Ottawa, saying that "after days of trigger tension Canada's political crisis on overseas conscription reached its climax this (last) week and is now easing."

The article, headlined: "Why they burned the flag in Canada," said: "Some claim that conscriptionist elements centring in the Progressive Conservative party, the press and, to some extent, the officer class, precipitated the crisis to destroy Prime Minister Mackenzie King's government. Others are convinced there was no other way of providing the needed infantry reinforcements for the army at a critical stage of the western offensive.

"The most serious cleavage between Quebec and the other provinces threatened when French-speaking army draftees burned the Union Jack in half-a-dozen Quebec towns. Officers nipped one demonstration in the bud at Vernon in British Columbia by reading a section of the King's regulations providing life imprisonment for mutiny or rioting. This menace of violence, proving Mr. Mackenzie King's contention that national unity is at stake, had a sobering influence on overheated emotions."

5 Rail Arteries Smashed In Widespread Air Attacks

LONDON, Dec. 4—(CP).—Five rail arteries feeding supplies to German frontlines were smashed today by 1,200 American heavy bombers, escorted deep into western Germany by more than 1,000 fighters. Headquarters of the United States strategic air forces in Europe said railroad yards and adjacent industrial installations at Kassel, Mainz, Giessen, Soest and Bebra were the targets of the heavy attack by British-based bombers of the U.S. 8th Air Force.

First groups returning reported German fighters failed to molest the bomber formations. Heavy cloud obscured the target areas and bombing was by instrument.

Only one of the yards is on the Decision On Reserve Army Expected In Commons Soon

By JACK BRAYLEY—Canadian Press Staff Writer

OTTAWA, Dec. 4—(CP).—The fate of the reserve army—Canada's part-time home guard—may be decided today by an answer expected to be given in the House of Commons. On Friday, Prime Minister Mackenzie King promised Gordon Graydon, Progressive Conservative House leader, he would consult the Defence Ministry and try to have an answer today on Mr. Graydon's question as to what was to become of the reserve army.

Mr. Graydon said the army of citizen volunteers—made up of 100,000 youths, veterans and essential war workers who drill twice a week and usually toil at week-end schemes—would like to hear "a definite and clear-cut statement of policy."

He added that attendance was tapering off and there was a general feeling of uncertainty among officers and men regarding the place the home army was to take in the future.

Enthusiasm High.

However, there still is a great deal of enthusiasm for the "drill nights" and week-end bivouacs and the camaraderie they instill, especially among youths too young to go into the active army and just "out of cadets" and First Great War veterans, who form a large part of the officer and non-commissioned officer group. The army is directed by an administrative group of full-time paid personnel.

An important second objective of the army is to graduate volunteer recruits into the active army and most of its battalions are reserve groups of overseas units. While no figures are available, an officer made a rough estimate that more than 50,000 reserve army men had "gone active" since the start of the war. Several famous battalions active overseas are said to have received a large proportion of their reinforcements from this source.

Among the reports circulating in reserve army circles is that Maj.-Gen. Fred R. Phelan, its stubby, energetic director-general, is anxious

Canadians Hold Quietest Front

WITH THE 1ST CANADIAN ARMY IN HOLLAND, Nov. 3.—(CP Cable.)—December finds the 1st Canadian army holding a static front.

It is the quietest front of any Allied army in western Europe and the least interesting. At Army Headquarters they tell you two days out of three there is "nothing to report" and at Battalion Headquarters where the war is more personal you heard "just patrolling."

Yet for all its quietness this is an important front.

Farther west the Maas river separates German and Allied troops and this flooded, swift-flowing river is a barrier to anything but small-scale patrolling.

Land Contact.

But in the Nijmegen salient there is land contact between the Germans and Canadians. In patrolling here on this front there are tangles with the Germans every night, never in much strength but frequently enough to keep the night alive with machine-gun and mortar fire.

Lieut. L. A. Lavoie of Matane, Que., whose French-speaking regiment from Quebec province claims the disinction of being the first Canadian formation to enter Germany in this war, led a typical patrol a few nights ago.

(A dispatch last week from Maurice Desjardins, Canadian Press war correspondent, identified this unit as Le Regiment de la Chaudiere of Lake Megantic, Que.)

The object of the patrol was to capture a prisoner.

Lavoie's platoon went out from woods into flat flooded country below and made for a dike the Germans were believed holding. They crossed a canal in rubber reconnaissance boats, stirred up three Germans behind the dike with grenades, killed two and captured the other.

Peterboro Gets Keen Attention

By The Canadian Press

Voters in many Ontario municipalities went to the polls to-day to choose their civic representatives for 1945 and to vote on money by-laws, but in most cases early indications were that the vote will be light. Weather is reported favorable in almost every entre although in London deep snowdrifts left by a ?-inch fall of snow last Friday were blamed for keeping many electors from casting their ballots.

Interest in the election is keen at Hamilton and Peterborough where the mayors were returned by acclamation with major money by-laws up for consideration. At Hamilton, where Mayor Sam Lawrence was returned without oppostiion for a second term, interest centred on a Parks Board by-law calling for expenditure of $1,500,000 on parks improvements and erection of a memorial auditorium. Another by-law calls for expenditure of $2,600,000 for hospital additions.

At Peterborough where Mayor James Hamilton received his seventh acclamation, one money by-law calls for a civic contribution of $600,000 towards a $1,400,000 Memorial Hospital and for a $75,000 debenture issue to assist in building a Memorial and Health Centre for which a canvass earlier in the year raised $205,000. A referendum is also being taken on granting the City Trust Commission permission to contribute $300,000 of its surplus funds to the proposed Civic Hospital.

Canadian House Must Amend Act To Prolong Life

By R. K. CARNEGIE
Canadian Press Staff Writer

OTTAWA, Dec. 4 — (CP). — Possibility that the life of the House of Commons may be extended beyond the statutory date of next April 16 centres attention on the procedure that would have to be followed.

A Commons official explained today that to extend the life of the Canadian parliament an amendment would have to be made by the British parliament to clause 50 of the British North America Act.

This clause limits the life of the Canadian House to five years from the return of writs of the last general election. The five-year period will be up next April 16.

As the Canadian parliament cannot amend the B.N.A. Act, the procedure required is for a joint address from the Senate and the Commons to the King asking him to have his parliament of the United Kingdom — the parliament which passed the original act — pass the amendment.

Same in 1916

The only occasion when the life of the Canadian Commons was so extended was in 1916, when it was continued for one year. At that time the desired amendment was drafted in Ottawa and passed at Westminster as drafted.

The same procedure has been followed in several other amendments which from time to time have been made in the B.N.A. Act.

Meanwhile, the Commons and the Senate reconvene today follow-

France Seeks Rhine Frontier

LONDON Dec. 4—(CP).—The Paris radio said today that Gen. De Gaulle, now in Moscow, is believed to be discussing with Premier Stalin France's desire for a frontier on the Rhine after the war.

"It is safe to assume," the broadcast added, that Mr. Stalin will not oppose this desire.

Plans for French participation in the military occupation of Germany also are believed on the agenda for the Moscow talks, the Paris radio said.

Dispatches from Moscow last night said Gen. De Gaulle had his second meeting with Mr. Stalin at a long luncheon yesterday and declared the talks already had assured the basis for far-reaching French-Soviet understanding and collaboration.

Japs Threatening China's Lifeline

CHUNGKING, Dec. 4 (AP) — Japanese troops have penetrated 35 miles inside Kweichow province and today were battling Chinese defenders seven miles west of Tushan, only 75 miles southeast of Kweiyang, strategic Burma Road town and capital of Kweichow.

Associated Press Correspondent Clyde Farnsworth, writing from Kunming, said it was quite possible the Japanese, aiming at least for Kweiyang, would also strike for Kunming and Chungking in an attempt to offset the prospective opening of the Ledo-Burma Road from India.

He said the Americans may be forced to take extraordinary measures to save a tremendous military investment, declaring the Japanese already had neutralized partially the value of the Ledo-Burma Road by their offensive in the southwest against Chinese troops who were ultimately to be equipped with material sent in over that supply line.

British 8th Gains 5 Miles

By WILLIAM BOSS
Canadian Press War Correspondent

WITH THE CANADIAN CORPS ON THE ADRIATIC FRONT, Dec. 4 (CP-Cable) — Intensification of British 8th Army operations southwest of the Adriatic sector town of Ravenna between the Lamone and Montone Rivers resulted in gains of almost five miles during the week-end.

To the vigorous contact maintained previously was added an aggressive note Saturday as troops crossed the Montone behind their own forward positions and worked their way along the river bank to a point south of Russi, a junction city astride the Ravenna-Faenza highway and nine miles southwest of Ravenna, preparatory to fanning out.

(This dispatch did not identify the troops which crossed the Montone. Canadian troops were operating in the coastal sector south of Ravenna but have not been reported in action since Nov. 10.)

Once the deployment south of Russi began other infantrymen got a foothold across the wide river still farther up, taking over exploitation along the river bank and relieving units there for work inland. Extension of this small perimeter was carried out Saturday with air support until by nightfall gains up to 4,000 yards had been registered and the troops were less than two miles from Russi. Progress continued yesterday.

21st Army Group Takes 200,000 Prisoners

AT 21ST ARMY GROUP HEADQUARTERS, Dec. 4 (CP-Reuter) — The 21st Army group, which includes the 1st Canadian Army, has taken more than 200,000 prisoners in the fighting from the Normandy landings up to Dec. 2, it was announced today.

The total comprised 3,345 officers and 19,782 other ranks.

The 1st Canadian Army has taken 1,986 officers and 100,455 other ranks. In the last week, however, when Canadian action was confined to patrolling, prisoners totalled only three.

The British 2nd Army has taken 1,359 officers and 99,327 other ranks. In the last week this army captured two officers and 387 other ranks.

Civil War Flares In Many Countries

New Political Era Being Influenced By Leftist Elements

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
Associated Press War Analyst

The closer Europe gets to the end of the war, the more widespread and violent becomes the political upheaval—the struggle between the left and the right—of which the bloody week-end demonstration in Athens is symptomatic.

We shall do well to recognize that the war is ushering a new political and social epoch into Europe The war isn't the cause of this historic turn-over, but it's facilitating it vastly.

Little Greece of course is only one of the many Continental Countries which are in the throes of this politico-social change. In greater or less degree we see it in Italy, Yugoslavia, Rumania, Bulgaria, Poland, Finland, France and Belgium.

We find it, too, hovering again over Spain in the form of a renewed challenge by the Republicans to the Franco regime which came to power through one of the most terrible civil wars of history. Hungary also is in the midst of internal strife which would be quite apparent to the outside world but for the fact that the Germans are using the country as a base from which to stand off the onrushing Red armies.

In several countries the question of a monarchy is involved and the way it looks from here several more crowns will be under glass cases in museums by the time Europe has passed this cataclysm. The monarchial form of government is under challenge in Greece, Bulgaria, Yugoslavia, Rumania, Italy and Belgium. It also is an issue in both Spain and Hungary, for Gen. Franco has been dallying with the idea of restoring the throne, and Hungary never has abolished the monarchy but has been operating under a regency.

Greek Clash Bloody

The bloody Greek clash would have had less significance in connection with the European trend had it represented an isolated instance, for the Greeks are fiery in their politics, but the past few days have been similar outbursts. There has been street fighting between political groups in both Rome and Brussels, where the governments are having tough going in the face of the left's opposition.

I think we can put all this down as just the beginning of the European political convulsion. The ending of the war will remove restraint in most of the countries and give full rein to the fight between the left and the right. The continent will indeed be lucky if it isn't the seat of widespread civil wars.

Draftees In Brief Battle

Fort Frances Sees New Flare-Up

FORT FRANCES, Ont., Dec. 4—(CP).—Home defence troops of the Canadian Army clashed wtih service men and townfolk for three hours here Saturday night and six persons were injured, including some of the home defence men. One person is believed to be in hospital.

Police to-day refused to give any report on the incident.

The clash was said to have culminated from a week of tension while the home defence men were employed near here on railroad work. They were visiting town awaiting departure for Shilo Camp, Man., Sunday morning.

Clashes were said to have started at 11 p.m. while the men wandered through the town. Returned men of the present and First Great War, airmen and sailors on leave fought the home defence troops in front of a hotel, in a cafe and in the Canadian National Railways depot. Approximately 200 people witnessed the flare-up in front of the hotel.

Sailors and airmen as well as the home defence troops were reported to have been armed with weapons One injured man said he had been hit by a black jack.

Some witnesses said some persons in the crowd called the home defence troops "Germans" and "saboteurs."

Aviation Delegates Weary

Convention May Last Another Week

By C. R. BLACKBURN
Canadian Press Staff Writer

CHICAGO, Dec. 4—(CP).—Draft conventions providing a permanent international air organization with limited power, and an interim organization with similar powers, along with a number of separate agreements offering varying degrees of air freedoms, are being studied here today.

Plenary sessions of the Internation Civil Aviation conference of 54 countries, now in its 34th day, are expected to reach decisions on the extent to which these documents will be accepted.

Weary delegates who have struggled through the weeks trying to reach a composite accord to which all could assent are expected to make their selections from the assortment of agreements open to them and leave for home Tuesday or Wednesday.

But there may be a last-minute effort to resume attempts to reconcile the United States' stand for open competition in the world's airways with the British stand for strict control of routes and frequencies.

If such an attempt is made and succeeds it will prolong the conference another week or 10 days.

Tokyo Raided 4th Time In Daylight

Industrial Section Left In Ruins Plane Plant Hit

SAIPAN, Dec. 4 — (AP).— Industrial Tokyo lay in fresh ruins and flame to-day in the wake of the fourth thunderous bombing raid—and the most successful— by Superfortresses based on Saipan.

A sizeable force of B29's, striking in mid-afternoon yesterday, found the Tokyo area clearly outlined in sunlight, and for 1½ hours unloaded their bombs with pin-point accuracy, despite intense ack-ack and swarms of interceptors.

Results were good, said the 20th Air Force communique. One squadron reported 75 per cent of its bombs fell within the target area.

The prime objective was the Musashima engine factory of the expensive Nakajima aircraft plant, one of the enemy's top producers of military planes. The plant, built of one-storey concrete structures, was the target of the initial Tokyo B29 raid on November 24 when considerable damage was inflicted. Last squadrons to reach the target found large fires raging.

One Superfort was acknowledged lost.

(A Japanese communique claimed that 14 Superforts were shot down and seven more probably downed. It admitted six interceptors were lost, including several that were said to have made suicide crashes into the big raiders.)

The U.S. communique said the late formations over Tokyo knocked down four fighters for sure and probably eight others.

Admiral Nimitz announced at Pearl Harbor, meantime, that Army Liberators on Thursday corried out their fifth raid in four days on Iwo Jima in the Volcano Islands, which lie athwart the aerial route from Saipan and Tokyo. More than 57 tons of bombs were dropped on Iwo Jima's airstrip and other installations.

Japanese raids against the 21st Bomber Command Headquarters at Saipan have been launched from Iwo Jima since November 26.

OBITUARIES

MRS. A. E. PARK

After a brief illness, Mrs. Albert E. Park, formerly Muriel Sanbach, Lot 20, Concession 7, Cavan, passed away Sunday in Nicholls Hospital, in her 21st year. Mrs. Park's husband, Trooper Albert Edwin Park, is serving overseas with the Armoured Corps.

Mrs. Park has lived in Peterborough for 16 years. The daughter of John W. Sanbach and Laura M. Smith, she lived in Preeceville, Saskatchewan, before coming to this city.

A member of the Anglican Church, she leaves to mourn her loss her husband, her parents, a son, George, three sisters, Mrs. R. Ferguson of Fraserville, May, Margaret, both of Fraserville, and two brothers, Godfrey and Edwin, also of Fraserville.

The funeral will be held Tuesday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock from the funeral home of A. Comstock and Sons, 305 Water street, and burial will be in Little Lake Cemetery. Rev. T. H. Floyd, formerly of St. John's Anglican Church here, but now serving with the armed forces, will conduct the service.

MRS. D. BUCHANAN.

NORWOOD, Dec. 4—(ENS).—The funeral took place on Friday afternoon of Mrs. D. Buchanan at her late residence.

Mrs. Buchanan was a life-long resident of this community and was an active member of the Presbyterian Church.

She is survived by her husband; three daughters: Mrs. Roy Scott, Mrs. Roy Brown and Mrs. S. McMillan of Norwood, and one son Clayton at home.

Rev. J. Davey officiated at the service, and interment was in Norwood Cemetery.

Pall-bearers were: H. Williamson, Ralph Cuthbertson, Malcolm Sloane, William Sedgwick, Cecil Cuthbertson and Leonard Sedgwick.

Relax Regulations

OTTAWA, Dec. 4 —(CP)—Munitions Minister Howe announced today that limited relaxation on bus restrictions in certain areas will be permitted because continuing shortages of gasoline, tires and motor cars are increasing demands on public transit facilities.

Mr. Howe did not say what services would be effected, but said instructions regarding them would be issued shortly to the bus operators through transit control regional offices.

He said the relaxation of restrictions would be limited by the shortage of gasoline and natural rubber needed for heavy tires.

What causes NEURITIS?

Like many other complaints, the cause may be simply lack of vitamins in the daily diet.

Many ailments, according to modern science, are not due to organic trouble, but to shortage of vitamins. At first, it was thought that lack of vitamin B1 was the cause of neuritis suffering. Now we know that all 5 vitamins are necessary, because each aids the other to function. You can now get them combined in "ALL-in-ONE" Vitamin Tablets (with valuable minerals and yeast added). Take daily for a month. See how much better you feel. Only $2.15 for a month's supply. At most drug stores.

Prices Higher On Industrials

TORONTO, Dec. 4—(CP).—Prices were higher this afternoon for industrials and base metals on Toronto Exchange. Golds and western oils were steady to lower. Trading was active with turnover totalling 450,000 shares.

Utility, steel and paper issues ruled higher and foods were down a bit. Montreal Power firmed ¾ and Canada Northern Power firmed 1¼ to 7.

Frobisher gained 25 cents, Giant 15 and gains of 5 to 10 cents were posted by Pioneer, Transcontinental Resources, Teck Hughes and Aumaque.

Steel Rock, Hudson Bay and Noranda were stronger base metals.

Big Military Convoy GoesThroughCobourg

COBOURG, Dec. 4 — (ENS) — A mile-long convoy of military vehicles proceeded through Cobourg on Saturday night. On arriving in Cobourg the convoy stopped on King street at the east end of the town while the drivers spent an hour in the stores. With local police clearing traffic the convoy got under way and sped out of town. The vehicles in the fore of the convoy had trap doors in the truck cab tops through which stood soldiers with flashlights who directed the vehicles behind until the entire convoy was moving.

ing the week-end adjournment to continue debate on the conscription issue.

In the Commons, Leonard Tremblay, Liberal member for Dorchester constituency in Quebec, will resume the debate, in which some 15 or more members wish to take part before the vote is taken on Prime Minister Mackenzie King's vote of confidence motion.

The Commons is expected to take the confidence vote on Tuesday or Wednesday, but in the meantime members are giving thought to the forecast made in the Senate Friday by Senator Norman Lambert (L-Ontario) that an extension of the life of Parliament is more likely than dissolution.

Prime Minister Mackenzie King has said on several occasions that he hopes to put off a general electinn until after the war and also that he is opposed to an extension of the life of Parliament which is scheduled to end on April 16 unless dissolved earlier.

Political circles on Parliment Hill figure that if the war lasts as long as now seems probable the Prime Minister will have to decide either to have another wartime election or agree to extending the life of Parliament.

Members spoken to do not think Mr. King would countenance leaving Canada without a House of Commons for any unnecessarily long period between dissolution and a general election. If he decided on dissolution he would want the election of a new House as soon as possible—approximately 58 days.

Law experts, who have been searching the statutes, find nothing to prevent the Government from dissolving Parliament or letting it expire April 16, issuing writs for a new election but putting off the election date until the following December or January. All a Government would have to provide against is the provision that the interval between the end of one session and the beginning of another not exceed 12 months. There would have to be a Parliament ready to meet by April 15, 1946.

The impression here is that Mr. King would be emphatic that if this Parliament is dissolved another must be elected in the shortest possible time and a member of his Cabinet expressed the same view.

Narcotic Tablets Found

TORONTO, Dec 4 (CP) — Police said last night they found 800 narcotic tablets in a Bay street Hotel room when they arrested Omar Guay, 33, of Hamilton and Drois Gibouer, 30, no address, on charges of illegal possession of drugs. Bail for each was set at $5,000.

Storms Restrict Leyte Action

GENERAL MacARTHUR'S HEADQUARTERS, Philippines, Dec. 4—(AP)—American airmen made wide-ranging stabs at enemy shipping and supply bases as Leyte Island's incessant storms limited ground activity to minor patrol clashes.

Fighter planes bombed Japanese supply bases at Valencia, about the middle of the Ormoc corridor, through which the U.S. 32nd division is driving.

Off the north coast of Borneo patrol planes sank two 1,000-ton freighters and probably sank another. In this area also Australia-based heavy bombers attacked an enemy convoy, sinking a 3,000-ton freighter with direct hits.

In the Saman Sea light naval units attacked a 4,000-ton vessel off Southern Masbate, inflicting some damage, and shot down one Japanese plane. Presumably the ship was attempting to land men or supplied or both on Leyte.

Fighter-escorted attack bombers blasted installations on Mindanao, in the southern Philippines, said a communique from Gen. MacArthur's Headquarters.

Uncertain weather and diminishing hours of daylight curtailed heavy bomber operations from Britain during the week-end but 1,000 fighter-bombers based in Belgium and France continued the Allied air offensive with a sharp Sunday punch on the left wing of the western front.

Brief morning sunshine brought out almost 100 German jet fighters yesterday but they withdrew before cannon-firing R.A.F. Tempests. One was shot down near Rheine, beyond the British 2nd Army sector.

More than 700 sorties were flown by the R.A.F. 2nd Tactical Air Force during the day. Eight locomotives were destroyed and railway road beds torn apart in 29 places.

One fighter-bomber operation was flown on the U.S. 3rd Army front, a dive-bombing attack on Zweibrucken, in the Saar basin east of Saarbrucken.

More than 200 sorties were flown in support of U.S. 1st and 9th Army troops attacking in the Julich and Duren areas, on the approaches to Cologne. One plane was lost.

British Mosquito bombers hammered objectives in western Germany last night without loss. The target cities were not identified.

Allied planes broke all records in the aerial offensive against Germany by dropping more than 114,700 tons of bombs during November, it was disclosed yesterday.

Britain-based bombers of the R.A.F. and R.C.A.F. accounted for 59,000 tons.

U.S. heavy bombers based in Britain accounted for 37,880 tons of this total and heavy bombers of the 15th Air Force stationed in Italy loosed the remaining 17,820 tons.

city. British tanks and armed parachutists patrolled the streets. Greek and British planes circled low.

Athens was without electricity, gas or communications.

The radio was out and the government was unable to communicate with the people. A survey of hospitals in the city showed that yesterday's riot toll was 21 dead and 150 injured and wounded.

Martial law has been declared in the city.

The strike had been threatened earlier by the Left Wing EAM (National Liberation Party) after Greek police forces fired yesterday on the crowds of EAM demonstration.

The developments, accompanied by a pitched battle between Royalists and EAM army members in an Athens suburb, intensified the crisis facing Papandreou who is attempting to reconstruct his cabinet following Saturday's resignation of six Leftist Ministers.

(In a broadcast to the Greek people recorded in London, Papandreou declared that Left-Wing leaders are "leading the country to civil war" and pleaded for unity to overcome the "mortal crisis" which he said was facing the state.)

In an attempt to prevent further violence the government last night imposed a curfew on Athens from 7 p.m. to 6 a.m.

The trouble began yesterday when Papandreou forbade an EAM demonstration called in protest against his government's edict that all guerillas be demobilized and disarmed—a decree that has brought about the resignation of the six Cabinet Ministers.

After Snuday morning's shooting British armored cars and tanks patrolled the streets while Greek Air Force and R.A.F. planes circled low over the city.

Although no British troops fired on the demonstrators, an increasing coolness towards the Britons was noticeable among Left-Wing supporters.

Leaflets were distributed among British soldiers urging them to disobey the orders of Maj.-Gen. R. M. Scobie, the British Commander in Greece.

Scobie posted an announcement throughout the city which said: "I reiterate that with the vast majority of Greeks I stand firmly behind the constitutional government and shall aid them to the limit of my resources until the Greek state can be re-established with lawful armed force behind it, and free elections held."

tern outskirts of Julich, Roer river bastion guarding Cologne and cities of the Ruhr. No crossing of the river into the main part of the town has been reported officially.

In Mountains.

The United States 1st Army pushed into the northern spurs of the Eifel mountains southeast of captured Brandenberg toward Bergstein. Anti-aircraft gunners of the First were credited with destroying 38 and probably shooting down 16 more of the 120 German planes strafing their lines Sunday.

All along the line, the Allies were fighting in either worsening weather or in weather which hardly could become worse.

In the south, rains were becoming general again and clouds hung heavily at tree top levels.

In Holland, British 2nd Army troops took part of Venio's suburbs west of the Maas river.

Other men of Field Marshal Montgomery's 21st Army Group encountered foot-deep floods in the Arnhem and Nijmegen area, opposite which the 1st Canadian Army has entered Germany within gunshot of the northern end of the Siegfried Line at Kleve.

Americans of the 1st and 9th Armies fought inside Julich and Linrich on the Roer River before Cologne and crept slowly and painfully toward the third bastion on that flooded stream, Duren.

Four towns went down before those armies yesterday in one of history's most violent battles of attrition. These were Inden, a battleground for a week although it had but 100 ruined houses; Lucherberg, Luchem and Brandenberg. The armies stood on the Roer for 20 miles but at no place had that river, 20 miles from Cologne at Duren, been crossed.

Some Home Guards

Third Army infantry fought deeper into venerable Saarlautern. Some of the Germans encountered beyond the Saar River in the eastern part of that city of 32,000 were members of the hastily-mustered home guards.

The fortifications of the Siegfried Line are just beyond Saarlautern and the Saar River is like a moat protecting the pillboxes, tank traps and artillery emplacements.

The Germans had blown four other bridges spanning the Saar between Saarlautern and Merzig to the northwest.

The 3rd was at the Saar on a 12-mile front. The battle was violent but the prize was immense. The Saar produces eight per cent of Germany's coal and 11 per cent. of her iron and is the third major centre of heavy industries in Germany after the Ruhr and Silesia.

Lt.-Gen. Patton's tanks and infantry continued attacks toward Saarbrucken, capital of the Saarland, and Sarregiemines on the frontier. The cities were eight and seven miles distant.

City Outflanked.

On his right flank, the 7th Army fought in the southwest edge of the major Lorraine communications and supply base of Hagenau, 31 miles southwest of Karlsruhe. A column eight miles to the northwest had outflanked the city.

Troops of the 7th also fought in the streets of Selestat, 25 miles southwest of cleaned-up Strasbourg, at the western edge of the Alsace plain.

The French rail town of Sarre Union was captured and troops advanced two miles east.

The 3rd Army bridgehead across the Saar in Saarlautern was solid and being expanded despite the heavy barrage laid down by the Siegfried Line artillery. The bridge coup apparently caught the Germans off balance.

On the critical Cologne front, 1st Army men, battling along the "super highway" from Aachen to Cologne, were 23 miles from the great but battered city of the Rhine, whence roads and rails fan out into the very heart of Germany.

The 1st Army poured on its power with gains which folded back German defences a mile yesterday on the whole arc west of Duren, a city of 39,000. The Inde river was crossed. Lucherberg is just north of the Superhighway. Beyond Luchem, the Americans pushed onto the concrete road. An advance beyond Brandenberg into a woodland carried within half a mile of the Roer.

Another River

Beyond the Roer, still to be negotiated, flows the Erft, which likewise must be crossed before Cologne and the Rhine are reached. South of Holland, the whole western front was greyed out with low clouds which negated air support.

But north and east of Nijmegen, near where 1st Canadian Army elements were reported holding a strip of enemy territory, rocket-firing fighters struck at enemy machine-gun and mortar positions and fighter-bombers hit enemy communications at Arnhem and Amersfoot and other Netherlands points.

Rain slackened on the U.S. 1st and 9th Army fronts and the ground hardened with frost, permitting increased use of tanks and mobile guns to add to the weight of American metal crushing at the dozen or so German divisions on the Roer.

Last reports from the 9th Army said the western outskirts of Julich were overrun and that fighting raged in the sports field on the west bank of the Roer just across the river from the main section of the fortress town. The Germans appeared determined to fight it out street by street, just as they had fought for every other town of their corroding Roer line.

British troops at Venlo were stamping out the last German toeholds on the west bank of the Maas. They crossed a 25-foot tank ditch under heavy artillery fire to cut into Venlo's outskirts.

The city of 27,600 lies in the great bend of the Maas and is a major railroad junction on lines to the Industrial Ruhr and Rhineland where 85 per cent of Germany's heavy industries once were located.

Fascists Desert German Forces

ROME, Dec. 4 — (CP) — German troops in the southeastern sector of the Po Valley were holding tenaciously to their positions south and southwest of Ravenna, against British 8th Army attacks, today's Allied communique said.

(The BBC said last night that British forces had by-passed Russi, junction city astride the main Ravenna-Faenza highway, but had come up against a new enemy defence line about 1,000 yards to the north.)

While the Britons remained locked in heavy fighting between the Montone and Lamone rivers northeast of Faenza, Allied 5th Army forces smashed fresh German counterattacks south of Bologna.

Simultaneously Allied Headquarters announced that Italian Fascist troops which the Germans began putting into the line a month ago have been deserting to Allied lines at the rate of 30 to more than 100 daily.

The Germans yesterday took advantage of the fog and rain and attacked American positions at Monte Belmonte and Bombina, in the central sector of the front. They suffered heavy losses when the attacks were broken up.

A few German bombers again appeared over 5th Army lines but caused neither damage nor casualties.

miles of Kassa.

Perhaps even more significant were the triumphs of Tolbukhin's army, which has been advancing at a rate of 10 to 20 miles a day south and southwest of Budapest.

The sustained successes of these forces gave rise to the hopes his drive would soon accomplish the three-fold tasks it faced when it breached the Danube a week ago: Storming Budapest from the rear; gaining the Austrian border in a strike due west, and cutting off escape routes from the southern Balkans by swinging along the Yugoslav frontier toward Zagreb.

to get back to his peacetime Montreal financial information agency. Other reports have said that if Gen. Phelan goes, his post will be abolished and the work absorbed by the chief of general staff, Lt.-Gen. John Murchie.

This would be part of a general army reorganization with the re-establishment of a non-permanent active militia, with emphasis on up-to-date training methods and equipment and real, tough army courses.

One thing seems certain: the reserve army will have plenty of the best equipment to draw from.

British Press Criticizes American Plan

LONDON, Dec. 4 — (CP). — The British press today sharply criticized the American attitude at the International Air Conference in Chicago. The general view was that so far the conference has been a failure.

Some papers saw the race for air supremacy after the war as already under way following the announcement of the United States air agreement with Spain.

The Times said the first lesson to be learned from the Chicago meeting "is the danger of supposing that complicated and contentious international issues can be settled by the simple application of some broad general principle like 'non-discrimination of freedom of the air'."

The Daily Herald said flatly "The air conference in Chicago is ending as it began—with America using a big stick."

The Daily Mail said that "only semi-freedom" of the air can be expected as a result of the Chicago meeting and predicted that Britain's air will be closed to commercial traffic from other nations "and opened by separate negotiations until the Commonwealth's ideal of international control of world air space is achieved."

The Daily Telegraph said "With the failure of the Chicago conference on Civil aviation after exactly one month's negotiation, a race for post-war supremacy in the air is threatened."

Trade Board Opposes Change In Highway

COBOURG, Dec. 4 — (ENS) — Port Hope Board of Trade in organizing opposition to the proposal of rural residents that the post-war highway along a course several miles further north than the present survey. Some weeks ago a deputation made up of Warden L. E. Kelley and township councillors, visited the Minister of Highways to request that the proposed highway, which would skirt the north end of Port Hope and Cobourg, be built north of the present survey, in order to better serve the rural areas. All urban municipalities along the lakeshore are opposing any change in the survey.

Expect D. J. Taylor

COBOURG, Dec. 4 — ENS). — D. J. Taylor, Deputy-Minister of the Department of Game and Fishtries, will attend the meeting to be held in the County Court Room on Tuesday night when a local fish and game association will be organized. The organization will be a link with the Northumberland and Durham Fish and Game Association, but will deal with local interests, such as fishing and shooting in the Rice Lake area. The initial meeting will be for the purpose of outlining the aims of such an organization and ascertaining the feeling of local sportsmen in regard to having such an association.

Ontario Club Boon To Canadian Troops

By FRANK LOWE
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON, Dec. 4 — (CP). — They've plumped a bit of Ontario flush on the outskirts of Piccadilly.

This bit of central Canadian hospitality is called the Ontario Services Club and it is the brightest, most attractive hostel for servicemen and women in this city. Its spirit lives up to its appearance.

Opened Sept. 12, the club is not quite completed yet but already is operating at top capacity with some 1,200 men and women in uniform using it daily while on week-ends this daily figure jumps to more than 1,500.

Built on a corner a block from teeming Piccadilly, it is one thing in the city you can't miss. Its gleaming white exterior with the big, display-room like windows, topped by a huge Ontario coat of arms, stands out like a Canadian accent in this city of old buildings with little glass.

Friendly Greeting.

Pushing open the swinging doors and stepping inside is a fast way to take a proxy trip home. Pretty girls of the Canadian Red Cross Corps greet you at the information desk. As you hang up your coat another tells you "have an apple, chum."

Chief attractions of the club to the Canadians weary of spam and sausages are the canteens and snack bars wheer the food is as close to what "ma used to cook" as rationing permits.

Lounges are provided with wide, floor-deep windows.

Off the main lounge is a library with some 600 books donated by English friends, looked after by two trained librarians.

Newest addition to the hostel is a room for Canadian servicewomen which will sleep 20 girls.

Heading the club is Mrs. Arthur Purvis of Montreal. Helping her is Mrs. R. S. Brown, Saint John, N. B., of the Canadian Red Cross Corps who heads the 44 Red Cross girls at the hostel.

Mrs. Brown says she "loves the work" and that the same thing goes for all the girls, too. It isn't necessary to take her word for it— her right hand woman, Miss L. E. Smallwood of Midland, Ont., agrees.

Two Arrested

HAMILTON, Dec. 4 (CP)—Provincial police said yesterday two men have been arrested in connection with the shooting of 28-year-old Arthur Sutherland who is in hospital in serious condition with a bullet lodged in his left lung. One man is held on a nominal charge of vagrancy and the other as a material witness.

The Visiting Clergyman

By B. T. RICHARDSON

CHICAGO—When Rev. Robert F. Schuler of Los Angeles was visiting Chicago the other day he walked along Michigan avenue north and happened to notice a sign which read: "Christian Action Movement." Thinking it was a religious movemen, he went in and found Lawrence (Lar) Daly in a small office. The minister asked for literature about the Christian Action organization, and Daly handed him some blanks in which to fill in his name, age, occupation, political affiliations and other personal information.

Rev. Mr. Schuler glanced through the literature. The first question was: "Are you a baptized Christian? If not, will you become one within 90 days after condition party membership is granted you?" Further down, the form asked: "To the best of your knowledge, have any of your eight great-grandparents had any strain of Jewish ancestry in them? Of Negro? Of Oriental strain Or any other strain which you think should be mentioned?"

There were 77 questions in all. When Rev. Mr. Schuler reached a question asking whether he possessed firearms, he became suspicions. The "If granted membership in the question went on: party, you might be called on sometime in the course of your party duties to engage in activities which might result in physical harm; it is possible that in pursuance of your party activities you might even lose your life. In view of such frank but honest presentation of facts, are you positive you still want to become a party member?"

Not feeling he would like to become a Chicago storm trooper, Rev. Mr. Schuler stuffed the literature in his pocket and turned to go. But Daly grappled with him and blocked his exit. The minister kicked out a window to attract attention. Daly laid a charge of malicious mischief against him, so the whole story came out in Chicago centre police station. Rev. Mr. Schuler appeared in court with a lawyer, and Daly almost came to blows with the lawyer. The minister was released by the magistrate. Ira Latimer, executive secretary of the Chicago Civil Liberties Union, said the Christ Action party was "anti-Semitic in tone." Daly said his movement, which he started himself, was not anti-Semitic but pro-Christian. If he can get 10,000 signatures, he can have his party recognized in Illinois and place candidates on the state voting ticket.

WITH THE BOY SCOUTS

Scouters Club

The monthly meeting of the Scouters Club is scheduled for Wednesday, December 13, but at present there has been no definite place named where members are going to meet. It was suggested that one of the groups should offer accommodation for this meeting but up to the present no place has been named. If the Scout headquarters is considered it must be prepared before the evening as the room has not been used for more than a year.

Home From Overseas

PO. Tom Hooper is back home after a short time overseas.

With St. Luke's

Members were sorry to learn that Akela Bill has been ordered to stay at home by his physician. But though Akela was missing the pack carried on as Larry Welsh led the opening grand howl and Raksha took the weekly inspection. Then games of "dizzyman's relay" and "cat and mouse" were played. Ken Pammett passed skipping tests and the white six came through with most points for the past month and the cup. The thoughts of everyone as Doug Baptie led the closing grand howl was that Akela will be well enough to be back at the next meeting.

Registration

Have you completed your registration yet? Remember that boys will be missing something if registration is not done by the end of this month.

At St. John's

It was a great pleasure for the pack to welcome one of their old leaders back for the evening when Raksha Baxter, now Akela Baxter of Ottawa came in to spend the evening. Akela Baxter took care of the inspection also took the Sixers and Seconders in a little chat, followed up with a game for the whole pack. The pack was honored with another visitor in Scouter McEwen from the local training centre. Scouter McEwen comes from Saskatoon and told the cubs a yarn at the red flower. Taking advantage of the visitors, several boys tried and were successful in passing some tests as follows:

Time—Max Sanders, Trevor Mitchell, Trevor Hawkins, Michael Craig. Compass—Bobby Burgess, David Bacon. Exercises — David Bacon. Collector's Badge—Michael Craig and Hooping by Trevor Hawkins. National Anthem—Trevor Mitchell, Michael Craig. The new 1945 catalogue were given out.

Time Marches On

This year of 1944 is slowly coming to an end and will soon be bringing in a new year. Can we, the scouts and cubs of Peterborough make up our minds to make the coming year, one of the best that scouting in this district has ever witnessed. We can, if we will only put our minds to it. Or in the words of the commissioner at the recent St. John's parents' night, "Keep the club and scout laws ever before you trying each day to live up to the promises you have made. In doing that, you will find that your characters will become straight." And along with that if we also do our best to keep the out in scouting, we will not fail those that have passed on but will keep the torch of faith ever bright."

Good hunting all.

Raymond Bradshaw Addresses Y.P.U.

ROSENEATH, Dec. 4.—(ENS). — "Christian Opinion in Community Life" was the topic of an address by Raymond Bradshaw at the weekly meeting of the Y.P.U. The address was presented in the form of a radio broadcast and open forum, with discussion on "Responsibility and Irresponsibility," "Accepting Loose Coupons," "Rationing," "Practising the Golden Rule," "Sunday Games," and "Irregular Church Attendance." Summed up the finding were: "Christians Must Influence Public Opinion by Example."

The meeting was held in the town hall and Douglas Coyle, president, was in the chair. It was announced the library books had arrived and will be in charge of Miss Jessie Johnson in her home.

Numbers presented included a vocal duet by Misses Betty McMillan and Doris Roberts; a reading, "A Soldier's Letter," by Miss Helen Weir, and a violin solo, "Handel's Largo," by Ambrose Atkinson, with piano accompaniment by Miss Betty Atkinson.

Europe's Need Aggravates Coal Situation

By JOHN DAUPHINEE,
Canadian Press Staff Writer.

LONDON, Dec. 4 —(CP) — Urgent demands for coal from liberated France and Belgium intensified Britain's already-critical fuel problem as government statistics confirm a 1944 production drop despite increased manpower in the mines

Up to 5,000 tons of coal a day is to be shipped from north-east England to the continent. Coal ships which sailed to Antwerp until the Germans overran Belgium in 1940 are ready to resume their voyages

While output from the mines this year is now estimated at only 185,688,000 tons compared with 194,493,000 tons last year and 231,337,900 in the first war year, decision to ship coal to France and Belgium was taken for three reasons:

1. Many gas and electricity plants in liberated Europe are unable to produce even bare requirements;
2. Allied operations on the continent may be hampered;
3. Some of the coal will be used indirectly by the Allied armies.

The latest official figures — for the second quarter of 1944 —issued by Fuel Minister Gwilym Lloyd George reported that saleable coal produced fell from 47,581,300 tons in the first quarter to 46,422,000 tons, and the output per wage-earner fell from 67.6 tons to 65.4 tons. Yet the average number of wage-earners on colliery books rose from 703,600 to 710,000.

Voluntary absenteeism was given as 5.3 per cent compared with 4.7 and involuntary absenteeism as 7.4 per cent compared with 7.7 thus absenteeism from all causes was 12.7 per cent instead of 12.4.

Miners Protest.

Absenteeism and labor disputes have caused heavy loss of production but their is one more factor in the production drop: Output per shift has shown a reduction. In the second quarters of this year the figure was 1.01 tons compared with 1.02 in the first quarter, 1.03 in all of 1943 and 1.13 in 1939.

Public controversy over the coal situation has been so intense that 45,000 South Wales miners were prompted to issue a statement denying that absenteeism was the cause of declining production.

For one thing, they criticized the government for calling young, skilled miners into the armed forces, and suggested it was unfair to count in manpower statistics the "Beven boys"— lads directed to the mines by Labor Minister Beven instead of in to the forces. Some 25,000 of the boys are now working in the industry.

"We challenge any other industry to show a better record of attendance after these factors have been taken into account," the miners said.

Labour troubles in the workings have diminished since October when Britain threatened with a strike of 150,000 Yorkshire miners over pay rates for week-ends. To that extent the supply situation is better; but stocks have been falling regularly and winter has come.

Champion Steer

TORONTO, Dec. 4.—(CP).—The grand champion steer at the Ontario Provincial Winter Fair at the Union stockyards last week was sold Saturday for $1.10 a pound. It was an Aberdeen-Angus steer exhibited by Don Head Farmers, Lt., of nearby Richmond Hill, weight 910 pounds and was purchased by Canada packers.

Lorne Scots Hold Reunion In Italy

By DOUG HOW,
Canadian Press War Correspondent

WITH THE CANADIAN CORPS ON THE ADRIATIC FRONT, Italy, Dec. 4— (CP) — Their scattered posts throughout the Canadian Corps, the Lorne Scots rallied in a leave town for their first regimental get-together in their months in Italy.

Dispersed as is no other regiment, the Scots provide a defence company under Maj. Stewart Beatty, Brampton, Ont., for corps headquarters, defence platoons for the headquarters of an infantry division and the various brigade headquarters of the corps. Typical of the purpose and value of the get-together was the reunion of five men —L. Cpl. A. M. Callaghan, Kirkland Lake, Ont., Ptes. Harold Isenberg, Toronto, G. M. Young, Toronto, D. C. Mundell, Hamilton, and P. L. Kelly, Oshawa, Ont.— who were together for nearly three years with the 1st Army Headquarters in England but now are all with different headquarters.

Under Maj. J. R. Black, Oakville, Ont., camp commandant at Corps Headquarters and officer administering the Lorne Scots in the field, the program includ ' a church service, a march past in which the salute was taken by the corps commander, a talk by the corps commander, a special appearance of the army soldier—C. W. A. C. Show "Funborn Follies" and informal gatherings of the sergeants and officers. The pipe band of the Seaforth Highlanders of Canada played for the march past.

With regimental headquarters at Brampton, Ont., the Scots were originally recruited in the Ontario Counties of Peel and Halton. Many of their men served with infantry battalions and men of other units have been posted to their overseas formations.

COWS ... AND BABIES ... WON'T WAIT!

EVEN if you've never heard the frantic moo-ing of a cow gone past milking time, you know all about the fuss baby makes if his bottle isn't ready! But chances are, you've never given a thought to the man who keeps cows contented and babies cooing ... your milkman.

Up at dawn whatever the season, he makes his rounds dependably, often fighting a bitter battle with stormy weather to bring you your daily milk. And back of him is an army of other dairy people—the truckers who haul the milk fresh from the farms, the carefully trained workers who process and bottle your milk so it comes to you in the purest, most wholesome, safest form.

Nearly everyone these days takes good dairy service for granted ... and that's tribute enough to the willing workers and the long chain of organization from farm to home that makes such good service possible. But next time you feed the baby, or tip the milk pitcher over your morning cereal, just think how much the smooth convenience of your daily living—yes, and your health and peace-of-mind, too—depend on the milkman and your dairy!

Reducing School Taxes

Premier Drew, in his capacity as Minister of Education, has announced that a Royal Commission is investigating the matter of school taxes, and that details of a new system of taxation will be available to local school boards about the middle of this month. This is in pursuit of Point Nine in Mr. Drew's twenty-Two Point Election Program, which reads: "Sweeping revision of whole real estate tax system: government will assume at least 50 per cent. of school taxes now charged against real estate".

But we see that the Premier, in his recent announcement, speaks of the government assuming 50 per cent. of the gross cost of education, which is not the same thing as '50 per cent. of the school taxes now charged against real estate'. Several newspapers have hailed the Premier's announcement gladly, and have even gone so far as to predict a drop of 6 or 7 mills in their local tax-rate. We are afraid that they are going to get a shock when the details of the matter are made clear.

For many years the government has borne more than 50 per cent. of the cost of maintaining schools in rural districts where the total assessment is low; it will have to go on doing so. But it is obvious that if the government bears, let us say, 65 per cent. of the cost of maintaining a rural school, it cannot bear 50 per cent. of the cost of maintaining schools in Peterborough and other centres of wealth and population. A 50 per cent. cut in the gross cost of education in the Province may make very little difference to the school taxes levied upon ratepayers in the cities and towns. We must not expect too much.

And again it is useful to bear in mind that the cost of education will be as great, and possibly greater, after this change has been made and Mr. Drew's promised 'complete revision of education with stress on vocational training' (Point Ten) has been effected; the money will have to be found somewhere, and some additional tax or taxes will have to make up the other half of the cost. That is not, of course, a bad thing. Education concerns everybody, and there is no reason why property-owners should bear an unfair share of the burden. Everyone in this country has a chance to share the benefits of education, and everyone should share the cost.

* * *

But before we rejoice over this revised tax system for education we shall want to see the details of it. There may not be much reason for rejoicing locally.

Women Take To Pipes

It is reported from many sections of the United States that, because of the acute shortage of cigarettes, women are taking to pipe-smoking. Like anything else which appears to be new, this has brought a great storm of condemnation from the professional condemners. We cannot form any decided opinion for it or against it. If women want to smoke there seems to be no reason why they should not smoke pipes. There are women who can make a dreadful mess when smoking a cigarette, and we presume that they will be able to make at least an equal mess with a pipe. And there are women who smoke their cigarettes so charmingly that we are quite willing to trust them with a larger and smokier object. Like so many matters, this appears to hinge upon personal taste and tolerance.

Women have smoked pipes, off and on, ever since tobacco first became a popular indulgence. During Cromwell's time not only women but children also were urged to smoke, as tobacco was considered a strengthening and antiseptic medicine. Schools gave children time off during the mornings and afternoons to puff their little clay pipes, and thus preserve their health and rosy cheeks. In the earlier days of our own country many women smoked pipes, and not fancy pipes either, but strong corncobs, like Mammy Yokum in the comic strip. They appear to have been none the worse for it, and many of them lived to ripe old ages. Those who did not smoke pipes took snuff (inhaled, not chewed) and found it comforting. Why then should there be so much fuss about the revival of an old custom?

Smoking in moderation does not seem to do anyone harm, and appears to do many people much good. Of course it can be proved that nicotine is a poison, but so are tea and coffee if they are used to excess. Havelock Ellis, in his excellent essay on The Value of Pleasure Poisons says "a wise use of our poisons is an essential part of the art of living". The use of tobacco, like the use of liquor, tea and coffee is objectionable or pleasant according to the way in which it is done and the avoidance of excess.

If women want to smoke pipes, by all means let them do so. A pipe is said to have a soothing effect upon the smoker which cigarettes have not, and we are sure that many women need to be soothed just as badly as men do.

The Opposition Says Its Say

The leaders of the Opposition in the Commons said their say last week, and as a result the political situation at Ottawa is clearer, though it is not reassuring to the country. An Opposition has two functions: the first is to act as critic and brake on the government of the day; the other is to form an alternative government if that should be necessary. The Opposition at Ottawa has shown itself active in the first department, but it is powerless in the second. The Opposition is made up of three parties, and they cannot agree in anything except in condemning the government.

Mr. Graydon is not satisfied with the order-in-council which has brought conscription to Canada, and nothing will satisfy him except 'complete conscription'. In the debate on Bill 80 in 1942 the Prime Minister expressed himself thus:

> "When the Government decides that it is necessary, and advisable, to resort to conscription as a method of raising men for service overseas, an Order-in-Council will be passed dealing with members of the forces as a whole. It will not be a matter of passing a series of Orders-in-Council, but one Order-in-Council will cover the whole force". (1942 Hansard, pp. 4564-5.)

He has kept his word. The order which has been given is for over-all conscription, and 16,000 men have been made immediately available by it. How conscription can be more 'complete' than this only Mr. Graydon knows, and he means to oppose the government's vote of confidence in the light of that private knowledge. Mr. Coldwell opposes the government because he wants conscription of wealth and industry as well as men; in short, he wants to use the present crisis to advance the cause of socialism. As for Mr. Blackmore, he seems to be in some confusion, and does not know which way his followers will vote; he embraced the opportunity, however, to point to "monstrous dangers which are threatening the Canadian people at the present time and which ought to be exercising them to the very depths of their beings"; these dangers are apparently only to be avoided by embracing Mr. Blackmore's monetary reforms.

The government has introduced conscription, and has put its life in danger by so doing. It now asks for a vote of confidence. And the three Opposition leaders are playing politics as hard as they can, without any regard for the situation in which Canada finds herself. They were eager enough to back up Canadian troops overseas when doing so was a way of discrediting the government, but their ardour seems to have waned.

If the government does not get its vote of confidence—and a good one—either a new ministry or a dissolution must come of it. There is no new ministry in sight. The Governor-General could call Mr. Bracken, certainly, but Mr. Bracken has never set foot in the House of Commons, and could not be expected to assume the responsibilities of Prime Minister at a time of peculiar complexity. A dissolution would mean an election, and an election would mean two months at least of manoeuvering, vituperation, oratory and all the other adjuncts of an election. And who would look after the interests of the Canadian forces overseas then?

The Opposition has called attention many times to the manner in which Mr. King has played politics: certainly he has done so in his attempts to avoid the uproar which conscription has brought. But the Opposition has played politics at least as vigorously, and continues to play them now, with an astonishing disregard for the conduct of Canada's part in the war. The Opposition can wreck the government, but it cannot build up another.

Farming News and Views

By
HON DUNCAN MARSHALL

TAKING the whole of Canada, is is seldom that young cattle have found better picking out-of-doors during November than they have this year. Lack of stored moisture in the soil is our greatest danger. That, of course, applies more particularly to the prairies, but in this province it is always better to have a good supply of soil moisture before heavy frosts set in. Science has not yet been able to tell us much about the useful effects of frost on the soil, but we do know that we get many of our best grain crops off land that freezes to a fair depth every winter. A lot of breeding livestock, horses, cattle, sheep and pigs, are having a fine run this fall and not only will it cost less to winter them but it is excellent for their health and, if they have to go into houses later on, they will possess that vigour which an out-of-doors life gives to all farm animals. We are only beginning to realize the outstanding value of good health in our farm livestock

A GROUP of British farmers are on their way to visit the Dominions and discuss with representative farmers the future problems in agriculture. The party left for New Zealand and Australia and are coming to Canada later. While such a group has no authority to make or accept definite proposals, an exchange of opinions should be quite useful. The imports and exports of farm products will likely come in for serious attention. We have got to bear in mind, when these discussions are taking place, that Russia and the United States must play an important part in final conclusions.

WHEN training of soldiers, who wish to farm, is begun in Canada, one feature that should not be neglected is the care and management of farm animals. If the man to undergo such training has no farm experience, the only way to give such a training is on a farm where livestock is a chief feature, and the time should be taken to do this. The idea that a man unacquainted with livestock can learn by lectures is too foolish to be considered.

IN conversation with an Alberta cattle breeder the other day, he gave me some interesting information about community sales of cattle in that province. The feeding of cattle on "cover crop" has brought a lot of cattle off the range in the early autumn to be fed in this way in fields, as this cover crop is grown mostly on summer fallows under fence. This Community Sales Company has built small stockyards at Nanton, Claresholm, MacLeod, Cardston and some other southern towns in Alberta. This Sales Company will accept cattle to be sold at the places where they have yards. The Company advertises the sales, provides the auctioneer, collects the proceeds and pays it over to the owner, charging a commission of 2 per cent.

No feed is required as the cattle are yarded on the morning of the sale and are loaded out after being sold. A set of weigh scales is installed at every yard and the cattle all go over the scales and the bidding is by the cwt. The common shrink of 3 per cent is allowed on the weights.

The saving to the cattle men is the freight to the Calgary yards, a feeding bill, and the regular charge of $17 per car commission on sales in the Calgary yards. This cattle man, who, by the way, branded over 500 calves this year, is authority for the opinion that prices run about $1 per cwt. above the ruling prices of the same date in Calgary. He attended a sale recently in Nanton and cattle off cover crop sold as high as $11.75, while feeders brought up to $9. These are quite good prices that far West. The packer buyers attend these sales as they must have beef, and, sometimes when the glut in the Calgary yards hammered down the sales these yards escaped such a depression.

IT is encouraging indeed to see the auction method of selling cattle getting such a foothold. The cattle breeders' difficulty has frequently been to get any competition for his beasts. Once they enter a large stockyard he is never quite sure whether or not prices are arranged, and if he can get what an open market should pay him.

IT seems to me that there might be a useful suggestion here for the Government owned stockyards in Toronto. After all, a stockyards is a sale yard and if it can be made useful in serving the interests of the primary producer it might help. There are other stockyards in Ontario and they might be used to benefit the farmers who have cattle to market.

We are told that the new "Ownership of Toronto Stockyards" is going to give us a livestock policy. Well and good, when they come to that; but this company first has invested a large sum of money, well over a million dollars likely, and their first job is to make their newly-purchased property the best plac to sell cattle in Canada. When that is done they may look around for new worlds to conquer, and try teaching the cattle breeders their business.

THIS Alberta cattle man told me of a sale of calves off a ranch, about the middle of November, some 40 head, averaging 540 lbs. in weight and bringing 9c per lb. This lot were out of Hereford cows by Shorthorn bulls, good breeding-stock in both cases. He also added that commercial cattle in Alberta were substantially improved in recent years, not only by good breeding but by good feeding as well, which reminded me of the Scotsman's remarks: "The feed is half the breed." Alberta had one of the highest percentages in its range calf crop this year, ever recorded. Good fine winter, no rough storms when early calves were dropped, and plenty of feed for breeding herds.

THE latest estimate of the Western wheat crop is 447,700,000 bushels, which is 54 million bushels over last year. Wet weather interfered with harvesting and, to some extent, lowered the grade.

POULTRY flocks in Canada are producing the largest crop of eggs on record. More powdered and frozen eggs will be exported than ever before and drying plants have been operating to capacity. Considerable quantities of dressed poultry are being exported, and production of this meat will be high this year.

SLAUGHTERINGS of hogs in Canada this year, up to the first of October, number 6,550,851 which is 40 per cent above that of last year. There certainly is some bacon being shipped across the Atlantic. By the end of the year nearly 700 million pounds will be sent over.

THE All-Canadian Holstein auction sale at Oakville made a record for this province, when 75 head sold for an average of $1,257. This is a clear indication of the popularity of the Black and White dairy cows. The top price for bulls was $5,100, which was paid for a three-month-old calf offered by J. J. E. McCague of Alliston and bought by a Lanark County breeder.

The highest price for a female was $4,300 for a six-year-old cow, offered by a Quebec breeder and bought by a Prince Edward County farmer.

This sale attracted many bidders from across the line. A two-year-old heifer brought $4,000, and 25 head sold for $1,000 or over, with six of them from $4,000 up. Eight bulls made an average of $3,044, and nine heifer calves under a year old made an average of $1,525. A sale like this shows great confidence in the Holstein-Friesian breed of cattle.

DRIVEN BY FEAR —By Goldberg

R.I.P. 'Sister Aimee'

(FROM THE LONDON NEW STATESMAN)

ON AUGUST 13 last I saw Aimee Semple McPherson put on her weekly show at the Angelus Temple in Los Angeles. Recently in London I read in the newspapers of her death.

When I arrived in Los Angeles—a British officer in uniform — the Ladies' Entertainment Committee asked what I would like to see in addition to Hollywood and the Biltmore Hotel. I said I would like to see Aimee Semple McPherson. They looked down their noses in rather a superior manner, but the secretary was good enough to telephone the Temple and reserve a seat for me.

So, after doing the rather dreary Hollywood round, enlivened for me by Gracie Fields, Monty Banks, her husband, and the coming film man, Orson Welles, I jumped into a taxi and was deposited at ten minutes to seven at the doors of the Angelus Temple. It is rather an impressive building at 1100 Glendale Boulevard, one block south of Sunset. It is a smaller and cheaper Albert Hall, seating only 7,000. There is a powerful radio station, KFSC, all Sister's Shows being broadcast on her network.

The hall was crowded, the band, gorgeously arrayed, was in full blast; fifty maidens, clad in white samite, mystic, wonderful marched in procession down the auditorium on the right flank and fifty males, also clad in splendiferous white —like the White Knights—advanced on the left flank. These were Sister's bodyguard the institution being co-ed

The music died away, the audience lapsed into tense silent expectation, the lights went down, the limelight, the spotlight, the searchlight, concentrated on the right spot—on the curtains, which parted, revealing to the gaze of the rapt audience, the Pastor, President and Founder.

The basis of the service was essentially Hot Gospel, though some might dub it Hot Jazz. It was, according to Aimee, "spirit filled." It was certainly Four Square, though the Angelus Temple itself is circular, with five thousand free seats as advertised.

Aimee was strong on "guest speakers," among them being Rev. (Cyclone) Jackson (subject: Greatest Man in the World, and God's Final Call to You); Dr. H. W. Cooksey (subject: The Bride's Statement Concerning Christ); Rev. Mrs. Hal Smith (subject: Healing—Condition of Obtaining); and others.

Aimee and her methods do not, I think, differ greatly from those of similar and more familiar gospellers, revivalists and evangelists. There was the usual American emphasis on gaudy uniforms; the services are advertised as "shifts," a sort of round the clock program; there are auxiliaries—Junior High Four Square Crusaders, the Deaf Mute section, the Friday "All Night of Prayer," the Los Angeles Band, garbed in rich array and the "Dramatically Illustrated Sermon —Humpty Dumpty."

Apart from these normal ebullitions of emotional instability, which, though rather startling to an Englishman, are really quite normal in America, I came away deeply impressed by the personality (as viewed from the audience) of the Pastor, President and Founder.

Her picture depicts her as a beautiful woman of thirty-three—I believe she was fifty-three. Her followers are her devotees; she is the matriarch, though she would not have liked the term. Freud and Jung would have revelled in analysing her peculiar psyche. She was an entrepreneur of magnificent calibre; she was not "God's Greatest Saleswoman" as the irreverent termed her; she was Aimee Semple McPherson's greatest saleswoman, and at a very good price. She had all the common craving for admiration, success, wealth, but she had the uncommon faculty of achieving them entirely off her own bat. Whether she was a humbug extrovert, or an advanced introvert, or both, I do not know. But she was a creative saleswoman, a dominating personality, who built up a marvellous money-spending one-woman business in the teeth of persecution and jeers. I should be interested to know how much she left, or if she spent it as she earned it. And who will take over this flourishing business "Four Square Gospel Inc."?

While I sat there pondering over these matters and watching Aimee out of the corner of my sceptical eye, an usher approached and whispered in my ear. I caught only a few words, but they cast chill fear over me. He was asking me to join the Leader on the platform and to take part with her in some ceremony or other. Perhaps she had spotted the British officer in his uniform in the front row, and had instantly decided to sell him to the audience, an extra on the program.

I rose and followed the usher up the aisle, wondering how I should escape from this dreadful and imminnt trap into which my idle curiosity had led me. I weakly followed the man round the back to the passage which led to the stage. Suddenly the magic letters "EXIT" at the end of a corridor caught my fevered eye. I dashed down it and ran up the Glendale Boulevard, panting with the exertion and relief.

I had escaped from what would have been a very bad quarter of an hour for me, however satisfactory it might have been for Aimee. G.R.

Enough of This Meddling

The Chicago Daily News has a foreign service which is unequalled on this continent. Its battery of alert keen-sighted and clear-writing men and women provide a fine running commentary from the capitals of the world. Unfortunately, however, the perception and balance which its foreign correspondents exhibit is not reflected on the editorial page of the Daily News when it comments upon Canada.

Twice within the last week the Daily News has undertaken a smear job on Canada. The first was a lofty sneer at this country's manpower policy. The second was to complain about Canada's lack of participation in the war in the Pacific, with the obvious implication that we were shirking our responsibilities. It called on President Roosevelt to call a conference with Premier King to remedy this.

Now, while we Canadians are eager to have the friendship and understanding of the people of the United States, we think it about time some of these gratuitous advisers and meddlers were told where to head in.

We were at war for full two years before the United States was embroiled as the result of Pearl Harbor. During that period Canadian newspapers did not heckle the American people and demand that President Roosevelt declare war on our enemies. We did not tell the American people how they should organize their defence program, how they should run their army, or how they should tackle their own internal problems. We recognized that this was none of our business.

The Chicago Daily News, in its meddling in Canadian affairs, is using a technique that is all too prevalent in American journalism. There are problems enough to be solved in the United States, in all conscience. They are difficult problems, certainly as difficult as some of the problems we have in Canada. But instead of trying to put their own house in order, these editors go heresy hunting in the houses of their neighbours. There are screams of anguish about Britain in India and Britain in China; and a strange and almost complete silence about the conditions in Puerto Rico. They are full of solutions for removing motes from the eyes of their friends, but uninterested in the beams in their own eyes.

Canadians will work out the solution of their present difficulties in their own way. We invite the Chicago Daily News to put its own house in order before telling Canadians how they should conduct their affairs. — Winnipeg Free Press.

A Bible Message

Moreover, brethren, I would not that ye should be ignorant, how that all our fathers were under the cloud, and all passed through the sea; and were all baptized unto Moses in the cloud and in the sea; and did all eat the same spiritual meat; and did all drink the same spiritual drink; for they drank of that spiritual Rock that followed them: and that Rock was Christ. . . .

The cup of blessing which we bless, is it not the communion of the blood of Christ? The bread which we break, is it not the communion of the body of Christ? (I Cor. 10: 1-4, 16.)

For as often as ye eat this bread, and drink this cup, ye do shew the Lord's death till he come.

Wherefore whosoever shall eat this bread, and drink this cup of the Lord, unworthily, shall be guilty of the body and blood of the Lord. But let a man so examine himself, and so let him eat of that bread, and drink of that cup. (I Cor. 11: 26-28.)

IN ROME IT IS BEST

A navy officer learned that in Rome it is best to do as the Romans do—and that is to keep hands off somebody else's fights. He came out of a store in Rome and found two Italians fighting at the curb. One was big; the other was small.

The officer went to the rescue of the small chap and sent the big one on his way. The small fellow shouted his thanks and ran down the street.

The officer smiled with the happiness of a man who has done a good deed. Then an Italian bystander stepped up to him and explained.

The big fellow had been beating up the small one because the small one was stealing articles from the navy officer's jeep.—Boston Globe.

Up spoke a bright boy.

"Yes, sir, and maybe you know better than I do whether I am expecting to travel on that train myself or whether I am inquiring for a relative that's visiting at my house and wanted me to call here and ask about it to save her the trouble, because she's packing up her things and expects to take that train herself and not me; and she'll have to do the waiting and not me; and maybe you think it's your business to stand there and try to instruct people about things they know as well as you do, if not better, and perhaps, you'll learn some day to give people civil answers when they ask you civil questions; young man, my opinion is you won't!"

With a gasp: "Yes ma,am."

Gallant Argylls Fought Bravely From Caen To German Border

By ROSS MCNRO
Canadian Press War Correspondent

WITH THE 1ST CANADIAN ARMY, Dec. 4 — (CP). — The Argyll and Sutherland Highlanders from Hamilton, Ont., have had some amazing achievements in this campaign in the west.

There was a three-day period in the Trun Gap when two depleted companies of Argylls, totalling only 70 men operating with tanks of the South Alberta Regiment, captured 3,000 Germans of the 7th Army.

There was the fight at Moerbrugge in Belgium when the regiment established a bridgehead over a canal and with the Lincoln and Wellands held it under murderous fire for two days. The Germans could not drive them from that position.

The Argylls have been through all the infantry mill since Caen. They fought at Tilly La Campagne, in the battle for Falaise, in the Laison Valley attack, at Trun, on the Seine, on the Leopold Canal, and in the spectacular advance from Antwerp to the Lower Rhine. It was the Argylls who captured Steenbergen, the last major town to be liberated in South-west Holland.

They have made a tireless advance through three countries and all the way they played an important part in the successes won by the forces of the 1st Canadian Army.

Madoc Officer.

The present rifle company commanders are Maj. Gordon Armstrong, Barrie, Ont.; Maj. Robert Paterson, Hamilton, Ont.; Maj. Robert Mackenzie, Sarnia, Ont., and Maj. Rupert Fultz, Winnipeg. Second-in-command is Maj. Bill Stockloser of Madoc, Ont., who fought in Sicily and Italy with the Hastings and Prince Edward Regiment of the 1st Division, and Adjutant is Capt. Malcolm Smith of Niagara Falls, Ont. Lieut. Claude Bissell of Toronto, who was lecturing in English at University College, Toronto, before joining the army, is on battalion headquarters staff.

Support company is led by Capt. William Whiteside, Hamilton, and Capt. George Mills, Toronto, has headquarters company. The padre is Capt. Charles Maclean of Oxford, N.S.

One of the great characters in the Argylls is RSM. Peter Caithness McGinlay of Hamilton, a true Scot who was born at Stirling Castle, the home depot of the British Argylls with whom the Hamilton battalion is affiliated. He served for many years with the British Argylls before he went to Hamilton.

"Aye, it was just a coincidence that the only Argyll regiment in Canada was in Hamilton," he grinned.

In the crucial days at Caen, when the gigantic attack was being mounted to break the Caen-Falaise hinge of the 7th Army, the Argyll and Sutherland Highlanders took their place in the line for the first time. They went in at Bourguebus, south of Caen, on Aug. 5 and four days later men of the regiment got thier first battle test.

Kept Up Pressure.

It was only a small show to start with—Sgt. Alex McLaren of Camrose, Alta., taking his platoon into Tilly la Champagne, a town of bitter memory for several Canadian battalions. It was the thought that the Germans had evacuated Tilly but the Argyll platoon found it full of S.S. troops. Somehow, they got out of the trap and the next night two companies led by Maj. Gordon Winfield of Hamilton and Maj. Stockloser hit Tilly. They fought their way into the heart of the shattered town but met such heavy fire that it was impossible to clear the town and they were ordered back.

The purpose of this attack was the same as numerous others made on towns south of Caen—to keep up the pressure and deceive the Germans sufficiently that they would retain their armored forces on the Caen sector until the Americans had time to break through at St. Lo.

On Aug. 8, the Argylls took part in the great Canadian Army attack towards Falaise. They passed through the 2nd Division south of Roquancourt, captured Cinthieux on the Falaise Hghway in 16 binutes fighting and swept south to take up positions on Hill 195—where the British Columbia regiment and the Algonquins had suffered casualties when they hit a German gun screen which protected Falaise.

The Hamilton unit moved up on to the hill, which is only five miles north of Falaise, during the night and caught the enemy by surprise. troops of the 12th SS. Division were opposing the Argylls there and bringing down heavy fire. The Germans put in one strong counter-attack but the Canadians beat it off.

Relieved by Glens

They were relieved by the Stormont, Dundas and Glengarry Highlanders and prepared for the second phase of the battle for Falaise — the Canadian attack over the Laison Valley which went in on Aug. 14.

Riding in troop carrying trucks, 10 abreast, the Argylls rolled through the valley behind 300 tanks and fighting their way through German gun positions got to their objectives in the Olendon area, northeast of Falaise.

The Trun Gap was the Argylls next major battleground. The battalion moved to a position southeast of Trun and two companies, with tanks of the South Alberta Regiment with which the Argylls worked in close cooperation through most of the campaign, went to St. Lambert Sur Dives, between Trun and Chambois and dead in the centre of the German escape route.

Maj. Ivan Martin of Toronto led one of the companies and he was killed there. Maj. Gordon Winfield led the other and was wounded.

The companies were reduced to 70 men in all and yet in three days, with the tanks, captured 3,000 Germans — an incredible number, even in that hectic time.

The Germans tried to break through St. Lambert many times and the Canadians mowed them down. That town was the graveyard of the 7th Army. There was no slaughter in all the Trun Gap like there was at St. Lambert.

After Trun, the Argylls drove to the Seine. There was no opposition. They crossed the river at Criquebeuf, south of Rouen, and had a stiff fight in the town of Igoville, near the Seine. They cleared the town and then attacked Hill 95 which was holding up the advance on Rouen. Under mortar, machine gun and artillery fire, the regiment advanced up the bare side of the Hill to take it.

The mad race to the Somme followed and on Sept. 3, the Argylls crossed the Somme near Abbeville, pushing on to St. Omer and Bruges in Belgium.

Used Rowboat

Then they fought on the canal at Moerbrugge, southeast of Bruges. Maj. MacKenzie took his company across the canal first, ferrying them over in relay in a single rowboat. The rest of the battalion also crossed in rowboats and when they started to clear the town, they found strong forces of the German 64th Division were holding it. It was this division which later fought for a month in the Schelde Pocket until it was wiped out.

The Lincs and Wellands also crossed into the town but under the artillery fire beating down along the canal, no bridge could be erected and the Canadians were practically cut off from supplies. The shelling went on for 36 hours and Capt. William Findlay of Red Deer, Alta., the artillery representative who has been with the Argylls most of the time, said it was the heaviest he had seen.

The Germans counter-attacked at least four times in one day. Finally the Royal Canadian engineers got a bridge over the canal and the South Alberta Regiment rumbled into Moerbrugge with its tanks. The two infantry units and the tanks then drove the enemy out of the town and back to the Leopold Canal.

From Moerbrugge the Argylls pushed east and with the South Albertas were the first Canadian troops into Holland, crossing the border at Sas Van Ghent, north of the city of Ghent.

During the battle of the Schelde, the Argylls held the eastern end of the Leopold Canal and on Oct. 14 crossed the canal to strike north to Watervliet and link up with the north shore New Brunswick Regiment and the 17th Duke of York's Royal Canadian Hussars from Montreal, who were advancing over the polders from the beachhead established in the first sea-borne assault between Teurneuzen and Breskens.

Swam Canal

From Watervliet, the Argylls retraced their steps and moved to the Antwerp area where they attacked with other Canadian infantry and tanks on Oct. 20 towards Esschen.

This regiment had probably the toughest task of any unit in that attack. They had to advance along a road, strewn with felled trees and through a dozen hamlets, each defended by snipers and machine gunners. The Hamilton troops had a particularly bitter fight for the town of Calmthout, but they took the place.

After Esschen was captured, the Argylls cleared several large woods between there and Bergen Op Zoom and the Lincoln and Wellands captured Bergen. The Argylls were ordered to cross the canal north of the town. Maj. Armstrong personally carried out a night reconnaissance, swimming the icy waters of the canal to find out what the area on the other side was like.

Then he and Capt. Pete McCordic of Toronto led their companies over the canal and a firm bridgehead was established. This attracted the Germans' attention while other Canadians swung around on the right flank and hooked north towards Steenbergen.

The Lincolns and Wellands, Algonquins and the Lake Superior Regiment closed in on Steenbergen with the Argylls ready to pass through them. The defence line screening Steenbergen was shattered and the Argylls raced into town. There were still a few Germans in the place. They were rapidly disposed of and the town was completely occupied.

It has been a long, exhausting advance for the Argylls from Caen to Steenbergen and they are rightly proud of their accomplishments "If you are writing the story of the Argylls, write it in all its glory," said RSM. McGinlay who lives, sleeps, eats and fights for his regiment.

The company-sergeant-majors are key men in any outfit and for the Argylls they are Wilf Stone and Ivan Mills, both of Hamilton, Fred Wigmore and Harry Sharpe, both of Toronto.

The regimental-quartermaster-sergeant is Charles Fay of Hamilton. The regiment has its pipe band with it and pipe major is Frank Noble of Hamilton.

Hamilton Beats Peterboro In Junior Rugby Tilt

Two singles represented the margin by which the Hamilton juniors defeated the Peterborough junior team in a sudden death game at Alexandra Park, Oshawa, Saturday afternoon in a fixture for the unofficial Ontario junior title. The heavier team from the Ambitious City won a gruelling contest by 7 points to 5.

Each team scored an unconverted touchdown but Hamilton grabbed off the victory by kicking over the Petes' line for two singles.

The game was played in cold frosty weather on a gridiron blanketed with six inches of snow and the conditions were anything but favorable to good football. However in spite of the heavy going and the handicap of bad footing and half-frozen fingers, the teams turned in a fine card and the battle was decidedly well played under the circumstances.

Hamilton, with poundage in their favor, and the ground conditions favoring a plunging game depended a great deal on a couple of hard-hitting buckers. The Peterborough youngsters had the edge in speed and in good football weather believe they could have taken the scalps of the winners.

Bill Edger, the Bowmanville boy who played with the Petes last season, happened to be home on leave from the Navy and the Peterborough team drafted him for the game. Edger, of course, has had no practice with the team this season but in spite of that handicap played good football and hit the target several times with accurate forward passes.

Hamilton scored their major score on a Peterborough fumble, and it was not converted.

The Petes' five points were the result of a brilliant run by Ron Hodson who scooped up a loose ball and dashed 45 yards through the snow for a touchdown. An attempt at converting failed

Hamilton got cloe enough twice to boot the ball over the Peterborough line for singles and those two points represented the margin of victory. It was that close.

In addition to Hodson and Edger, Spike Matthews at quarter and Conlin up on wing line were especially prominent for good work during the hard battle.

New Record Sure For Feature Bout

AL BUNNY DUNLOP

From the talk around town the biggest crowd ever to see a wrestling match in Peterborough will be on hand Tuesday night when Frank Sexton, Pacific Coast champion will try his speed, skill and science against Whipper Billy Watson, Empire title-holder, in the main bout of the Tunney show. In this classic battle between the clever exponent of the giant swing and the Canadian who features the avalanche, unconscious commando hold and the whip fans should see wrestling at its fastest, cleanest and best. Both men know all the answers and both like to work at top speed. They should put on a contest that will have the crowd on its feet all the way. Two other good bouts, Dunlop vs. Tom Collins and Joe Burke vs. Bill Stack will round out the season's outstanding card. advt

Caps Take 1st Place, Down Hornets

By The Canadian Press

Indianapolis Capitals moved into undisputed possession of first place in the Western Division of the American Hockey League by defeating Pittsburgh Hornets 7-2 Sunday. Hornets had tied the Caps Saturday by their 10-5 victory over Providence Reds at Pittsburgh.

At Buffalo Sunday the Bisons trounced Cleveland Barons 6-2 to avenge a 5-2 defeat at Cleveland Saturday, while at Providence the Reds overwhelmed Hershey Bears 9-3. It was the Bears' second week-end defeat, the first coming on home ice Saturday at the hands of St. Louis Flyers, 2-1.

Tony Bukovich starred for Indianapolis in Sunday's game, scoring twice. It was the fourth straight victory for Capitals who have yet to be defeated on home ice this season.

At Providence veteran Freeman Jack accounted for three of Reds' nine goals, while Jack Lavoie and Rollie Forget each scored two.

At Buffalo the Bisons piled up a six-point lead before Barons Lou Gasparini broke through for the first of his two goals midway in the second period. Some spectacular saves by Goalie Lloyd Storie, replacing the injured Harvey Teno, prevented further scoring by Bisons.

St. Louis Flyers, making their first appearance at Hershey smothered the best efforts of the home club to win their third victory in 16 games. Art Giroux and Nakina Smith scored for Flyers and Tommy Forgie made Bears' only tally.

At Pittsburgh Hornets' right winger Wendell Jamieson accounted for three and Gerry Plamondon two of Pittsburgh's 10 counters. Paul Courteau of Reds made the first score of the game unassisted within seconds of the opening whistle and notched up another in each succeeding period.

Earl Bartholome opened the scoring for Barons in the second minute of the game at Cleveland. By the end of the second period Barons had a 3-1 edge, which they increased to 5-1 in the third. Art Lassard got Buffalo's second goal in the last minute of play.

SPORTS-Day by Day

By FRED D. CRAIG

The polls do not close until 7 o'clock this evening so that if you have not done your duty in regard to the Memorial Health Centre bylaw you still have time to get your ballot in or if you are not a property-owner yourself you may know of a friend who is friendly to the measure and has not yet exercised his franchise. The success of the whole Memorial Centre scheme depends so much upon the fate of the bylaw that it would be a shock to all friends of sport and of youth to find that the proposal had not received the support of a majority of the ratepayers. This community, it is true, has already raised $310,000 by voluntary subscription but in spite of that wonderful record the $75,000 grant is essential, if the whole fine program is to be completed. It is worthy of note that in Hamilton today the property-owners are being asked to endorse the spending by the city of $1,500,000 on a similar project in the Ambitious City. In other words Hamilton is proposing to spend just 20 times as much of the taxpayers' money as the property-owners of Peterborough are being asked to raise for the local program.

With the coming of winter conditions interest is quickening in the juvenile hockey league to be organized here as a means of giving the youngsters a chance to learn the game under the most favorable conditions possible under the present setup. The young players themselves are all for the scheme and there will not be the least difficulty in getting material for the teams. With the Peterborough Hockey Club ready to manage the league and supply coaches the organization of the loop should not be a difficult matter. As for the financial end of the plan it is hoped that the service clubs of the city will see in this league a very real opportunity for boy's work that will get important results. Already two clubs, the Kinsmen and the B'Nai B'rith Society have signified their willingness to finance a club and similar action from other service organizations would make it smooth sailing for the proposed loop. It is necessary to keep hockey flourishing here while we are waiting for the new Memorial Health Centre to materialize and the formation of a strong league for younger players is a real step in the right direction.

They Deserve Credit

Peterborough juniors were vanquished by Hamilton in a sudden-death football game at Oshawa Saturday out the Petes did not go down without putting up a real struggle. They were beaten 7 to 5 by a heavier team under weather and field conditions that favored the bigger winners. The general opinion among the Peterborough players after the game was that in ordinary football weather and on a dry field the Petes had speed enough to have offset the plunging power of the Hamilton gang. Even as it was the Peterborough team gave a fine account of themselves and the margin between the two outfits was represented by a pair of single points. So far as major scores were concerned the rivals were even for Hamilton cashed in on a Peterborough fumble to register a touchdown and the Peterborough juniors scored one themselves on the strength of a great run by Ron Hodson who dashed 45 yards on a snow-covered gridiron to carry the ball over the Hamilton line. The Peterborough team has had a good season in spite of obstacles that would have caused a less courageous bunch to have folded up before it became time to play a game. They have managed to work in a schedule of five games, despite the fact that there were no clubs in their immediate district to supply opposition and they deserve credit for the contribution they have made to the meagre fall sport fare in this community.

Incidentally it is a long time since a Peterborough rugby team played a game under such backward weather and field conditions as prevailed in Oshawa Saturday. To find an equal it is necessary to go back to a December day in 1907 when Peterborough invaded Montreal for a Dominion senior final game with M.A.A.A. That was even a colder day than last Saturday. The thermometer had dived down below zero that morning and was still many degrees below the freezing point at game time. There had been a heavy fall of snow a day or two before and while the M.A.A.A. field had been scraped, the gridiron was like a skating rink and the illusion was helped by the snow piled along the touch-lines, into which the ball carrier who happened to be shoved into touch was dropped. The Petes wore ordinary cleats and they slipped every time they went to tackle or to make a quick move. In fact the slippery going had a great deal to do with the drubbing the Peterborough team received for they were skidding all over the field while the Montrealer who wore socks over their boots had far better traction and cashed in on it. As for the spectators they were chilled through, long before half time.

Ken's Face Was Red

Jim Ellis paid a visit to Belleville recently and was interviewed by Sports Scribe Ken Colling of that city with the following result: The other week-end Jim Ellis, former playing coach of the Peterborough champion Intermediate "B" hockey team, was in town paying a social visit. "What's doing in hockey circles here?" asked Jim. (That's when our puss turned as red as sails in the sunset.) "Well, sir, out in Peterborough all of the boys are pitching in to coach juvenile teams. We've divided the city into four zones with two intermediate players assuming the running and coaching of each team. I'm teaming up with Eddie Starr, Bun Kingdon and Honey Tompkins have a team to look after, Art Heal and Harding have teamed up and so on. We were hoping we could get an exhibition game with Belleville later in the season, as we will work out with the kids and keep in shape," explained Jim as he intimated there had been a suggestion made to have the Petes take a bye into the Intermediate O.H.A. playdowns. How about an exhibition game sometime along in January?" asked Jim. It was at this point we had to admit there wasn't a single Intermediate hockey player left in Belleville and that's a pretty tough admission to have to make from a city that boasts of over 16,000 inhabitants. If the war was to suddenly terminate even Trenton is in a position to ice an intermediate team for possible O.H.A. competition next month.

Toronto Leafs squeezed out a victory over the New York Rangers 4 to 3 Saturday night to take over the lead in the National Hockey League race but the Daymen only held their margin for 24 hours. Then they were knocked off by the Bruins in Boston while Canadiens by beating Black Hawks 2 to 1 in Montreal again grabbed off first place. Leafs had to come from behind to head off the Rangers who opened out fast by scoring the only two goals in the first period. It was 3 to 2 at the end of the second and McLean won the game for the Toronto gang by sinking the only marker hung up in the final 20 minutes. It was a grim contest at Boston, with Toronto scoring the first goal in the first period and Smith evening it up for Boston in the second. Leafs opened up a two goal lead early in the third period but couldn't hold it for the Bruins came back with a pair. Then Toronto once more flashed in front but the Rossmen struck back with two in a row to take the decision.

Sporting Chili Con Carne: Bill Cowley failed to pick up a scoring point last night despite the fact that the Bruins turned back the Leafs.... George Campbell must be glad there is no issue of the Oshawa Times-Gazette today. By Tuesday he may be able to think up an explanation of what happened to his beloved Generals Saturday night. Before a crowd that packed the Arena St. Mike's took the Oshawa kids apart to the tune of 12 to 1....It was the worst drubbing the Generals had ever received and "Soup" will have quite a job getting an alibi for that showing.... Kenny Smith, former Oshawa player, is going great guns for Boston.... He scored two goals for the Bruins last night and assisted in another.... At that rate Smith will be a real candidate for rookie honors this season.

3 Pacers Lower Records At Dufferin

TORONTO, Dec. 4—Three different pacers in three different races lowered the season's record at Dufferin Park Saturday. Each animal paced a mile in 2:11¼, lowering the previous record a second and a half.

Denfield Dick, driven by Harry Fields, started the record-breaking performance in the first heat of the second race when he spreadeagled his field to win in the new time.

In the first heat of the third race, Cyrus Martin, driven by Chapman, duplicated the performance of Denfield Dick when he negotiated his first mile in 2:11¼. Not to be outdone, Pat Harvie, from Michigan, drove Rose Carlton the second heat of the fourth race in exactly the same time.

The track was in fine condition, the footing being much firmer than any previous time this year. An entirely new card is on this afternoon with four races, which means twelve heats.

Lions In Front In House Loop At Y.M.C.A.

Gord. Johston's Lions went out in front in the Y.M.C.A. House League Saturday night when they defeated Ray Routley's Panthers 33 to 28, and in winning their second straight victory took over undisputed possession of first place.

Only one game was played as it was impossible for the Tigers to field a team at short notice to replace the Cougars who were originally scheduled to make their debut Saturday night.

Lions and Panthers staged an interesting battle. The former with Al Stewart sparking the attack with 11 poinnts, led most of the way, but the Routley aggregation were close enough to be dangerous. The Lions stacked up a lead of 20 to 12 in the first half and managed to hold it, in spite of the fact that the losers rallied after the rest and had a large share of the play. Paul Estlick with nine points, Don Plunkett with seven and Vic Griffin with six were next to Stewart in scoring effectiveness for the Lions while Ed Nicholls with 14 points and Bill Jones with six were top scorers for the losers.

The teams:

Lions, 33 — Gord. Johnston, Al Stewart 11, Vic Griffin 6, D. Plunkett 7, Spike Matthews, P. Estlick 9.

Panthers, 23—R. Routley, B. Jones 6, Ed. Nicholls 14, E. Darling, B. Thompson 2, Bryatt, Jim Collins 1.

Bruins Defeat Toronto Leafs; Canadiens Win

(By The Canadian Press)

Montreal Canadiens were back on top of the National Hockey League by a single point today after turning on third-period heat to down a determined Black Hawk team 2-1 at Chicago last night.

Meanwhile the Toronto Maple Leafs, after a 24-hour tenure of first place gained by a 4-3 Saturday triumph over New York Rangers, conceded a 5-4 decision to Boston Bruins.

Maurice (the Comet) Richard set the Canadien offensive in motion when he streaked by the Chicago defence for the game's first goal after 25 seconds of the third period. Pete Horeck tied it up less than three minutes later, aided by Joe Cooper and Bill Mosienko, but continued Montreal pressure paid off at 15:54 when Fern Gauthier fired the winning shot on a play with Buddy O'Connor and Dutch Hiller.

At Boston the Bruins had to come from behind three times to subdue the Leafs, who were still playing without ace forwards Sweeney Schriner and Lorne Carr. It was Toronto's second loss of the year without victory, in the Boston Garden.

Rookies Score

Scoring honors for the winners were shared by Rookie Ken Smith and Bill Cupolo, with two goals each. Smith, outstanding with Canada's junior champion Oshawa Generals last year year, also drew two assists. Ted Kennedy registered twice for Toronto.

Kennedy shot the Leafs into a 1-0 lead with the only score of the first period and Smith equalized in the second. Defensive tactics were taboo in the third when five goals, three of them by Toronto, were rammed home in the first five minutes. Nick Metz and Babe Pratt gave the Leafs a 3-1 lead on goals 28 seconds apart, but Smith and Cupolo came right back to square things again. Kennedy got his second at 4:20, and there was no further scoring until 12:23 when Jack Crawford made it 4-4. Cupolo teamed with Smith and Frank Mario for the clinching score two minutes later.

Walter Atanas and Fred Thurier gave the visitors a 2-0 lead in the first period, but Metz put the Leafs back in the game after 18 seconds of the second and got another unassisted after Ab Demarco had scored the final New York goal. Wally Stanowski, back on defence with his old mates after discharge from the Air Force, made it 3-3 before the end of the period.

Jackie McLean, University of Toronto student who plays Canadian games with the Leafs, scored the winner half-way through the third period and then engaged in a slugging match with Ranger centre Phil Watson to close out the night's activities. Each drew a major penalty.

WATER SCOOTER, TO BE SURE—Only an inch of water is needed for this wind-propelled boat, used by the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service to scoot around in out-of-the-way habitats. The boat was designed and built by two FWS biologists of Salt Lake City, Utah. Besides being capable of making 40 miles per hour in shallow water, the boat is so light that it can be operated and loaded on a trailer by one man.

Here and There in Sport

By The Canadian Press

The U.S. Army team lived up to many predictions of final success by walking through Navy 23-7 before 70,000 fans at Baltimore to capture the country's mythical football championship with a perfect record for the season of nine successive victories, the first all-win campaign for West Point since 1916.

Notre Dame closed its grid season by chalking up a 28-7 victory over Great Lakes, this being the third straight success for the Irish after bowing to both Army and Navy. Texas Christian, championship outfit of the Southwest Conference, suffered a 9-6 defeat at the hands of the Southern Methodist, while Georgia Tech, picked for the Orange Bowl fixture New Year's Day, smashed Georgia 44-0.

Paper Boy, with Georgie Woolf up, captured the $25,000 American Handicap Saturday at Hollywood Park, finishing a length and a half in front of Happy Issue. The crowd of 35,000 wagered $2,385,167 during the day's card.

In U.S. pro football Saturday Detroit Lions walloped Boston 38-7 while Chicagi ran up a 49-7 score against the Chicago - Pittsburgh Combines and Philadelphia whitewashed Brooklyn 34-0. The one close tilt was New York's 16-13 victory over Washington.

Sgt. Jim Ferrier of Camp Roberts, Calif., held a one-stroke lead over defending champion Byron Nelson of Toledo, O., as they teed off today for the final round of the 72-hole San Francisco Open Golf tournament. Nelson, high money winner of 1944, was the choice as he set out in the same threesome as Ferrier, former Australian champion and a pro at Elmhurst, Ill., before induction nine months ago. The Toledo star gained a stroke on Sgt. Ferrier in the third round yesterday when he hooked a three-under-par 69 to the soldier's 70, but the latter clung to the lead he set up with a great 66 on the preceding day. At the halfway mark it was Ferrier, 141, and Nelson, 143. The third round established the Army's hope at 211 and the title defender at 212.

Twilight Tear Takes Top Spot

NEW YORK, Dec. 4 (AP)—Warren Wright's 3-year-old filly, Twilight Tear, today was voted the "Horse of the Year" in the annual poll of 28 experts of Triangle Publications, publishers of the Daily Racing Form and Associated Newspapers.

Triumphant in 14 of 17 starts and winner of $202,165 in two years of racing, the "Tear," trained by Ben Jones, received 26 of the 28 votes. The other two were cast for the undefeated 2-year-olds, Walter M. Jeffords' Pavot and John Marsch's Free For All.

In winning nine stakes during the season and earning $167,555 the queen of the turf lost only to Mettlesome and Adulator in her first start of the year at Hialeah, to Vienna in the Alabama Stakes at Belmont and to Dare Me in the Maryland Handicap at Laurel. In her last start she romped off with the Pimlico Special by six lengths over Devil Diver.

In becoming the first filly in turf history to receive the "Horse of the Year" honors, Twilight Tear also was an unanimous choice as the best 3-year-old, best 3-year-old filly and best handicap filly or mare.

Other champions: Best 2-year-old and best 2-year-old colt, Pavot; best 2-year-old filly, Busher; best 3-year-old colt, By Jimminy; best handicap horse, Devil Diver; best steeplechaser, Rouge Dragon.

TORONTO, Dec. 4 — (CP). — Gentlemen of the wrestling fraternity are quite rightly outraged by the remarks of that Japanese propagandist who spoke so slightingly of the great mat pastime in America. The little man can expect to have more than one verbal nip taken at him for his temerity.... Frank Tunney, Toronto wrestling maestro, is reportedly quite steamed up about it, especially the insinuation that horrible fiends are imported from far off lands to terrify the innocents at the wrestling matches....Mr. Tunney says he will get "huge and horrible looking monsters" from Japan after the war, if the customers become too blase.

Westward Ho:

Jimmy Ward, former Montreal Redman, is having his troubles as manager of the Portland team in the West Coast hockey loop. It seems Jimmy imported a number of hopefuls from Montreal to dazzle the Western customers, but the other teams had a bit too much class in the shape of their Western players....Aubrey Webster, former Western Junior and Moncton Hawk, is playing with Ward's Portlanders, and doing a capable job among the youngsters.

Buckshot:

The Navy has a new, $667,000 gymnasium in Halifax that is the showplace of the city. What will happen to it after the war is problematical, but Haligonian sportsters hope it will be available for use by the city's youth....New York Rangers are anxious to get Neil Colville after he sheds his R.C.A.F. uniform, but Jimmy Ward on the West Coast has his eye on him as well....Two Ontario ice lovelies may get a chance to join the Icecapades cast, Anita Flynn of Timmins and Nancy McKenzie of London, caught the eye of Charlie Uksilla, stage manager of the show, who had about 50 Ontario girls go through their paces the other day. ....Basketball promoters in Victoria are optimists of the keenest sort. They are building the game up, and have big plans for the future. There's nothing wrong with that, but they are worrying already they won't be able to find a large enough gym to hold the crowds they expect to get.

St. Michael's Defeat Oshawa 12-1

By The Canadian Press

St. Michael's grabbed a clear lead in the O.H.A. Junior "A" standing by trouncing the Memorial Cup defenders 12-1 in Oshawa Saturday night, for their fourth straight victory of the season against no losses. The Students have a one-game margin over St. Catharines Falcons and Generals are in third place with two wins and one defeat.

The Collegians literally overwhelmed the champions before a record crowd of 3,500, going into a 2-0 lead in the first period, running it to 8-0 in the second and holding a 10-0 score in the third frame before Freddie Petsura found the target for Oshawa's lone tally.

Johnny Blute of St. Mikes resumed leadership in the individual scoring race by coming through with two goals, although Joe Sadler and Thomson were the leading snipers with a trio of counters apiece. Singles were notched by John McCormick, Tod Sloan, Costello and Arundel.

Galt Red Wings, at home, registered their first triumph of the campaign by walloping Toronto Young Rangers 9-2 after losing two fixtures. Pavelich and Mayer each netted two goals while Curik, Labando, Mousseau, Small and [illegible] accounted for singletons. The bell-ringers for Rangers were [illegible] and McLernon. Galt led 3-2 at the first recess but after that it was the home crew all the way with six markers in a row.

114,700 Tons Of Bombs Hit Germany

LONDON, Dec. 4—(CP). — Allied planes dropped more than 114,700 tons of bombs on Germany during November, the greatest amount of explosives to hit Germany in a single month, it was announced.

British-based bombers of the RAF jarred Germany with a record load of 59,000 tons on 19 days and 22 night of operations in November, the biggest winter operational month of the war.

United States heavy bombers based in Britain flew 16,500 trips on 18 operational days—compared with only 11 days of flying in November, 1943—and ripped Germany with 37,880 tons of explosives.

Heavy bombers of the United States 15th Air Force stationed in Italy battered Germany with an additional 17,820 tons.

The bulk of the bombs was aimed at Germany's dwindling sources of aviation and motor fuel and at vital military rail centres handling traffic for the Western front.

In all operations more than 794 enemy planes were destroyed.

United States losses for November were 303 heavy bombers and 167 fighters, while the RAF lost an estimated 155 heavy bombers and 127 fighter aircraft.

White Feathers Make Appearance

HALIFAX, Dec. 4—(CP).—White feathers, symbols of cowardice in the First Great War, made their first appearance of this war here during the week-end when four women handed them out to civilians in the downtown section.

Receipts of the feathers said they were distributed indiscriminately to anyone in civilian clothing. Among those getting them were five British members of the merchant navy, one of whom had been torpedoed five times since 1939.

One was received by a Canadian Army veteran who had lost an arm in the Ortona fighting.

Veteran Dies

DUNNVILLE, Ont., Dec. 4—(CP)—Capt. George R. J. Wilson, 73, veteran of the Boer and First Great Wars and former superintendent for the transport department in the Dunnville area, died yesterday at his home. He lived in St. Catharines, Ont., before coming to Dunnville 25 years ago.

A Happy Christmas

SOUTH BEND, Ind., Dec. 2 — (AP). — It was Christmas — carols, gifts, tree and all — at Cpl. Casimer Klemnec's home yesterday. His furlough ends today, and he hasn't been home for Christmas for four years. He's had 33 months' overseas duty.

THEIR HOMES BLASTED, REFUGEES EAT MEALS OUTDOORS—French refugees of the town of Corcieux, France, eat their noon meal in a courtyard. Retreating German troops set fire to the town and most of the residents were left homeless.

Canadian Nurses Assist Soldiers Of Sister State

WITH THE CANADIANS IN ITALY, Dec. 4.—(CP).—In a South African general hospital on the Italian front are 26 Canadian nursing sisters who have been working in Union of South African hospitals for almost three years.

Have they become South African or are they still Canadian?

It didn't take long to find an answer to that. Like a lot of other Canadians in the Italian theatre they want to go home—to Canada—and the sooner the better.

They are some of the 300 Canadian nurses who answered a call for volunteer nursing sisters to go to South Africa where they were posted to hospitals throughout the country. Some of them missed Canadian ways so much they returned to Canada or joined Canadian hospital units here or on the western front.

But not all of the 300 felt that way and about 50 married South Africans.

The Canadian girls with the South African hospital here say they are much happier that they are close to home and can sometimes hear a Canadian voice.

The case of Nursing Sister Louise Jamieson of Durham, Ont., is typical. She arrived in Italy recently after two years in South Africa and for the first time in two years and a half met her brother, Lieut. Bowman (Pete) Jamieson, who has been with an Ontario Armored Regiment since the invasion of Sicily.

Praise For South Africa

All the nursing sisters praise South Africa and its hospitable people. Nursing Sister Connie Cuthbert, of Ingersoll, Ont., formerly of Christie Street Hospital, Toronto, said, "It is a land of perpetual sunshine — but naturally we missed Canada. I missed my Canadian friends more than anything."

A good Canadian home-cooked meal is what Nursing Sister Aida McMillan of (68 Cooper St.) Ottawa wants on her return to Canada.

She spent 13 months at Baragwanath, one of the world's largest tuberculosis hospitals, where Matron Gladys Sharpe, now superintendent of the Western Hospital in Toronto, supervised 121 Canadian nursing sisters.

Nursing Sister Marie Downs of Windsor and London, Ont., said she also missed real Canadian cooking.

"What I missed more than anything was Canadian news and I don't know how I got along without the comics," declared Nursing Sister Blanche Murphy of Cutknife and Saskatoon, Sask.

"I'm looking forward to my first trip on the new Alaska Highway," said Nursing Sister Edith Trowbridge of (12427 1034 Ave.) Edmonton. "But what I missed most were Canadian sports and the wide open spaces of the west. What South Africa lacks is just our way of life."

Other Canadian nursing sisters at the hospital include Maureen Green, Sydney, N.S.; Justine Delmott, Stellarton, N.S.; Helen A. Brown, East Florenceville, N.B.; Marguerite McLimont, Quebec, and Gwendolyn Stevenson and Nancy Lee, Vancouver.

Squirrel Adopts Nayler Family

MARMORA, Dec. 4— (ENS).— The family of Mr. and Mrs. H. P. Nayler have an entertaining pet, a black squirrel who responds to the name given to it two months ago—"Cracker." His frolics upon a woodpile in the back kitchen of their home on the night of October 7 led to his discovery.

The little fellow showed a surprising readiness to the domesticated, and now no kitten in the village enjoys a greater prestige as a pet than "Cracker." It seems as if he had been tamed by someone before coming to us, said Mrs. Nayler. He is allowed to leave and enter the ktchen at will. When he comes in he has the habit of springing from the shoulder of one person to that of another. Sometimes he wanders into the home of a neighbor to repeat the same performance and he enjoys drinking water from a fish bowl in which there is a solitary goldfish.

"Cracker" is very fond of apples and also relishes toast with peanut butter on it. Like Mary's little lamb he has attended school, for Helen Nayler took him there in a box one day to show him to her school fellows. For a pastime, he enjoys a game of marbles with Helen and her brother Bobbie, usually turning it into a hide and seek game.

A week ago a flying squirrel captured by Bobbie, was lodged in the same home but it was released when efforts to tame it faialed.

Fire Sweeps Quebec Village

COWANSVILLE, Que., Dec. 4—(CP). — Fifteen families, a total of 45 persons, were made homeless and damage estimated at $500,000 was caused by fire which swept both sides of Main Street here yesterday, destroying seven buildings housing stores, offices, and apartments.

The fire broke out in the forenoon and many persons sleeping late had to leave their homes in night clothes. Most of the burned-out families, living n apartments above the business blocks, lost their belongings.

Last night the town was without telegraph or telephone communications and electric power was candles. The ton's two drug stores were destroyed and efforts were made to rush drugs here by trucks.

The fire struck this town of 3,500 population, 50 miles south-west of Montreal, with spectacular suddenness and quickly spread, jumping from the south side of Main Street to the north.

The seven buildings destroyed contained the premises of 12 firms and nine residential apartments.

Homeless families are being taken care of by neighbors and the local church organizations.

There were no casualties, although a few persons required first-aid treatment. An 83-year-old woman, Mrs. P. E. Hauver, died of a heart attack during the fire although her home was not touched by the flames.

AT A FAST PACE—Admiral William F. Halsey, Jr., U.S.N., commander of the U.S. Third Fleet, walks briskly on the deck of a warship in the Pacific. It was revealed officially that Admiral Halsey's flagship has steamed 36,185 miles, nearly equal to one and one-half trips around the world, in spearheading the unprecedented 90-day campaign by the third fleet against the Japs from Okinawa to the southern Philippines.

Escaped Japs Twice; Friends Shot

HOUSTON, Tex., Dec. 4.—(AP).— Sgt. Denver B. Rose of Houston has revealed a story of 30 American prisoners who were recaptured after they escaped from a torpedoed Japanese prison ship.

Twenty-nine of these, the sergeant said, were shot to death.

For the one who got away—Sgt. Rose—it was a second major experience in Japanese treatment to American prisoners. Rose, captured on Corregidor, was one of the prisoners on the "March of Death." His story was released by the army today.

Rose said he was on the prison ship with 749 other Americans. The ship was sailing north along the coast of the Zamboagna Peninsula when the torpedo struck last Sept. 7.

"Many were caught below decks and never had a chance," he said. "The Japs turned machine-guns on those who got into the water. I was within 50 yards of land when the Japs caught me and took me and 29 others into a small boat and then to a prison ship."

Releases His Hands.

On the ship, his hands tied behind him, Rose rubbed his hands against a frayed steel cable, inflicting painful wounds, but finally freeing his hands.

"I decided I'd just as soon be shot trying to get away as the other way, so I made a break for it," he continued. "I ran to the front end of the ship and slipped down into the anchor-hole. I hid there for about 20 minutes while they searched the ship for me. When I heard more shooting, I let myself down into the water."

Rose says what he heard were death shots for the 29 other Americans. They were killed singly and their bodies were tossed overboard.

Safe on Shore

"I treaded water very softly so as not to stir up the phosphorescense," the sergeant continued. "Gradually I moved away from the ship and finally lit out for the shore."

Rose reached the shore in safety. He was one of 83 out of the 750 men on the prison shop who were rescued. The others perished. Rose and the 82 others were rescued when the Philippines were invaded.

"When we hit Australia," he said, "I weighed 112 pounds. We kept eating heartily and you could almost stand and watch a fellow fill out. I gained 50 pounds in two months."

Rose, exhibiting scarred hands, souvenirs of his escape, says he hasn't made up his mind what to do with $4,477 in back pay which he collected.

TO MARRY OR NOT!

Young love is comical. Saturday afternoon, a young man and woman were seen walking along George street shouting violently about the question of to marry or not to marry. "I'm not going to marry you", the man announced, and the woman replied just as venomously, "You ARE going to marry me." Interested spectators puzzled about what the conversation implied, but were left in doubt as the couple passed on down the street—D. M.

Story of Beer in Bag Interests Policemen

Although Ernest E. Carveth, Romaine street, entered a plea of guilty in police court this morning to a charge of having liquor in a place other than a residence, the story he told the court earned an adjournment to give the police a chance to investigate

Carveth was arrested on Park street Sunday by Constable W. A. Clarke after it had been discovered that the burlap bag he was carrying contained a case of beer.

This morning Carveth said that he bought the beer on his permit some time ago and had left it at his brother's residence. He said that he was taking it home when he was arrested.

Falling Tree Causes Death Of A. Althouse

Fatally injured by a falling tree Monday, November 27, Andrew Althouse died in a Havelock hospital, Sunday. He was cutting trees alone in a bush several miles north of the village. One of them struck him a glancing blow on the body, hurling him to the ground and causing internal injuries which resulted in his death a week later. He lay unconscious from morning until late in the afternoon when he was found and taken back to Havelock.

Andrew Althouse was born at Oak Lake, north of Havelock, seventy-three years ago, son of Thomas Althouse, one of the pioneer settlers of that eastern section of Peterborough county. He engaged in the lumbering industry throughout his life, but moved to Havelock twenty years ago.

The family was well-known throughout that area along the Hastings boundary, and highly respected.

Mr. Althouse is survived by his wife, the former Kathryn Wood, and two sons, Colin H. and Clarence E. of Peterborough. Mrs. John Simpson of Loon Lake is a sister. The funeral will take place Tuesday at 2 p.m. from the Curtis Undertaking Parlors at Havelock to Maple Grove Cemetery.

London Streets Blocked

LONDON, Ont., Dec. 4 (CP) — London's transportation system was still bogged down today by the snow left by last week's storm. Hundreds of persons were forced to walk to work and others waited for as long as three-quarters of an hour at bus stops. Officials of the London Street Railway said all buses had been removed from ditches and snowdrifts but some needed repairs.

Boiler Explodes At Knox Church

Shortly before the morning service at Knox church Sunday, while the congregation were filing into their pews, one of the two boilers collapsed, causing an explosion and filling the building with gas.

Although the minister, Rev. H. J. Mahoney, tried to carry on the service, the gas became too heavy and after less than half an hour the service was discontinued. But the evening service was conducted in the Lecture Hall, which can be heated by the remaining boiler.

No one was in the furnace room when the explosion occurred, and it is believed that the cause was old age, since the boilers are 35 years old. Work began on the dismantling of the boiler to-day and it is not expected that it will be possible to repair the damage done in the explosion, Mr. Mahoney said to-day.

English Family Want To Live In Peterboro

Mayor Hamilton received a letter from Peterborough, England, a few days ago, written by Mrs. H. Sheffield, 350 Gladstone street, mentioning some of the boys from Peterborough, Ontario, who have visited at her home during the war years. Three of the names which are recognized as from this Peterborough are Wilford Lackey, Vernon Outwater and Wally Crouter.

"We came back here from Canada in 1936 and have been unable to return because of the war. Our boy was born in Canada and for his sake we must get back there," Mrs. Sheffield wrote. "He is now nine. There is one Peterborough boy he dearly loves, a prisoner of war in Germany, Wilford Lackey. We have had letters from the mothers of the boys we entertained at our home, thanking us and telling us how glad they were that the boys had such homes as ours to visit.

My husband is a painter of automobiles, has never been out of work in his life, and never late, and if you can help him get a job in Peterborough, Ontario, we would be very grateful to you."

Home Teaching Of Poor Quality

The Peterborough Christian Business Men's Committee had as their guest speaker Sunday evening, Rev. Wm. MacRoberts of Oshawa, and as guest soloist, Mrs. MacRoberts.

Taking as his text the words of the Prophet Isaiah to Hezekiah the King, "What have they seen in thy house", the speaker referred to the fact that when people see the spread of juvenile crime and delinquency so apparent today they immediately lay the blame on either the church, the school or the state, either one or all of these they say have failed in their duty when probably it would be nearer the truth if they pointed their fingers at the home.

Mr. MacRoberts gave several forcible illustrations of this fact based on his own experience as pastor of a city church. Referring to his text the speaker pointed out the occasion which prompted the Prophet Isaiah to speak these words. It was on the occasion of the visit of the son of the King of Babylon, who came with greeting from his father who had recovered from his illness..

The first point brought out by the speaker was that Hezekiah boasted to these men of his material prosperity and yet at the same time throughout his kingdom the signs of moral decay were increasing every day. His pride in his possessions was shown by the Prophet to be utter folly. Frequently men have boasted the abundance of their riches, and of their power, but always God has said unto them as in the parable told by Jesus of the rich man who would build greater barns to store his crops: "Thou fool this night shall thy soul be required of thee."

Not only did Hezekiah show his pride and his folly in his house but he showed that his house was out of order. This the speaker pointed out was only too true of many homes today. No house is in order if the word of God is not honored and unless the spirit of Jesus Christ dominates the conduct of the parents. God's message today is the same as given to Hezekiah through Isaiah what do people see in your house?

Next Sunday Rev. Clifford Van Duzen of Calvary Baptist Church Oshawa, will be the speaker.

Christmas Gifts Enrich Fund In Personal Way

For a few years past, the season of Christmas has been an ever expanding one, due of course in part to the wide separation the needs of war have forced on many families, so that instead of the old familiar phrase of "only so many days shopping until Christmas" one has started to be reminded of its approach months instead of weeks ahead.

From this city and district, one of the greatest expansions in the thoughts of Christmas in addition to the foregoing, has been brought about because people were kind and thoughtful enough to think of all the unfortunate people in the British Isles who have been made homeless through the penalties that a modern war inflicts.

From a community standpoint it should also be asserted, that there probably never was any one particular marking of this blessed event, in which so many people joined together at this time, to try to make others happy. When one considers that it has all been for people living thousands of miles away, one could add that here was a real marking of the true spirit of Christmas.

While the joy of Christmas is something that belongs to, and should be shared in by everybody, all those who are in a position to do so, think in larger terms of making the young children, and the aged, sick and infirm most happy on this great day, and that is just what the objects and aims of the Peterborough and District British War Victims Fund are. This is the reason why for the 5th time in succession, the fund has made a special appeal at this season of the year.

This has been most aptly demonstrated by the large number of original letters, sometimes accompanied by pictures of the gatherings of large numbers of children, who have been benefited by the people of this city and district, that have come to the fund management as soon afterwards, as time and distance would allow.

Personal Giving

Sharing in this to a large extent has been a much greater number of personal gifts than at any other season of the year, demonstrating in the same degree how many people want to do something for others at this time, among whom to a large degree, are numbered those who have been continuous supporters of the fund throughout the whole of the time it has been in operation.

Today's list of purely personal gifts verifies this, when one sees the lady known as "In as much" included with Mrs. William Shannon who have given on a regular monthly basis during the whole of that period.

Included in this list may also be noted a memorial to one at least of this city's heroes who gave his life for friends and country, one of the finest of ways in which tribute may be paid to those who have thus given all they had, for Christmas also symbolizes the beginning of the life on earth of Him, who gave His life for the redemption of all mankind.

At the moment, the fund still needs $5,041 to complete its objective for Christmas, so it is hoped that large numbers will give their personal support in a similar way, as have those noted today.

RADIONICS

The most priceless thing on earth is good health. Are you endangering your health by not paying sufficient attention to the danger signals that nature is giving you? Headaches, sore throat, bronchial cough, pain over sinus and antrum, constipation, kidney and liver conditions, pain over the appendix area and urinary bladder. These are all warning signals, if you will only heed them.

RADIONIC EXAMINATION will determine the cause of any of these symptoms. If you have infection of the sinus, teeth, tonsils, kidneys, appendix bowel, etc., the Radioclast will find it and trace it to the part affected. Don't neglect your health by not knowing what the cause is.

Court Remands Man For Ringing Alarm

Lavergne Healey, 23, Wescott street, who pleaded guilty in police court Saturday morning to turning in a false alarm of fire appeared this morning for sentence, but at the request of Crown Attorney V. J. McElderry, K.C., who said that the investigation was not complete yet, was remanded until Thursday.

Healey made a request for bail.

"I am not going to grant you bail on a plea of guilty" said Magistrate O. A. Langley, K.C. "You are liable to a year's imprisonment onthis charge."

As the result of a disturbance on George street Sunday evening Gerald Sweet was fined $10 and $2.50 costs in police court this morning and Gloria Cunningham, charged with creating a disturbance had her case adjourned when she entered a plea of not guilty The two had been arrested by Constables Ernest Beatty and Andre Dalton.

25 Cases Of Liquor Stolen From Store

TORONTO, Dec 4 (CP)—Toronto police said last night they believed 25 cases of liquor stolen from the Deseronto Liquor Store at the week-end had been brought to Toronto They found an abandoned car stolen from Belleville Saturday night and believed to have been used in the liquor theft. A number of labels removed from liquor bottles were found on the floor of the car.

Voting Is Light In First Hours; Polls Close At 7

Voting was extremely light up until one o'clock this afternoong at eight of the city's polling stations according to an Examiner survey. Heavier voting was expected from four o'clock and continuing until the polls close at seven o'clock. Despite the early trend at the polls, widespread interest in the present municipal elections and money by-laws was indicated by a large number of phone calls throughout the entire morning, asking for information about voting, City Clerk Ted Outram said. At one o'clock, 36 voters had cast their ballots at Polling Division No. 34, the Normal Hill district. Most of the voters in this area are land-owners and there are approximately 300 names on the voters' list.

Twenty-one votes had been recorded at Poll 30 in Central School up until 12:30 o'clock, out of a voters' list of approximately 395 people. At that time, the polls had been open only for one hour and a half.

Also in Central School, Poll No. 15 reported 17 voters' had been heard from out of a list of approximately 300, and at Poll 16 seventeen people had voted also. Although the number was being increased fairly steadily, 26 people had voted at Poll 14 located in the city buildings up until one o'clock. Poll 13, reported 35 voters heard from, and Poll 12 counted 15 voters. The former has a voting list of approximately 340, while the latter counts approximately 300 on its list.

Up until 12:30, 11 citizens had voted at Poll 40, located at Kennedy's House, at the corner of Carlisle and Armour Road in Ashburnham. They have a voters' list of 280 names.

This evening, the Peterborough Examiner will broadcast election returns at nine o'clock, and a final round-up of election news at 11:10 o'clock. Arrangements have been made by the Examiner to give up-to-the-minute news on the municipal elections also by window bulletins and telephone service.

Although there is no mayoralty contest this year in Peterborough, it was felt that the interest always stimulated by it would be caused by the money bylaws, and particularly the civic hospital by-law.

LOANS FOR MEN AND WOMEN WHO WORK

Here's a quick, private way to borrow up to $500— No endorsers required — Repay in monthly instalments that fit your own budget

SHORT of cash? Need $100, $200 or more? Here's a loan plan that can help you solve your problem. You may borrow quickly and privately — and repay on the monthly schedule that suits you best. To apply for the amount you need you merely give us a few facts about yourself and your work. No endorsers or guarantors are ever required. We lend—to men and to women—largely on character and earning ability.

Payments to fit your budget

Notice in the table below that you may repay your loan in 2 to 15 monthly instalments. It's wise to repay as rapidly as your income and expenses permit. The sooner you repay the less your loan costs. A $100 loan repaid in twelve monthly instalments of $9.46 each — a total of $113.52—costs $13.52. If repaid in six monthly instalments of $17.85 each a $100 loan costs only $7.10. You are also welcome to repay your loan ahead of schedule at any time to reduce the cost. Payments shown in the table repay principal and charges. Our rate of charge (given below) includes everything. You pay nothing more—no hidden charges, no fees or extras of any kind.

Get cash to pay your bills

You may use your Household Finance loan to pay old debts, taxes, doctor bill, insurance premiums, make repairs, help relatives — for almost any purpose. If you have a money problem, phone, write or visit Household Finance.

Madeline Bertrand Becomes Bride

MARMORA, Dec. 4 —(ENS)— A pretty wedding was solemnized in the Sacred Heart Church, Marmora, at 9 a. m. on Saturday as Rev. Father H. J. Farrell united in Holy Matrimony, Madeline Bertrand Reg. N., daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Stanis Bertrand of Marmora and James L. Slattery B. A. son of Mrs. J. F. Slattery and the late James F. Slattery of Seaforth.

The sanctuary was beautifully adorned with yellow and white chrysanthemums and the wedding music was sung by the Children's choir with Miss Rita Deacon at the organ.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was attired in a Queen blue crepe street-length dress. She wore a blue feather hat with shoulder-length veil and her corsage was of red doses.

Mrs. H. A. McNally of Deloro, sister of the bride, was matron of honor and wore a beige crepe dress with black Parisian turban and accessories and corsage of pink roses. The duties of groomsman were discharged by H. A. McNally, James L. Shannon acted as usher.

The wedding breakfast was held at the home of the bride, the bride's mother wearing a black crepe dress with corsage of Talisman roses The wedding trip was to Toronto and points west. For travelling the bride chose a Chinese red wool two-piece dress, Hudson seal coat and black hat and accessories, Mr. and Mrs. Slattery will take up residence at Seaforth.

Johnston-Dunford Vows Pledged

A wedding of interest took place in Springville United church, when Flora Luella Dunford, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. O. J. Dunford, of Springville, became the bride of Clifford Howard Johnston, son of Mr. and Mrs. M. H. Johnston, of Springville. Rev. J. F. Everson officiated, in a church decorated with mums and ferns for the occasion.

Miss Mildred Shaver of Hamilton, cousin of the groom, played the wedding music, and accompanied Miss Ila Dunford, sister of the bride, when she sang "I Love You Truly" during the signing of the register.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was charming in a floor-length gown of white satin, on long torso lines, with Sweetheart neckline. Her veil of white net was was caught to a matching Queen Anne halo, and she wore a strand of pearls and carried a bouquet of red roses.

Miss Mina Dunford was her sister's bridesmaid and was frocked in blue lace over taffeta, with a pin flower hat and veil, and carried pink roses. She also wore a string of pearls. Little Helen Kimball, niece of the groom, was a dainty flower girl in blue novelty organdy, with blue veil caught with pink rosebuds, a pearl necklace, and carrying pink 'mums.

Clarence M. Johnston, twin brother of the groom, was best man, and the ushers were Johnston Rowland and William Dunford, brother of the bride.

About 65 guests were present at the reception, held following the ceremony at Elmdale Farm, where the bride's mother received, wearing wine crepe, black accessories, and a corsage of yellow roses. The groom's mother, also receiving, wore moss green crepe, black hat, and a corsage of yellow roses.

For a wedding trip to Toronto, Hamilton and Buffalo, and other points the bride chose a blue tweed suit, navy topcoat and red accessories. On their return, Mr. and Mrs. Johnston will make their home on the groom's farm in North Monaghan.

WED 50 YEARS—Mr. and Mrs. Robert Falls, RR 2, Peterborough, are observing their 50th wedding anniversary Tuesday. The couple have spent most of their lives in the Bailieboro area, where Mr. Falls was a farmer, and the immediate family and relatives will be present for the celebration.

St. James' Band Holds Open Meeting

The annual open meeting of St. James' United Mission Band was held in the Primary Department of the church, with more than 50 members and friends present.

The president, Elva Sollitt, was in the chair and Freda McMahon gave the call to worship and Evelyn Wallace read the Scripture lesson, Phil. 4:8-9 After which all joined in a responsive litany. The Band leader, Miss Constance Wagar, gave a worship story called "The King's Garden." The offering wes received by the treasurer, Evelyn Wallace, and dedicated.

Fitting into the theme of worship was a little playlet, "The King's Helpers," put on by June Bullied and Mary Hunter and prayer by Barbara Wallace closed this part of the program.

The leader welcomed the congregation and gave a brief outline of the year's work, paying special tribute to assistance given by several Sunday School classes and members of the W.M.S. Reports were received from the secretary and treasurer, the roll was called and members reminded to bring their mite boxes to the December meeting Barbara Wallace sang an effective group of songs and Gordon Bullied played a piano solo.

Present Play

While Elva Sollitt played quietly in accompaniment the Mission Band presented a charming little Christmas play, "At Bethlehem Inn," directed by Freda McMahon. Those taking part were Donna Bristow, Roy Harris, Bobby Keeting and Ronald Wallace. The piano solo by Evelyn Wallace and the reading, "Fannies Fairies," by Lorraine Keeting were also enjoyed.

The exercise "How we got our Bible," was introduced by Mrs. E. M. Davis and presented by Vera Derrett, Yvonne White, Bobby Kingdon, Donna Bristow and Kay, Joyce and Earl Agnew. Miss Helen Moncrief closed the exercise with her reading, and a quartette, "Tell Me The Story of Jesus," was sung by Vera Derette, Mary Taylor, Yvonne White and Joyce Agnew, and accompanied by Miss McMahon.

Rev. Mr Craig gave the story of David Livingstone as a missionary incentive to the boys and girls. A special guest Mrs. Robert Hanscomb, Presbyterial Band secretary, spoke to the members and introduced their new study book, "Twenty-Two-Wheels," displaying some hand work illustrating the study.

Mission Bands Attend Rally

Under the direction of Mrs. Robert Hanscomb, presbyterial secretary of Mission Bands, a successful rally was held in Mark Street United church Saturday afternoon with more than a hundred band workers of Peterborough district in attendance.

The program throughout was conducted by the children with Mrs. H. A Mitchell of Trinity Mission Band, acting as pianist.

Gweneth Mitchell of Trinity Band presided as president for the afternoon and gave the opening prayer. The minutes of the last meeting were read by Margaret McNeil, of Springville, who also gave the roll call for the Bands of the Presbyterial. The treasurer's report was presented by Eleanor Bowles, Springville, and Margery Forsythe, Bridgenorth, read the report from the Watch Tower.

Reports were also received from the temperance secretary, Eleanor Logan, Mark street band, and from the peace secretary, June Drummond, of Knox Mission Band. Mrs. F. W. K. Harris, president of Peterborough W.M.S. presbyterial, was introduced by Marilyn Todd of Knox Band. Mrs. Harris brought a timely message to both the band members and their leaders, which was acknowledged in a vote of thanks moved by Shirley Killingbeck and Gwenneth Todd.

The service of worship was conducted by Margaret Johnston of Knox Mission Band on the theme, "The World One Neighborhood." The call to worship was given by Nancy Rose and Doris Sutton of Coldsprings, who recited Psalm 100 in unison and the scripture lesson, Mihca 4:1-5, was read by Barbara Kitchen and Arlene Jarvis of George St. Band.

Interesting Program

A stewardship playlet, "Mary and Her Money," was presented by three members of St. James' Mission Band, Lorraine Keating, Evelyn and Barbara Wallace. The offering was received by Gary Corner, Jim Elliott, Trevor Mitchell and Roderick Delaney of Trinity Band.

Miss Margaret Harris, the leader of St. Andrew's Mission Band, told a story, "Cabbages for Christmas."

In closing, pictures were placed on the flannelgraph board, under the direction of Oryce McIlraith.

After the benediction the children joined in games and refreshments were served by the leaders.

The children were congratulated by Mrs. Harris for the efficient and reverent way in which their program was carried out.

A vote of thanks to the entertaining church was moved by Lorraine Keating and Evelyn Wallace.

Russian Numbers Feature Program

The story of the Nutcracker Suite, by Peter Tschaikowsky, was the feature of a piano recital given in the Green Room of the Y.W.C.A., by pupils of Miss Marguerite Rome. Stewart Brown read the story of the suite, and various students played the selections.

Those taking part, and their numbers were: "Overtrure," "Chinese Dance," and "Arabian Dance," played by Miss Pauline Zachs; "March of the Toy Soldiers," by Marilyn Edgar, with drum accompaniment by Floyd Roberts; "Dance of the Candy Fairy," "Russian Dance" and "Dance of the Reed Pipes," by Miss Joan Krough; and "Waltz of the Flowers" by Miss Ethel Fine. Miss Ann Grey provided an unusual and entertaining interlude when she danced to the music of the "Dance of the Candy Fairy."

Others taking part in the program included; Misses Irene MacMaster, Bernice Magee, Betty Williams, Louise Jarvis, Pearl Cowan, Betty Strano, Lou Anne Kempt, Margaret Thomas, June Croft, Marilyn Edgar, Marian Bigelow, Clara Mae Alhouse, Joan Austin, Patsy Ann Weston, Margaret Munro, Beth Davidson, Dorothy Harvey, Peggy Patterson, Frances Thomas and Gerry Patterson, Bob Peace, Doug. Rattenbury, Stewart Brown, Roy Weldon.

Refreshments were served at the conclusion of the evening.

Teachers Hear Diltz Address

B. C. Diltz, Professor of Methods in English and History, addressed an interested audience on the subject, "What Can Literature and Learning Mean Today?" The lecture was sponsored by the Catholic Teachers' Association of Peterborough, and was held in Mount St. Joseph auditorium.

The speaker was introduced by Rev. F. Marrocco. The first division of Mr. Diltz's address was an exposition of the outstanding defects in the pragmatic trend of modern education which lays an undue stress on the utilitarian side, at the expense of the aesthetic.

A short interlude followed in which a musical program was given. Proceeding with his subject, Mr. Diltz, with a contagious enthusiasm, presented his plea for the retention of the old ideals of education which stressed character rather than career building, the training of the affections to an appreciation of beauty and truth, rather than the satisfaction of natural impulses. By a brilliant and sympathetic analysis of selected poems which embodied these high ideals, the speaker revealed to his audience "What literature and learning can mean today."

At the close of the lecture, Right Rev. F. J. O'Sullivan, D.P., V.G., P.P., expressed to Mr. Diltz the appreciation of the audience.

The pupils of St. Mary's Convent music class were responsible for the numbers which rounded out the program of the evening. They were as follows: Piano duet, "March Militaire, by Misses Mary Jane Fitzgerald and Ann Szammers; vocal solo, "Morning," by Miss Joan Pitchford; violin solo, "Souvenir," by Kevin Leahy; vocal solo, "Ave Maria," by Miss Phyllis Cowie; accompanist, Miss Marion Best, ATCM.

At the auditorium of the Normal School, before an audience of Normal School students and city teachers, Mr. Diltz demonstrated a lesson in English literature to a High School class from St. Peter's School. At 6.30 that evening, Mr. Diltz was the guest of the lay teachers of the Peterborough Separate Schools at a dinner party in the Empress Hotel.

Europe's Young A Menace To Tomorrow

TORONTO, Dec. 4—Children of all the over-run Countries of Europe are mentally and physically diseased and constitute a great threat for "tomorrow" when they are grown citizens, Robert St. John, American war correspondent, yesterday warned an audience at Convocation Hall, U. of T., in an address sponsored by "The Save the Children Fund."

After unfolding a documented story of the pitiable sufferings for the past five years of Europe's children Mr. St. John warned that unless a constructive, regenerative program is directed for them by the United Nations, a generation of cynical, bitter, strange people will evolve in most countries.

"In some countries every single one is a potential Hitler," he said. "It is as though we were fighting a dragon, and when we cut off one head 20 more appear in its place. We will have a million in every country of Europe unless we are careful. Even now we see youngsters refusing to give up their guns to reconstituted authority.

Tremendous Challenge

"They are the people of Europe of tomorrow and they are a tremendous challenge to us. They not only are diseased in body, but they are diseased in mind from never having known freedom from sirens, from bombs, from sufferings, from hunger which has brought tuberculosis to as many as 75 per cent of a country's population, from having had no shoes. Unless we now can save the children of Europe, God help our children," he exclaimed.

Mr. St. John said that even in England, which had not been invaded, the children had been subjected to "an air of constant uncertainty."

He referred to documented proof of the United Nations Information Bureau in referring to the Germans' systematic program of depleting enemy populations by starvation. He said it was proved that:

Eight million children in France are without shoes of any kind, now, in mid-winter.

Thinks Greece Finished

In Athens 75 per cent of the children have tuberculosis. "I don't think Greece possibly can survive," he added.

He said that in Poland 10 per cent of the population was exterminated by gas and bullets; that 1,783,000 Polish Jews were killed by gas alone; that the largest percentage of Poles killed were old people and children; that children of Poland since invasion have got less than one-sixth their actual food requirements.

ARMY M.O. AIDS DOUBLE PLAY—When bad weather and muddy roads prevented a civilian doctor from reaching an Italian family when he was most needed, Capt. E. M. Wilder, Royal Canadian Army Medical Corps, Winnipeg and Vancouver, stepped in and when he left, twins had been presented to Signore and Signora Carlo Bologna. He is shown here with Anna Maria (giving three lusty cheers for the Americans) and Marie Grazia, who just can't be bothered.

Ladies' Aid Hears Annual Reports

Annual reports were presented by various committee conveners at the regular meeting of the Ladies' Aid of St. Paul's Presbyterian Church in the Guild Room. These reports were read to relieve the pressure of business at the January annual meeting and the purchase of $1,500 in war bonds was announced.

The following conveners gave a summary of the year's work: Mrs. F. Finnie, for Sick and Visiting; Mrs. R Ross for the Hospital Auxiliary; Mrs. A. Spencley for the Floral Committee; Mrs. W. J. Moorhead for the Kitchen Committee; Mrs. R. Ross for the overseas Soldiers' Comforts. Miss Mina Davidson, as representative to the Red Cross; Mrs. Don Dickson for the Local Council of Women; Mrs. James Dutton for the Wartime Prices and Trade Board; and Mrs. W. C. Steinkraus for the Blood Donors; Mrs. D. W. Clark, corresponding secretary, and Miss Lena Eakin, Envelope secretary, also gave their yearly reports.

Group reports were read by the following leaders: Mrs. J. Millby, for the South End group; Mrs. G. Sproule for the Sunshine group; Mrs. David Miller for the West End group; Mrs. A. Powers for the Friendly group; and Mrs. J. Hornal for the the Cheerful Workers group. Mrs. J. J. Craig, Mrs. Fred Finnie and Mrs. David Miller, as the nominating committee, presented their report, and the officers for 1945 will be formally installed at the January meeting.

Plan Supper

Members decided that the January meeting would take the form of a supper for all women of the congregation, when the annual reports of the secretary and treasurer would be read. Rev. Samuel Johnston was asked to take charge of the installation of officers, and also to address the group. The social committee, supervised by Mrs. W. H. Howson and Mrs. J. H. Roseborough, will be in charge of all supper arrangements. Letters received from boys overseas will be read, and wives, mothers and sisters of St. Paul's boys now in the service are invited to attend.

Mrs. A. W. Gray was in charge of the devotional period, and read the Christmas story. Mrs. Fred Board was guest soloist, and sang a Christmas song, accompanied by Miss M. R. Rannie, pianist for the afternoon. Rev. Johnston dedicated the cent-a-day offering, and members decided to carry on this form of saving for another year. Rev. Mr. Johnston briefly addressed the meeting, and Mrs. Johnston also spoke for a short time. Mrs. A. A. McIntyre, president, extended season's greetings to all present.

At the close of the meeting, refreshments were served by Mrs. W. A. Burrel, the social hostess, and her committee. Mrs. T. McArthur and Mrs. Clark were receiving, and Mrs. W. A. Gray was in charge of the register. It was announced that the South End group was sponsoring a tea and bazaar in the Sunday school room on Wednesday afternoon.

Christmas Tea Bazaar Held By I.O.D.E.

Unusual and attractive Christmas decorations featured the Christmas tea and bazaar sponsored by the Peter Robinson Chapter, I.O.D.E. at the Y.W.C.A. Saturday afternoon. An excellent number of guests were present, and the tea room, as well as the bazaar, was filled at all times.

Small individual tea tables were another feature finding great favor with the guests. Each table had its centrepiece of painted pine cones tied with attractive red bows, and every other table was bright with lighted red tapers. The central tea table was set with a cutwork cloth, which provided a striking contrast to the centerpiece of a silver bowl filled with red roses and white 'mums, and the hemlock sprigs and red, white and green cones which were laid in artistic semi-circular design beneath silver candelabra with white tapers, which flanked the bouquet.

Mrs. J. K. Hughes and Mrs. E. Thompson poured tea, assisted by several members of the Chapter who were hostesses, and served during the afternoon. Mrs. S. C. Warne and Mrs. N. H. Hamley were tea room conveners. Receiving the guests were Mrs. C. L. Upper and Mrs. L. L. Ingram.

Among those assisting in serving were Mrs. C. McIntyre, and Miss Rose Mulholland supervising the tea table, and Mrs. H. Borland, Mrs. F. Hooper, Mrs. F. Buckland Mrs. C. Elliott, Mrs. I. H. Keefer, Mrs. J. Weir, Miss Doris Burgess, Mrs. N. Gell, Miss M. Hicks, Mrs. D. Jopling, Mrs. S. Braund, Miss Mary Greer, Miss Cora Clarke, Mrs. H. Chown, Mrs. G. Hill, Miss E. Young, Miss R. Young Miss C. Littlefield, Miss M. Jory, Miss E. Bain, Mrs. C. Waite, Miss A. Howson, Mrs. V. E. Morphet. Helping in the kitchen were Mrs. C. S. Browne, Mrs. S. Graham, Mrs. B. Burns, Miss H. Buller, Mrs. B. V. Moore.

The Christmas theme was carried throughout the rooms and booths for the bazaar were brightly decorated and draped with evergreen and red paper. A small Christmas tree, resplendent with silver, and painted pine cones, was placed in the corner, and a similar tree was also placed in a corner of the tea room. Windows were set with wreaths, bright with colored cones and red candles, and the mantlepiece in the green room was also laid with evergreen and wreaths, with colored cones and

THE STARS SAY . . .

By GENEVIEVE KEMBLE

For Tuesday, December 5

Judging by certain conflicting aspects between important planets on this day, problems and perplexities may be eventually turned into lucrative and satisfactory channels by cautious, astute and straightforward grasp of dubious situations. With sound propositions and worthy objectives there should be an opportunity for making the best of critical circumstances by the aid or wise counsel of those in position and influence and by definitely sidestepping tricky, expedient or doubtful methods of accomplishment. Sign all writings with care. Stand for principle.

If It Is Your Birthday

Those whose birthday it is are enjoined to stand rigidly for honesty, integrity and high principle and purpose, should all sorts of schemes and tricky snares offer temptation during the year. With strict adherence to the code of honesty, truth and sound business processes there may be a decided turn of critical situations into profitable and enduring good fortune. Friends or those in responsible positions may be willing to assist in dangerous spots, when "the easiest way" seems to beckon with false promises. Read all documents carefully, and refrain from erratic or compromising alliances or understandings.

A child born on this day may need some early training in the need for high principle and integrity, both in speech and action, if it is to reap promised fair fortune through industry, dependability and sound purpose in life.

A CALAMITOUS WAR MARRIAGE

Lonesome and Forlorn Boy Rushes Into Marriage With Nearest Girl.

DEAR MISS DIX—I have been married a little over ten months to a man who is in the service overseas. When we married I knew in my heart that I wasn't really and truly in love with him, but he was starting for the front and I was so sorry for him and he begged me so hard to marry him that I did it. Yet even when the marriage ceremony was being performed I wanted to cry out and call the whole thing off, but I didn't have the nerve to hurt him.

Now I have met a man with whom I have fallen desperately in love and who is in love with me He is married, but is trying to get a divorce. We both agree that it will be a bad thing to write to my husband and ask for a divorce when he is so far away, with no one to comfort him and nothing to make him forget. But will it be any kinder to let him go on believing that I love him when I don't, and thinking he is coming home to me when the war is over when I know that I will never live with him again?

The Answer Is In Your Heart

ANSWER — Among the many tragedies of the war not the least are those marriages entered into by emotional boys and girls who mistook nostalgia and pity for love The boy was frightened at the thought of facing a life of danger. He was desolate to going so far from home and from all he knew and cared for. He was lonesome and forlorn and he wanted someone to cling to. He wanted to feel that someone would be waiting for him to come back. And so he rushed into marriage with the nearest girl

And the girl felt sorry for him, had an instinctive desire to comfort him and mother him, and mixed up with it was a confused feeling that somehow it was patriotic to sacrifice herself to the soldier who was sacrificing so much for his country. And so we have had these thousands of war marriages that should never have taken place, in which misguided boys and girls, who did not really care for each other at all, have married and regretted it.

For so many of them have fallen in love with other girls and boys and that has caused so much suffering, so much jealousy, so many frustrated hopes and so much heartbreak. There is not a day that I do not get letters from disillusioned boys and girls telling the story of the love that didn't last, and asking whether they should tell the mates of whom they are tired of their change of heart and ask for divorces, or keep up the pretense of an affection that no longer exists, until after the war.

And who knows how to answer this question, or solve this problem? It seems cruel to add another woe to the sufferings of the lads who are enduring the horrors of war. But who knows but what many of them would be glad to be free again, because they have made other ties? And who knows whether it isn't merciful to shatter a dream rather than let it drag on into a tragedy? I, for one, do not know the answer.

DEAR MISS DIX—I am in love with a girl of Italian parentage, while I am English. She is very attractive and intelligent and possesses all the qualities that I would desire in a wife. But do you think it would be wise to marry into an entirely different nationality?

H. C.

Nationality No Deterrent

ANSWER—Why not? The Italians are a fine and admirable people, with many gifts of temperament and mind that make them agreeable and interesting to live with and that pep up our more phlegmatic characters. And think of the spaghetti a real Italian girl could cook! Yum! yum!

It is because this country is a melting pot in which so many nationalities are fused that makes us such a progessive people.

DEAR DOROTHY DIX—My brother, barely 18, gave a girl an engagement ring. He told me this as a great secret and made me promise not to tell. Do you think it is my duty to break my promise and tell my parents?

ANSWER—I certainly do not. If you do, you will forfeit your brother's faith in you and thereby lose any influence you may have in persuading him not to add a wedding ring to the engagement ring until he is older. Let it rock. Many an engagement ring is returned to the donor.

Released by the Bell Syndicate, Inc.

PRECIOUS COLOR SCHEME—The lovely jewels which this pretty girl displays run over an unusual color scheme which is handsome with formal or informal fashions. Sapphires, both dusk blue and pale pink, and the lilac tinted pink kunzite are included, with diamonds used in the settings. The earrings have a snowflake motif, clip-lins on muff are rose.—By Prunella Wood.

THE TEA HOUR GOSSIP

I have for to-day an excellent recipe for mincemeat, and, as the Christmas season is truly just around the corner, you will no doubt be glad to make up this recipe.

Mincemeat

5 cups seedless raisins, 2 cups seeded raisins, 5 cups currants, 1 2-3 cups mixed peels and citron, 1 cup blanched almonds, 4 cups chopped apples, 3¾ cups brown sugar, lightly packed, 4½ cups chopped suet, 2½ teaspoons salt, 3 teaspoons ground cinnamon 1 teaspoon ground ginger, 1 teaspoon grated nutmeg, ⅞ teaspoon ground cloves, ¾ teaspoon ground allspice, 2¼ cups apple cider, 3 tablespoons vinegar. Measure, wash and dry raisins and currants Add peels and almonds. Peel, core and chop enough tart apples to yield 4 cups, add to prepared fruits, along with sugar, suet, salt anld spices. Mix the cider and vinegar and add to first mixture. Heat to the boiling point, stirring frequently. Put into hot sterilized jars and seal.

Old-fashioned Soda Scones

5 cups once-sifted pastry flour, 2½ teaspoons baking powder, 2 teaspoons salt, 1-3 cup granulated sugar, ¼ cup shortening, 1¼ teaspoons baking soda, 1 2-3 cups buttermilk or sour milk. Measure and sift together the flour, baking powder, salt and sugar. Cut in shortening finely. Beat soda into buttermilk or sour milk. Form a well in dry ingredients, and add liquid; mix lightly. Turn out on a lightly-floured baking board and knead into a round shape. Place in a large round greased pan and pat dough out to fit. Mark in quarters with a floured knife. Bake in a hot over about ¾ of an hour. Turn out on cake cooler, brush all surfaces of the scone with a mixture of 2 tablespoons sweet milk, and one tablesopon granulated sugar. If you desire a fruit scone, add one cupful of raisins and currants. Serve sliced and buttered. It is also delicious toasted.

Bazaar Raises $64 For Roseneath WMS

ROSENEATH, Dec. 4.—(ENS). — Approximately $64 was the financial result of a bazaar held Saturday afternoon in the town hall and sponsored by the W. M. S. It was opened by the president, Mrs. R. C. White.

Personal.

Lloyd Kellogg, of Welcome, was guest soloist at divine service in the United church on Sunday night. Mrs. Kellogg sang "Bless This House."

British Diplomat Killed By Shot Not Self-Inflicted

NORFOLK, England, Dec. 4 — (AP). — Sir Eric Teichman, 60, veteran British diplomat in the Far East and one-time counsellor of the British Embassy at Chungking, was found shot dead to-day on the grounds of his estate, Honingham Hall. Police said the wounds were not self-inflicted.

Sir Eric had served in British Legations in China from 1907.

He was well known as a traveller and had written several books on trips through Eastern Tibet and Turkestan.

Lady Teichman said Sir Eric had been annoyed recently by poachers on his estate and when he heard shots yesterday afternoon he went out to investigate. He carried no weapons, she said.

Searchers who went looking for him when he failed to return found his body shortly after midnight in a wood about 500 yards from his home—a bullet wound in his cheek. Investigators said he had been dead several hours.

To Ship Corn

CHATHAM, Ont., Dec. 4—(CP)—A meeting of growers and dealers from Kent and Essex counties Saturday guaranteed delivery of 138,000 bushels of seed corn to Yugoslavia and Greece before the middle of January. It will be the first shipment of open pollinated seed corn from the dominion to European countries other than the British Isles.

Englishman Who Won $135,000 Sweep Thirteen Years Ago Dies Worth $153,000

FAVERSHAM, Kent., Dec. 4 — (CP).—Thirteen years ago level-headed William Robert Macey won $135,000 in the Irish Sweepstake.

When the telegram came telling him about it he just went down to the nearby pub to buy his first pint in two years. He gave up his $15 a week job in timber yard and began drawing $22.50 a week from the bank. A year later he built a $4,500 house for himself, his wife, four sons and a daughter.

And that's about all he did with his $135,000.

Last July he died and now the story of his quiet life has been told in his will.

He left $153,000. The extra $18,000 was mainly the interest he hadn't spent.

Mrs. Macey was left $1,350 in cash and almost all the $153,000 was left in trust for her.

"But I shan't be moving from here now," she said. "I'm not a one for great extravagance either...."

Thunderbolts Have Lead Of 4 Points

Interest continued at a high level in the YMCA Volleyball League on Saturday. Forty players were on hand and every game was keenly contested. Referee Len Jones had some difficult decisions to make and handled them all with skill and good judgment.

Thunderbolts increased their lead in the league standing slightly but the Mosquitos took the first game from them 15-9. Whirlwinds pulled up a bit, winning two out of three from Spitfires. The fact that every team won at least one of its three games shows the evenness of the different teams and the keen competition on the day's play. Spitfires, Typhoons and Whirlwinds are now all tied with 7 points each. The standing:

Thunderbolts, 14 points; Hurricanes, 10; Mosquitos 9; Spitfires, 7; Typhoons, 7; Whirlwinds, 7.

Games next Saturday — 2.30, Thundervolts vs. Spitfires; 3.15, Mosquitos vs. Hurricanes; Whirlwinds vs. Typhoons.

Farmer Is Trampled By Bull In Barnyard

By The Canadian Press.

Five fatalities were reported in Eastern Canada during the week-end, all of them in Ontario. Two were reported suicides.

George Grubb, 66-year-old farmer of York township, died in hospital Saturday of wounds suffered when attacked by a bull. He slipped to the ground when exercising the animal in a barnyard, and the bull trampled him.

V. J. Gauthier, 34, of North Bay, brakeman on a Canadian Pacific Railway freight eastbound from Sudbury, was killed almost instantly Saturday when he fell as he stepped from the moving train near Chelmsford Station.

100 Teachers Acting As Election Officials

Commenting on the fact that one hundred school teachers were manning today as election officials the fifty polling places, E. A. Outram, city clerk, stated that the decision to use the teachers in this work was due to the change in date of the election. "It is not a public holiday such as New Year's Day is and many of the former experienced officials were not available," stated the city clerk. "On the other hand because of the generous cooperation of the school boards in allowing the schools to be used as polling places, it is a partial school holiday and the teachers were available as a group to serve as officials. The teachers are co-operating one hundred per cent in giving their services as election officials.

"Any impression which may have been created that the former officials, who served so faithfully and gave up their New Year's Day festivities to fill important posts in the civic elections, were not efficient is certainly contrary to the fact," stated Mr. Outram. "They did their work well and at a considerable personal sacrifice, and I personally desire at this time, as I have in the past, to express to them my appreciation of their services in making Peterborough's civic elections operate successfully."

lighted red tapers providing contrast. Mrs. E. Thompson was in charge of the decorations, and her excellent work was greatly admired.

Highlighting the bazaar was a display of war work, arranged by Mrs. H. Steggles and Mrs. W. C. McCreery, but the other booths were well patronized. Mrs. G. W. Fitzgerald was in charge of the sale of tickets on a tempting chicken dinner which was won by Mrs. H. G. Shaw, while Miss Isabel Shearer won the door prize.

General conveners for the novelties were Mrs. G. Ham and Mrs. K. J. Currie and the following women assisted in the booths, Mrs. M. Hardill, Mrs. R. Lewis, Mrs. George Coleman and Mrs. W. Hardwicke. Aprons, hand-made toys, dolls, and various bags were among the articles on sale. Mrs. Vern Selkirk's home cooking table also did a brisk business.

Another unusual and popular display was the post office, with Miss M. Baird in charge. Cards were sent from the Chapter to all parts of Canada, asking the receivers to buy and article representative of their locality, not exceeding 25 cents, and wrap it up and send it to the Chapter. These parcels were not opened, and just placed on display as they were received, arousing a good deal of interest, and sales were brisk.

God The Only Cause Is Lesson-Subject

"God the Only Cause and Creator" was the subject of the Lesson Sermon which was read in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, throughout the world, including the First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Peterborough on Sunday.

The Golden Text was "In the beginning God created the heaven and the earth" (Genesis 1:1).

Selections from the Bible included the following from Acts 15:18: "Known unto God are all his works from the beginning of the world."

Correlative citations included the following: "The creative Principle—Life, Truth and Love—is God. The universe reflects God. There is but one creator and one creation."

Nazi Expecting Attack On City of Dunkerque

LONDON, Dec. 4—(CP-Reuter).—The German DNB Agency reported today that Canadian artillery fire against the fortress area of besieged Dunkerque had increased since yesterday morning. Lively troop and transport movements pointed to an early start of new large scale attacks, the agency added.

Except for this and other enemy reports there has been no official indication of Canadian activity against the Channel port which was left far behind in the Allied drive through France to the Low Countries and Germany.

Apsley News

The war service club met at Apsley House and packed 12 ditty bags for the Navy League of Canada. With these they enclosed one for a boy in the Merchant Marine who has been "adopted" by the club.

The W.A. of Trinity United Church met at Mrs. W. Lean's Home and completed plans for Christmas Church Service and the decorations.

Mrs. Syd. McAuley and Joan are spending two weeks visiting friends in Oshawa and vicinity.

BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

THREE VITAL REASONS

THERE ARE three important reasons why the lead of an honor may be preferred to a fourth-best small card from your long suit against a No Trump contract, when you have at least three of the highest six cards, with some two of them touching. First, that prevents the declarer from getting the first trick unduly cheaply with some low card that barely tops yours, and so brings the suit nearer to establishment. Second, it frequently makes possible a more accurate reading of high-card location by your partner. Third, it unblocks for you if your partner has more length than you.

North: ♠ 9 ♥ A 7 4 2 ♦ 8 6 4 3 ♣ K 10 5 3

East: ♠ 10 8 5 4 2 ♥ J 8 5 ♦ Q 10 ♣ A 7 6

South: ♠ A 7 3 ♥ K Q 3 ♦ A K 5 ♣ Q J 9 2

(Dealer: South. Neither side vulnerable.)

South	West	North	East
1 ♣	Pass	1 ♥	Pass
2 NT	Pass	3 ♣	Pass
3 NT

West led his spade 6, dummy's 9 being covered by the 10 and South holding up his A. The 4 was returned to the J, and the K then knocked out South's A.

The declarer had counted up and saw that, besides one trick in spades and whatever he got in the red suits, he also needed some in clubs to total nine. So he decided to go after the clubs at once, staking his entire hopes for success on the possibility that the defender with the spade Q had no others, so that his partner would be blocked. East won the club K with the A and led his spade 2 to West's Q. Sure enough, the suit was blocked. East still had a good spade, but could never get in to use it, so South made his contract.

Notice how a lead of the spade K would have altered that situation. South would have let it win, and then the J, too, and would have won the Q with his A. When East then got in with the club A, his spade 10 would have been higher than West's 6. So East could have won that trick and then scored another spade for the setting trick.

Street Battles In Budapest Becomes Severe

LONDON, Dec. 4 — (CP). — Skirmishes in Vienna and street fighting in Budapest between civilians and German police have occurred during the last two weeks, Archduke Robert of Austria said Saturday.

He said his information, obtained from reliable sources in Austria and Hungary, disclosed "a particularly grave situation" in Budapest. There Hungarian civilians erected street barricades and fought Gestapo battalions after the Germans began to roundup persons suspected of underground activities, he said.

"My informants," the Hapsburg Scion said, "reported that the Germans used Tiger tanks to smash the barricades."

He said "many persons were killed" in Vienna in fights between Austrian workers and German police.

"These skirmishes occurred in the factory district," Robert said. "The situation became so bad the Germans had to bring up reinforcements and call on the Vienna police for help."

The Archduke said two S.S. divisions which marched through Vienna Nov. 5 fired on refugees between Gyor and Budapest, killing and wounding large numbers.

"The situation has become so bad in Graz (Austria) that a Gestapo division was sent to restore order," he said. "Dr. Robert Ley, Reich Labor Minister recently cancelled a speech at Klagenfurt because, it was reported, he feared he might be ambushed along the route where the Marburg Gestapo chief was assassinated by Austrian patriots."

Robert reported that when the Germans began organizing the Volkssturm in Graz everybody volunteered, received their arms and equipment, and went home, but did not show up for parades and training.

"Perhaps," he said, "those arms will be put to use against the Germans in the near future."

Home Secretary Can't Figure Communists

HUDDERSFIELD, England, Dec. 4 — (CP). —Home Secretary Herbert Morrison asserted on Saturday the Communist Party in several European countries "shows signs of supporting and working with some curious forces" while in the United States its ghost appears inclined to enter upon an alliance with American capitalism.

Mr. Morrison told a Yorkshire conference of the British Labor Party that in some ways too much attention was given to "problem" of the Communist Party in Britain and declared:

"I don't myself think that the membership of this party or its direct numerical influence is as great as is sometimes supposed, nor am I particularly afraid of its subversive tendencies in its present phase. Indeed, I would be more disposed to criticize it for swinging too far to the right than for being too far to the left. Its respectability' is portentous and its flag-wagging is a marvel to behold...."

The Laborite Minister in Prime Minister Churchill's Coalition Cabinet directed his remarks chiefly at the position of the Communists in Britain, whose application for affiliation has been rejected by the Labor Party.

While asserting "We don't quite know what to make of these paratroopers dropped behind the lines in camouflaged uniforms," Mr. Morrisan said: "I am told that they make a boast of having captured at least one of our greatest unions and of exercising a powerful influence in a number of others. If this is so, it has not been done by straightforward conversion of a majority, but by the type of backstage manoeuvre in which these people are so expert."

"All this," he said, "is quite alien to our honest, straightforward, native Socialist thought. We are used to political parties of known faith and allegiance—political regiments which though they may not always fight clean, at any rate fight for a known cause."

Jon Hall Movie Actor Given Grilling Over Testimony Against Dorsey

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 2 — (AP). — Jon Hall, handsome romantic actor, testified under grilling cross-examination yesterday he would not want to be convicted on testimony, such as he had given against band-leader Tommy Dorsey.

Hall's admission came after hour's of questioning by attorneys for Dorsey, his wife, Pat Dane and their friend Allen Smiley, charged with assault as the result of a fight between Hall and Dorsey in the latter's Hollywood apartment last August.

"Would you want to be convicted on evidence such as you have given in this case?" asked Isaac Pavot, attorney for the Dorseys.

"Of course not," Hall replied quickly.

Antonio Icaza, Panamanian seaman, who followed Hall to the witness stand, testified he was a witness to the Dorsey-Hall fight from a post at the door leading to the balcony, where it occurred.

Saw Blow Struck

"Dorsey hit Hall with a bottle between the eyes," Icaza declared. "I do not know where he got the bottle. There were a lot of bottles in the apartment."

The trial was adjourned yesterday until Monday with Icaza still on the witness stand.

Previously Jerry Giesler, Smiley's attorney, forced from Hall an admission that a statement he gave the District Attorney last August 10, five days after the fight, his grand jury testimony September 12 and his testimony Thursday varied widely on some points.

As Hall was about to be excused from further testimony, Judge Arthur Crum asked him to describe exactly how he had placed his arm around Mrs. Dorsey when the latter greeted him at the apartment shortly before the fight.

"I would like to have you demonstrate to the jury with your attorney just how this occurred," the court directed, and then, as Attorney Grant Cooper took the role of Mrs. Dorsey, Hall put his arm around the lawyer's shoulders and Judge Crum described their postures to the jury.

Embarrassing Morning.

"Mr. Hall," Giesler interjected, "Mrs. Dorsey wasn't dressed like Mr. Cooper."

"No. She was rather decollete. She had on an evening gown with no sleeves and with shoulder straps."

Hall spent an uncomfortable morning on the witness stand while Dorsey's lawyer took him again and again over conflicting versions of the balcony scene August 5, during which somebody wielded something that damaged Hall's profile and the back of his head.

Noting that Hall's testimony is fragmentary, and recalling that the first prosecution witness, Jane Churchill, could recall few of the gladiatorial events, defence counsel announced they would move for a dismissal of the charges as soon as the State completes its case.

CBC Takes Over Offices In Toronto

OTTAWA, Dec. 2 —(CP)— Dr. Augustin Frigon, general manager of the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation, announced the CBC has decided to centralize all its services in Toronto in the Havergal College property on Jarvis street in the downtown section, on which it has an option.

The option will be exercised immediately, said Dr. Frigon in his announcement, made yesterday.

Dr. Frigon said greater efficiency and economy in operation was expected to result from the centralization.

Canadians Capture Ravenna German Adriatic Stronghold

ROME, Dec. 5—(CP).—Canadian troops of the British 8th Army, back in action again in the Italian campaign, and a British formation captured Ravenna, German stronghold near the Adriatic Sea, the Allied High Command announced today. The Canadian unit, the Princess Louise Dragoon Guards, cut Highway 16 and entered Ravenna from the northwest, as the 27th Lancers plunged into the city from the south, headquarters said. The announcement said that the city, 16 miles northeast of Forli, fell as the result of "a brilliant encircling movement by the Princess Louise Dragoon Guards which outflanked the city and forced the enemy to withdraw to avoid being trapped."

Return To Action.

(The Princess Louise Dragoon Guards, from Ottawa, are a reconnaissance battalion of the 1st Canadian Division.)

Official disclosure of Canadian capture of the city marked the first report of Canadian troops having returned to action in the Italian theatre since November 10.

Previously Allied headquarters had announced the capture of Russi and Godo, towns on the Ravenna-Bologna railway, and midway between Ravenna and Faenza, besieged German stronghold on the Bologna-Rimini later highway.

Rolling forward after several days of hard fighting between the Montone and Lamone Rivers, the 8th Army forged a bridgehead over a Canal south of Russi against heavy opposition.

Farther east other units crossed the Montone and joined the infantry which had established the canal bridgehead. The combined force quickly fanned out, by-passed Russi on both sides, and later mopped up the town.

Capture Godo.

One column, stabbing northeast of Russi against light opposition, captured the village of Godo. It was there that the Ravenna-Bologna railroad was cut.

"We reached a railway embankment north of Russi which was strongly defended with dug-in machine-guns, anti-tank guns and many mines," said an official frontline report.

West of Russi other 8th Army forces fanned out and forced the enemy to pull back behind the Lamone River. Scattered outposts left behind were wiped out.

The fall of Russi and Godo and the subsequent German withdrawal leaves the 8th Army holding a deep wedge threatening to flank the enemy defences around Ravenna. It seemed improbable the Germans

German People Are Warned Sufferings To Multiply

NEW YORK, Dec. 5—(AP).—Gen. Eisenhower warned the German people today that their continued resistance and the retreating German army's "scorched earth policy" would multiply the sufferings and hardships of Germany. "The hopes of the German people to avoid economic collapse after the defeat are largely dependent upon the extent of German opposition to Nazi plans to destroy German property and German natural resources before the occupation by Allied troops," said a proclamation read over Allied transmitters in Europe and reported by the United States Office of War Information.

"The German army will be defeated," the proclamation said. "Larger and larger portions of German territory will be occupied by the Allied armies until the National Socialist Governmest and the German armed forces finally surrender or until they are crushed.

No Effect On Allies.

"The hopes of the German people to avoid economic collapse after the defeat are largely dependent upon the extent of German opposition to the Nazi plans to destroy German property and German natural resources before the occupation by Allied troops. The scorched earth policy does not affect the Allies, as the Allies bring their own supplies. The German people, on the other hand, will suffer severe hardships through this policy.

"The military government will not give any compensation for public utilities, buildings, supplies, mines or industrial installations which have been destroyed by the Germans in carrying out their scorched earth policy.

"As long as the German army obeys the Nazi orders to prolong a futile resistance the Allied air and ground forces are bound to inflict heavy material damages upon Germany. The sufferings and hardships thus created will multiply themselves if the German people itself carries out the Nazi plans to transform Germany into a desert."

Electors Favor Money Bylaws

By The Canadian Press.

Money bylaws calling for an expenditure of more than $4,000,000 for the construction of hospitals or extensions to present medical institutions were endorsed by electors in civic elections in six Ontario municipalities yesterday.

Additional bylaws favoring the spending of almost $1,000,000 for memorial or sports centres also were favored by voters.

Despite snow-filled streets in many cities the weather generally was mild and in the major cities greater numbers cast ballots than in the 1943 civic elections.

At Hamilton, electors by an overwhelming majority voted in favor of a $2,600,000 hospital extension bylaw, but rejected by a vote of 10,409 to 5,568 a bylaw for a memorial auditorium and parks development program costing $1,500,000. The vote for the hospital bylaw was 14,599 for and 4,133 against. The bylaws were the centre of interest because of the absence of a mayoralty contest, Mayor Samuel Lawrence having been elected by acclamation.

The cities of Guelph and Galt both voted in favor of building civic swimming pools, the former at a cost of $70,000 and Galt's at a cost of $40,000. At Sudbury, ratepayers by a vote of 2,285 to 828, favored the spending of $125,000 for property on which to erect a civic centre.

Mayors Elected

Voting in the mayoralty campaigns in most cases favored the previous chief magistrate. At Ottawa, Mayor Stanley Lewis was returned for his eighth term; Mayor H. R. Corey was returned for his 11th term at Trenton; Joseph Meinzinger of Kitchener, was re-elected for the fifth time; Mayor W. J. Heaman of London was swept back to office to begin his fifth term and Mayor Arthur Reaume of Windsor was given a third term when he defeated his only opponent, William Turner, by 17,731 votes to 5,590.

At Chatham, where R. D. Steele, Alderman for the last three years, defeated C. Lorne Goddard in his bid for a third term as Mayor, 46 per cent of the ratepayers cast ballots, compared with 20 per cent last year.

More than 40 per cent of the electors exercised their franchise in Windsor.

Gordon R. Rife, Alderman at Guelph for the last 10 years, was elected mayor by a majority of 1,875 over William G. Taylor, a former mayor, and at Belleville, former Mayor George Tice stepped down for Alderman Frank Follwell, who had a majority of 1,980 votes.

Flying Boat Saves 56 Men

GEN. MACARTHUR'S HEADQUARTERS, Philippines, Dec. 5—(AP). — Sharp naval blows were traded by Americans and Japanese in Ormoc Gulf off Leyte Island, a Headquarters communique reported to-day, and each side lost a destroyer.

The American vessel was ripped completely in two, presumably by an aerial torpedo, and went down in 55 seconds, a 20-mm. gun still firing. The majority of the crew was saved, the communique said, adding that a second Japanese destroyer was believed damaged in the engagement.

Sinking of the American vessel furnished a backdrop for a thrilling rescue, in which leading roles were played by Catalina flying boats. One picked 56 men out of the water, and lumbered into the air with them after a three-mile run down the bay, in full sight of thousands of Japanese troops.

The destroyer's survivors had been in the water 12 hours, clinging to debris, when the first flying boat reached them.

In New Guinea mopping-up operations, an additional 1,821 enemies have been killed, Gen. MacArthur reported, and 180 prisoners of war and 713 "friendly nationals" liberated.

Air Delegates Prefer Canada

By C. R. BLACKBURN
Canadian Press Staff Writer.

CHICAGO, Dec. 5 — CP). — Canada to-day was virtually certain of being chosen as site of the interim international civil aviation organization headquarters and was in a strong position for choice as permanent headquarters.

An executive committee of the International Civil Aviation Conference last night voted by a substantial majority to select Canada as site of the interim body.

The committee divided so closely on the vote on choice of a permanent seat, as between Canada and France, that the decision was put over until a plenary session is held, probably to-morrow

Hospital And Memorial Centre Both Given Grand Majorities

Peterborough ratepayers most emphatically gave the green light Monday to the Memorial Health Centre and new civic hospital projects.

The bylaw to grant $75,000 to augment the $210,000 already raised by voluntary subscriptions for the carrying out of the Memorial Health Centre program was carried by a vote of 2,544 to 920. Forty-nine of the 50 polling subdivisions in the city gave a favorable majority; the 50th showed a tie vote.

The measure to issue debentures for the borrowing of $600,000 for the erection of a new civic hospital received the endorsation of the property-owners by a vote of 2,460 to 1,065, and only three polling subdivisions recorded an adverse vote.

A third bylaw approving of the transfer of $300,000 from the surplus funds of the City Trust Commission to the new hospital project was also emphatically endorsed. The final count showed 2,476 in favor of the bylaw and 1,076 against.

All sections of the city, including the new Monaghan ward, gave the bylaws heavy support.

From the moment when the first return came in from Poll 46 in Monaghan ward showing 12 to 1 for the Memorial Health Centre bylaw and 11 to 1 for the hospital and city trust measures the bylaws swept along on a tidal wave of favorable reports from all over the city. Poll 47, also in the Monaghan Ward, came in next with another favorable majority for each of the bylaws. Poll 9 reported third on the list to indicate that the trend in the South Ward was the same as in the district further south. Other South Ward and Monaghan Ward returns told a similar story and then came Poll 16 in the Centre Ward to show 30 to 7 for the Health Centre bylaw, 30 to 9 for the Hospital measure and 27 to 13 for the City Trust measure.

Support Is General

Polls from the West Ward and the North Ward proved that the feeling in those sections of the city was equally favorable to both projects and the East Ward showed the same general trend, although the first adverse vote came from Poll 40 in the cross-the-river section which turned down the hospital bylaw 53 to 40 and also declined to support the transfer of City Trust surplus funds to the hospital project by a vote of 53 to 39. However the ratepayers at that particular poll joined with the rest of the community in supporting the Health Centre bylaw by 62 to 27.

The two other polls where the hospital bylaw was beaten were No. 5 in the Sacred Heart School in the South Ward where the vote was 31 in favor of the measure and 36 against, and No. 21 in the West Ward with an adverse vote of 25 to 20.

Canadian Annihilate Raiding Party

By DOUGLAS AMARON
Canadian Press War Correspondent

WITH THE 1st CANADIAN ARMY IN HOLLAND, Dec. 5.—(CP Cable).—Troops of the 1st Canadian Army captured 84 Germans and killed probably twice that number in annihilating an enemy raiding party that tried by strategem to penetrate the Canadian lines northeast of Nijmegen early yesterday.

The Germans, carrying 24 stretchers, bluffed their way through forward defences by explaining in English they wanted to take wounded men to a British medical post.

But the ruse was discovered quickly and in a brisk fight every German was killed or captured.

The count of the dead was unavailable early last night, but the strength of the raiding party was estimated at between 200 and 250.

U.S. Army Passes Saarlautern Drive Deeper Into Siegfried

By JAMES M. LONG—Associated Press Staff Writer

PARIS, Dec. 5 — (AP). — The 95th Infantry Division of the U.S. 3rd Army has driven clear through Saarlautern and is fighting well into the Siegfried Line defences beyond the fortress city, it was announced today at supreme headquarters. The satellite towns of Roden and Fraulatern, each 1½ miles beyond the captured Saar River bridge, were passed by the Americans advancing through shellfire from German artillery emplacements.

Other 3rd Army troops threatened Saarbrucken, capital of the arsenal region of steel and coal, and bombarded its blackened buildings with eight-inch artillery. The nearby French rail town of Forbach and the French border town of Sarreguemines also were being shelled from positions two and four and a half miles away.

Some fighting still was going on in the east bank section of Saarlautern where the Allied troops were meeting the Volkssturm, recently mustered civilians wearing armbands.

Five divisions of the 3rd Army to the southeast were beating forward either inside the Saar or through the last bit of Lorraine.

To the north the British 2nd Army had driven the enemy back over the river all along the Meuse, and stood opposite the Ruhr gateway town of Venlo, while a 21st Army group spokesman reported 1st Canadian Army troops had given a force of German paratroopers "a very bloody nose."

The Germans had attacked Canadian positions northeast of Nijmegen, near the northern end of the Allied front, he said, but lost 50 killed and 110 prisoners in the engagement.

Patton's bridgehead on the east bank of the looping Saar was widened to at least 1½ miles. His forces were on the river all the way to Merzig, 16 miles north of Saarlautern, and executing a wheeling movement of his right and centre as far southeast as Sarre Union. One mixed cavalry and infantry team advanced four miles inside Germany, south of Saarlautern.

His men at Roden and Fraulautern were 5½ miles inside of the Saar, nearly a fifth of the way across, but they still had to negotiate the Siegfried Line.

Men of the 3rd moved within two miles of Forbach, a castled town of 11,500, and within 4½ of Sarreguemines, a town of 14,000. Along the curling 50-mile front from Merzig to Sarre Union, upwards of 90,000 Americans were on the move.

They encountered strong German oposition across the river in Saarlautern from a few pockets and from guns of the Siegfried Line. Patton detached a few forces to mop up the nests of Nazis in the city of 32,000, completely cleared west of the river.

German guns fired at least 1,000 rounds in four hours at the sturdy masonry bridge which Americans captured intact at Saarlautern, but by late Monday, it still stood and men, tanks and guns poured across.

Reach Deadlock.

Along the Roer River front to the north, with 22 miles of Cologne, the violent and prolonged battle of attrition went into a deadlock. Gen. Eisenhower's communique said the U.S. 9th and 1st Armies "are meeting stubborn resistance in the outskirts of Julich."

"East of the Inde, we have consolidated our positions in Lucherberg and Luchem," it said. "In the Brandenberg area, south-east of Hurtgen, slight progress has been made."

Ottawa Citizens Pass Two Huge Amounts Money Bylaws Authorizing Post-War Work

OTTAWA, Dec. 5—(CP).—Ottawa electors voted to go all-out for post-war reconstruction and slum clearance when they voted to pass money bylaws totalling $2,500,000 in Monday's civic election.

With only a few polls to be heard from, the vote, confined to property owners, was 5,059 to 3,754 in favor of a $500,000 bylaw designed as a nucleus for the clearance of the capital's slum areas.

Electors also approved a $2,000,000 debenture bylaw for post-war reconstruction. The vote was 5,404 in favor and 3,434 against.

Churchill Takes Firm Stand British Will Police Greece

By JAMES F. KING—Associated Press Staff Writer

LONDON, Dec. 5—(AP).—Britain will resist any attempt to "impose by violence a Communist dictatorship" in strife-torn Greece, and is ready to use her army if necessary to maintain order, Prime Minister Churchill declared today. In a bristling session of the House of Commons, with one Communist and several Labor members firing questions, Mr. Churchill stood firm behind the government of George Papandreou even as Athens heard rumors that the Premier would resign. Fracticidal fighting broke out in the Greek capital during the week-end in the crisis which developed when the EAM (National Liberation Front) refused to disband its militia, the ELAS.

Deplores Riots.

Mr. Churchill deplored the fighting, and declared, "We and our American allies are doing our utmost to give assistance, and our troops are active to prevent bloodshed."

"We shall not hesitate to use the considerable British Army now in Greece, and being reinforced, to see that law and order are maintained," Mr. Churchill declared.

He said he was not prepared, on information so far available, to say "who started the firing."

Bombers Renew Raids On Berlin

LONDON, Dec. 5 (CP)—American heavy bombers blasted Berlin today for the first time in two months.

Headquarters of the United States Strategic Air Forces in Europe said more than 550 Fortress and Liberator bombers made up the battle fleet which attacked industrial targets in the German capital and railway yards at Munster.

Eight hundred Mustang and Thunderbolt fighters flew the 1,000-mile round trip to Berlin and back to keep the German fighters away while the bombers unloaded 2,000 tons of bombs on German munition and tank plants.

Scattered clouds were over Berlin—last hit by American heavies Oct. 6—but some formations were able to bomb visually through breaks in the misty banks.

Some of the bombers hit factories at Tegel, a suburb of Berlin.

The blows followed up yesterday's 12,000-ton assault on eight railroad centres of supreme importance to Field Marshal Gerd Von Rundstedt's armies in the west.

Heavy United States bombers left the east coast of Britain earlier than

No Outside Influence U.S. Warns Italy

WASHINGTON, Dec. 5 —(AP)— The United States has informed both Britain and Italy that it expects the Italian people to develop their government "without influence from outside."

The state department's unusual disclosure of policy in such a case today apparently placed the United States in an opposite position from that taken by Great Britain which has officially opposed the inclusion of Count Sforza in an Italian administration.

"This government has not in any way intimated to the Italian government that there would be any opposition on its part to Count Sforza," the state department reported.

Canadians In Karlsruhe Raid

LONDON, Dec. 5.—(CP Cable.)—A "substantial number" of Halifaxes and Lancasters representing every squadron of the R.C.A.F. Bomber Command participated in last night's attack on Karlsruhe, it was announced to-day. All Canadian aircraft returned safely.

"There was a cloud over the target when we arrived but we were able to bomb through patches of it," Flt. Sgt. Joseph Campbell of Verdun, Que., a rear-gunner of the Tiger squadron, said. "Coming out I could see large fires burning. The city looked like three-quarters of a mile of solid fire."

FO. J. E. Culley of Toronto, bomb-aimbed of the Porcupine squadron, said:

"The Rhine river showed up planly and the whole of Karlsruhe seemed ablaze. I could even seen the streets burning below."

Dr. Soong Tries to Unite Chinese Groups

Terrific Gains By Japanese Armies Renders China Almost Impotent

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
Associated Press War Analyst

China's 11th-hour effort to compose her grave internal differences and present a united front to Japan likely would have succeeded if it had been undertaken earlier—and it may still succeed—but the question arises whether it's too late.

For nearly two years, ever since my visit to Chungking, this column has been emphasizing that China was all but impotent and in grave danger of being knocked out. Now she has been brought to the high-water mark of her peril by the Jap conquests in the important south-central theatre, eliminating vital American air bases and giving the invaders invaluable communications from Manchuria clear through to Canton on the south coast and into Indo-China.

The dificulties through which China has arrived at this sorry pass are many, but chief among them is that the country has been divided against itself. Gen. Chiang Kai-Shek's one-party (Kuomintang) government has ruled those parts of central and southern China not overrun by the Japs. But in the north the Chinese Communists, with big armies, have been in control.

An Old Feud

The Communists have insisted on participation in government, but Chiang thus far has declined to recognize them. It's an old and bloody feud.

This is the situation as Chiang, acting on advice of the United States, not only has used a vigorous broom on his cabinet but has reopened peace negotiations with the Communists.

One of the most promising developments appears to be the appointment of his brother-in-law, Dr. T. V. Soong, to the acting premiership, thereby enabling the generalissimo to get rid of some burdens and concentrate on the grave military crisis. The westernized Soong not only is one of China's outstanding statesmen but is widely regarded as a Liberal, and so the person most likely to achieve a settlement with the Communists.

Another hopeful sign is that Gen. Chou En-Lai, the famous Communist leader, is in Chungking and is said to be negotiating with the government.

Must Have State Control

Co-op Chief Points To Marketing Need

TORONTO, Dec. 5 (CP)—State intervention to control the marketing of farm products "must continue" the annual meeting of the United Farmers Co-operative Co. was told today by R. J. Scott, its president.

"We are undoubtedly altering our thinking as farmers these days," said Mr. Scott "For generations we looked to the market place as the sole source of determining income. We learned in the 1930's that the market place was not distributing the new annual wealth of this nation among those who really earned it. Had we looked close enough we would have agreed that it was not the job of the market place to do that—but the job of the market place is to clear itself day by day, every week, regardless of prices.

"With the war State intervention in the controlling of the market place has been more pronounced than ever before. Social gains by equitable distribution of a nation's income are greater than the social gains through cheaper food to the consumer which results in bankrupt agriculture and mass unemployment. In the future the State must continue to intervene"

Allies Face Shell Deficit

Artillery Support Lacking On West Front

LONDON, Dec. 5 (CP)—American soldiers are paying with their lives for a western front shell shortage, a Daily Mail dispatch declared today.

Noel Monks, Daily Mail correspondent with the U.S. 9th Army, wrote:

"The final assault on a town had begun and American infantry on the outskirts were counter-attacked by the last German tanks in this sector.

"Heavy fire from the tanks caught the Americans as they came up an incline leading into the town. They had no tank support owing to mines.

"A call was made immediately for artillery support while the Americans dug themselves in. I was in the command post when the colonel passed on the call for artillery support. I could hear the reply coming through the phone:

'Too bad, but we fired our quota in the opening stages of the attack. Without saying a word, the young colonel slumped into a chair.

"'Fired their quota,' he said. 'No use telling them that the German tanks haven't fired their quota and my men are being cut up for the want of a few more American shells.'"

Gain 17 Miles In One Day Across Hungary

LONDON, Dec. 5 (CP)—Red Army forces surging through western Hungary in a drive outflanking besieged Budapest were massed today along the south shores of Lake Balaton, 60 miles from the Austrian frontier.

Led by Marshal Feodor I. Tolbrukhin, the Austria-bound Russians piled up one gain yesterday of 17 miles. The over-all advances carried them 12 miles closer to the border than previously reported—60 miles from Nagybajom, at the southwestern end of the 42-mile lake front.

A midnight Moscow bulletin said a column driving north along the west bank of the Danbue was 37 miles south of Budapest and still advancing toward the capital's back door. East of the river which divides the city other Russian troops have been hammering the southeastern suburbs for days and on the northeastern enemy communications have been cut.

Tolbukhin's forces were rapidly taking positions to swing around both ends of Lake Balaton toward Austria. Nagybajom was the springboard for the southwestern army. At the northeastern end of the lake front the base was Sagvar, reached yesterday in a 17-mile advance from Tamasi.

Take 100 Places

The Russians swept through more than 100 towns and villages northeast, west and south of the communications hub of Kaposvar, captured Saturday.

"The Germans are abandoning their military technique, their arms and military equipment," the Moscow communique said of the fighting in this sector.

Reports still incomplete declared the Russians killed 2,000 enemy soldiers in yesterday's fighting. The communique said 3,000 prisoners were taken in three days of fighting ending Sunday.

West of Pecs in the area of the Dr. River border of Hungary and Yugoslavia the Russians were hurling back the enemy on the approaches to the rail junction town of Szigetvar, 80 miles northeast of Zagreb.

Red Army troops operating in northern Yugoslavia with Yugoslav forces captured Mitrovica, on the Save River 41 miles northwest of Belgrade.

Obituary

ANDREW QUACKENBUSH

SOUTH LAKE, Dec. 5 — The funeral of Andrew Marcus Quackenbush was held from his residence in South Lake and burial was in the family plot, at Maple Grove Cemetery. In his 70th year, Mr. Quackenbush died in Nicholls Hospital after a serious operation.

The funeral service was conducted by Mr. Sternwall, of the Pentecostal Church in Havelock, assisted by Donald Ellis, of Centre Dummer.

Mr. Quackenbush was born in Seymour West Township in 1875, the son of the late Andrew Quackenbush and Almeda Vanvolkenburg. He leaves to mour his loss his sorrowing widow, formerly Phoebe Letitea Munro whom her married 45 years ago; four daughters, Mrs. Fred Bolton, of Indian River; Mrs. Cecil Woodcock, of Centre Dummer; Mrs. Ed. Winn of South Lake; Elfa at home; and by four sons, Ralph, in the Canadian Armed Forces wounded in Italy in December, 1943, and now in Christie Street Hospital, Toronto; Lyle of Peterborough; Warden and Randal, both of South Lake; and one sister, Mrs. Florence Clarke of Havelock. He is also survived by two brothers, Ernest and Samuel, both of Havelock.

Pallbearers were Harry Garbutt, Goldie Nuell, Ralph Sleep, Earl Geron, Levi Wrightley and Charles Hubble.

to get back to his peacetime Montreal financial information agency. Other reports have said that if Gen. Phelan goes, his post will be abolished and the work absorbed by the chief of general staff, Lt.-Gen. John Murchie.

This would be part of a general army reorganization with the re-establishment of a non-permanent active militia, with emphasis on up-to-date training methods and equipment and real, tough army courses.

One thing seems certain: the reserve army will have plenty of the best equipment to draw from.

at both those polls and the fourth sub-division where the ratepayers turned thumbs down on that particular measure was at Poll 6 in the South Ward where the vote was 36 for and 41 against.

As for the Memorial Health Centre measure it looked as if until practically the last poll was in that it would carry every one of the 50 sub-divisions. Then along came Poll 5 in the South Ward and it alone failed to turn in a favorable majority. However the measure was not beaten either for the returns showed that the property-owners of that particular division had split even with 35 for the bylaw and 35 against.

Both the Memorial Centre and Hospital bylaws received their biggest boost at Poll 24 in the Queen Mary School in the West ward. There the former measure was carried by 167 to 14 and the ratepayers of that residential section polled a vote of 155 to 22 in favor of the hospital.

The figures show that 74 per cent of those who voted favored the Memorial Health Centre measure while close to 70 per cent of the property owners who marked their ballots expressed approval of the hospital bylaw.

Vote By Ward

By wards the votes on the three bylaws were as follows:

South Ward: Memorial Centre bylaw 529 for, 281 against; Hospital bylaw 552 for and 283 against, and City Trust bylaw 545 for and 285 against.

Centre Ward: Memorial Centre bylaw 121 for and 37 against; Hospital bylaw 114 for and 48 against; City Trust bylaw 114 for and 50 against.

West Ward: Memorial Centre bylaw 710 for and 197 against; Hospital bylaw 681 for and 245 against; City Trust bylaw 678 for and 248 against.

North Ward: Memorial Centre bylaw 557 for and 207 against; Hospital bylaw 567 for and 218 against; City Trust bylaw 575 for and 212 against.

East Ward: Memorial Centre bylaw 420 for and 118 against; Hospital bylaw 350 for and 193 against; City Trust bylaw 358 for and 202 against.

Monaghan Ward: Memorial Centre bylaw 207 for and 73 against; Hospital bylaw 196 for and 78 against; City Trust bylaw 206 for and 79 against.

Ralph Maybank Raps Bracken

OTTAWA, Dec. 5 — (CP). — Ralph Maybank, Liberal member for Winnipeg South Centre, said yesterday in the Commons that he could not agree with an opposition suggestion that Prime Minister Mackenzie King should resign and make way for John Bracken, head of the Progressive Conservative party.

The suggestion was made in the Commons Friday by Lt.-Col. J. A. Ross (PC.—Souris) during debate on the Government's vote of confidence motion.

"Mr. Bracken . . . so far in his meanderings and peregrinations and zanderings has not seen fit or managed to have himself made a member of this House which the honorable member for Souris wants him to lead," said Mr. Maybank.

"There may be political uncertainties, but the attitude of this House of Commons towards John Bracken is not one of them. I mean no one except this official opposition of 39 members, and even some of them might not turn out to be very dependable followers of Mr. Bracken, and it would not be surprising because the English-speaking never did enthuse greatly over Benedict Arnold, you will remember. . . .

(Benedict Arnold was a general who betrayed the American Army to the British during the American revolution.)

"This Mr. Bracken who has been mentioned in the midst of this crisis was not found in his place where he could help. Every member of the House of Commons has been in deep travail of spirit these many days, and I except no one from that, whether their views are as mine or whether they are contrary to mine . . . John Bracken could only employ his time at a party convention getting ready for an election. . . ."

Steady, methodical progress was made by the U.S. 7th and French 1st Armies in clearing the snowy Vosges Mountains and the sodden Alsace plains.

The 7th also fought vigorously for the major supply and rail centre of Haguenau in an attempt to clear the Germans from the Karlsruhe corner of Lorraine.

The 7th Army, fighting on the right flank if the 3rd, captured Diemeringen, four miles east of Saare Union, and Volkesberg in the forest a few miles farther east. Oberbroon was taken in a flanking penetration 11 miles north-west of Haguenau, last city of size in German hands in Lorraine Oberbroon is seven miles from the Palatinate border The Germans were disengaging under what seemed only a local rearguard shield.

German long-range guns across the Rhine were shelling the roads over which American trucks were moving supplies north of Strasbourg into the Karlsruhe corner.

South of Strasbourg, the battle for the key communications town of Selestat entered its fourth day. Colmar upper Alsace capital of 46,000, was within eight miles of American guns but protected momentarily by streams flooded by torrential rains. Tanks were closing on Dieboldsheim, 20 miles due south Strasbourg.

The northern flank of the 450-mile front virtually was unchanged.

Hepburn Pleads For Tolerance

HAMILTON, Dec. 5.—The future of Canada rests to a great extent on its ability to bring educational standards up to a national minimum level, in the opinion of Mitchell F. Hepburn, former Premier of Ontario, who addressed a dinner meeting of the Hamilton Lodge, B'nai B'rith, in the Royal Connaught Hotel last night.

Pleading for tolerance and understanding in the world, Mr. Hepburn said the challenge was presented to service organizations like B'nai B'rith to take the lead in such a movement in Canada. He expressed the view that Canada would settle down after "the present crisis" and proceed to inculcate in the minds of Canadians "a national spirit which will be felt throughout the world."

Of the conscription issue, Mr. Hepburn said, "I believe in equality of sacrifice, sure. But there must also be equality of educational and other opportunities." He was referring to low educational standards in some parts of the country and the depression years when many were jobless. It was at this point that the speaker said the nation's future rests mainly on its progress in educational matters. He paid tribute to ex-Premier Adelard Godbout of Quebec for his inauguration of progressive educational legislation.

"I'm going to continue to preach the doctrine of self-respect, mutual understanding and tolerance," the former Liberal Leader declared after reviewing his stand on international matters since he entered public life 19 years ago. "Prussian autocracy has got to be crushed and there also must be a campaign of re-education," Mr. Hepburn said, again stressing the part service clubs must play in this campaign.

Harry Beube, chairman of B'nai B'rith War Services Committee, was honored for his work by presentation of a club service pin by Lou Davidson. Mr. Beube reviewed the lodge's war efforts the past few years.

FO. L. H. Geller, back home from completing two tours of operations with the R.C.A.F. overseas spoke briefly, praising the organization for its response to the appeal for blood donors. FO. Geller was among those who gave blood at the local clinic yesterday morning. Joseph Alexandroff presided at the meeting.

usual, silencing the entire German radio system by mid-morning.

Good weather favored the Flying Fortresses and Liberators over the channel and prospects were bright for a sharp follow-up to yesterday's raids by 4,000 bombers and fighters on Soest, Kassel, Giessen, Berbra, Mainz, Oberhausen, Karlsruhe and Heilbronn.

Centres Blasted

Six rail centres were hit in daylight, five of them by American bombers. R.A.F. and R.C.A.F. heavies took care of Oberhausen in the Ruhr, and went to Karlsruhe and Heilbronn on the upper Rhine after dark. A "substantial number" of Canadian craft attacked Karlsruhe, it was announced. All returned safely.

Figures on losses were withheld by British and American bombers commands as incomplete, but opposition was reported moderate.

R.A.F. Spitfires and Typhoons carried on the war against German rail communications from their bases in Belgium and Holland. The network leading into the Ruhr was cut at 20 scattered points.

Five locomotives were destroyed and many more damaged during nearly 500 trips over the battlelines.

Fighter and medium bombers of the U.S. 9th air force were in the air—often in bad weather—26 days of November's 30.

Fighter bombers made 12,000 trips over the battlelines and medium bombers struck 3,000 strong with a total of 5,200 tons on selected targets ahead of the Allied armies.

Eleven medium and 119 fighter bombers were lost but the 9th's bag included destruction and damage of 454 locomotives, 176 tanks, 2,798 railway cars, 40 barges and 158 German planes.

Britain Seeks To Curb Riots

LONDON, Dec. 5 —(CP)—Prime Minister Churchill, questioned in the House of Commons today on the fighting in Athens, said that "on the evidence so far available, I am not prepared to say who started the firing."

"Greece is faced with the most desperate economic and financial problems apart from civil war, which we are trying to stop," the prime minister said. "We and our American allies are doing our utmost to give asistance and our troops are acting to prevent bloodshed."

Mr. Churchill said that whether the Greek people formed themselves into a monarchy or a republic was up to them to decide, but he flatly declared "until they are in a position of deciding we shall not hesitate to use the considerable British army now in Greece and being reinforced to see that law and order are being maintained."

House members cheered the prime minister when he said "It is deplorable that an event like this should take place in Athens scarcely a month after the city's liberation and feeding."

When Mr. Churchill declared that British and American authorities were doing their utmost to prevent bloodshed he was generally applauded but a few Labor members cried "Ho."

To Prevent Bloodshed

The prime minister then repeated "to prevent bloodshed."

"But sometimes it is necessary to use force to prevent greater bloodshed," he added. "The main burden falls on us. The responsibility is within our Allied military sphere—that is our military sphere agreed upon with our principal Allies....If the damage of four years of war and enemy occupation is to be repaired and if Greek life and economy are to be rebuilt, their internal stability must be maintained and, pending a general election under fair conditions, the authority of the constitutional Greek government must be accepted and enforced throughout the country."

Earlier today, Fenner Brockway, political secretary of the Independent Labor party, said: "The British government is siding with the right against the left in Greece," and warned "consequences may be serious."

Mr. Brockway asserted: "Athens will set the pattern for Europe. Relations with Russia may be involved."

The Communist Daily Worker said editorially today that "British policy in Greece is on the brink of a catastrophe that may stain the good name of Britain in Europe for generations to come."

"The British government," it maintained, "cannot escape direct responsibility for the consequences of the situation it has provoked.... The way not only to civil war in Greece, but to restore confidence in British good faith throughout Europe, is to end this policy of giving blank cheques to reactionaries and brow-beating all who mistrust them."

Air Delegates

Canada won by one ballot, but it was discovered the Luxembourg delegate was absent and as he would almost certainly vote for France, it was declared a tie.

The plenary session will also elect a council of 21 member states to serve as council for the interim organization and Canada is assured a seat on that body because of her importance in the field of aviation.

It has been freely forecast that H. J. Symington, Canadian delegation leader, would be sought as president of the interim council, but so far as could be learned to-day he was not seeking the post and would be unlikely to accept.

After much debate, long, deadlocked committee meetings and strenuous efforts by Canada to bring about a single acceptable convention to establish order and fairness through international control of commercial aviation, the apparent result to-day was that the following documents would emerge:

Proposed Plans.

1. A draft permanent convention establishing an international civil aviation organization with limited powers to supervise air transport and containing annexes standardizing air navigation and field operations. This would require ratification by at least 26 states to become operative.

2. An agreement for interim organization of a similar international authority to be set up at once to perform the same functions proposed for the permanent body, to have headquarters in Canada (probably Montreal) and to carry on up to three years pending ratification of the permanent convention.

3. A separate agreement whose signers would accord to each other the first two "freedoms of the air"—freedom to cross over in innocent flight and freedom to land for non-traffic purposes.

4. A separate agreement whose signers would accord to each other all five freedoms of the air, the first two and the additional privileges of traffic operations in and out of all signatory states — open competition.

5. A separate agreement on standard forms in negotiating bi-lateral treaties so that all international flying will tend to conform with the general objectives of the permanent convention.

Anti-Government Speakers Voice Conscription Views

By FRANK FLAHERTY—Canadian Press Staff Writer

OTTAWA, Dec. 5—(CP).—Anti-government speakers did most of the talking as the House of Commons entered its second week of debate on overseas conscription yesterday but no signs appeared of any diminishing in the government's prospects of success on the coming vote of confidence. The first Liberal member to announce his intention of voting against his party because the government's policy does not go far enough was heard. He was Flt.-Lt. James Sinclair of Vancouver North, who has seen overseas service with the RCAF.

On the other side of the question Maurice Lalonde (L—Labelle) declared he could not go along with the government because of his opposition to conscription.

Flt.-Lt. Sinclair will vote for the Progressive Conservative amendment to the government's confidence motion which asks that all 68,000 home defence troops be made available for service in any theatre of war.

Vote Sub-Amendment.

Mr. Lalonde will vote for the dissenting Liberal sub-amendment which expresses opposition to conscription for overseas service. He is one of several Quebec Liberals who with one Saskatchewan Liberal, Walter Tucker of Rosthern, are against the government's action in authorizing the sending of 16,000 drafted men overseas.

From J. W. Noseworthy (C.C.F. York South) there came a strong indication the nine Co-operative Commonwealth Federation members would vote against the government on the main motion of confidence. Earlier M. J. Coldwell, C.C.F. leader, proposed a sub amendment which was ruled out of order and which embodied the principle of making all draftees available for overseas service but he did not indicate how his group would vote on the main motion.

Other speakers of the day included Col. A. J. Brooks (PC-Royal), John R. MacNicol (PC-Toronto Davenport), and Norman Lockhart (PC-Lincoln). They were critical of the government's proposal as inadequate to provide a steady flow of reinforcements for the army overseas.

To Oppose

Ralph Maybank (L-Winnipeg South Centre) and Maj. Leslie Mutch (L-Winnipeg South) said they were ready to vote with the government; Leonard Tremblay (L-Dorchester) who said he was against conscription but did not say how he would vote and Frederic Dorion (Ind. - Charlevoix-Saguenay), also Flt. Lt. Sinclair, who has frequently spoken of the viewpoint of air-against conscription, will vote against the administration.

Then since his return from overseas, suggested the formation of an R.C.A.F. infantry regiment to absorb airmen now being discharged and who are fit for army service.

He said these airmen are unwilling to enlist in the army for a number of reasons under present conditions. They feel they volunteered once and should not be asked to volunteer again while trained infantry conscripts are not being used. Their pay in the army in many cases would be less than it was in the air force.

If, however, there was an R.C.A.F. regiment they could be given pay which would be satisfactory. They would be serving with their comrades and their morale would be high. Such a unit would require a minimum of training and would be a proud force.

In Africa the R.A.F. regiment undertook duties in the line as well as protection of airports. The Herman Goering division in the German army was associated with the German air force and was one of the enemy's best fighting formations.

Has Not Changed

Prime Minister Mackenzie King by an interjection indicated he has not changed his mind on prolonging the life of parliament if the war is not over before the time arrives when an election will be necessary under the law.

When Mr. MacNicol was speaking he expresed strong opposition to such a step and recalled Mr. King's assurance on the point.

"I will stay with you," said Mr. King.

Mr. Maybank and Mr. Mutch said they interpreted the order-in-council authorizing the sending of draftees overseas as applying to the entire home defence force. They were satisfied the troops overseas would get the reinforcements needed.

Mr. Noseworthy said Mr. King's appeal for a vote of confidence rested on the contention that no other leader could carry on the government and that if the government were defeated there would be delay in providing reinforcements.

"In my opinion the Prime Minister's argument is a weak one on which to appeal for support," he said. "We cannot feel justified in voting, on those grounds, to support a policy of which we do not approve."

Paris Wearing Deceptive Mask

By GLADWIN HILL
Associated Press Staff Wrtier

PARIS, Dec. 5 —(AP)—Liberated three months ago, Paris wears today a deceptive mask of normality but underneath it remains a city rocked to its very foundations by the rigors of war.

Chic feminity strolls the boulevards. Open air bookstalls flourish along the Seine. Champagne flows at hollow diplomatic receptions. Fabulous montmartre erupts in a hundred hole-in-the-wall night clubs.

But all this is superficial. Women's chic gowns are of light summer material because winter-weight goods are scarce. Many Parisians are getting only half the requisite number of calories for good health because food supplies are inadequate. Most buildings are unheated.

Paris has 16 daily newspapers now, but they are limited to a single sheet each. The subways are running, but there are no taxis and practically no other surface transportation.

The meat ration is half a pound weekly. Fish is unobtainable because of transportation shortage.

Some 10,000 Parisians are languishing in confinement on charges of suspicion of collaboration with the Germans. Only 20 have been tried so far, and lawyers mutter about the slow progress of the trials.

The new French consultative assembly is putting on the airs of a legislature, but with Gen. De Gaulle and his cabinet taking all active measures the assembly is mainly a synthetic forum pending the return of nearly one-tenth of France's people from bondage in Germany.

Radio Man Reports Fewer Licenses

Compared with other years, Peterborough is down in the purchase of radio licenses, according to M. E. Leslie, radio inspector from the Department of Transport, Radio Branch Toronto. Residents in this city are requested to obtain the necessary licenses immediately to avoid court proceedings.

Usually, Mr. Leslie pointed out, Peterborough has a good reputation with regard to radio licenses, but this year, there has been a decrease of "several hundred, as compared with last year."

The radio inspector's annual check up in this city has just been completed.

Greek Rebels Ordered To Leave Athens

Disorders Continue British Tanks Disperse Attackers

By STEPHEN BARBER
Associated Press Staff Writer

ATHENS, Dec. 5.—(AP).—Armed members of the Leftist E.A.M. (National Liberation Front), defying a decree to disband issued by Premier George Pavandreou's British-supported government, were reported in control of 20 of the 25 police precincts in Athens last night, while another was under siege.

Despite the gravity of the situation, insistent rumors that the premier had decided to reisgn were officially denied. Late yesterday he issued an ultimatum demanding that members of the E.L.A.S.—armed militia of the E.A.M.—quit the Athens area by midnight to-night.

(A Reuter News Agency dispatch from Athens reported Papandreou was tendering his resignation.)

One person was killed and three injured last evening in a new outbreak of shooting near the Athens railway station when police tried to disperse sympathizers returning from the mass funeral of 21 persons killed in Sunday's disorders, precipitated by the government's decree that the E.L.A.S. disarm and disband.

Attack College

Earlier in the day 400 E.L.A.S. members armed with rifles and machine-guns attacked the Greek Naval College at Piraeus, Port of Athens, and were dispersed by British tanks only after they had forced their way into the hospital wing.

In a brisk four-hour skirmish three Britons were founded and the interpreter of a British senior officer was slain as he sat in a staff car beside his superior.

The Naval College had been used as headquarters by British and Greek naval forces and Greek navy men defended the place pending the arrival of British armor.

British crews meanwhile manned the Piraeus dockyard and with British troops continued the unloading of relief supplies which had been discontinued yesterday as a result of the general strike called by the A. E.M. to protest the disarming order.

The head of the Soviet mission here was fired upon yesterday by Greek civil police while driving in his official car bearing a red flag. Police said they mistook the red flag for the E.A.M. insignia.

Meanwhile a special Greek court sentenced to death Yanni Yannopoulos, accused of being a leader in the puppet regiment set up by the Nazis. He was the first war criminal to be given the death penalty.

2 Investigations

OTTAWA, Dec. 5 — (CP). — Two Royal Commissions investigating aspects of taxation are being organized in Ottawa this week. One, headed by Mr. Justice Errol McDougall of Montreal, will investigate the question of taxing co-operative organizations. The other, headed by W. C. Ives, former Chief Justice of the Trial Division, Supreme Court of Alberta, will inquire into annuities and succession duties in respect to income.

Rectal Soreness and

PILE TORTURE

QUICKLY RELIEVED

If you are troubled with itching piles or rectal soreness do not delay treatment and run the risk of letting this condition become chronic. Any itching or soreness of painful passage of stool is nature's warning and proper treatment should be secured at once.

For this purpose get a package of Hem-Roid from McDermid & Jury or any I D A or other drug store and use as directed. This formula which is used internally is a small easy to take tablet will quickly relieve the itching and soreness and aid in healing the sore, tender spots. Hem-Roid is pleasant to use is highly recommended and it seems the height of folly for any one to risk a painful and chronic pile condition when such a fine remedy may be had at such a small cost.

If you try Hem-Roid and are not entirely pleased with the results, your druggist will gladly return your money. —(Advt.)

Soviet Unit 60 Miles Off Austria

Gain 17 Miles In One Day Across Hungary

LONDON, Dec. 5 (CP)—Red Army forces surging through western Hungary in a drive outflanking besieged Budapest were massed today along the south shores of Lake Balaton, 60 miles from the Austrian frontier.

Led by Marshal Feodor I. Tolbukhin, the Austria-bound Russians piled up one gain yesterday of 17 miles. The over-all advances carried them 12 miles closer to the border than previously reported—60 miles from Nagybajom, at the southwestern end of the 42-mile lake front.

A midnight Moscow bulletin said a column driving north along the west bank of the Danbue was 37 miles south of Budapest and still advancing toward the capital's back door. East of the river which divides the city other Russian troops have been hammering the southeastern suburbs for days and on the northeastern enemy communications have been cut.

Tolbukhin's forces were rapidly taking positions to swing around both ends of Lake Balaton toward Austria. Nagybajom was the springboard for the southwestern army. At the northeastern end of the lake front the base was Sagvar, reached yesterday in a 17-mile advance from Tamasi.

Take 100 Places

The Russians swept through more than 100 towns and villages northeast, west and south of the communications hub of Kaposvar, captured Saturday.

"The Germans are abandoning their military technique, their arms and military equipment," the Moscow communique said of the fighting in this sector.

Reports still incomplete declared the Russians killed 2,000 enemy soldiers in yesterday's fighting. The communique said 3,000 prisoners were taken in three days of fighting ending Sunday.

West of Pecs in the area of the Dr. . River border of Hungary and Yugoslavia the Russians were hurling back the enemy on the approaches to the rail junction town of Szigetvar, 80 miles northeast of Zagreb.

Red Army troops operating in northern Yugoslavia with Yugoslav forces captured Mitrovica, on the Save River 41 miles northwest of Belgrade.

Obituary

ANDREW QUACKENBUSH

SOUTH LAKE, Dec. 5 — The funeral of Andrew Marcus Quackenbush was held from his residence in South Lake and burial was in the family plot, at Maple Grove Cemetery. In his 70th year, Mr. Quackenbush died in Nicholls Hospital after a serious operation.

The funeral service was conducted by Mr. Sternwall, of the Pentecostal Church in Havelock, assisted by Donald Ellis, of Centre Dummer.

Mr. Quackenbush was born in Seymour West Township in 1875, the son of the late Andrew Quackenbush and Almeda Vanvolkenburg. He leaves to mour his loss his sorrowing widow, formerly Phoebe Letitea Munro whom her married 45 years ago; four daughters, Mrs. Fred Bolton, of Indian River; Mrs. Cecil Woodcock, of Centre Dummer; Mrs. Ed. Winn of South Lake; Elfa at home; and by four sons, Ralph, in the Canadian Armed Forces wounded in Italy in December, 1943, and now in Christie Street Hospital, Toronto; Lyle of Peterborough; Warden and Randal, both of South Lake; and one sister, Mrs. Florence Clarke of Havelock. He is also survived by two brothers, Ernest and Samuel, both of Havelock.

Pallbearers were Harry Garbutt, Goldie Nuell, Ralph Sleep, Earl Geron, Levi Wrightley and Charles Hubble.

This would be part of a general army reorganization with the re-establishment of a non-permanent active militia, with emphasis on up-to-date training methods and equipment and real, tough army courses.

One thing seems certain: the reserve army will have plenty of the best equipment to draw from.

at both those polls and the fourth sub-division where the ratepayers turned thumbs down on that particular measure was at Poll 6 in the South Ward where the vote was 36 for and 41 against.

As for the Memorial Health Centre measure it looked as if until practically the last poll was in that it would carry every one of the 50 sub-divisions. Then along came Poll 5 in the South Ward and it alone failed to turn in a favorable majority. However the measure was not beaten either for the returns showed that the property-owners of that particular division had split even with 35 for the bylaw and 35 against.

Both the Memorial Centre and Hospital bylaws received their biggest boost at Poll 24 in the Queen Mary School in the West ward. There the former measure was carried by 167 to 14 and the ratepayers of that residential section polled a vote of 155 to 22 in favor of the hospital.

The figures show that 74 per cent of those who voted favored the Memorial Health Centre measure while close to 70 per cent of the property owners who marked their ballots expressed approval of the hospital bylaw.

Vote By Ward

By wards the votes on the three bylaws were as follows:

South Ward: Memorial Centre bylaw 529 for, 281 against; Hospital bylaw 552 for and 283 against, and City Trust bylaw 545 for and 285 against.

Centre Ward: Memorial Centre bylaw 121 for and 37 against; Hospital bylaw 114 for and 48 against; City Trust bylaw 114 for and 50 against.

West Ward: Memorial Centre bylaw 710 for and 197 against; Hospital bylaw 681 for and 245 against; City Trust bylaw 678 for and 248 against.

North Ward: Memorial Centre bylaw 557 for and 207 against; Hospital bylaw 567 for and 218 against; City Trust bylaw 575 for and 212 against.

East Ward: Memorial Centre bylaw 420 for and 118 against; Hospital bylaw 350 for and 193 against; City Trust bylaw 358 for and 202 against.

Monaghan Ward: Memorial Centre bylaw 207 for and 73 against; Hospital bylaw 196 for and 78 against; City Trust bylaw 206 for and 79 against.

Hepburn Pleads For Tolerance

HAMILTON, Dec. 5.—The future of Canada rests to a great extent on its ability to bring educational standards up to a national minimum level, in the opinion of Mitchell F. Hepburn, former Premier of Ontario, who addressed a dinner meeting of the Hamilton Lodge, B'nai B'rith, in the Royal Connaught Hotel last night.

Pleading for tolerance and understanding in the world, Mr. Hepburn said the challenge was presented to service organizations like B'nai B'rith to take the lead in such a movement in Canada. He expressed the view that Canada would settle down after "the present crisis" and proceed to inculcate in the minds of Canadians "a national spirit which will be felt throughout the world."

Of the conscription issue, Mr. Hepburn said, "I believe in equality of sacrifice, sure. But there must also be equality of educational and other opportunities." He was referring to low educational standards in some parts of the country and the depression years when many were jobless. It was at this point that the speaker said the nation's future rests mainly on its progress in educational matters. He paid tribute to ex-Premier Adelard Godbout of Quebec for his inauguration of progressive educational legislation.

"I'm going to continue to preach the doctrine of self-respect, mutual understanding and tolerance," the former Liberal Leader declared after reviewing his stand on international matters since he entered public life 19 years ago. "Prussian autocracy has got to be crushed and there also must be a campaign of re-education," Mr. Hepburn said, again stressing the part service clubs must play in this campaign.

Harry Beube, chairman of B'nai B'rith War Services Committee, was honored for his work by presentation of a club service pin by Lou Davidson. Mr. Beube reviewed the lodge's war efforts the past few years.

FO. L. H. Geller, back home from completing two tours of operations with the R.C.A.F. overseas spoke briefly, praising the organization for its response to the appeal for blood donors. FO. Geller was among those who gave blood at the local clinic yesterday morning. Joseph Alexandroff presided at the meeting.

Ralph Maybank Raps Bracken

OTTAWA, Dec. 5 — (CP). — Ralph Maybank, Liberal member for Winnipeg South Centre, said yesterday in the Commons that he could not agree with an opposition suggestion that Prime Minister Mackenzie King should resign and make way for John Bracken, head of the Progressive Conservative party.

The suggestion was made in the Commons Friday by Lt.-Col. J. A. Ross (PC.—Souris) during debate on the Government's vote of confidence motion.

"Mr. Bracken . . . so far in his meanderings and peregrinations and zanderings has not seen fit or managed to have himself made a member of this House which the honorable member for Souris wants him to lead," said Mr. Maybank.

"There may be political uncertainties, but the attitude of this House of Commons towards John Bracken is not one of them. I mean no one except this official opposition of 39 members, and even some of them might not turn out to be very dependable followers of Mr. Bracken, and it would not be surprising because the English-speaking never did enthuse greatly over Benedict Arnold, you will remember. . . .

(Benedict Arnold was a general who betrayed the American Army to the British during the American revolution.)

"This Mr. Bracken who has been mentioned in the midst of this crisis was not found in his place where he could help. Every member of the House of Commons has been in deep travail of spirit these many days, and I except no one from that, whether their views are as mine or whether they are contrary to mine . . . John Bracken could only employ his time at a party convention getting ready for an election. . . ."

Steady, methodical progress was made by the U.S. 7th and French 1st Armies in clearing the snowy Vosges Mountains and the sodden Alsace plains.

The 7th also fought vigorously for the major supply and rail centre of Haguenau in an attempt to clear the Germans from the Karlsruhe corner of Lorraine.

The 7th Army, fighting on the right flank if the 3rd, captured Diemeringen, four miles east of Saare Union, and Volkesberg in the forest a few miles farther east. usual, silencing the entire German radio system by mid-morning.

Good weather favored the Flying Fortresses and Liberators over the channel and prospects were bright for a sharp follow-up to yesterday's raids by 4,000 bombers and fighters on Soest, Kassel, Giessen, Berbra, Mainz, Oberhausen, Karlsruhe and Heilbronn.

Centres Blasted

Six rail centres were hit in daylight, five of them by American bombers. R.A.F. and R.C.A.F. heavies took care of Oberhausen in the Ruhr, and went to Karlsruhe and Heilbronn on the upper Rhine after dark. A "substantial number" of Canadian craft attacked Karlsruhe, it was announced. All returned safely.

Figures on losses were withheld by British and American bombers commands as incomplete, but opposition was reported moderate.

R.A.F. Spitfires and Typhoons carried on the war against German rail communications from their bases in Belgium and Holland. The network leading into the Ruhr was cut at 20 scattered points.

Five locomotives were destroyed and many more damaged during nearly 500 trips over the battlelines.

Fighter and medium bombers of the U.S. 9th air force were in the air—often in bad weather—26 days of November's 30.

Fighter bombers made 12,000 trips over the battlelines and medium bombers struck 3,000 strong with a total of 5,200 tons on selected targets ahead of the Allied armies.

Eleven medium and 119 fighter bombers were lost but the 9th's bag included destruction and damage of 454 locomotives, 176 tanks, 2,798 railway cars, 40 barges and 158 German planes.

Britain Seeks To Curb Riots

LONDON, Dec. 5 —(CP)—Prime Minister Churchill, questioned in the House of Commons today on the fighting in Athens, said that "on the evidence so far available, I am not prepared to say who started the firing."

"Greece is faced with the most desperate economic and financial problems apart from civil war, which we are trying to stop," the prime minister said. "We and our American allies are doing our utmost to give assistance and our troops are acting to prevent bloodshed."

Mr. Churchill said that whether the Greek people formed themselves into a monarchy or a republic was up to them to decide, but he flatly declared "until they are in a position of deciding we shall not hesitate to use the considerable British army now in Greece and being reinforced to see that law and order are being maintained."

House members cheered the prime minister when he said "It is deplorable that an event like this should take place in Athens scarcely a month after the city's liberation and feeding."

When Mr. Churchill declared that British and American authorities were doing their utmost to prevent bloodshed he was generally applauded but a few Labor members cried "Ho."

To Prevent Bloodshed

The prime minister then repeated "to prevent bloodshed."

"But sometimes it is necessary to use force to prevent greater bloodshed," he added. "The main burden falls on us. The responsibility is within our Allied military sphere—that is our military sphere agreed upon with our principal Allies.... If the damage of four years of war and enemy occupation is to be repaired and if Greek life and economy are to be rebuilt, their internal stability must be maintained and, pending a general election under fair conditions, the authority of the constitutional Greek government must be accepted and enforced throughout the country."

Earlier today, Fenner Brockway, political secretary of the Independent Labor party, said: "The British government is siding with the right against the left in Greece," and warned "consequences may be serious."

Mr. Brockway asserted: "Athens will set the pattern for Europe. Relations with Russia may be involved."

The Communist Daily Worker said editorially today that "British policy in Greece is on the brink of a catastrophe that may stain the good name of Britain in Europe for generations to come."

"The British government," it maintained, "cannot escape direct responsibility for the consequences of the situation it has provoked.... The way not only to civil war in Greece, but to restore confidence in British good faith throughout Europe, is to end this policy of giving blank cheques to reactionaries and brow-beating all who mistrust them."

Air Delegates

Canada won by one ballot, but it was discovered the Luxembourg delegate was absent and as he would almost certainly vote for France, it was declared a tie.

The plenary session will also elect a council of 21 member states to serve as council for the interim organization and Canada is assured a seat on that body because of her importance in the field of aviation.

It has been freely forecast that H. J. Symington, Canadian delegation leader, would be sought as president of the interim council, but so far as could be learned to-day he was not seeking the post and would be unlikely to accept.

After much debate, long, deadlocked committee meetings and strenuous efforts by Canada to bring about a single acceptable convention to establish order and fairness through international control of commercial aviation, the apparent result to-day was that the following documents would emerge:

Proposed Plans.

1. A draft permanent convention establishing an international civil aviation organization with limited powers to supervise air transport and containing annexes standardizing air navigation and field operations. This would require ratification by at least 26 states to become operative.

2. An agreement for interim organization of a similar international authority to be set up at once to perform the same functions proposed for the permanent body, to have headquarters in Canada (probably Montreal) and to carry on up to three years pending ratification of the permanent convention.

3. A separate agreement whose signers would accord to each other the first two "freedoms of the air"—freedom to cross over in innocent flight and freedom to land for non-traffic purposes.

4. A separate agreement whose signers would accord to each other al five freedoms of the air, the first two and the additional privileges of traffic operations in and out of all signatory states — open competition.

5. A separate agreement on standard forms in negotiating bi-lateral treaties so that all international flying will tend to conform with the general objectives of the permanent convention.

Anti-Government Speakers Voice Conscription Views

By FRANK FLAHERTY—Canadian Press Staff Writer

OTTAWA, Dec. 5—(CP).—Anti-government speakers did most of the talking as the House of Commons entered its second week of debate on overseas conscription yesterday but no signs appeared of any diminishing in the government's prospects of success on the coming vote of confidence. The first Liberal member to announce his intention of voting against his party because the government's policy does not go far enough was heard. He was Flt.-Lt. James Sinclair of Vancouver North, who has seen overseas service with the RCAF.

On the other side of the question Maurice Lalonde (L—Labelle) declared he could not go along with the government because of his opposition to conscription.

Flt.-Lt. Sinclair will vote for the Progressive Conservative amendment to the government's confidence motion which asks that all 68,000 home defence troops be made available for service in any theatre of war.

Vote Sub-Amendment.

Mr. Lalonde will vote for the dissenting Liberal sub-amendment which expresses opposition to conscription for overseas service. He is one of several Quebec Liberals who with one Saskatchewan Liberal, Walter Tucker of Rosthern, are against the government's action in authorizing the sending of 16,000 drafted men overseas.

From J. W. Noseworthy (C.C.F. York South) there came a strong indication the nine Co-operative Commonwealth Federation members would vote against the government on the main motion of confidence. Earlier M. J. Coldwell, C.C.F. leader, proposed a sub amendment which was ruled out of order and which embodied the principle of making all draftees available for overseas service but he did not indicate how his group would vote on the main motion.

Other speakers of the day included Col. A. J. Brooks (PC-Royal), John R. MacNicol (PC-Toronto Davenport), and Norman Lockhart (PC-Lincoln). They were critical of the government's proposal as inadequate to provide a steady flow of reinforcements for the army overseas.

To Oppose

Ralph Maybank (L-Winnipeg South Centre) and Maj. Leslie Mutch (L-Winnipeg South) said they were ready to vote with the government; Leonard Tremblay (L-Dorchester) who said he was against conscription but did not say how he would vote and Frederic Dorion (Ind. - Charlevoix-Saguenay), also Flt, Lt. Sinclair, who has frequently spoken of the viewpoint of air- against conscription, will vote against the administration.

Again since his return from overseas, suggested the formation of an R.C.A.F. infantry regiment to absorb airmen now being discharged and who are fit for army service.

He said these airmen are unwilling to enlist in the army for a number of reasons under present conditions. They feel they volunteered once and should not be asked to volunteer again while trained infantry conscripts are not being used. Their pay in the army in many cases would be less than it was in the air force.

If, however, there was an R.C.A.F. regiment they could be given pay which would be satisfactory. They would be serving with their comrades and their morale would be high. Such a unit would require a minimum of training and would be a proud force.

In Africa the R.A.F. regiment undertook duties in the line as well as protection of airports. The Herman Goering division in the German army was associated with the German air force and was one of the enemy's best fighting formations.

Has Not Changed

Prime Minister Mackenzie King by an interjection indicated he has not changed his mind on prolonging the life of parliament if the war is not over before the time arrives when an election will be necessary under the law.

When Mr. MacNicol was speaking he expresed strong opposition to such a step and recalled Mr. King's assurance on the point.

"I will stay with you," said Mr. King.

Mr. Maybank and Mr. Mutch said they interpreted the order-in-council authorizing the sending of draftees overseas as applying to the entire home defence force. They were satisfied the troops overseas would get the reinforcements needed.

Mr. Noseworthy said Mr. King's appeal for a vote of confidence rested on the contention that no other leader could carry on the government and that if the government were defeated there would be delay in providing reinforcements.

"In my opinion the Prime Minister's argument is a weak one on which to appeal for support," he said. "We cannot feel justified in voting, on those grounds, to support a policy of which we do not approve."

Paris Wearing Deceptive Mask

By GLADWIN HILL
Associated Press Staff Wrtier

PARIS, Dec. 5 —(AP)—Liberated three months ago, Paris wears today a deceptive mask of normality but underneath it remains a city rocked to its very foundations by the rigors of war.

Chic feminity strolls the boulevards. Open air bookstalls flourish along the Seine. Champagne flows at hollow diplomatic receptions. Fabulous montmartre erupts in a hundred hole-in-the-wall night clubs.

But all this is superficial. Women's chic gowns are of light summer material because winter-weight goods are scarce. Many Parisians are getting only half the requisite number of calories for good health because food supplies are inadequate. Most buildings are unheated.

Paris has 16 daily newspapers now, but they are limited to a single sheet each. The subways are running, but there are no taxis and practically no other surface transportation.

The meat ration is half a pound weekly Fish is unobtainable because of transportation shortage.

Some 10,000 Parisians are languishing in confinement on charges of suspicion of collaboration with the Germans. Only 20 have been tried so far, and lawyers mutter about the slow progress of the trials.

The new French consultative assembly is putting on the airs of a legislature, but with Gen. De Gaulle and his cabinet taking all active measures the assembly is mainly a synthetic forum pending the return of nearly one-tenth of France's people from bondage in Germany.

Radio Man Reports Fewer Licenses

Compared with other years, Peterborough is down in the purchase of radio licenses, according to M. E. Leslie, radio inspector from the Department of Transport, Radio Branch Toronto. Residents in this city are requested to obtain the necessary licenses immediately to avoid court proceedings.

Usually, Mr. Leslie pointed out, Peterborough has a good reputation with regard to radio licenses, but this year, there has been a decrease of "several hundred, as compared with last year."

The radio inspector's annual check up in this city has just been completed.

Greek Rebels Ordered To Leave Athens

Disorders Continue British Tanks Disperse Attackers

By STEPHEN BARBER
Associated Press Staff Writer

ATHENS, Dec. 5.—(AP).—Armed members of the Leftist E.A.M. (National Liberation Front), defying a decree to disband issued by Premier George Pavandreou's British-supported government, were reported in control of 20 of the 25 police precincts in Athens last night, while another was under siege.

Despite the gravity of the situation, insistent rumors that the premier had decided to reisgn were officially denied. Late yesterday he issued an ultimatum demanding that members of the E.L.A.S.—armed militia of the E.A.M.—quit the Athens area by midnight to-night.

(A Reuter News Agency dispatch from Athens reported Papandreou was tendering his resignation.)

One person was killed and three injured last evening in a new outbreak of shooting near the Athens railway station when police tried to disperse sympathizers returning from the mass funeral of 21 persons killed in Sunday's disorders, precipitated by the government's decree that the E.L.A.S. disarm and disband.

Attack College

Earlier in the day 400 E.L.A.S. members armed with rifles and machine-guns attacked the Greek Naval College at Piraeus, Port of Athens, and were dispersed by British tanks only after they had forced their way into the hospital wing.

In a brisk four-hour skirmish three Britons were founded and the interpreter of a British senior officer was slain as he sat in a staff car beside his superior.

The Naval College had been used as headquarters by British and Greek naval forces and Greek navy men defended the place pending the arrival of British armor.

British crews meanwhile manned the Piraeus dockyard and with British troops continued the unloading of relief supplies which had been discontinued yesterday as a result of the general strike called by the A.E.M. to protest the disarming order.

The head of the Soviet mission here was fired upon yesterday by Greek civil police while driving in his official car bearing a red flag. Police said they mistook the red flag for the E.A.M. insignia.

Meanwhile a special Greek court sentenced to death Yanni Yannopoulos, accused of being a leader in the puppet regiment set up by the Nazis. He was the first war criminal to be given the death penalty.

2 Investigations

OTTAWA, Dec. 5 — (CP). — Two Royal Commissions investigating aspects of taxation are being organized in Ottawa this week. One, headed by Mr. Justice Errol McDougall of Montreal, will investigate the question of taxing co-operative organizations. The other, headed by W. C. Ives, former Chief Justice of the Trial Division, Supreme Court of Alberta, will inquire into annuities and succession duties in respect to income.

Rectal Soreness and

PILE TORTURE

QUICKLY RELIEVED

If you are troubled with itching piles or rectal soreness do not delay treatment and run the risk of letting this condition become chronic. Any itching or soreness or painful passage of stool is nature's warning and proper treatment should be secured at once.

For this purpose get a package of Hem-Roid from McDermid & Jury or any I D A or other drug store and use as directed. This formula which is used internally is a small easy to take tablet will quickly relieve the itching and soreness and aid in healing the sore, tender spots. Hem-Roid is pleasant to use is highly recommended and it seems the height of folly for any one to risk a painful and chronic pile condition when such a fine remedy may be had at such a small cost.

If you try Hem-Roid and are not entirely pleased with the results your druggist will gladly return your money. —(Advt.)

Elect R. Dodge Cobourg Mayor

COBOURG, Dec. 5.—(ENS).—Roy Dodge, ex-reeve of Cobourg, won the mayoralty contest Monday, defeating Jack Burnet, the present mayor, by a majority of 310 votes. Robert Love defeated Reuben Jackson to be re-elected reeve by a majority of 185. Following were the votes polled:

Mayor—Roy Dodge 899, Jack Burnet 589; reeve, Robert Love 774, Reuben Jackson 589; deputy-reeve, Douglas Glenn by acclamation; council, first six elected — Alan Field 840, Ernest Jeffery 766, Edward Morton 717, Mrs. Clara Delany 662, John Runciman 642 and James Rollings 618, William Wenn 617, James Goody 567, Judd Kennedy 556 and David Carr 379. The two newcomers to the 1945 council are Jeffery and Runciman, the remainder being of the 1944 Council.

The by-law to grant a fixed assessment of $2,000 a year for a period of ten years to the Cobourg Lumber Company was defeated by two votes. In favour of the by-law were 506 and opposed 256, but as a two-thirds majority is required, it lost by two votes. However there were many who were property owners but not listed as such on the voters' list and it was rumored Monday night that a protest might be entered in connection with the results in this by-law.

Two Criticize Mackenzie King

OTTAWA, Dec. 5 — (CP). — Government leadership came in for comment from two Opposition members in the Commons yesterday.

Col. A. J. Brooks (PC-Royal) was the first to mention it when he said he wished Col. J. L. Ralston, former Defence Minister, had accepted a challenge from Prime Minister Mackenzie King to accept the leadership.

J. W. Noseworthy (CCF-York South) said he hoped it was not true that after 25 years as leader of his party Prime Minister King had no other man ready to take his place, yet Mr. King had suggested there was another man in Canada to lead a Government.

Col. Brooks referred to a statemtnt of Col. Ralston that he considered one of his weaknesses was that he was not flexible.

"It is a good thing for the men overseas that he was born inflexible, because while we have not a full loaf, through his inflexible effort I feel we are getting half a loaf," Col. Brooks said.

"But I do not think his speech carried him entirely to its logical conclusion. I should have liked to have seen him maintain his inflexibility to the extent of accepting the Prime Ministers challenge to form a Government in this country.

"Had he done so I can assure him he would have had great support from the people of Canada and would have had support from members who sit in this Chamber."

Col. Brooks said the only thing for the House to do was to demand full implementation of conscription as proposed in the Opposition amendment.

Indian Envoy Urges Closer Understanding

A most eloquent plea for a better understanding of India by the people of Canada was voiced at Mondays luncheon of the Peterborough Rotary Club by M. R. Agula the Indian Government Trade Commissioner to this country.

Pointing out that Canada and India were sister countries in the British Commonwealth, Mr. Agula urged that if Canadians could not look up to India as an elder sister, they should at least look down to her as a younger sister, extend her a helping hand and place her squarely on her feet.

The Indian Trade Commissioner was introduced by Rotarian Gordon Monkman who paid tribute to the contribution India was making in the Empire's war effort and to the fact that 16 Indian soldiers had already won the Victoria Cross, said that when he had been appointed as trade commissioner to Canada he had been anxious to learn all he could about this young and vigorous country. When he had sought to obtain a book that would give him what he wanted to know he had been referred to the Canada Year Book, but eventually came across Bruce Hutchinson's book "The Unknown Country."

Mr. Agula said that he had discovered since coming to Canada that while his knowledge of this country had not been very extensive, the knowledge that Canadians had of India was decidedly less.

"If I were going to write a similar book about India" said the speaker "I would call it 'The Most Misunderstood Country.'"

Mr. Agula said that Canadians had gained their impressions of India from what they had heard from the missionaries or read in books by foreign writers who had visited India. He had nothing but good to say of the work done by the missionaries and the things they said about India were no doubt perfectly true, but it should be remembered that the missionaries knew only about the district in which they had been stationed and little about India as a whole.

Sister Countries

He reminded his hearers that Canada and India were two sister countries in the same family of nations and urged Canadians to remember that while India had weaknesses and imperfections she also had many good points. The ties that bound India and Canada, he said, were stronger than ever before at the present time, because they were made tighter by the flowing of the blood of the young men of the two countries in a common cause, Mr. Agula pleaded that these ties should never be loosened by criticism by Canadians of India and for a better understanding of India and her problems on the part of Canadians.

He had found, he said, that most Canadian people, had been deceived by fallacies in regard to India and that their conception of country was far from being the true picture. India in their mind was a country of fabulous riches and they forgot the teeming millions who were living on the verge of starvation.

Mr. Agula pointed out that India had a population of 389,000,000 people, three times the population of the United States and 30 times as great as that of Canada. Three-quarters of the people of the whole British Empire lived in India, he said.

Hindus in the population numbered 250,000,000 and there were 94,000,000 Mohamedans 89 per cent of whom were of the same racial origin as the Hindus.

India's War Effort

Pointing out that an ancient civilization dating back 5,000 years had been found in India and stressing the material resources of that vast country the Trade Commissioner referred to the great contribution his country had made to the Empire's war effort. In the first great war 1,500,000 Indian soldiers had been enrolled and in the present conflict the total was two million. Mr. Agula said that the most decorated unit in the Allies' armies was an India unit and emphasized the part played by the 4th Indian division which had broken the Mareth Line and the line at El Alamein. This he said was the division that was fighting alongside the Canadians in Italy and was the same unit that had crashed through the Gothic Line in the Italian campaign.

Rotarian John A. Dewart in expressing thanks to the speaker said that the eloquent address should cause Rotarians to resolve to learn more of the long history of India.

Rev. Dr. James Semple, pastor of the George Street United church, was introduced as a new member of the Peterborough club by Rotarian E. L. Sackville, who referred to the long Rotary service that Dr Semple had already experienced.

President Gordon S. Matthews, who presided, had with him as his guest at the meeting, his son Able Seaman Gordon Matthews, Jr., R.C.N.V.R.

Senate Likely To Probe Army Affairs

OTTAWA, Dec. 5.—(CP).— The Senate to-day had before it a proposal to undertake the responsibility of conducting inquiries, such as now are made by Royal Commissions, and to plan an investigation of the Defence Department after the war.

The suggestion was advanced by Senator J. J. Bench (L-Ontario) speaking last night in the debate on overseas reinforcements.

He said he regarded interviews and press statements given by army officers as "a parade of insurrection" and an indication "there is something rotten in the state of the Department of National Defence." To give the public assurance there would be no recurrence of the present crisis a full investigation should be made.

Senator J. A. Calder (PC-Saskatchewan) also spoke last night and will continue his address today. Replying to criticism by Senator Bench of a section of the press, Senator Calder said the Canadian newspapers had reflected public opinion on overseas reinforcements.

Senator Bench said he was troubled by "the great suddenness" with which the situation had developed and had difficulty in understanding why the Minister was not informed that casualties were increasing and reinforcement pools dropping.

Advancing his proposal for the Senate to undertake inquiries Senator Bench said the Upper House could act as the eyes and ears of parliament. An investigation of the Defence Department should not be started at this late stage of the war but with victory there should be a general stocktaking.

U.S. Has It

"I would like to see this branch of parliament examine into the entire setup of the Department of National Defence, at least insofar as the army is concerned," he said. "If there is need for a military affairs committee in the United States Senate there is no less need for it here."

A section of the press which played upon the affections and anxieties of the Canadian public would have to take responsibility for the damage done national unity in the current discussions. The campaign was one of studied propaganda carried on even before Canadian troops were in action.

With the limitations of a country the size of Canada recognized the government should give consideration to consolidating its forces on one battlefront instead of fighting in two theatres.

Senator Calder said public opinion had become vocal through letters in the press and that expression of opinion had forced the government to change its opinion in 24 hours.

Such a change was evidence of democracy in action, he said.

75 Lawyers Plan To Attend Dinner

COBOURG, Dec. 5.—(ENS)—Apparently the first meeting of its kind in the province, lawyers in District No. 6 of the Ontario Federation of County and District Law Associations will meet at Cobourg in the town hall on Monday, December 11. From 75 to 100 lawyers will be present.

Attorney-General Leslie Blackwell, W. A. Goodfellow, M.L.A., Palmer Kent of the City of Toronto Legal Dept. and Willes Chitty, K.C., editor of the Fortnightly Law Journal, Judge Cameron of Hastings county, Judge J. McGibbon of Lindsay, Judge S. Smoke of Peterborough, Judge D. B. Coleman of Ontario county and Judge J. C. M. German of Northumberland and Durham counties, will also attend.

At a meeting of the executive of the Ontario Federation of County and District Law Associations held in Toronto last August, it was decided that each district would hold a mass meeting of the lawyers of that district, to consider various problems to be submitted to a general meeting of the associations to be held in Toronto in February of next year.

The points to be considered are:

That an attempt be made to bring about an amendment to the Solicitors' Act with the object of more clearly defining the duties of a barrister and solicitor and protecting them in their professional capacity from the encroachments of unlicensed practitioners. To consider the advisability of members of the legal profession obtaining insurance analagous to that carried by doctors against claims arising in connection with their business. To consider the advisability of a provincial tariff of fees similar to the Surrogate Court tariff and what steps should be taken in this regard if the members of the Bar think it is a sound policy.

To consider what fee, if any, should be paid by individual lawyers or law associations to adequately maintain the Ontario Federation of County and District Law Associations. To consider methods to better the relations between the public and the members of the profession, as for instance, the retention of a publicity agent, advertising along the lines in use in Manitoba, or the frequent publication of a pamphlet.

Mr. Justice Barlow, who will preside over the Supreme Court non-jury sittings, which opens here on December 11, will attend the banquet in the evening.

When is a Dollar Not a Dollar?

When it won't buy a dollar's worth of goods! For instance, compared to present-day standards, your dollar of the last war was worth, not a dollar . . . but sometimes less than 50¢. Housewives, who went marketing in 1917, had to part with $1.60 for a four-pound jar of jam which you buy to-day for 69¢ . . . Dad's winter underwear set him back $4.98 then, as compared to the $2.98 he could buy it for to-day. You get a lot more for your money NOW . . . because price ceilings and other anti-inflationary measures have kept the value of your dollar HIGH! That's why it will pay you to see that selfish spending never undermines price control in Canada. Remember, you protect your dollar's worth when you use your money wisely . when you pay off debts . . . refuse to buy needless luxuries... give black markets a wide berth.. and don't hoard goods.

Make This Pledge Today!

I promise to give my support to keeping the cost of living down. I will buy only what I need. I will observe the ceiling whether buying or selling goods or services. I will pay off old debts, save for the future, invest in Victory Bonds and War Savings Certificates. And I will support taxes which help lower the cost of living.

Keep Your Dollar Value High!

TUESDAY DECEMBER 5, 1944

An Appeal For The Fund

This is the fourth anniversary of the institution of the Peterborough and District British War Victims' Fund. In the autumn of 1941, when the blitz over Britain was mounting in fury, and when each day brought new tales of disaster, it was decided by a small group of citizens that Peterborough should do something for those who had lost their homes and their families, and on the fifth of December, 1941, the Fund was open for contributions. From that time until now there has not been a single business day on which the Treasurer of the Fund has not banked money to its credit, and every penny of that money has gone abroad to help those for whom the Fund was begun. The expenses of the Fund have been borne privately; all contributions have gone direct to the cause.

The response to the Fund has been magnificent. Peterborough, like every other Canadian city and town, has had all kinds of demands made upon it since the war began. Some war charities did not last long; others were enduring and still need money; taxes were high; the Victory Loans asked for generous support and got it. But in spite of these things the people of this city and county never forgot the needs of the British people who suffered from enemy air activity. Some contributions were large; some were less than a dollar. Groups of workers, groups of sportsmen, church and social organizations, schoolchildren—people of every kind and in every possible combination gave money to the Fund. Seeds were sold in Spring; flowers were sold in Summer; fruits and vegetables were sold in Autumn, and the money went to the Fund. The old and the young, the rich and the poor, people of every church and people of no church—none were deaf to the appeal. The Fund was a constant reminder of the kindness and generosity which the people of this district can feel for those who have suffered misfortune and loss.

The total sum collected stood yesterday at $84,511.75. It is hoped that within the next two and a half weeks this may be raised to $90,000, a sum equal to £20,000. We do not feel that a high-pressure appeal is needed for this cause; it has been generously supported for four years, and we know that support will not fail it now. Although the bomb damage in Britain at present is not as great as it has been, there are still many people who are homeless and who have no hope of getting homes until the war is over, and their need is great. And in particular we mention the many British children who have been left without homes or parents; the parents of Canadian children who have lived in safety and plenty through the war will understand the force of this need, which takes on a special urgency at the Christmas season.

Christmas is a time of giving, not only to those who are near us, but also to those who are far away and whose claim upon us is less direct. This war has destroyed isolationism of the spirit, as well as the isolationism of nations. Wherever there is want or distress, our help is needed; wherever a child lacks the common comforts of life, or the small luxuries which give so much joy to small hearts, our kindness is wanted. Peterborough has shown for four years how well it understands these things: Will you, as an act of Christmas kindness, make another gift to the War Victims' Fund?

Ingrid Bergman wants to know what the beauty of her legs has to do with her success as an actress. Well, if with the passing of years she develops legs like a hippopotamus, she will probably find out. However nourishing a cake may be, a good icing helps it, and the same general rule may apply to a cookie.

Lucky Peterborough

Peterborough is a lucky city in many ways. We are thinking at the moment of the first-rate job which is done here of keeping the streets clear in winter. Of course, you may say that that is a matter of foresight and good civic administration, but is not the possession of foresight and good civic administration a matter of luck? Consider how many places lack both. But Peterborough has good street-clearing equipment and it uses it to good advantage; our care in this matter might give a hint to a number of larger cities.

None the less, we hate to see the scrapers, the ploughs and the sand-trucks at work so early in the Winter. We wish that they could have stayed under cover for a few more weeks—the sand-trucks in particular. Every year we are forced to scatter tons of sand and gravel on our streets to make them safe, and every Spring that same sand and gravel blows in our faces and settles on our lawns and gardens, until we wonder if the character of our soil is changing, and a new Sahara coming to light in Eastern Ontario. It is one of the penalties of winter, and by no means the least.

How Quebec Has Taken It

How has Quebec taken the Government's decision to use draftees to reinforce Canadian troops abroad? We do not think that the question can be better answered than by reprinting the following editorial from the English-language newspaper printed in Quebec City, the Chronicle Telegraph, under the heading 'We Are Proud of Quebec':

"When Prime Minister King sought for and obtained from Parliament, following the Plebiscite, a conditional authority to resort to compulsory overseas service in case of necessity, the people of Quebec were much disturbed—and understandably so—in view of the repeated assurances they had received from the Liberal Party that it would never depart from the system of voluntary enlistment, under any circumstances. However, as time went by and there was no sign of any necessity arising, they became reassured and, even when Hon. J. L. Ralston was put out of the Cabinet because he demanded that trained draftees be sent overseas at once, to replace casualties in the active army, Quebecers remained confident that Mr. King would resign office sooner than break faith with them by putting the detested conscription into force. Then, like a bolt from the blue, word came suddenly from Ottawa that 16,000 draftees were to be sent to the battle fronts in France and Italy, after all. One does not have to have the Latin temperament to appreciate the strain placed upon popular self-restraint by this unexpected, indignation-provoking shock.

"In the situation we have thus outlined, it is with a feeling of pleasure and of pride that we can say we have been proud of Quebec during the past few days. Not only has the whole population remained cool and law-abiding—the impulsive demonstrations of a few college lads or young woodsmen are not worth considering—but all those in authority have worked together to make sure that no excess by individual hotheads should place Quebec undeservedly in an unfavourable light before the eyes of the outside world. It is only unfortunate that certain communication services, by making the most of inaccurate and unverified early reports, should have defeated these admirable efforts in part. That, however, does not change nor detract from the real condition.

"While we regret the continued opposition to compulsory service, even as a means of supporting our active army in the face of heavy battle casualties, we understand the point of view and how it has been hardened into conviction. And, because that conviction is what it is, we repeat that we are proud of Quebec, proud of the manner in which it has received the latest developments at Ottawa. We want our fellow-Canadians and the friends of Canada outside of the country to know that we are proud and we trust that the English-speaking press will place us on record as saying so".

This point of view deserves consideration, particularly in Ontario, and we hope that it will be remembered, and will help to establish a better feeling and a greater degree of unity between Quebec and the rest of Canada.

Reinforcements Provided

(By GRANT DEXTER)

OTTAWA: The session has divided itself into two parts. The members who gathered in the House of Commons on Nov. 22 were not clear in their minds as to the reality of the reinforcement problem, the actual grounds upon which Hon. J. L. Ralston resigned, or the policy which the Government would follow.

Their first desire, therefore, was to find out what the reinforcement problem was and what the Government proposed to do about it. The conscription order-in-council, read at the opening of the second day's proceedings, added to the confusion because it supplied the answer before the problem had been stated. But the House at once began to examine the reinforcement question, and this examination occupied the first three sittings. These constitute, as it were, the first part of the session. Thereafter, it became a question of whether the Government could command a majority and go forward.

Thus, Part One became a search for facts and an appraisal of the action which had been based upon them. Part Two was concerned with the political consequences of this action. This article is concerned only with the facts and the action.

PRIOR to the meeting of Parliament, the clearest presentation of the reinforcement problem was Mr. Ralston's public statement of Nov. 12. He showed that as of Oct. 18, when he returned from overseas, the reinforcement pools were seriously depleted. This would mean delays in filling the gaps caused by casualties. And failing remedial action, these delays would give way in January to outright shortages. The front line units, instead of having to wait for days for reinforcements, would be permanently short of men. And this condition would steadily become worse as the new year advanced.

Mr. Ralston's recommendation was that 15,000 men, in addition to all the estimated reinforcements available, be provided. This would refill the pools and maintain the overseas army until May. Thereafter still more men, additional to all estimated recruiting and remustering, would be needed. The only source from which these additional 15,000 men could be obtained, in his judgment, was the N.R.M.A. Therefore he insisted upon proclaiming Bill 80, and he left the Government when no action was taken.

THE facts placed before the House of Commons confirmed Mr. Ralston's case in every particular. General McNaughton, under question, declared that 5,000 additional men must be sent overseas in December; another 5,000 in January and 2,000 in each of the three succeeding months. Failing such action, the overseas units would be "into the red"—quite deep by May. But with these 16,000 men, there would be a substantial pool on hand in May to take care of the June casualties. The 16,000, however—and General McNaughton was very clear on this point—would not carry the army beyond this date.

All this, of course, is based on estimates of casualties in battle still to be fought. The important point, however, is that General McNaughton, despite his earlier statements to the contrary and despite his belief in the voluntary system, accepted in every particular the facts as stated by Mr. Ralston. The Government actually provided 1,000 men more than Mr. Ralston asked for. This was done, again on General McNaughton's evidence, to be on the safe side and to make sure that wounded and sick casualties would have plenty of time to regain their strength before returning to the front.

ON Nov. 24, the general staff selected the first 10,000 N.R.M.A. men to go overseas. They will proceed overseas in December and January. The movement of the first 5,000, said General McNaughton, was starting "at once," and the men will arrive overseas before the end of December, do their refresher training and be ready for front line duty late in January, when they will be needed.

It will be recalled that Mr. King, in his broadcast on Nov. 8, said that there were some 59,000 draftees available for service and that 42,000 of them were suitable for the infantry. Of this 42,000, he said there were 8,000 fully trained and another 8,000 whose training was well advanced. The remaining 26,000 were at a much earlier stage of preparation.

General McNaughton told the House that the 10,000 already selected for overseas service had been taken from the best trained units of the N.R.M.A. and that the other 6,000 would be selected for quality. This would mean that the 16,000 referred to will have gone forward by April or May.

He was closely questioned by Mr. Ralston as to the future of the remaining 26,000.

MR. RALSTON: General McNaughton, as I understand, you are training the additional 26,000; that is to say, there are the 42,000 who were mentioned by the Prime Minister, and of these there are the 16,000 we are talking of here today who are infantrymen practicaly ready, and others who will soon be ready, for combat.

GEN. McNAUGHTON: Very close to it.

MR. RALSTON: That leaves 26,000 who are in the medical category for infantry and could be trained as such. Are those being trained?

GEN. McNAUGHTON: We are going ahead with those, with all the training we can.

MR. RALSTON: In order to provide for any possible contingency: is that right?

GEN. McNAUGHTON: Absolutely right.

That is, these 26,000 men are also to be prepared for battle service and are already considered as reserves and as being available if the war extends beyond May and the need for them arises.

OTHER points were dealt with in this part of the session.

It was stated repeatedly and unequivocally that the present order-in-council applies to all N.R.M.A. men and that no second conscription order will be required. There will be no second political crisis; no further consultation with Parliament. This order, it was explained, settles the policy once and for all. It is true, however, that the Minister of Defence is not given power under the order to send more than 16,000 men overseas. But additional allotments, it was said, would be made as a normal executive act and no political significance would attach to such an act.

There were differences of opinion among the lawyers in the House as to the true interpretation of the order. Mr. Ralston and Conservative lawyers argued that only 16,000 men were involved. Mr. King and General McNaughton contended that all N.R.M.A. men are covered.

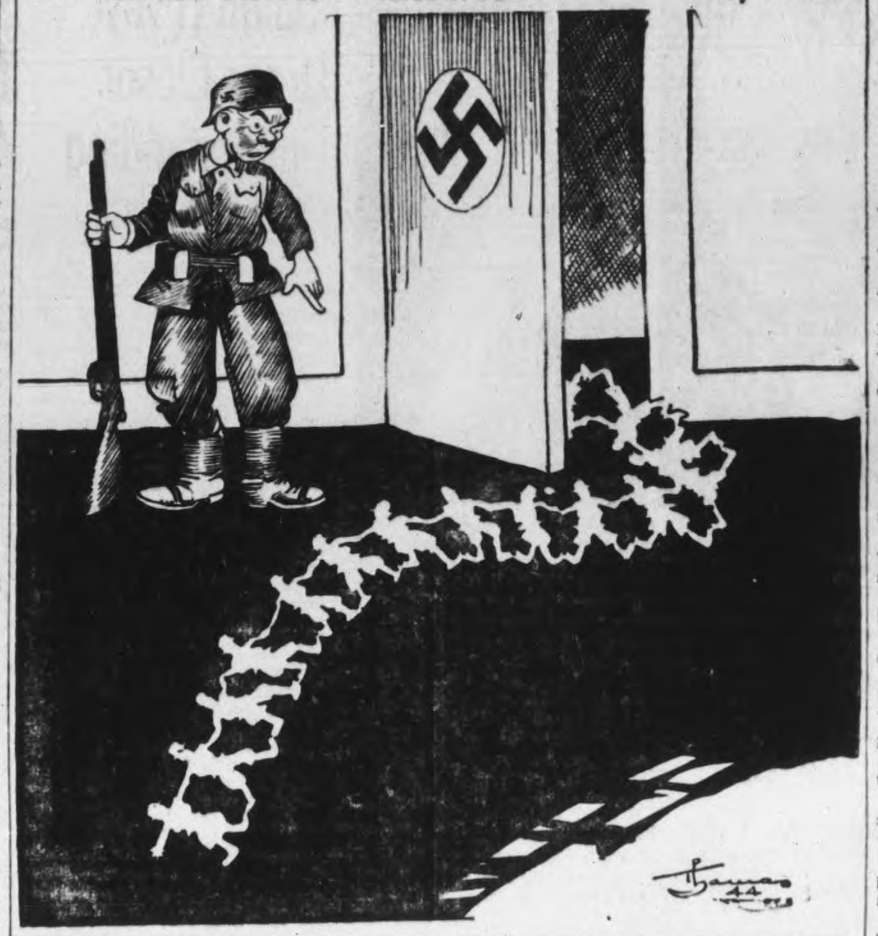
The argument, on the one hand, was that the order is restricted by the 16,000 figure and the fact that additional orders are contemplated. On the other, the point is made that to be restrictive, the order must have identified the particular 16,000 men to be sent and, equally, must have reserved the balance of the men for future disposition. Actually, the order identifies no group or individual. The Defence Department, under the order, can select any N.R.M.A. man. Hence, it is argued the order must apply to all, since all are liable to be among those selected.

The House, however, displayed small interest in these legal niceties. The assurances of the Government were accepted by most of the members, including Mr. Ralston himself.

The first part of the session, therefore, disclosed the problem and demonstrated that Mr. Ralston's solution had, belatedly no doubt, been accepted and applied.

All that now remains is to decide if the Government which has done these things can survive. That question is still open, although the prospects are that Mr. King will receive a substantial majority.

THE FUEHRER BRINGS UP RESERVES —By Thomas



LETTER TO THE EDITOR

WAS MARX WRONG?

Sir,—May I comment on a letter "Wealth and Poverty," in today's Examiner by Mr. R. J. Deachman, who quotes Karl Marx thus: "An accumulation of wealth at one pole of society indicates an accumulation of misery and overwork at the other" (I presume the quote is from Das Kapital) and after giving Marx a recommend he adds "But in this statement Karl Marx is wrong. I know that he is, so do you".

The English edition of the 1st volume of "Das Kapital" was published the year before I was born, but I have neither read any of the works of Marx, or Engles, nor felt a desire to do so. If I take R. J. Deachman's word that Marx is wrong in this basic statement, I could infer that he must be wrong throughout his economic philosophy, so I have not missed much by not reading it.

However I do not know that the statement is wrong. I think it would be just as sensible for me to quote "Public Welfare is the highest law" from Francis Bacon's Maxims on Law and then contend that you and I know that Bacon was wrong.

Ford manufactured a product we wanted, but it was not sold at a price we all could pay, because, as in other branches of industry and commerce the profit system will not permit that sort of arrangement. And we have had no other system of economics. Communist bolsheviki tried to abolish the profit system, but soon had to adopt their "New Economic Policy" by which they tried to control profits.—And a lot of people think they were a lot more successful than we have been, which is not going to help in our future social activities.

I think that Ford, Edison, Fulton, Lake, Nobel and other great inventors would have lived just as happy with the knowledge that their inventions were being used for the benefit of mankind in general, instead of being employed by schemers to store surplus wealth at one pole of society, thereby generating unrest, agitating and aggravating strikes, race-riots, revolutions and misery in general for such a large portion of mankind.

It should be noted that the will of A. B. Nobel provides for yearly "Nobel Prizes" for those whose in science, literature, and the furtherance of the worlds peace, is considered of most benefit to humanity.—Yours truly,

W. H. ROSEBUSH.

A Statue to d'Artagnan

SOME statues and some towns are never separated in my mind. I never hear a man speak of Tours but I see a dazzling white stone square, sun-dappled by the flat green leaves of plane trees and haunted by the great, brooding figure of Balzac. At the rippling name of Arles I think of a little swarming cloister immured by immemorial houses, gay with evening lights and laughter, and slender girls swaying coquettishly under the trees. There the Provencal poet Mistral stands in bronze.... I never think of Rouen without seeing in a simple dazzling picture the great gray cathedral and the statue of Joan. The only town in all Belgium, Belgium of Ghent and Bruges and the old Flemish cities, whose aspect is a constant portrait in my mind is Tournai, in the Walloon country, where in the shadow of an old cathedral rise Rodin's Burghers of Calais, an ironic, pitiful comment on war. I cannot remember a single statue in Marseilles or Lyons or Bordeaux or Orleans, and even the evocation of Paris, at first call, only urges me to recollection of the familiar equestrian figure of Henry IV on the Pont Neuf and the massive Lion of Belfort. But now they are going to erect somewhere a statue to d'Artagnan, and that will fix one more town in a deficient and capricious memory.

If there is one book whch might adequately survive the destruction by fire of all French history books and still give foreigners a true if picturesque conception of France in the seventeenth century, the France of the Great Louis, it is "The Three Musketeers". As Charles Reade's "The Cloister and the Hearth" presents the most complete picture in the English language of Europe in the Middle Ages, so the astounding classic of Duman vividly reconstructs, with a sense of reality astonishing and convincing to the reader, the life and times of the valiant, impressionable Gascon.

D'Artagnan was less legendary than most great characters in fiction. His original, Charles de Batz-Castelmore, whose mother was an Artagnan, was born at Castelmore between 1610 and 1620. I have seen his birthplace—a little feudal stronghold, half farmhouse and half fortress. Gascony to this day is full of these ruins. A younger son and without inheritance, he left his father's house on a sorry nag one day with a letter for a gentleman at the court in Paris. Whether or not he fought another gentleman and soldier of fortune at the inn near Orleans is not certain. D'Artagnan's biographer, Sandraz de Courtils, says so in his memoirs, and the insouciant Dumas, who knew a good story when he saw it, did not hesitate to reproduce it in "The Three Musketeers."—From "Paris in Profile," by George Slocombe.

Cause: Malnutrition

In an article by its Paris correspondent, the Manchester Guardian says:

"Perhaps the most significant picture that has yet been obtained of the real condition of the French people of the Paris region after four years of German occupation, is that to be found in the records of the French hospitals where the wounded from fighting in and around Paris at the end of August were treated. Both French and German wounded were treated in these hospitals and the records show that out of every ten seriously wounded Frenchmen, nine died. These figures speak for themselves in showing the direct effect of undernourishment on general vitality.

"Paris today is not a starving city but it is still a very much undernourished city.

"Under the Germans, quantities of foodstuffs laid down in ration scales often bore little relation to what could actually be obtained. Today although amounts of food available are not large, the housewife can rely on getting them. The figures that follow relate to the current housekeeping of a French family of three and may be accepted as typical.'

"The meat ration works out to about three ounces a week for each member of the family but as meat is weighed with bone the amount of meat available is meagre. Usually one egg a week can be obtained and each individual has about ten ounces of bread daily. This ration is a few ounces more for those engaged in hard manual work and is supplemented by varying additional distribution at the end of each month. Butter works out at about three ounces a month per head and also one quarter of a cheese can be obtained for each person every month.

"There is no milk at all for ordinary people but children under three are given half a litre (rather less than a pint) daily. There is a special ration of about four ounces of chocolate monthly for children under two. The sugar ration is about four ounces a week.

"Coal for cooking or domestic purposes is almost entirely lacking in Paris. There is gas available for cooking at certain hours during the day. Electricity has also been severely restricted but the supply is getting rather better. But Paris, with an undernourished population particularly susceptible to colds and chills, is faced with a very cold winter. At present a family of three can obtain three sacks of coal. One asked whether this were ration for a month. "No, Monsier" was the reply, "for the winter." —France-Canada.

A Bible Message

Thou, even thou, art Lord alone; thou hast made heaven, the heaven of heavens, with all their host, the earth, and all things that are therein the seas, and all that is therein, and thou preservest them all; and the host of heaven worshippeth thee. Thou are the Lord the God, who didst choose Abraham.... And didst see the affliction of our fathers in Egypt, and heardest their cry by the Red sea.... And thou didst divide the sea before them, so that they went through the midst of the sea on the dry land....

Thou gavest also thy good spirit to instruct them, and withheldest not thy manna from their mouth. Yea, forty years didst thou sustain them in the wilderness, so that they lacked nothing. (Neh. 9: 6, 7, 9, 11, 20, 21.)

The burden of Egypt. Behold, the Lord rideth upon a swift cloud, and shall come into Egypt; and the idols of Egypt shall be moved at his presence, and the heart of Egypt shall melt in the midst of it....

In that day shall there be an altar to the Lord in the midst of the land of Egypt, and a pillar at the border thereof to the Lord. And it shall be for a sign and for a witness unto the Lord of hosts in the land of Egypt: for they shall cry unto the Lord because of the oppressors, and he shall send them a saviour, and a great one, and he shall deliver them. (Isa. 19: 1, 19, 20.)

OLDEST BRITISH M.P.

Mr. Will Thorne, oldest man in the British House of Commons, was 87 on Oct. 8, and all day the front-door knocker at his house in West Ham was resounding and the telephone bell was ringing.

All the messages were the same, "Many Happy Returns," for the Grand Old Man of Labour, who is M.P. for Plastow.

"I'm going to buy two bottles of lemonade," Mr. Thorne told a reporter. "Tonight my wife, my son and the maid will drink my health. I'll be at the House tomorrow," he added. — London Daily Sketch.

HOUSE AND MEMBERS

We shall have to wait until plans and drawings are available in order to form any idea of what the outside of the House of Commons in a "late Gothic style" will look like. The style is imposed by the rest of the Palace of Westminster, and though revived Gothic in its Victorian manifestations was not a tradition that notably lent itself to the "functional" demands of a later generation the interior arrangements now outlined by the Select Committee's report suggest a rather masterly control of limited space. Within a Chamber of the same size as the old one there will be 171 more seats for M.P.'s, 67 more seats for "strangers," and 68 more seats for the press. The last addition is of much importance; by raising the total of pressmen who can be accommodated from 93 to 161 it will be possible to find regular room for some of the many excluded representatives of domestic, foreign, and Dominions newspapers.—Manchester Guardian.

Unconsidered Trifles

Young Father: "In your sermon this morning you spoke about a baby being a new wave on the ocean of life."

Minister: "That's right. Do you think a fresh squall would have been nearer the truth?"

The manager of a business firm who was a widower had noticed that his son seemed rather interested in his pretty secretary.

The young man had only recently entered the firm, and the boy's father did not care for the prospect of an early engagement. He determined to speak to the young girl, who entered his office and announced that the son had proposed and that she had accepted him.

"Well, I think you might have seen me first," said the parent, rather tersely.

"I did," she replied, "but I preferred your son."

Criminal Cases Referred To Grand Jury

The criminal docket of seven cases, four of them alleged reckless driving, were referred to the Grand Jury by His Honour Judge S. L. Smoke at the opening of the General Sessions of the Peace Monday afternoon. The Grand Jury elected Alex Huston of Otonabee foreman, heard Judge Smoke's explanation of the jurisdiction of the Court and the special responsibility of the Jury, and retired to decide whether the accused persons in the seven actions should be brought to trial.

Dismissal of the Petit Jurors until Wednesday at 10 a.m. signified that His Honor realized the Grand Jury were unlikely to complete their hearing of Crown evidence until Wednesday at the earliest.

Members of the Bar present at the opening were Crown Attorney V. J. McElderry, K.C., J. F. Strickland, K.C., W. J. A. Fair and Wm. C. Grant.

Several non-jury cases in the civil list were set over until later dates to be fixed by Judge Smoke. With non-appearance of the defendant, De Laval Company was given judgment for $282.63 against A. Levert of Haileybury, car damages in a traffic accident. Mr. Strickland represented the plaintiff company.

Judge Smoke welcomed the jurors as participants in the administration of justice in Peterborough county, affording to any accused persons the traditional trial by their peers in cases within the Court's jurisdiction.

The General Sessions of the Peace were required by law to be held on the first Monday in June and December to deal with those persons committed for trial by a Magistrate, (excepting the most serious offences, murder, treason, rape and manslaughter), together with persons who had been bailed for trial by the Magistrate or County Judge. Every person charged with an offence must first appear before a Magistrate's Court. The Magistrate has jurisdiction to try a large number of minor offences which may be disposed of in that Court.

The Magistrate may decide that a case before him should be tried at the Sessions. An accused person may elect to be tried in the Sessions, the Court of the County Judge, by the Judge or by a jury. If a person is committed for trial he is taken to the county jail, and the Sheriff must notify the Judge within twenty-four hours of the arrival of the accused. The Judge shall then decide a date on which the accused is to be brought before him for trial.

Crime And Punishment

By J. H. GRAY

We talk and write endlessly about the punishment of war criminals. We talk of restribution, of imposing the supreme penalty upon those who have made our twentieth century a thing of horror at which decent men will forever stand aghast.

All right, let us agree upon one thing—that the murderers and torturers and sadistic beasts who have done all these unspeakable deeds shall be tacked down and punished as they deserve. But what about the worst crime of all, what about the destruction of human dignity and what about those cold and devilish scoundrels who with almost debonnaire detachment fashioned the system turned ordinary decent and kindly human beings into spies and traitors and informers on their fellow men? Where, here, is the definable crime and then the applicable punishment?

Consider the case of Dr. Marcel Petoit, the Parisian bluebeard. He was one of the worst of the torturers and his record for murdering French patriots challenges credence. Search the lexicons as we will, no word will be found to adequately describe this man or his deeds.

Yet after France fell he did not join the collaborationists. No, he was a patriotic Frenchman and he joined the resistance movement. He became one of its leaders and demonstrated that he was a man to be trusted. He took risks great risks, and this perhaps was his undoing. He fell into the hands of the Gestapo. What they did to him no man can say except that they destroyed the patriot and when they were through with him he was himself a torturer and murderer, a torturer and murderer of the men and women who had been his friends.

Dr. Marcel Petoit had been a man. He had been a man of dignity and courage and integrity; and he became a beast. We, from our lofty judicial heights can say: "Ah, well, he couldn't take it. Other Frenchmen went into the Gestapo hell but they died rather than betray their fellow men. Petoit was weak. Petoit was a coward."

We can say these things. We who have never been tortured. We who have never seen our loved ones tortured. We who have never had to go through that Gestapo hell. Yes, we can say these things, but coming from our lips what validity can they have?

And what is crime and what is punishment? There was the French aviator whose name eludes our search. He fought in the battle for France. He was shot down but took to the air again and again. He gave everything he had as long as the struggle went on. When it was over he nursed his wounds and became the head of one of Marshal Petain's innumerable departments. France was liberated and the resistance movement rounded up the collaborationists and traitors. He was one of those arrested and is now in prison for life.

He has been judged by the French courts. We neither question his conviction or the justice of the sentence. But—

There was Maurice Thorez, secretary-general of the French Communist party. He had been one of the leaders of the United Front. He sought to throw the weight of France on the side of democracy in Spain. He saw clearly that if the Facists won in Spain it would be the beginning of the end of demorcacy in Europe. An he was right, oh so very right.

When Hitler marched into Poland and France and Britain declared war. Thorez was a member of the French Chamber of Deputies. He was called into the army. But Thorez was no longer interested in fighting Hitler. He threw away his gun and deserted his country's army. He went underground and very soon escaped to Russia. There he remained through the rest of the war. There he remained while the people of France, his people were being murdered and exploited by the Germans. Thorez lived in Moscow and the people of France organized the resistance movement.

France is now free. The French government has pardoned Thorez for deserting France in her hour of peril and has thus paved the way for his return.

What is crime, what is punishment what is treachery and what is justice? What are Quislings and what of the dignity of man and the degradation of man?

Eire Red Cross Sets Up French Hospital

By J. H. MURDOCH
Canadian Press Correspondent

DUBLIN Dec. 5.—A barometer of public opinion on the international situation both in Eire and Britain has just been furnished in Dublin by the auction sale of nearly 400 of the best yearlings that Eire can produce.

The sale was by far the most successful ever held in Dublin, one of the big three centres for the sale of yearlings and race horses in the British Isles. The obvious deduction from the high bidding for the yearlings is that racing people in both countries believe that full scale racing programe may be held in England next year.

Most of the yearlings that passed through the sale ring will form the nucleus of racing in the British Isles during the next two or three years.

Horse breeding is one of Eire's greatest industries and the value of their export before the war was about £1,500,000.

Social Security.

Much attention is being given in Eire to the British government's ambitious plan of social security and all the Dublin newspapers have devoted leading articles on the matter. How far, if at all, will Eire be able to follow? Eire has already many schemes of social security on a minor scale. Children's allowances, started a couple of months ago, are at the rate of 2/6d (about 60 cents) a week for each child after the second. Britain's plan is for 5/ a week for each child after the first.

There appears to be no doubt that Northern Ireland will follow in every detail Britain's social security plan. It is also certain that Northern Ireland may have to get considerable financial assistance from Britain to carry it out .

The Eire Red Cross Society is about to establish a hospital in France at a cost of $50,000 for six months. Permission to establish the hospital has been granted by the French government. It will be staffed entirely by doctors and nurses from Eire. Hospital equipment will be taken to France by an Eire ship.

300 Scottish Villagers Attend Funeral Of FO. Clare Brooks

The largest military funeral ever held in Dumbarton, Scotland, was that of Flying Officer Clare Brooks, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Brooks of Young's Point, who was killed overseas in September. Townspeople and R.A.F. personnel, though they did not know him, were present to pay honor to the flier, whose family could not be present.

This description was sent by WO. Raymond Young, son of Mrs. F. G. Young, 434 Park Street, and from the officer commanding the R.A.F. station at Dumbarton:

"The body of FO. Clare E. Brooks R.C.A.F., was taken to St. Patrick's Roman Catholic Chapel, in Dumbarton, on the night of September 18, and a special mass was held the following morning, under Rev. Fr. McCready, and all Roman Catholic personnel on the station attended the masses.

"The next day the funeral cortege assembled outside the chapel and commanding officer and officers of the station, together with the bearer party, escorted the coffin from the chapel to the hearse. The cortege consisted of the commanding officer, the station adjutant, assistant adjutant, 100 airmen and N.C.O.'s and drum and pipe band. The entrance to the cemetery wyas line by the Provost Corps and all members of the Dumbarton Burgh Council, together with the chief constable, who had expressed the wish to pay their respects to the airmen and his crew. Approximately 300 civilians from the district also attended."

Flt. Lieut. Campbell, adjutant of the R.A.F. station, was in charge of the funeral, and he explained that FO. Brooks was flying in a Lancaster bomber with his crew, he being the captain. They were on a navigation exercise, when due to engine trouble the plane crashed near Loch Lomond, about 8:30 in the evening. All the crew were lost and the Young's Point flier was found near the plane, in no way disfigured. WO. Young wrote that a Women's Club in Dumbarton will look after placing flowers on the grave, and the grave itself will be cared for by the War Graves Commission.

Surviving are his wife in Toronto, two sisters Helen with the Robert Simpson Company in Peterborough, and Mrs. E. Johnston of Young's Point; and three brothers, Staff Sgt. Oswald Brooks in France, Adrian of Peterborough, and Russell of Toronto.

Human Beings Can At Times Gain Fleeting Glimpses Of The Future

LONDON, Dec. 5 (AP)—The age-old belief that human beings can, at times and in certain circumstances, obtain fleeting glimpses of future events is supported by the results of experiments conducted for three years by S. G. Soal, of the mathematics department, Queen Mary College, London University, it was announced Monday.

Prof. Ifor Evans, principal of Queen Mary College, said the strange faculty which the tests are alleged to affirm is known as pre-cognitive-telepathy.

Soal experiments with a professional photographer and a pack of cards. Placed in a room apart the subject guessed, not the card chosen for him, but the one to follow, and he did this often enough, Soal said, that "the odds against the whole series of tests being due to chance are stupendous and are represented by a figure consisting of 10 followed by 34 noughts."

Far Above Chance

The work developed from earlier experiments by Soal who tested 160 persons and accumulated more than 128,000 guesses of cards bearing different geometrical symbols. He found that two of the 160 had registered a number of "hits" far above chance coincidence on both the preceding and the following card.

In each instance the cards were exposed for a few seconds to an agent who was with Soal behind an opaque screen.

"One day the interval between the successive card presentations was reduced from 2½ to 1½ seconds, and the subject ceased to guess correctly the next card, but began to score 'hits' on the next but one.

"This redoubtable discovery made it more certain than ever that the displacement of the guess was truly a displacement into future time and not merely a spatial shift. The subject's choice was being decided by a future event in the agent's mind.

"A mental event still in the future was apparently affecting a present mental event, and seemingly the normal law of causation was being reversed."

Amateur Bouts Please Crowd

TORONTO, Dec. 5. — (CP).—A bout between Pte. Jerry Shears of Montreal and Ted Carroll of Guelph featured a 10-bout program last night on an amateur boxing card in Massey Hall.

Shearer punched his way to a three-round decision over Carroll. Both were in the 135-pound weight class. The display drew sustained applause from the fans.

Results of other bouts in which visiting boxers took part were:

126 pounds—Joey McPhee of Oshawa, defeated Pat Chernets of Hamilton, decision, three rounds.

120 pounds — Mike Zaduk of Guelph, defeated Tony Cocco of Toronto, decision, thee rounds.

118 pounds—Rollie Anglehart, of Sudbury, fought a three-round draw with Mike Gaelish of Hamilton.

145 pounds — Pete Zaduck, of Guelph, defeated Dave Thompson, of Oshawa, decision, three rounds.

135 pounds— Pat Kelly of Sudbury, defeated Billy Zaduk of Guelph, decision, three rounds.

Arthur King of Toronto, won the feature bout, a five-round bout with Howard Wheeler of Oshawa, in a fight which was booed by the fans almost from start to finish. King's margin of victory was close.

Here and There in Sport

By The Canadian Press

In a speech before the sports writers club at Boston yesterday, Manager Art Ross of the Bruins asserted the four N.H.L. clubs in the United States were finished with catering to the whims of the league's representatives in Toronto and Montreal. He predicted that the next N.H.L. president would be an American, rather than a Canadian, adding the league headquarters should be in the States.

Ross threatened that the N.H.L. governors in Boston, Detroit, New York and Chicago were ready to swing the balance of power to the United States by choosing an American president and pointed out that Canadian boys were making a good living there by playing hockey.

The probate of the will at Chicago yesterday of Kenesaw M. Landis, Baseball Commisssioner who died Nov. 25, revealed an estate estimated at $100,000. The will left all assets to the widow.

Figures compiled for the U.S. football season show that Army rolled up 504 points in nine games for an average of 56 points per game. College teams throughout the country garnered higher total scores than in any year since the early 1920's, the survey showing that 104 squads scored an average of 17.29 points in 829 games.

Scoring leadership in the American Hockey League has been taken over by Paul Courteau of Providence Reds after gathering 11 points during the past week to give him a total of 28 including 14 goals. Tied for second place with 23 points were Tom Burlington of Cleveland, Tom Forgie of Hershey and Lloyd Klein of Pittsburgh.

SPORTS-Day by Day

By FRED D. CRAIG

There is only one thing this column feels like writing about for today's issue and that is to express heartfelt thanks for the grand job the ratepayers did yesterday in putting the Memorial Health Centre bylaw over the top with a bang that will be heard all over the country. That vote of 2544 to 920 in favor of a civic grant of $75,000 to augment the $210,000 already raised by voluntary subscriptions puts the finishing touches on the whole campaign and paves the way for a program that will put Peterborough right in the forefront of Ontario municipalities in the matter of recreational facilities. Those 2544 property-owners who supported the measure did a great day's work for their home city and this column firmly believes that as the scheme develops and the full import and significance of yesterday's vote became apparent they will be more than ever glad that they gave their approval to this far-reaching program. It is the biggest stride forward that Peterborough has ever made in the direction of adequate recreational facilities, a bigger stride that any other community of similar size in the country has ever taken. It means so much to the people of this city that the full benefit to be gained from the completion of this undertaking is difficult to realize.

* * * * * *

Yesterday's vote, taken in conjection with the funds already raised means that Peterborough is to have a modern artificial ice arena, up-to-the-minute in every respect, a building that will also be used as an auditorium, convention hall and for many other community purposes. It means new grandstands for Riverside Park, the providing of facilities for soccer and baseball, and softball, the building of a modern out-door swimming pool and other improvements. In short, it means a new deal for sport in Peterborough. It will make this city a much better place in which to live. It will give our young athletes in all lines of sport a fair opportunity to compete with the representatives of other towns and for the fans it will afford a chance to see their favorite games under the best possible conditions. The passing of the bylaw will make available around $285,000 for the completion of the scheme and nothing now should stand in the way of the carrying out of the splendid program to its last detail. Once again Peterborough, challenged with an opportunity to make this a better town, has measured up to the test. Yesterday's vote is the signal to go ahead with the program and it should make a lot of folk feel decidedly happy today.

A Big Buyer

Connie Mack, who recently celebrated his 82nd birthday, freely admits that the farm system in baseball is here to stay as much as the telephone, says the Windsor Star. Yet the Athletics' only manager in their 44 years of existence regrets that the big plantation owners have killed off competitive buying, which makes for more healthy baseball. Mr. McGillicuddy was always one of the big buyers of the game. He didn't hesitate to go out into the open market to pay fabulous sums for the minor league aces, even if he had his wings badly singed in the first big purchase of his career. Connie still makes a wry face when the name of Paul Strand is brought up. Twenty years ago, Strand was burning up the Pacific Coast League. He was a big first baseman who started out as a pitcher, with a terrific home run punch. Paul's fame spread to Philadelphia with the noise of his exploding bat. Mack himself made a special trip to the Pacific coast to scout the big chap. The price tag was high, but, after taking one long look, the tall tactician didn't bat an eye. He paid $75,000 for Strand.

* * * * * *

Strand couldn't hit American League pitching, continues the article. The best he could do was a puny .228 for the White Elephants, and, by July was back in AA baseball with the Toledo Mud Hens of the American Association. Mack was saddened by the experience but in nowise cured. The McCullicuddy pursestrings were still out. Once more he went overboard to rebuild his club into the champions of 1929, 1930 and 1931 by spending a fortune for Max Bishop, Lefty Grove, George Earnshaw, Joe Boley and others. He paid Jack Dunn, owner of the Baltimore Orioles of the International League, $105,000 for Grove and another $50,000 for Bishop and he didn't get the others for hay either. That team was a far cry from the Athletics' $100,000 infield of another decade. In buying from Dunn, Mack was dealing with an old and grateful friend. The story runs that Connie saw Jack through financially in the troublesome days when the Federal League invaded Baltimore and all but put the minor league club out of business.

It Was A Success

"One thing is certain, as an Oshawa curling feature, the 5-day bonspiel certainly made a very creditable beginning, and it was a huge success," writes George Campbell in the Oshawa Times-Gazette. "Curlers from as far away as Almonte, Stayner, Orillia, Kitchener, Guelph, Kingston Peterborough etc. and they were all loud in their praise of the excellent accommodations in Oshawa and the fine hospitality shown them The curling itself was of highest calibre. Ross Tarlton's Hamilton Thistles won the beautiful new Col. R. S. McLaughlin trophy with individual members getting Ronson case-lighters. Ed Young's Royal Can. were second and they each got a silver chafing dish. Perry Hall's rink from Kitchener Granites won the Sykes Memorial Trophy and Perry and his men each got a Hudson Bay blanket for their fine curling efforts while members of Gerv. Meech's High Park runners-up will each be wearing a new suede windbreakers this season. The two Oshawa rinks who reached the quarter-finals in the McLaughlin Trophy event, went into the discard yesterday morning, as did the lone local survivor in the secondary competition. Some of the finest curlers in the world were strutting their stuff at the Oshawa rink yesterday, and the calibre of competition provided was at times sensational. The bonspiel gets the local club away to a flying start for the 1944-45 season and incidentally, they've closed their membership for the term, now having as many members as the club can comfortably accommodate."

Death of Roger Bresnahan will bring regret to old time ball fans for the former Giant catcher was one of the heroes of a golden period in baseball when colorful figures, mostly of Irish extraction were monopolizing the head-lines. Bresnahan was the receiver for one of the game's greatest pitchers, the immortal Christy Mathewson, but beyond that he was a star in his own right, a clever catcher and a hard hitter. He it was who introduced shin-guards as standard equipment for backstops and the manner in which he blocked off runners at the plate made the protection necessary. Another oddity about his career was that for a long time he was lead-off man in the Giants' batting order. Very few receivers have ever been selected to top the list. Bresnahan's big league career began with the Chicago Cubs, moved over to the Giants in 1902, and was marked by six years of stellar service with John McGraw's club. Then he was traded to the St. Louis Cards in 1908 and was promoted to playing manager in the following year. Chicago Cubs, his original club, then bought him and Bresnahan wound up as playing manager of the Cubs in 1915. Followed years in the minors and then years as coach with the Giants and finally with Detroit Tigers.

Cowley Gains 3 Points In Score Total

MONTREAL, Dec. 5—(CP)—Boston's Bill Cowley picked up three points during the last week to serve notice that he doesn't intend to relinquish top spot among the National Hockey League scorers, official weekly figures showed today.

With a goal and two assists for the week, Cowley maintained his two-point marging on Canadien's Toe Blake, who in turn moved into sole possesion of second place after sharing the spot with Clint Smith of Chicago last week.

Smith went pointless to slide into a third-place tie with Gus Bodnar of Toronto and Elmer Lach of Canadiens. Each has 20 points, compared with Blake's 23 and Cowley's 25. Tied for the next spot with 19 points each were Bill Mosienko of Chicago and Syd Howe of Detroit.

Canadiens' Maurice Richard led the goal scoring parade with 14, three ahead of Blake, Mosienko and Sweeney Schriner of Toronto. Cowley, Bodnar and Lach were tied for assist honors with 16 each, two ahead of Smith and Howe.

Pat Egan remained atop the penalty parade with 30 minutes in majors and minors. A league compilation showed that Toronto had the highest number of regular penalties, with a total of 125 minutes in majors and minors. Canadiens were right behind them with 122 minutes, but the Canucks also had two misconducts against them.

Staffords Tie Hamilton Team

By The Canadian Press

Toronto Staffords, aided by Harry McQuesten's able goaltending, picked up their first point in O.H.A. Senior "A" competition last night by holding Hamilton Majors to a 3-all draw.

The Toronto team had lost three games and Majors, defending O.H.A. champions, were victorious in their only other contest, a 9-5 triumph over Staffords at Hamilton.

Dillon Brady gave the visitors a comfortable margin with two goals early in the game, but Kosick came back with Toronto's first counter near the end of the initial period. The home team took a 3-2 lead in the second on Kosick's second marker and one by Drummond, but dangerous Clarence Shillington tied it up for Hamilton early in the third. There was no further scoring and the teams failed to break the deadlock in a 10-minute overtime period.

Only three penalties were handed out.

Says Hockey Prexy To Be An American

BOSTON, Dec. 5—(AP).—A prediction that the next president of the National Hockey League "would be an American, rather than a Canadian" was voiced Monday by Arthur Ross, manager and vice-president of the Boston Bruins Club.

In a speech before the weekly luncheon of the Boston Sports Writers' Club, Ross added that "the United States entries in the National Hockey League are through appeasing and catering to the whims of the two Dominion representatives in Montreal and Toronto."

Ross declared that "Canadian boys are coming below the border to play hockey and make good livings" and that the league's power and headquarters should be in the United States.

"The National Hockey League governors in Boston, Detroit, New York and Chicago are ready to swing the balance of power to the United States by choosing an American president."

Mervyn (Red) Dutton of Calgary, former manager of the New York Americans, now is acting head of the National Hockey League.

Seeks Dismissal Of Charges Against The Dorseys

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 4 — (AP). — A prosecution motion for a dismissal of the assault charges against the Tommy Dorseys and their friend, Allen Smiley, was denied yesterday.

Deputy District Attorney Edwin Myers told the court that he was moving for dismissal on the grounds that there was not proper evidence to proceed with the trial.

It had been anticipated that the defence would ask for the dismissal. Myers' move came after a short recess which was preceded by a defence surprise.

Antonio Icaza, Panamanian sailor who has testified he saw the fight between bandleader Dorsey and Jon Hall, was suddenly asked by the defence:

"Have you ever been convicted of a felony?"

"You have no right to interfere in my personal affairs," said Icaza.

He was instructed to answer the question. Shouting even louder, the Panamanian said, "no!"

"Have you ever served a term in prison?"

Icaza, again shouted "no!".

Myers interrupted, asking for an immediate recess after which Myers made his motion.

With two answers—"I was confused" and "I don't remember" — Icaza resisted defence efforts all day long to prove he wasn't in Dorsey's apartment when the famous combat occurred last Aug. 5.

However, a few minutes earlier in the trial of Dorsey, his wife Pat Dane, and their friend, Allen Smiley, on assault charges, Icaza's memory enabled him to testify that he saw Mrs Dorsey slash Hall across the nose with a knife. He had said he saw Mrs Dorsey slash Hall across living room.

Lawyers Idea

In cross-examination by Isaac Pacht, Icaza admitted he filed a $40,000 damage action against Dorsey, but contended this amount was his lawyer's idea. All he wanted, he said, was a new suit and three months' doctor bills for alleged injuries which he has not yet explained in testimony.

Icaza said he saw Dorsey trying to throw Hall over the balcony and heard Mrs. Dorsey calling for Smiley, who lives in the adjoining apartment, to come in to stop the fight.

"Dorsey and Hall had moved from the balcony through the dining room into the living room when Smiley got there," Icaza said. "Smiley started to clean up on Hall. Smiley was behind Hall.

"What was Dorsey doing?" asked Myers.

"He let loose of Hall and had a broken bottle in his hand," said Icaza.

At this point Icaza demonstrated on Prosecutor Myers the manner in which Hall had grabbed Dorsey, first round the body and then around the neck, in a headlock.

Curlers Discuss Artificial Ice Plant

Before a large crowd of enthusiastic members of the Peterborough Curling Club held their winter meeting in the club parlors on Monday evening.

Promptly at 8 o'clock President C. B. Westbrook called the meeting to order and judging by the speed with which the business of the meeting was transacted it would seem that this year's motto might well be: "Get things done and get them done in a hurry."

The main business was that of choosing the schedule rinks. This was done by the skips at the conclusion of the regular meeting.

That the meeting was in earnest about artificial ice, a special committee to look into the different ways of raising money was appointed. Members are J. G. Harkness, chairman, with G. Braund, Tom McArthur, C. Westbrook, R. F. Downey, John Keyes and A. Gibbs. This committee will report their findings at the next meeting.

A very pleasant event of the evening was the announcement that the management committee had made Rev. William McDonald, chaplain of the club an honorary member of the club.

In a few days the schedule will be drawn up and then as soon as ice is available the boys will be ready to go.

Hunter Age 83 Bags Nice Deer

HAVELOCK, Dec. 5—(ENS). — Getting his deer while it was travelling at a high speed at a distance of 200 yards, was a spectacular shot made by George B. Sanders, age 83 years, retired carpenter of Havelock. Mr. Sanders first shot startled the animal, causing it to run. It proved a fine specimen and tipped the scales at 205 pounds after being dressed.

Mr. Sanders, who has been an enthusiastic hunter all his life, made up his mind early in the season that he would forego his usual hunting trip this year, but the lure of the wild and the excitement of the hunting season proved too much for him, so he and his son Orval spent two days in Dummer township, obtaining their quota in that short time. On the second day of the trip his son was successful in bringing down one which was much smaller than the one obtained by his father on the previous day.

Students Defeat Army Athletes

NEWMARKET, Dec. 5.—Army athletes from No. 23 Canadian Infantry Basic Training Centre, Newmarket, provided plenty of opposition for St. Andrew's College in basketball and swimming competition last night.

With little practice behind them, the soldiers were nosed out 38-35 in the cage contest, losing in the final minute of play after holding a 28-22 lead at half time. Grice, Reynett and Donaldson sparked the Army attack, while Tom Smith, Fraser Smith, Errington and Robinson were St. Andrew's best.

In the swimming, Elder, Saylor, Malcolmson and Beverley were the top strokers for the College team. Lt. Allen and L.-Cpl. Gillespie were Army's stand-outs.

Byron Nelson Captures West Coast Open

By RUSS NEWLAND
Associated Press Sport Writer

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 5—(AP). —Hitting straight and hard, Byron Nelson held the San Francisco open golf tournament title today for the second consecutive year.

He posted a 281 for the 72-hole event to nose out Sgt. Jim Ferrier, Camp Roberts, Calif., in a whirlwind finish to yesterday's final round. Ferrier carded a 282, after leading the tournament from the 36th to the 68th hole.

It was practically within sight of home that Nelson, leading money-winner of the year and former national open and PGA champion, pulled up on even terms with the big, blond sergeant.

Nelson squared the count at the 69th with a par four, Ferrier missing a six-foot putt for a half. The golfing soldier, one-time pro at Elmhurst, Ill., and former Australian champion, lost the tournament on the next hole. He hit a ball out of bounds and missed a six-foot putt. The miscue cost him a six and Nelson went into a two-stroke lead.

Ferrier made a bid on the 71st hole, dropping a 10-footer for a birdie two that cut Nelson's lead to a single stroke. They halved the final hole in par fours, Ferrier being short on a 40-foot putt and Nelson lipping the cup for his birdie try from 12 feet.

The victory put $2,666 more in war bonds in Nelson's' pocket. Ferrier picked up $1,866 for second place, plus $100 as the low-scoring service man.

Nelson carded rounds of 72-71-69-69 to defend his title. Ferrier put together rounds of 75-66-70-71. Par for Harding Park is 36-36—72.

Willie Goggin, White Plains, N.Y., and Sam Snead, Hot Springs, Va., finished in a tie for third with 287.

Harold (Jug) McSpaden, Philadelphia, second high money winner of the year, finished far down the line with 294, four strokes back of fifth place Fred Wood of Vancouver, B.C.

Baseball Moguls Seek New Order

BUFFALO, Dec. 5 — (AP). — Baseball notable arriving for the minor league convention opening tomorrow are determined to lay the foundation for a new order in the game for the future, in the same city where they previously agreed to operate under the present major-minor agreement 23 years ago.

Resigned to the fact that due to Judge K. M. Landis' death, the major-minor code must automatically extend to Jan. 12, 1946, the lower leagues are prepared to give full consideration to the 13 amendments to the major-minor agreement, up for discussion, chief of which are the draft and the territorial problem.

Proposed by the A. A. Pacific Coast League, an amendment calls for the doubling of the draft price from $7,500 to $15,000. With an eye on future developments after the war, the coast loop also proposed a more iron-clad territorial protection. As the rules stand, a major league may go into a minor league territory. by the payment of $5,000 to the league and of a reasonable amount to the afffected club as determined by agreement, or fixed by the commissioner.

Ten active and 15 suspended leagues each have a vote in the meeting.

TORONTO, Dec. 5 — (CP). — The good citizens of Vancouver have been striving mightily for the honor of having the Allan Cup finals in their bailiwick next spring, but now that feat looks quite impossible, the situation isn't looking so rosy....The sneaking suspicion is beginning to intrude itself that, if the wily ones of Toronto and of Montreal do let the finals go to the coast, it will only be because they don't shape up as money-makers in the East....And if that's the case, the series will likely be quite a financial flop on the coast by the time expenses of the finalists are paid for their long trek Westward.

Power plant:

Glancing over the line-up of the R.C.A.F. team from Dartmouth, N.S., you get the idea here might be a squad that would go far on the Allan Cup trail—if it weren't for service restrictions. The Fliers are coached by Corpl. Roy Conacher, erswhile Art Rossman, and has plenty of talent all the way from goal to centre.

Doing the backstopping is Dave Kemp, termed by Conacher the equal of many goaltenders in the N.H.L. On defence are such stalwarts as Cpl. Eddie Bush, former Detroit Red Wing, Jack Pumple of Ottawa, George Coops of Regina, Art Upper of Toronto. Up forward are players like Bert Laprade of Port Arthur, Jack Schmidt, one-time Boston Bruin, Don Stanley, Amherst's Ripley twins, Jack Voot of Hamilton Juniors to name a few.

Incidentally:

Another former N.H.L. player getting in a few licks in Britain is Johnny Mowers, who has filled Detroit's goalmouth. Mowers is playing hockey in an Air Force League in England now—in his "off moments," as he says....Toronto Maple Leafs of the International Baseball League will train next spring at Hagerstown, Maryland, instead of Lancaster, Pennsylvania. They will be nearer their parent club, the Philadelphia Athletics, that way. J. P. Fitzgerald of the Toronto Telegram, perhaps recalling how ineffective Leafs were last summer, suggested it doesn't matter where Leafs train, "provided they do".... Out in Calgary, the bantams and midgets of the ice world started to hold early-morning workouts, but soon stopped that. Bob Maniol of the Calgary Herald suggests the youngsters didn't mind so much getting up at 5 a.m., but coaches and managers didn't like the black mornings so well.

Duke Of Tralee Ball Player Dies At Age 64

TOLEDO, Ohio, Dec. 5.—(AP). — The Duke of Tralee, one of baseball's most colorful figures, is dead.

Roger Bresnahan, who came out of his native Tralee, Ireland, to serve organized baseball for a third of a century as star catcher, manager, coach and owner, died of a heart attack in his home. He was 64.

No. 1 Christy Fan

A former receiver and No. 1 fan of Christy Mathewson, Bresnahan was the first string catcher for New York Giants in 1902 to 1908, playing in the 1904 and 1905 world series.

He retired from baseball in 1931, ending a 35 year career that started as a catcher for Lima in the Ohio State League in 1896. He saw action as catcher—and sometimes pitcher and outfielder — for six teams in four leagues, playing manager of two major league teams, and player, manager and owner of the Toledo Mud Hens.

In later years he was salesman for a brewing company. In the election a month ago, he unsuccessfully sought the office of county commissioner on the Democratic ticket.

Invented Shinguards.

Bresnahan was credited with inventing and making first use of catchers' shinguards, an appurtenance he introduced in 1907. He was one of the few catchers ever to lead off a batting order.

From Lima, Bresnahan moved to Chicago in the National League in 1900. He helped blaze the trail into the then embryo American League by joining Baltimore Orioles the following year. In 1902, he moved back to the national circuit in company with John McGraw, Joe McGinnity and others.

Bresnahan was traded to St. Louis Cardinals in 1908 for Pitcher Bugs Raymond, Outfielder John (Red) Murray and Catcher George Schlei, and served as playing manager of the team in 1909 through 1912. Chicago Cubs bought his contract in 1913. He was playing manager there in 1915.

He went to the minors in 1916, when he bought the Toledo Mud Hens, and for three years served the American Association team as player, manager and owner. He retired from behind the bat in 1918, but continued as boss of the Toledoans until 1923.

He returned to the Giants as coach in 1925 for three years, and was coach for Detroit Tigers in 1930 and 1931.

Canadiens Fear Trouncing From The Bruins

By The Canadian Press

Montreal Canadiens invade Boston for a joust with the fourth-place Bruins tonight, and although they hold three straight victories over the Rossmen the National Hockey League leaders cannot count with confidence on picking up the points needed to stretch their one-point margin over Toronto Maple Leafs.

Bruins have taken four out of five games in the past two weeks and display clear evidences of revival after shaky early-season play. Leading the Renaissance is the young forward line of Ken Smith, Bill Cupolo and Frank Mario, with Smith and Cupolo particularly showing high scoring potency.

Abetting this increased attacking strength is the improved performance of rookie Harvey Bennett in goal. A consistently feeble defence probably bars the Bruins' rise to N.H.L. championship contention, and this ailing department stands to grow worse instead of better as the season progresses.

On the other hand, Canadiens, while unexcelled defensively, appear to have lost much of the scoring prowess that helped them make a shambles of league competition last year. They are fifth in league scoring. Their top line of Elmer Lach, Toe Blake and Maurice Richard has shown no decline, but is not getting adequate help.

Ivy Lee Wins Straight Heats

TORONTO, Dec. 5 — Ivy Lee, trotting mare, making her first start for her new owner, J. W. Brown New Liskeard, and driven by Chapman, was a straight heat winner in her race yesterday at Dufferin Park over a somewhat sloppy track. The mare came from behind in the first two heats to win and then in the final Chapman elected to set the pace which he did and then stood off a stiff challenge from Louie James and Rip Harvester, in the fastest heat of the race. Al Colton, veteran reinsman, of Rochester, N.Y., piloted both Captain Harvester and Chief Siskiyou to top the summary in their respective races. Charlie Linberg teamed Dazzle Henly to the front in all three heats of the third race with the contention coming from Bendonna in all heats.

Dorsey's Wife Slashed Hall Across The Nose

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 5 — (AP). — Antonio Icaza testified today that he saw bandleader Tommy Dorsey's pretty wife slash the handsome nose of movie actor Jon Hall with a 6-inch kitchen knife.

And with the same knife Allen Smiley cut the left shoulder of Hall's coat, the Panamanian actor-sailor told the jury trying Dorsey, his wife, Pat Dane, and their friend Smiley on charges of assaulting Hall.

"I saw Smiley start to beat up on Hall," Icaza said.

"What was Dorsey doing at that time?" asked Deputy District Attorney Edwin Myers.

"He had let loose of Hall and had a broken bottle in his hand. Hall was dizzy. Then Pat Dorsey cut Hall in the nose with a knife."

The actor nearly lost the tip of his nose in the battle.

Icaza said Smiley cut Hall on the left shoulder of his coat with the kitchen knife, but didn't explain how he got it from Mrs. Dorsey.

That, said Icaza, was about all he saw of the fracas.

Icaza, flown here from Panama to testify, has filed a $40,000 damage suit against Dorsey for hurts he claims he suffered in the conflict.

Four Aldermen 1944 Council Are Re-elected

Led by Alderman Herbert I. Bradburn, four of the present members of the city council were re-elected for two-year terms at the municipal polls Monday. They were Aldermen M. J. Swanston, Adam Sands and James Dutton, with Hurrell Dodds finishing in fourth place to claim the seat which Alderman J. E. Sullivan held for the last four years.

Alderman Dutton, in the fifth position when the votes were counted, was followed by the unsuccessful contenders who entered the field with the offer of their service and experience to the clizens. They were John A. Dewart, W. K. Sloane, Alderman Sullivan, Melville Morrow, Walter Wright and A. E. Thompson.

The totals as counted last night were as follows for the five members-elect: Bradburn, 4,104; Swanston, 4,045; Sands, 3,775; Dodds, 3,217; Dutton, 2,906.

And the other candidates: Dewart, 2,558; Sloane, 2,381; Sullivan, 2,359; Morrow, 1,775; Wright, 1,514; Thompson, 610.

Fred Hills Re-elected

For the Utilities Commission, Fred Hills defeated E. R. Shirley by 4,021 to 2,442 for the new term of three years.

Mr. Hills has been a member of the Commission for the last three years, and was opposed by E. R. Shirley, engineer at the Canadian General Electric Company, who had a record of fifteen years in his comprehensive background. Mr. Hills showed majorities at 42 of the 50 polls.

The net result of the voting for the elective municipal positions was the substitution of Hurrell Dodds, customs appraiser for Alderman Sullivan.

The three yonnger members of the council of the last four years Bradburn, Swanston and Sands received strong support in all sections of the city. Alderman Swanston dominated his native Ashburnham with pluralities in five of the six polling places. Dodds was the leader in the sixth Poll No. 37, reflecting the sentiment of the neighborhood across the river for its "ain folk" a trait of the old "Scotch village."

Alderman Sands set the early pace and was a stout contender all through the running and appeared even hapier at the majority for the Civic Hospital bylaw, which ha had vigorously advocated, than at his own success as one of the first flight.

Alderman Bradburn moved into the first position early in the returns and coasted along through the back stretch until rounding the turn for home when Alderman Swanston made a determined bid, substantially aided by three or four polls from across the river and a generous and sustaining sprinkling generally from other sections. However overhauled him again in the final dash to the wire and closed with top honors by just one vote short of a hundred majority.

New Member

Hurrell Dodds, the new member of the council, returned to the municipal election fray, brushing aside his narrow defeat of last year to take fourth position from Alderman Dutton, one of the most active members of the council who somehow manages to find time for multiple duties such as this year the chairmanships of the Board of Works, Board of Health and Town Planning Committee.

Alderman Sullivan arrived about half way through the listing of returns, faced the reverse gracefully and was among the first to congratulate his associates of the last four years on the recognition which they had received from the voters for their services to the public. Colonel John A. Dewart, whose campaign studiously avoided any mention of his distinguished military career, and W. K. Sloane shared largely in the bulk of the voting, helping to complete an attractive field of can-candidates. Walter Wright was a North Monaghan representatives, and the first three or four polls to report the results suggested that he might go far with the front runners. But, with Mel Morrow and A. E. Thompson he gradually dropped behind in a contest which only five of the eleven could win. Five of the candidates were coming back to the people for a renewal of mandate to continue an administration which manifestly was largely approved by the electors.

May's School First

The first two polls were from May's School, each turning in a light vote. They were 47 and 48. Their combined figures were Sands 43, Swanston 34, Wright 33, Sloane 31, Bradburn and Dewart 30 each, Dutton 28, Morrow 24, Dodds 21, Sullivan 15 and Thompson 12.

For the Utilities Commission Shirley took 39 at those two polls and Hills 27. Poll 48 telephoned at 7:21 o'clock and No. 47 at 7:35. At ten minutes to 8 o'clock, fifty minutes after the hour for the closing of the polls those were still the only returns.

Polls 9 and 10 in the Centre Ward left Sands in front with 159; Swanston 151; Bradburn 133; Sloan 117; Dodds 108; Dutton 98; Morrow 92; Dewart 85; Sullivan 80; Wright 76 and Thompson 32.

Bradburn took the lead in the next four polls with 200; Sands 198; Swanston 185; Dodds moved into fourth place with 158; Dutton 149; Wright 143; Sloane 135 and Dewart 134.

The count from twelve polls indicated the final results, although several changes occurred meanwhile along the rest of the course. Bradburn had 656; Sands 633; Swanston 630; Dodds 513; Dutton 479; Sloane 424; Dewart 407; Sullivan 335; Morrow 332; Wright 290 and Thompson 104.

Bradburn was coasting in front at sixteen polls and Sands had slightly increased his lead on Swanston. Bradburn 991; Sands 958; Swanston 937; Dodds 712; Dutton 692; Dewart 607; Sloane 600; Sullivan 497; Morrow 441; Wright 399 and Thompson 150.

Swanston gained in the next four, moving into second place with 1708 behind Bradburn's 1741; Sands 1621; Dodds 1353; Dutton 1245; Dewart 1104; Sloane 984; Sullivan 927; Morrow 759; Wright 638; Thompson 258.

Twenty-eight polls gave Bradburn 2107; Swanston 2050; Sands 1935; Dodds 1607; Dutton 1506; Dewart 1312.

No change in the standing developed until the totals for forty polls were counted putting Swanston in front with 3136 to Bradburn's 3111 and Sands' 2920.

Swanston's plurality was cut to a margin of four votes at the forty-forth, 3396 to Bradburn's 3392; and Sands 3164. Dodds, Dutton and Dewart continued in that order.

Poll No. 19 in the west ward helped Bradburn regain lost ground and shot him into the lead again for the last cluster of polls for which only a few of the city hall crowd waited to get the final decision of the electors. With two polls to go Bradburn had 3,821; Swanston 3783; Sands 3549; Dodds 3024; Dutton 2682; Dewart 2384; Sloan 2239; Sullivan 2165; Morrow 1682; Wright 1466; Thompson 565.

The last two polls clinched the verdict. Swanston took 79 votes at Sacred Heart School to Bradburn's 70, but Queen Mary's School gave Bradburn 213 to Swanston's 183; Dutton 179; Sands 163; Dewart 132; Dodds and Sullivan 125 each; Sloane 79; Morrow 26; Thompson 20 and Wright 14.

RETURNED AT THE POLLS — At the municipal elections held on Monday four members of the 1944 Council were returned and the only new face on the 1945 Council will be Hurrell Dodds. From Left to Right, they are Herbert Bradburn, who headed the polls, Max Swanston who came second, Adam, Sands, Hurrell Dodds and James Dutton.

Asthma Suffering Stopped 7 Years

Seven years ago J. Richards, 201 East 23rd Street, Hamilton, Ont., was asthmatic, lost weight, suffered coughing, choking, wheezing every night—couldn't sleep. Mendaco stopped his spasms promptly and he now reports normal weight and good health although 70 years old. To prove that Mendaco may do the same for you, we make this liberal trial offer: Get Mendaco from your druggist today! Unless it loosens and removes thick strangling mucus, brings free breathing, restful sleep and frees you from the suffering of Asthma attacks, simply return the empty package and get all your money back. You have everything to gain and nothing to lose So don't suffer another day without asking your druggist for Mendaco.

OTTAWA, Dec. 5 — (CP). — Stocks of creamery butter in nine principal cities on December 1 totalled 34,629,773 pounds, compared with 43,009,568 at November 1, and 39,511,122 at December 1, 1943, the Dominion Bureau of Statistics reported yesterday.

Cheese stocks were 31,211,389 pounds, compared with 38,054,251 and 39,542,352. Cold storage eggs totalled 301,950 dozen, compared with 1,376,800 and 36,100.

Fresh eggs in store amounted to 877,287 dozen, compared with 1,039,114 November 1, while frozen eggs in storage totalled 28,393,562 pounds compared with 32,831,534 on November 1.

Russians Trying New Experiment

MOSCOW, Dec. 5.—(CP).—Moscow is trying a new experiment in industrial health—"overnight sanatoria" where workers can rest in their off-hours and obtain treatment for minor ills which do not necessitate stopping work.

Most of the sanatoria are maintained jointly by factory managements and trade unions.

Workers are taken to the plant for their noon meal, rest until time to start work again, and return after work for dinner, to spend the night and have breakfast. Doctors examine each worker daily and physio-therapy is prescribed.

In some cases the patients live there for two or three months.

Call Special Meeting

FRASERVILLE, Dec. 5.—(ENS). —rMs. Keith Larmer and Mrs. R. Wood of Fraserville, were hostesses for a special meeting of the Fraserville W.A., the purpose of the meeting being to finish up a quilt that was started at the last regular meeting.

Good Markets Promise Made

OTTAWA, Dec. 5—(CP)—A market can be found for all dairy products and well finished livestock "at least until the end of 1946," Agriculture Minister Gardiner said Monday.

Welcoming delegates to the 12th Dominion-providing conference on Canada's agricultural program, Mr. Gardiner said prospects for marketing feeder cattle were "better than ever before," and added that the Dominion Government was committed to take all restrictions off the shipment of beef cattle to the United States "just as the United States, British and Canadian war needs for proper distribution of essential food make it possible."

He said the agriculture department suggested that farmers maintain theiir production of feed grains and their present production of meats and dairy products.

Arrangements have been made to extend contracts for bacon, ham and beef, on a basis of the same quantities and the same price, to the end of 1946, thus assuring farmers a guaranteed market for present production for at least two years.

Arthur MacNamara, director of Selective Service, said that due to the help given by the armed services and the success of farm labor excursions from east to west and west to east, no crops had been lost anywhere because of insufficient help. The conference will conclude Wednesday when provincial ministers of agriculture will be in attendance.

Christmas Boxes To Be Given Out

HAVELOCK, Dec. 5 — (ENS). — The keynote of the December meeting of the Havelock Women's Institute was to bring sunshine and Christmas cheer to "shut-ins" at the Yuletide season.

Wrapped gifts were placed on a table centred with a lighted Christmas tree. Mrs. A. McMullen and Miss E. Wright were appointed to assist Mrs. C. Taylor, Christmas cheer convener and on motion by Mrs. R. McCutcheon and Miss E. Wright, the committee was authorized to purchase what is required to make up the cheer boxes. Also in response to an appeal from F. G. Mann of the Peterborough War Victims' fund, a donation of $5 was voted to be given to the local agent Miss Minnie Williams on motion by Mrs. J. Hoffman and Mrs. T. W. Quinn. Mrs. H. Hoard and Mrs. R. McCutcheon moved that a remittance of $5 be made to the Federated Women's Institute for fees.

To Drop Course

Correspondence was read with reference to the cancelled "citizenship" meeting which was scheduled for November 30, stating that Mrs. Hayes of Toronto, who was to conduct the meeting, had been unable to attend owing to the serious illness of the her father and that no substitute was available at that time but dates would be submitted for consideration should the society still desire this course. The secretary was instructed to reply that owing to the condition of the roads it was thought advisable to leave the matter until spring. The treasurer reported $71 on hand. The following accounts were authorized paid: Mrs. C. Taylor, delegates' expenses $12. Mrs. R. Jones, salary librarian $8.33, the cemetery committee reported receipts of $16.50.

Mrs. R. Jones was re-appointed librarian for 1945, with Miss E. Wright as treasurer for the library fund.

Hear Report

Mrs. C. Taylor, program convener, presided for the program which opened with community singing of Christmas carols with Mrs. McCutcheon as pianist. The report of the annual convention of Ontario Women's Institutes recently held in Toronto was given by Mrs. Taylor, who was the delegate for the local branch.

Refreshments were served at the close of the meeting by the hostess, Mrs. Taylor.

Election Rouses Little Interest

MARMORA, Dec. 5 — (ENS). — The municipal election in Marmora village was one of the quietest on record with little interest being taken in it.

Six candidates contested the four seats on the Council with the first four being elected:

	Poll 1	Poll 2	Total
V. Lynch	96	73	169
M. R. Lavender ..	85	65	150
R. E. Neal	68	64	132
G. H. Rennie	63	69	132
L. R. Rundle	63	48	111
W. A. Sanderson .	37	45	82

Reeve W. R. Linn who was given acclamation on Nomination Day for a ninth consecutive term will have two of this years colleagues — V. Lynch and R. E. Neal and two new councillors, M. R. Lavender and G. H. Rennie to complete his council.

Swollen Rhine Floods Arnhem

By DOUGLAS AMARON
Canadian Press War Correspondent

WITH THE 1ST CANADIAN ARMY IN HOLLAND, Dec. 3 — (Delayed) — (CP Cable). — Rain-swollen waters of the Lower Rhine spread through breaches in the dikes south of Arnhem, Holland, to-day (Sunday), threatening to engulf the "island" between the Rhine and its tributary the Waal.

The dikes were breached last night, presumably by German sappers attempting to force withdrawal of troops of the 1st Canadian Army holding this flat country between Arnhem and Nijmegen.

If the water spread to the whole "island" the Germans will be affected as well because they still hold the eastern half. Troops established south of the Waal and east of this area are not affected by the flooding.

Obituary

DANIEL D. DELANEY

Despite the hazardous road conditions, a large crowd gathered at St. Joseph's church, Douro, Monday morning, to assist at the Holy Sacrifice of the Mass for the late Daniel D. Delaney, by his pastor, Reverend J. J. McCarthy. These included a great many members of the Holy Name Socety in which he always took an atcive part.

Hundreds from Douro, Peterborough and surrounding district, as well as Toronto, visited his late residence to offer their sympathy to his bereaved wife, formerly Honorah Condon, and his family, and to further exemplify their respect for the late Mr. Delaney by the offering of spiritual and floral tributes.

Although Mr. Delaney was seventy-six years of age, he was very energetic and deeply interested in his farm duties.

Casket bearers were a son-in-law, Mastal Moher and John Garvey, Peter Doherty, Albert Moher, Martin Coughlin and Jeremiah Dwyer.

Interment was in St. Joseph's cemetery, Douro. Reverend Father McCarthy conducted the burial services.

WINTERTIME ANYTIME

In certain parts of Norway snow may fall during any month of the year.

RETURNED—Fred Hills, retiring member of the Peterborough Utilities Commission who was returned at the polls for a second term of three years.

Bank of Montreal President Asks For Realism on Post-War Problems

George W. Spinney Declares That An Economic Millennium Cannot Materialize By Order-in-Council

B. C. Gardner, General Manager, Reviews Changes In Bank Act At Annual Meeting Of Shareholders

Urging that the wares of the panacea vendors be treated with a "nice sense of discrimination", George W. Spinney, C.M.G., president of the Bank of Montreal told the 127th annual meeting of shareholders that the true post-war objectives, as he saw them, were full employment arising out of productive activity and operating under conditions of individual liberty to produce a high standard of living in real terms of goods and services.

Mr. Spinney said that he did not know of any way in which these ends can be achieved except through production on the broadest possible scale and the freest possible exchange of the resultant products within Canada's own borders and beyond them.

The president warned against the assumption "that a post-war economic millennium, in which everybody will be more secure, richer and presumably happier," can materialize by Order-in-Council. "But to take an honestly realistic look at the post-war prospect," he continued, "is to recognize that the reconversion of industry to civilian production, the re-employment in peace-time pursuits of those now in the Armed Forces and in war work and the restoration of our external trade on a satisfactory basis will involve problems of tremendous magnitude. And after giving full value to everything that governmental agencies can usefully do to aid the transition from war to peace, there will remain a vast area of effort and opportunity that will challenge to the utmost our courage, ingenuity and powers of co-operation."

The Real Basis of Welfare

In his reference to the "panacea vendors," Mr. Spinney declared that we shall also need to have a clear-headed appreciation of the true significance of measures which may redistribute goods and services but which themselves do not increase productivity. Some of these measures were undoubtedly desirable, but we should not fall into the error of regarding them as short-cuts to national prosperity. He said that full employment was not necessarily wholly synonymous with material welfare and that a high national income was not necessarily the end of economic policy. It was at this stage of his address that he emphasized that the only way he knew in which these ends could be achieved was "through production on the broadest possible scale and the freest possible exchange of the resultant products within our own borders and beyond them."

As to Canada's post-war possibilities Mr. Spinney said that he was "no pessimist", and continued: "Canada will start out into the post-war era with some great advantages. Due to the tremendous stimulus of war production, our economy has become better balanced and diversified as between the primary industries and manufacturing than ever before. Our population has acquired new skills. We have brought about a veritable revolution in productive methods and techniques that is full of promise for the future. I think also it is fair to say that our reputation and stature among nations of good-will has become enhanced, a factor of no small significance from the standpoint of external trade. Moreover, we have been able to accomplish our vast mobilization of material resources without subjecting our economy to the stresses and our people to the cruel injustices of inflation. It seems to me that our hope of achieving our post-war aims depends in large measure upon maintaining these advantages."

Practical Objectives

The desirability of defeating inflation was emphasized by the speaker, who declared that it will be essential that the success achieved thus far in holding down prices and living costs be maintained and carried through into the period of post-war readjustment.

Discussing the post-war relationship between government and individual enterprise, he expressed the view that a supine dependence on government would represent the negation of the qualities most necessary to an enterprising and democratic economy. However, he saw the costs of government continuing at a higher level than before the war, adding that under such conditions "the distribution of the cost of government becomes a matter of peculiar importance"; for if these costs are distributed in such a way that incentives are diminished and individuals or corporations are thereby discouraged or deterred from entering into productive undertakings, then the net result will be a loss to the Canadian people in terms of employment and living standards. He urged the encouragement of the processes of production and interchange through private agencies rather than through the channels of government spending.

Maintaining Exports

Discussing foreign trade as a factor in developing our natural resources and maintaining prosperity, Mr. Spinney mentioned the problem of providing ways and means whereby our foreign customers can pay for the high volume of Canadian goods we should like to see them buy. In this connection he referred to our very direct and definite interest in the proposals for an International Monetary Fund and an International Bank of Reconstruction and development recently put forward at Bretton Woods. He felt that the successful application of the principles underlying these two proposals could do much to encourage and facilitate the flow of international commerce upon which the fortunes of all nations of goodwill so greatly depend.

Banks and Their Reserves

In referring to the decennial revision of The Bank Act, Mr. Spinney dealt particularly with the subject of Inner or Contingent Reserves which occupied a substantial part of the hearings of the Banking and Commerce Committee. He referred to the custom of setting up such reserves as having been recognized from the very inception of banking legislation, and said: "The history of Canadian banking indicates clearly that many of the banking difficulties of earlier days would have been avoided if proper provision had been made for unforeseen losses. This applies not only to bank failures but to bank mergers, which in many cases would have been unnecessary if adequate reserves had been set up."

The Bank of Montreal had followed the practice of setting up such reserves and the speaker expressed doubt if "we could have weathered all the storms of the past 127 years, and continued to play our part in serving the community, if the management in good times had not prudently set aside reasonable sums to meet the inevitable changes in business conditions". Without reviewing in detail the long discussion in Committee, Mr. Spinney said that it was made clear that reasonable provision for losses must be considered as an expense of doing business, and, therefore, as a charge in computing taxable income.

Tax Adjustments and Earnings

B. C. Gardner, General Manager of the bank, dealt with the accounts and referred to the effects on its operations of the Bank Act revision.

He pointed out that, while gross earnings for the past year had shown an increase, net earnings after federal taxes (which amounted to $3,725,000) were somewhat lower than for previous year at $3,194,000 as compared with $3,303,000. The reduction in net earnings he pointed out, was a result of the adjustments in taxation to which the President had referred. Gross earnings had increased, he said, despite a lower average yield on investments and a reduced level of commercial loans.

The General Manager pointed out that, although increased volume of business had caused somewhat crowded conditions in some offices, the Bank had adhered to its decision against extensions to the buildings in wartime, but that interior alterations had been made in some branches to provide more space.

Changes in Bank Act

He reviewed the important changes in the Bank Act and stated that although the new interest limitations will make it difficult to handle some types of personal loans at a profit, the Bank would continue to make every effort to meet the credit requirements of worthy borrowers whether transactions are large or small.

The removal of the long established note-issuing functions of the banks, he pointed out follows upon the curtailments imposed in the 1934 revision. "As the notes of this Bank have served as a well-known and acceptable medium of exchange for more than a century," he continued, "we shall naturally regret their disappearance, although in recent years this privilege has yielded little if any profit to the Bank."

"It is unfortunate," he said, "that in the record of the hearings many erroneous statements and charges remain uncontradicted. Some critics blame the banks for extending credit too liberally, while others were equally sure that the banks were too restrictive. Much time has been taken up with abstract discussions of monetary theory and of such matters as 'costless credit,' 'debt-free money' and the '100% reserve plan'. It is obvious that lacking extensive and expert study a number of specific proposals were put forward without knowledge of their real implications".

It was hoped, he said, that within reasonable limits, and subject to appropriate safeguards, it will be possible for the Bank to extend credit of a somewhat longer term, particularly in the approaching period of conversion from war-time to peace-time production. The Act, as finally passed, he continued, gives the banks adequate scope to provide the same high type of banking service to which the Canadian people are accustomed and which they accept as a matter of course. "The banking system, like all other fields of human activity," he said in this connection, "is always capable of improvement and must change with changing times, but it is a system that has served the country well and I am confident will continue to do so in the days that lie ahead."

Reconversion Problems

In pointing out that business activity in the country continued at high levels throughout the past year, Mr. Gardner stated that the business outlook is influenced by uncertainty as to the extent and nature of war production requirements. It is probable, he said, that in the ensuing twelve months, major problems of reconversion of industry from war to civilian output will become an important element in the business picture.

The General Manager concluded his address by paying a tribute to the staff of the Bank and reviewing plans for re-absorption of those employees now on military service. It was planned, he said, to provide for refresher training for all for readjustment to civilian life.

"Briefly," he said, "it is our intention to place these officers on the salary and, within a reasonable time, in the position which they would normally have expected to attain had they been in the continuous service of the Bank. Our object is to see that they have not lost ground through their service to their country."

Main Street Topics

PRIZE WINNERS

The two winners of the Peterborough Examiner's prizes offered for best work appearing in the 1944 Collegiate Echoes and announced at the Commencements Exercises were Joan Thomas, a student of Grade XIII in the senior contest and Leslie Fowlie a student of Grade IX in the Junior contest.

PROMOTED OVERSEAS

With more than thirty operational flights over Europe to his credit, Flight Sergeant Claire Sullivan has been promoted to the rank of Pilot Officer. He mentioned his advancement in a letter received at the week-end by his parents, Alderman J. E. Sullivan and Mrs. Sullivan. He graduated as a navigator, and he has been serving in that capacity with the bomber command.

STOLEN CAR RECOVERED

A car beonging to Donald McKay, Bridgenorth, and stolen from George street on Friday afternoon has been found abandoned in a Baillieboro laneway.

LOOKING THINGS OVER

About 10 oclock Monday night, while crowds were wandering up and down George street awaiting election returns, a large brown owl swooped through the air and perched on top of a car parked in front of Kresge's Store. In his spot, just above the windshield, the bird perched comfortably and surveyed the crowd which quickly gathered around his resting place.

LOUIS GIARDINO

Louis Giardino Dies While In Brantford

After an illness of three months, Louis A. Gardino, 502 Parnell street, passed away Monday in Brantford, at the age of 23. He was the beloved husband of Bernice Lynch.

Mr. Giardino served three years in the 4th Anti-Tank Regiment, and was honorably discharged last year. An employee of the Canadian General Electric Company, he received his education at Sacred Heart School here and also at St. Peter's High School, and played on several Peterborough hockey teams before the war.

He was born in Peterborough, the son of Carmine Giardino and Leonardina Cupoli, and has lived here all his life. The late Mr. Giardino was a member of Sacred Heart Church here, and belonged to the Holy Name Society.

He leaves to mourn his loss his wife, his parents, seven sisters, Mrs. William De Noble (Vera), Mrs. Albert Thompson (Lil), Mrs. Mark Collins (Loretta), Mrs. John De Noble (Mary), Mrs. James Guerin (Nina), Mrs. Austin Clark (Rita), and Carmen Giardino, and two brothers, Anthony and Leonard Giardino.

The funeral will be Thursday morning at 8:40 o'clock, from the residence, 502 Parnell street, to the Church of the Sacred Heart for Requiem Mass at nine o'clock. Burial will be in St. Peter's Gemetery.

Flier Hitch-Hiking Reaches Atlanta, Ga.

Hitch-hiking for at least one Peterborough airman proved successful recently when Sgt. Pilot Clinton (Dick) Magee, 207 Murray street, arrived in Atlanta, Georgia, after one "lift" had brought him the entire distance between Buffalo N.Y., and the Atlantic seaboard city.

Canadians in the armed forces have brought back astonishing details of the generosity of American motorists in giving soldiers, sailors and airmen "lifts," this airman has one more story to add.

Sgt.-Pilot Magee is accompanied by Sgt.-Pilot William "Red" Treleven, Toronto, with whom he graduated as pilot at Hagersville a few weeks ago. The boys took the train to Toronto last Tuesday, received rides to Buffalo, and from there to Atlanta.

But, their destination is Miami, Florida, and when last heard from, they were awaiting plane accommodation there.

In Libel Action

TORONTO, Dec. 5 — (CP). — Professor George Grube of the University of Toronto and William Dennison, two of 16 plaintiffs in the libel action against M. A. Sanderson, The Reliable Exterminators Ltd., and Toronto Evening Telegram, yesterday denied that either they or the C.C.F. Party had Communist affiliations. Both were C.C.F. candidates in the 1944 civic electon.

4 Polls Delay Election Totals

Alderman Cotton, dean of the aldermanic corps, was the first member of the council to arrive at the city hall board room Monday night for the receiving and tabulating of the election returns.

Vince Stewart was the first ordinary citizen to arrive for a ring side seat, joined shortly by Stewart McGill Alderman Ovens with an adding machine under his arm was a voluntary recorder. Herb McCannan also checked in before the tardy polls began to show any life. Alderman Glover came early and to his enquiry of "who's who" the answer was only the results from two polls. His stay was brief, although he returned later. Aldermen Curtis, Bradburn, Sands and Sullivan also joined the company. Alderman Dutton's arithmetic help of last January 1 was not required. He was merely a spectator.

City Auditor Ed Humpage also, Joe Jebson, chairman of the general committee of the Peterborough Community Memorial Centre, John Hornal, superintendent of Nicholls Hospital, and various other citizens looked in from time to time.

Two hours of counting in the fifty polling places brought returns from only twenty-six. "We could sacrifice some of the reputed thoroughness for a little speed," F.D.C. remarked.

At 10.40 o'clock forty-six polls were heard from. Some of the stragglers were flushed into report by telephone chasing. Poll No. 24 was the last one to come in at 10 minutes to eleven. It took nearly four hours to count this vote.

Fire Damage $300 At Canadian Canoe

Fire, believed to have originated from an overheated motor, broke out in the basement of the Canadian Canoe Company early Monday evening and caused damage amounting to $300, Chief Gimblett reported today.

No one was in the basement at the moment the trouble started, but it was discovered in a matter of seconds and an alarm turned in. The flames mushroomed across the ceiling for 20 feet before the sprinkler system went into operation, and by that time had reached the main floor.

Firemen used the booster tank to extinguish the blaze, and Fire Chief Gimblett said some of the damage was caused to lumber, being processed in the section of the building that was burnt.

The alarm was received by the fire department at 6.50 o'clock, and although a pump and ladder truck responded, they were not needed and were sent back to the station within 15 minutes.

Pennies And Nickels Are Becoming Scarce

Christmas has many effects, most of them pleasant. There is one, however, that is apt to be a headache, especially to merchants—a shortage of small change, particularly pennies and nickels.

It is not really that there is any less change in circulation at this time of year. It is simply that so much more buying is going on and people are carrying more money in their pockets and purses. And there's more money in "piggy banks"—youngsters and adults alike have been putting pennies and nickels and dimes in coin banks, saving up for Christmas.

These are the people who can help the situation more than anyone else, and bankers are asking "piggy bank" operators to take in their stocks of coins and exchange them for bills.

Obituary

PATRICK COURSEY SR.

The funeral of Patrick Coursey, Sr., took place from his late residence, 565 Romaine street, to the Church of the Sacred Heart.

Requiem Mass was offered by the pastor, Rt. Rev. Monsignor J. J. O'Brien, in the presence of a large gathering of relatives and friends of the family, all of whom arrived home in time for the funeral. Interment was made in St. Peter's Cemetery, with Rev. Capt. F. M. Grant conducting the graveside services.

Pallbearers were James MacDonald, Samuel McCauley, Percy Heard, Fred Guerin, David Jones and Samuel Lafave.

Greeks Facing Turbulent Post-War Period

By HAROLD FAIR
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Political strife in Greece, marked by week-end bloodshed, stems from a problem previously faced in liberated countries of Europe and likely to be faced when others are freed—whether Partisan organizations which fought the Germans during the occupation shall surrender their arms at government demand.

Six cabinet minister representing the left wing E.A.W. resigned last Saturday after attempts to reach an understanding on the question of disarming resistance groups had failed. The E.A.M. — the initials stand for Ethnikon Apeleftherotikon Metopon, which means National Liberation Front—is the resistance organization formed in Greece in 1941 during the occupation. Its army is called E.L.A.S.—Greek Peoples' Army of Liberation—or just plain Partisans.

An opposing armed group, also formed during occupation, is the E.D.E.S., Greek Democratic National Army, composed of Nationalists and Royalists under Gen. Napoleon Zervas.

National Army.

Premier George Papandreou's government, which Britain supports until it has a national army and is able to hold free elections, is an outgrowth of the administration formed in Cairo by King George II in April, 1941 after the Germans overwhelmed Greece.

The first premier was Emmanuel Tsouderos, a follower of Republican Eleutherios Venizelos. He saw in the Leftist E.A.M. a threat to monarchy and the satus quo. Tsouderos resigned last April after a mutiny by Greek forces in Egypt who demanded E.A.M. representation in the government. The king called on Sophocles Venizelos, son of Eleutherios, to form a government.

That administration, however, suited neither the Greeks in the Middle East nor those in the home land and unrest in the armed forces continued. Venizelos resigned after quelling the uprising and was replaced by Papandreou, a man in his 60's. His government for the first time in Greece's wartime history resembled a coalition, including E.A.M. members in key cabinet posts.

Bradburn Led At 23 Polls

Alderman Bradburn carried 23 of the polls Monday and tied in another. His card showed 4 of the 11 polls in the South Ward; 4 of 5 polls in the Centre; 6 of 9 in the west, with another tied; 7 of 10 in the north, and 2 of 9 polls in the Monaghan.

Alderman Swanston led the field in thirteen polls and tied in another. His largest votes were at 4 polls in the South; 1 in the Centre; 1 in the West; 1 in the North; 5 in Ashburnham, and in North Monaghan.

Alderman Sands was next in order with seven firsts and two ties; 2 in the South; 1 in the West; 2 in the North; and 2 in Monaghan Ward.

Walter Wright took four of the nine Monaghan Ward polls and Dodds was top man at one in the South and one in Ashburnham.

Bradburn and Sands were tied at poll No. 18 in the West, with 84 votes each.

Sands and Swanston were tied at Shea's store (Alparka) in the South with 67 votes each.

Ball Player Of 1880 Passes At Age Of 84

SAULT STE. MARIE, Ont., Dec. 5.—(CP).— John Stuart Prentice, one of the last surviving members of the Harriston Browns baseball team which won the Canadian championship in 1880, was buried here yesterday. He died last Friday at the age of 84. A native of Columbus, Ont., he was a printer and worked for more than 35 years with the old Petrolia Topic before coming to Sault Ste. Marie in 1916. He was active in such sports as lawn bowling and curling until a short time ago. A daughter, Mrs. Carl W. Austin, lives in Toronto.

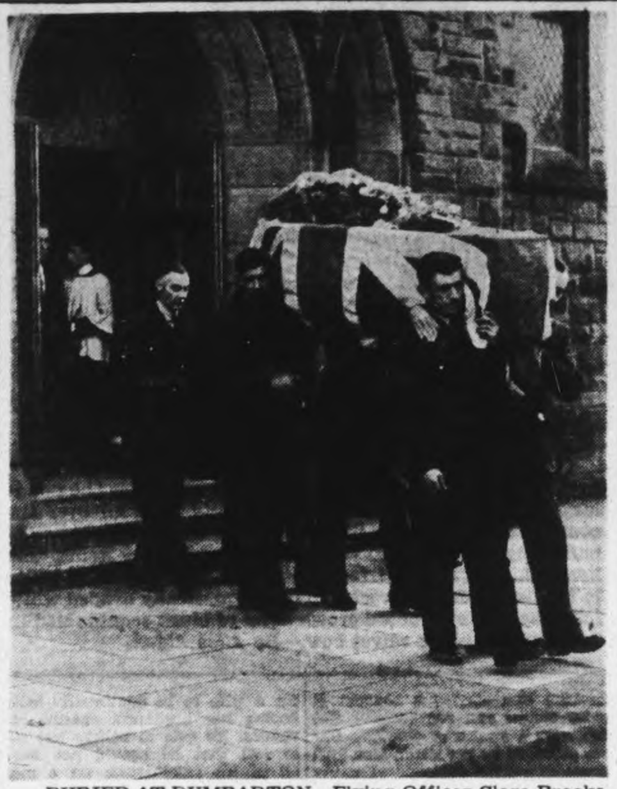
NICE THOUGHT

Enthusiasm in most quarters ran high, when the hospital by-law was passed with a sizeable majority in Monday's municipal elections, but there was one woman who was unusually pleased at the results. Phoning the Examiner to receive the latest election news, she queried a reporter about the hospital. When she heard how the bylaw was leading at that time, she shouted "Hurrah", and finished the conversation with, "Brother, I could kiss you!"—D. M.



BURIED AT DUMBARTON—Flying Officer Clare Brooks, RCAF, of Young's Point, who was killed at Dumbarton, Scotland, in a crash in September, was buried with full military honours from St. Patrick's Chapel, there. Personnel of the RAF station, villagers and members of the Council attended the funeral. (See story on Page 5.)

Lt. Andy Scott Back In Canada

OTTAWA Dec. 5 (CP)—Officers and men of HMCS Kenora, one of the tiny Canadian minesweepers which helped clear a path to the Normandy beaches for the Allied invasion, have returned to Canada on leave, the Navy announced last night.

The Kenora and three other Canadian Bangor sweepers were in a mixed British - Canadian flotilla which made the vital pre-invasion sweep the night before D-Day—June 6.

A naval press release quoted Lieut. D. W. Lowe of Calgary and Vancouver, the Kenora's commanding officer, as saying that about the most difficult part of the operation was manoeuvring in the Channel through the "heavy traffic" of Allied ships.

He described the invasion itself as an "impressive" sight, but said that apart from the mines they brought up with their sweeping gear, the crew saw no sign of the enemy during the first week of operations. They were under fire once, when enemy shore batteries opened fire—and missed.

The Kenora took part in sweeping out the approaches to Cherbourg Harbor, and that job gave the crew a chance to get ashore in France.

"The harbor was filled with sunken and wrecked ships, German and French," said the coxswain, C.P.O. Frederick McCarville of Charlottetown. The forts and the waterfront were pretty badly battered, but there wasn't much damage in the city itself."

First Lieutenant of the ship was Sub-Lt. J. M. Steedman, Red Deer, Alta., and other officers included Lieut. A. M. Gow, Hamilton; Lieut. J. A. Morgan, Edmonton, Winnipeg and Halifax; Lieut. W. Andrew Scott, Peterborough, and Sub.-Lt. Harry Gillis, Whycocomagh, N.S., and Halifax.

Dies From Burns

Gets An Assist

KANSAS CITY, Dec. 5 — (AP). — Said Crystal Farris as two freight locomotives battered his small coupe into a knot of metal and he escaped uninjured: "The good Lord opened the door so I could tumble out."

No Record Shown Of Beer Purchase

Although the police reported that the records of the brewery warehouse showed no record of a purchase of beer by him on the date on which he said he had bought a case, Ernest E. Carveth, Romaine street, got the benefit of the doubt in police court this morning when Magistrate O. A. Langley, K.C., imposed the minimum fine of $10 and costs on a charge of having liquor in a place other than a residence.

Carveth was arrested Sunday on Park street by Constable W. A. Clarke, who found the accused had a case of beer in a burlap bag.

In court yesterday Carveth, who pleaded guilty, said that he had bought the beer a week ago last Saturday at the brewery warehouse and had taken it to the home of his brother He added that on Sunday he had been taking the case to his home

Detective John Stevenson stated that there was no record at the brewery warehouse of a purchase of beer by Carveth on the day he mentioned and that a search through the records on the previous day also failed to show that the accused had bought beer.

It was pointed out that Carveth boarded on Romaine street and his brother lived on Sherbrooke, and that the accused had been arrested on Park street, well north of Sherbrooke street.

Carveth explained that he was walking on Park street to get a taxi.

"You had already walked about one-third of the distance to your home and in the wrong direction" remarked Magistrate Langley.

"It's a rather remarkable story but you have no previous record and the police say they have no suspicion that you are boot-legging so I am going to give you the benefit of the minimum fine."

At the request of the police the magistrate ordered the confiscation of the case of beer Carveth had been carrying.

A charge against Gloria Cunningham of creating a disturbance was adjourned for a week because of the absence in another court of Crown Attorney V. J. McElderry, K.C.

Ministers Told How To Help Returned Men

The December meeting of the Peterborough Ministerial Association was held Monday in the Y.M.C.A. The following were present: Rev. W. A. Filer, chairman; Doctors E. W. Young, J. R. R. Cooper and M. C. MacLean; Reverends E. W. Rowland, C. H. Rae, L. E. Jones, E. J. Whan, J. F. Everson, Fred Craik, Fred Horton, R. L. Casement, H. J. Mahoney, Samuel Johnston, J. H. Sutcliffe, J. L. Hodgson and Major John C. Wood.

Dr. E. W. Young conducted a brief devotional period. Several new members were introduced and welcomed by the chairman, including Rev. Samuel Johnston of St. Paul's, Rev. R. L. Casement of the Free Methodist, Rev. L. E. Jones and Rev. C. F. Rae, a returned missionary from China.

Dr. C. M. Scott, the speaker for the day, was introduced by Dr. E. W. Young. Dr. Scott chose as his subject, "A Newer Approach to the Medical Science". He introduced his remarks with a historical resume of the mechanical age of medicine. If a disease couldn't be discovered clinically, the patient was subjected to laboratory tests or surgery. Thus an age of specialization developed. The newer approach, however, to medical science considers the emotional as well as the bodily changes as causes of complaints. Dr. Scott gave four case historys of patients who were emotionally disturbed and who when treated with psysbosomatic medicine were cured.

Many Diseases

To the question whether there are many mal-adjusted people, Dr. Scott asserted that one-third of all patients have organic diseases, one-third mixed emotional and organic diseases and one-third purely psychic or emotional. The symptoms are similar in practically all cases. Some of the causes are due to exacting pressure of work, fears, anxieties, lack of independence, failure to have ability recognized in vocational sphere, remorse of conscience, unpleasant home conditions such as unhappy marriages, wrongly adjusted parent-child relations. This comprises a large group unwilling to face up to life's problems.

The best soldiers are undoubtedly those who volunteer. A large group feel fit and give good service in civil life, but in modern warfare they develop a nervous condition. It was evident in the first Great War in shell-shock cases, of men who were not subjected to shell fire. Others developed "Soldiers' Hearts" with no apparent pathological cause. Fears and anxieties were the root cause. In the present war a group known as psychos, about one-third of all return men are thus affected. The clergy must learn the technique of establishing young repatriates and re-establishing returned men in useful occupations. The clergy must learn the art of personal counselling in order to help cure this mental sickness and heal broken souls. There is tremendous therapeutic value in worship. Religion too has its supreme place in winning souls to Christ and restoring these emotionally disturbed and restless soldiers.

Mrs. Wm. Fitzgerald Dies At Hospital

One of a family of thirteen, and a well-known resident of Peterborough for 44 years, Mrs. William Fitzgerald, 219 Princess street, passed away Monday morning in St. Joseph's Hospital, following an illness of several months. She was formerly Catherine Heffernan.

An enthusiastic member of the Church of the Sacred Heart ever since it was dedicated, Mrs. Fitzgerald was keenly interested in church affairs, and held membership in the Altar Society, the Catholic Women's League and the League of Sacred Heart.

Mrs. Fitzgerald was born in Otonabee township, one of thirteen children of the late Thomas Heffernan and Bridget Allen. Before coming to Peterborough, she lived in Otonabee, and received her education at No. 12 School, Otonabee.

She leaves to mourn her loss her husband, William Fitzgerald, six sons, Rev. Herbert Fitzgerald, of Kearney, James and William, of Otonabee, Thomas, Frank and Gerald Fitzgerald; also three sisters, Mrs. Frank Sullivan, Mrs. Fergus Clancey, of Otonabee, and Mrs. Emile Montpetit, of Windsor. Also surviving are four brothers, Michael and Thomas Heffernan, of Otonabee, Frank, of Douro, James of Peterborough, and three sisters, Mrs. Jeremiah Fitzgerald of Otonabee, Mrs. Harry Clancy and Mrs. Redmond Carey, both of Peterborough.

The funeral will be Thursday morning December 7, at 9:40 o'clock, from the family residence to the Church of the Sacred Heart for Solemn Requiem High Mass at 10 o'clock. Interment will be in St. Peter's Cemetery.

SHELTERS USED FOR FOWL

CORBY, England — (CP). — The council of this Northamptonshire town is wondering what action to take against persons using their Anderson air raid shelters as chicken houses.

ARRIVES HOME—Flying Officer Thomas Hooper, RCAF, has arrived home after serving overseas in Great Britain. An Arts graduate at Trinity College, the young airman enlisted in September, 1942, and graduated and received his commission at Malton as a navigator. His wife is the former Audrey Murray, and he is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Hooper, of Hunter street West.

40 Per Cent Of Voters Out

Forty per cent of the electors voted Monday, City Clerk Outram estimated today, indicating a fairly satisfactory increase over the total polls in recent years.

Of the 16,000 persons shown in the voters list 6,770 marked their ballots for Utilities Commissioner. The recorded total vote was 6,520, but Mr. Outram added 250 for spoiled ballots, averaging five to a poll.

Of the 6,459 property owners eligible to vote on the money bylaws, approximately 3,855 voted. The total count on one of the bylaws was 3,455, but, here again, Mr. Outram allowed in his estimates 400 spoiled ballots, or an average of eight to a poll. The response of property owners would be further increased by taking into the reckoning the fact that around five per cent are not residents of the city and beyond convenient distance to come here to vote.

Lodge Officers Are Installed

The new officers of Royal Arthur Lodge A.F. and A.M. were installed on Monday evening at a most impressive ceremony. Lodge opened at 5 o'clock and W. Bro. Roy Dixon assisted by a group of past masters conducted the installation.

Following the installation of the new officers Bro. Eldon Ray of Norfolk Lodge No. 10 was the guest speaker at a banquet held in the dining hall. Bro. Ray is the new master of History at the Peterborough Collegiate and Vocational School.

Reorganize Chapter

Four Peterborough officials of the Royal Black Knights of Ireland visited Haliburton and reorganized the branch there which has been dormant for several years. J. Arthur Holden, Deputy Grand Master of Eastern Ontario, Robert Ritchie, Associate Deputy of British America; Archie McDonald, Past Preceptor of R.B.P 261, Peterborough; and Roland Darling of Lakefield, who is First Grand Censor of Eastern Ontario. Twenty members were enrolled and it is hoped to have 20 more in a short time.

Sponsors' Gifts Add To Fund On Anniversary

In all kinds of welfare endeavour involving that of the spiritual, moral or social directives, those who take a leading part in urging others to do deeds, that fall within this category, and particularly where some self sacrifice is involved, may be certain that their efforts would surely have an opportunity of being more successful, when they themselves are willing to support the particular effort their appeal concerns, in the same manner as they expect others to do.

This in the first instance prompted the secretary of the Peterborough and District British War Victims Fund, to offer his services in a voluntary capacity to operate this fund to aid the victims of enemy air raid attacks over Britain. It is why the fund was registered that none of the money so received was to be used for expenses incurred or services rendered, that every cent received was utilized for the purpose for which it had been given, evidence of an earnestness behind the fund promoters, that the effort was purely one of service to the Empire and the cause, for which its best life's blood was being shed.

Over $84,600 Raised.

Four years ago to-day the fund began to operate and no one including its sponsors had the slightest idea of what it would involve, or what might be eventually accomplished. This day-by-day work in the name of the residents of this city and district, which has run without any interruption whatever on that basis for the whole of the period named, has now rolled up a splendid total of over $84,600, which is not so very far from a monthy average of $2,000.

At this point it might be well to pause and pay a well deserved tribute to all of those who have supported the fund in such a splendid manner, that has enabled such an achievement to be registered. It must surely in the days to come react as a splendid credit to all, besides giving an internal satisfacation individually and collectively that no thief can steal, or moth or rust corrupt.

At the moment the fund requires close to $5,000 to complete its objective for Christmas, with only about two and a half weeks to go before it must be cabled over to go about its happy task of giving joy to the thousands of people, particularly boys and girls who have lost their homes, so recently through the robot or flying bomb.

This is one of the finest rememberances that one can make to celebrate the Nativity of Him, whose whole life was spent in going about doing good, and culminated with the highest sacrifice for the redemption of the whole world, ever remembering that His own words were "In a smuch as ye have done it unto the least of these my brethren, ye have done it unto Me."

This 4th anniversary day is marked by a list of donations coming from those who might be said to have been behind the fund's operation, among which is included a gift from one who goes under the name of "Devonshire" who only recently listed with a gift of an even larger amount, it being included because of an interest that has displayed itself on a number of occasions in various ways to boost the fund along.

The secretary of the fund would again place on record his sincere appreciation, for the practical and moral assistance given him throughout the whole of the period under review, by the thousands of citizens living in these parts, and specially those who have to some degree been associated with him in this effort carried on in the name of the city and district.

THE STARS SAY . . . . .

By GENEVIEVE KEMBLE

For Wednesday, December 6

A KEEN grasp of a sudden opening, with clever and quick action, may turn the tide of lagging affairs into brilliant channels of profit and accomplishment.

This may call for unplanned change, with travel, new arrangements and fresh surroundings, which should be both pleasant, and promising. There may be secret agreements, or tacit understandings with large organizations, political, diplomatic or fraternal; but in all cases there is need for personal discretion, as well as public precaution and prudence, as tricky undercurrents may lure to unhappy consequences or alliances, provoking jealousy and strange anxieties, with strain and tension, on nerves and emotions.

Those whose birthday it is may be prepared for a year in which sudden opportunities for unforeseen success call for quick and decisive action, with keen and clever grasp on wavering circumstances. Travel, new environs, revamping of old plans and agreements are in order, and these should be manipulated shrewdly and without worry, futile anxiety and nervous or emotional stress and strain. The personal life, domestic, social and romantic, are involved perhaps in a way with reactions that might be happy and profitable if well managed.

A child born on this day should have many fine talents and characteristics, and should have a happy and progressive life, if it refrains from worry and nervous excitement.

63 Hostesses Canteen Workers

The regular Sunday hostesses entertained at the Red Shield canteen Sunday afternoon, and after the regular singsong with Jimmy Abraham at the piano, cake and coffee were served. In the evening, the singsong was augmented by an ensemble from the Temple band, and refreshments were served. Adjutant Velma Graham introduced the new assistant, Capt. C. Prout, and also the supervisor now at the Training Centre, Gordon Kennedy.

Hostesses were as follows: Misses Mary Stephenson, Catherine Graham, Doris Blodgett, Lola Leach, Jessie Johnson, Ann Poirier, Bunny Goulah, Mary Nelson, Helen Riley, Lemoine Cook, Marylin Parsons, Norma Elcombe, Jean Elcombe, Florence Hanwell, Sylvia Muir, Dorothy Pearson, Joan Pitchford, Mary Lambert, Margaret Hendren, Ruth Pogue, Mary Hickey, Pearl Sanders, Gladys Perritt, Yeta Fine, Sylvia Fine, Irene Dalliday, Irene Storms, Margaret Wright, Muriel Genge, Marie Goudell, Clara Hawkins, Estelle Collins, Isabelle Sharpe, Margaret Spence, Doris Chenier, Betty Houlihan, Theresa Neill, Helen Boyer, Florence Boyer, Beatrice Parsons, Evelyn Knox, Marion Helson, Elinor Sheehy, Elenore Collins, Agnes Sullivan, Marion Weaver, Florrie Barrie, Marie Thomas, Helen Howden, Muriel Dunford, Ida Taylor, Muriel Miles, Ruth Sage, June Holloway, Laura Sproule, Catherine Elson, Donald Wayne, Alice Hanwell, Pearl Foster, Muriel Crouter, Irene Thompson, Mrs. A. Mason and Mrs. D. Muller.

I.O.D.E. Enjoys Christmas Party

Mrs. Edgar Spurway was hostess for the December meeting of the Jeanette Scott Chapter, I.O.D.E. Monday evening, which took the form of a Christmas party. Christmas carols were sung, and refreshments served at the close of the business meeting.

Mrs. Fred Hooper, honorary regent of the Chapter, was present, and spoke on I.O.D.E. procedure. Her talk took the form of a quiz, proving interesting as well as informative. During the business session it was announced that December was the chapter's month to visit the Training Centre Hospital, and Mrs. M. Comstock, Mrs. Philip Amys, Miss Mary Medd, Miss Isabel Weddell and Mrs. K. Robertson volunteered their services.

The treasurer's report showed that the recent tea had been financially successful, and donations were voted to the British War Victims' Fund, the Prisoners of War Fund and the Blanket Fund. Mrs. James Archibald, reporting for the recent soldiers' dance at the Y.W.C.A., said that there was a good turnout at this dance, with Jack Marshall acting as master of ceremonies.

Volunteers for duty at the Blood Donors' Clinic this week were Mrs. R. Nott, Miss Mary Medd, Mrs. G. Bailey and Mrs. G. Gillespie.

Several letters of appreciation from the adopted ship, for gifts, were read by Mrs. K. M. Robertson, the convener, and Mrs. Gordon Dobbin, convener for the chapter's adopted school, reported on a gift of books for the school. Mrs. J. Nornabell, in her Empire study, gave bulletins of special interest on the Chicago conferences, and read a tribute to the late Field Marshal Sir John Dill, written by Dorothy Thompson, well-known newspaper columnist.

Moore-Primeau Vows Pledged

Rev. Joseph Lynch officiated at the quiet ceremony in the rectory of Immaculate Conception Church, when Shirley Bernadette Primeau became the bride of Earl Moore. The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Ethel Primeau, 7 Charles street, and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Austin Moore, Hilliard street.

For the occasion, the bride chose a blue wool ensemble, with full skirt, fitted waist, and three-quarter length sleeves. She wore a matching feather-trimmed hat, blue accessories and carried a bouquet of white 'mums and red roses. She also wore a strand of pearls. She was attended by her sister, Mrs. Earl Grose, as matron of honor, in mauve crepe, on draped lines, black hat and accessories, and carrying yellow 'mums. Clare Scollard was best man.

Following the ceremony, about forty guests were entertained at a reception at the home of the bride's mother, where she received, in a black velvet gown, black hat and accessories, and a corsage of white 'mums. Also receiving was the groom's mother, in navy blue crepe, matching hat and accessories, and a corsage of white 'mums.

For a wedding trip to Toronto and other points, the bride chose a gray tailored suit, pink blouse, dark brown topcoat and black accessories. On their return, Mr. and Mrs. Moore will make their home on Charles street.

PENNY-PINCHER POOR HELPMATE

An Extravagant Wife Is Ruination, And a Miserly One is a Handicap.

EVERY starry-eyed bride dreams of being an inspiration to her husband, and most wives do try to be real helpmates to the men to whom they are married. But how to do it is a problem, for helping a husband is one of the most chancy things in marriage. Husbands do not all respond to the same stimuli, and when many a wife is trying her hardest to do good to her husband, she often is doing the worst thing for him that malice itself could invent.

Take, for instance, the commonly accepted theory among wives that the best way to help a husband is to save his money. So they pinch pennies. They live on Poverty street. They dress shabbily They never go anywhere except to a cheap movie. Now it is quite true that an extravagant wife can be the ruination of her husband, but a miserly one can be an equal handicap to him.

A Lovely Woman Is a Jewel

For the old adage that nothing succeeds like success is true. A man's ability is judged by his appearance and the way he lives And if his wife looks like a down-and-outer, it is taken for granted that he is one. I well remember a doctor friend of mine who once implored me to try to persuade his wife to buy some good clothes. "She does me such an injustice," he said, "for when people see her in cheap, last year's bargain clothes they are bound to think either that I am so poor a doctor I have no practice, or else that I am such a mean and stingy husband that I begrudge my wife a decent dress."

No doubt his wife's scrimping has enabled many a man to leave a fat estate when he died. But many another man has had to hustle so hard to make enough money to pay his wife's bills that it has made him a millionaire while he lived.

Another time honored maxim about how a wife can help her husband is for her to be a home body, and many an ever-loving wife becames a permanent kitchen fixture on her wedding day and accounts it unto herself for righteousness that she has no outside interests, belongs to no clubs, goes to no parties, and practically knows nobody except the butcher and the green grocer.

If a man marries to get a cook who can't give notice and quit, the home-staying wife is his dish; but the gadding wife, who goes everywhere and knows everybody, is not only more appetizing as a steady diet, but she often makes social contacts that put her husband on Easy street.

Indisputably it bucks up a husband's morale for his wife to admire him and build up his ego by singing his praises in the market place. But, again, no wife can do her husband a greater disservice than to overdo her press-agenting of him. We are all glad when the Mrs. thinks she married a world's wonder, but we don't want to have him stuffed down our throats every time we meet her.

Moreover, it is a dangerous thing for a wife to be continually ballyhooing her husband's charms and virtues. He gets to believe her and to feel that he should not waste all of his fascinations on a mere wife, but to spread them around among all the younger and prettier women of his acquaintance.

So, considering all these complications, what is a poor wife to do who wants to help her husband? Released by the Bell Syndicate, Inc.

THE TEA HOUR GOSSIP . . . .

My first recipe today is for a new kind of chocolate pudding. It's easy to make and you are sure to like it.

Bran Devil's Food Pudding

¾ cup sugar, ¾ cup milk, 2 squares unsweetened chocolate, ¼ cup shortening, 1 egg, 1 cup sifted flour, ½ teaspoon soda, ½ teaspoon salt, ½ cup bran, ½ teaspoon vanilla. Combine ¼ cup sugar ¼ cup milk and chocolate. Cook until thick (stirring occasionally). Cool Blend shortening, remaining sugar and egg, and beat until fluffy. Add chocolate mixture. Sift flour with soda and salt. Add to the first mixture, alternately with remaining milk. Add bran and vanilla. Pour into shallow greased baking pan. Bake in a moderate oven (300 degrees F) about 40 minutes. Serve with cream if desired.

Apple Cranberry Shortcake

2 ripe apples, 1 cup raw cranberries, 1 orange, 1 cup sugar. Wash and core the apples and put, with the cranberries, through the food chopper. Add the grated rind and juice of the orange, then stir in the sugar. Let stand in a cool place for several hours. Make a plain biscuit dough and roll out to ¾-inch thickness. Shape in one large round mass and bake in a hot oven (425 to 450 degrees F). Split, butter and serve hot with the cranberry mixture, between and on top.

Mock Cherry Pie

1½ cups cranberries (berries are better to be cut in half), 1½ cups sugar, 1 tablespoon flour, bit of butter, 1 teaspoon vanilla, ½ teaspoon almond flavoring 1 cup boiling water. Cook all together. Bake with 2 crusts.

ENQUIRY COLUMN

By MARY MOORE

QUESTION: You printed in the Examiner a recipe for cocoa syrup. I want to say I use this more for mixing into my cake icings and for flavoring puddings and cake than I do for drinking cocoa. If you haven't tried it in chocolate butter frosting I wish you would and let me know what you think of it. It's so quick. Bachelor-girl.

ANSWER: I think chocolate butter frosting made with cocoa syrup is fine. Thanks for sending us your ideas.

QUESTION: If I had a recipe for pound cake that you would recommend I know several interesting ways to vary it. For instance I had some Canton ginger given to me and I've heard that Canton ginger put in pound cake is delicious. You can put nuts and dried fruit in it too, and it keeps very well. Help me in this please.—I'll be watching for pound cake recipe. Thanks for past and anticipated help. Margaret Smythe.

ANSWER: Pound Cake. One cup butter (shortening could be used), 1½ cups sugar, 5 eggs, 2 cups flour. 1½ teaspoons salt, 1-8 teaspoon mace, 1 teaspoon vanilla. Cream butter and sugar, together. Add eggs, one at a time, beating well after the addition of each egg. Add the sifted ingredients, then vanilla,—if cake is altogether too stiff to stir, add one or two teaspoons milk. Bake in buttered and paper-lined pan, paper should also be buttered,—at 350 deg. Fahr. and later 325 deg. Fahr. for 1 hour. Keeps well if stored properly.

QUESTION: Will you be good enough to mail me the recipe for raisin sauce which they serve on Virginia Baked Ham? when do they pour the sauce on it—before baking or after? We have taken your paper for years. Mrs. Bert S.

ANSWER: Raisin Sauce, when served with ham, is either ladled onto each slice as it is served at the table, or passed at table. The ham, when baking is often basted with melted apple jelly, or cider.

RAISIN SAUCE

One and one-half cups hot water, 3 tablespoons butter, 3 tablespoons flour, ¼ teaspoon salt, 1 or 2 tablespoons brown sugar, ¼ to ½ cup raisins (if Valencias or Lexias they would be chopped), ¼ cup chopped almonds are optional but desirable, 2 tablespoons grated horseradish, ¼ cup fine crumbs, 3 tablespoons lemon juice. Melt the butter, add to flour, and stir in the boiling water; add all remaining ingredients, heat through and it is ready to serve.

A delicious and well-known raisin sauce to Europeans is made by adding, while hot, ¼ cup cheese to 1 cup white sauce, and also adding, while hot ¼ cup steamed raisins. It is usually colored with saffron to give it a rich yellow color and is especially good with rice.

Bonarlaw News

The euchre and pot luck supper held by the Y.P.S. of St. Mark's church in the parish hall, was a success. Prizes were won by Mrs. George Williams and Charles Gordenier. Events were in charge of the president, Robert Cosbey, and the secretary, Miss Freida McLaren.

OS. Murray McInroy, of Toronto, visited his father, Wallace McInroy for the week-end.

Mr. and Mrs. W. Hopper returned home Sunday evening from Toronto, where they spent the past week.

Mr. Ronald Maxwell returned home from Kingston Saturday evening, having been in the city over the past 1½ weeks.

Pte. Lawrence Leedy left this week-end, returning to his unit, having spent a two-weeks' furlough with his wife and family in Bancroft.

The conference which was to have been held at St. Paul's United church this week was postponed until spring because of the uncertainty of the weather.

All highways leading in and out of Bancroft are now cleared of heavy snow. Nearly a foot of snow fell since Thursday evening and, whipped by gales and sub-zero temperatures placed all traffic virtually at a standstill. Busses were somewhat late on schedule but got through to their terminals.

Mrs. James Vance returned home from Toronto this week-end where she had passed the past two weeks visiting her daughter, Mrs. Neil Martin.

Mr. and Mrs. Gordon W. Jones left this week on a business trip to Johnsonburg, Pa.

BABY AS SHIELD—Capture and subsequent positive identification of Thomas Henry Loritz, 26, as the "baby carrying" bandit who robbed the California bank of $3,000 has been announced by police. The baby, Glenn Gray, was carried by Loritz as a shield and whose death was threatened if the $3,000 was not handed over. Shown are Mrs. Mildred Gray and her son, Glenn, four-year-old, who was held by the bandit during the hold-up.

Fraserville

Mrs. S. Hogg of Fraserville has returned home after spending a few days with Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Syers of Cavan.

Miss Greta Moncrief of Fraserville visited her aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. L. Moncrief of Port Hope, during the past week.

Miss Elinor Pue of Peterborough, spent the week-end with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. O. Pue of Fraserville.

Sunday School at Fraserville December 10 will be changed from morning until 2 o'clock in the afternoon. At 3 o'clock Rev. Mr. H. Mahoney will tell a Christmas story along with lantern slides, entitled, "The Saviour Is Born".

Miss Hilda Harker, teacher at S.S. No. 9, spent the week-end with her parents near Millbrook.

Amalgamate Training Commands

OTTAWA, Dec. 5 — (CP) — Air force headquarters announced today the amalgamation of No. 1 and No. 3 training commands at Toronto and Montreal, respectively will become effective Jan. 15, with headquarters at the R.C.A.F. station at Trenton, Ont.

Air Vice-Marshal Adelard Raymond, of Montreal, air officer commanding No. 3 training command, will assume command of the new district, to be known as No. 1 Air Command.

Air Vice-Marshal A. T. N. Cowley, air officer commanding the present No. 1 training command, will be retired.

Installed As Rector

KINGSTON, Dec. 5 — (CP). — Dr. B. K. Sandwell, editor of Toronto Saturday Night, will be installed Rector of Queen's University at a ceremony on Friday, it was announced yesterday. He succeeds the Earl of Athlone, Governor-General of Canada.

ERSATZ FLOCK OF SHEEP—We'll grant you without argument that the gadget bears no more resemblance to a flock of woolies than we do to the Venus de Milo, but it serves the same purpose. Developed by army engineers, it is called a sheepsfoot roller and is used to compact the soil on which airfield pavements are constructed. When a flock of sheep pass over soft ground, the feet of the leaders sink in, but as more and more of the flock tramp over the ground they pack the soil so that the tail enders travel over hard-packed soil. This gadget, which weighs 36 tons, performs in the same way, making several passes over same territory.

Czech Applies For Citizenship

COBOURG, Dec. 5 — (ENS) — Hitler's intentions in regard to Czechoslovakia were foreseen by humble farmers in that country who had no recourse to information that might have been available through the usual diplomatic channels, but who relied on intuition plus native intelligence to get out of the country while they still had a chance. This was revealed Monday in county court during the hearing of applications for naturalization. All the applicants were Jews, same German Jews who had been living in the Rhineland and others Jews living in the country of the Czechs.

Judge J. C. M. German asked Emile Szusz, R.R. No. 3, Bowmanville an intelligent-looking Czech, about his country. Szusz declared that he was "pessimistic" while the others were too optimistic.

"I was pessimistic. Some of the others wanted to hang on. It is hard to have to move right out and leave everything you have worked for and built up behind. They were optimistic. They wanted to hang on. Here I am. I was right," he said with a shrug.

Szusz said that ten of his relatives had gone. Taken to Poland, he thought, but at any rate they were gone and he had heard nothing more of them. Asked by the judge as to why he chose this part of Canada, Szusz said that this district had a climate which approached the greatest similarity with his native Czechoslovakia and he accordingly had felt that he would be able to farm along the same lines as in his own country. He grew mixed crops, such as potatoes, tomatoes, cabbages and produce which would find a ready and profitable sale to dehydration plants.

Here Six Years

Other applicants of the same nationality were Victor Szold and Edward Beck. Joseph, Otto and Phillip Swartz, all relatives, applied for naturalization also. They had been residents in a district between Aachen and Cologne. Due to the fact that they were Jewish they had to leave the country and had been in Canada for about six years. Paul Kobicyki of Hope township, who had applied for naturalization in Toronto, took the oath of allegiance in court Monday.

The criminal charges against Walter Mascall, Mike Cembal and Jerry Semowomyk of Oshawa did not go on due to the fact that their counsel, Arthur Greer, was busy at the Whitby sessions. The grand jury and petit jury accordingly had been notified not to attend. Crown Attorney Harry Deyman informed the court that the accused were going to elect to trial without a jury and December 19 at 9 a. m. was set down as the date of trial.

Mr. Deyman announced that the appeal in connection with the case of Rex vs Covert and O'Connell, under the Wartime Prices and Trade Board, an appeal against a finding of Magistrate R.B. Baxter, was not proceeding at the present time and it was likely that it would not be gone ahead with. However, as T.F. Hall. K.C. counsel for the appellants was out of town, he had not been able to ascertain any fuurther particulars in the matter. Judge German accordingly adjourned the appeal to December 11, directing that if there is no appearance it will be dismissed.

Man Fined For Using Marked Gasoline

COBOURG, Dec. 5 — (ENS) — Fred Hardinge, resident east of Cobourg, was fined $15 and costs when he pleaded guilty in police court Monday to using marked gasoline. It was revealed that Hardinge had lost his gas ration book in July and it took over a month to get a new one, which was a lower category than the one which he had lost. Magistrate R. B. Baxter declared that the circumstances aroused sympathy but the regulations were there and must be obeyed

Russell Whetter of 375 Hillsdale Avenue, Toronto, aged 17, was remanded in custody until December 6 at Brighton. He was charged with theft of a bicycle on December 2 from Robert Post of Brighton. Whetter started to tell his story in court but when it proved at variance with his earlier statements, the matter was laid over in order to call witnesses.

Leonard Lozan, of 150½ King street East Toronto, charged with vagrancy, was remanded until Thursday. Lozan, who is 17, was picked up by Provincial Constable Alex MacLeod, when Whetter was arrested He told the court that he had come down with Whetter to see some friends in Brighton. He had not informed his mother that he was going. Magistrate Baxter commented that he would get in touch with the boy's mother between then and Thursday.

Criminal Cases

If election is trial by jury the accused must wait until the next General Sessions. Bail may be granted, but if the person is unable to furnish bail he must remain in jail until the Court's next regular sittings, in December or June.

At the opening of the Sessions the criminal actions are referred to the Grand Jury who have the duty of deciding whether the Crown has enough evidence to warrant trial proceeding. They return to the Court a True Bill or No Bill, the latter signifying that in their opinion and decision the case should not be sent on to the Court but should be dismissed.

Judge Smoke told the Jury that as the public institutions of the county had been thoroughly inspected in September "it is my decision there shall be no inspection of the public buildings at this time." His Honor said the Jury might have to devote considerable time to seven cases, and he did not wish them to be detained too long from their own affairs.

CARD OF THANKS

Sticks To Story

TORONTO, Dec. 5 — (CP). — Maj. G. A. Welsh of Sunderland, Ont., said last night he will "stand by" a newspaper interview in which he said that as early as November, 1943, Canadian artillery commanders in Italy had filed reports of a serious condition developing in the arrival of untrained and inadequate reinforcements. (Defence Headquarters at Ottawa announced last night Maj. Welsh is being given an opportunity to "substantiate" his statements.)

THANK YOU

To the Electors:

I wish to thank everyone who supported me in the civic elections, and I assure you that I will continue to act in your interest, and support any measure that I feel is needed for the welfare of the citizens.

MAX SWANSTON.

THANKS

I wish to extend my sincere thanks to the electors of Peterborough for their support in the civic elections, and also to wish the successful candidates every success.

JOHN A. DEWART.

I desire to express my thanks and appreciation to the electors and to those many friends who assisted in my election as a member of the City Council.

I have always endeavored to do everything in my power to promote the best interests of the City of Peterborough and of the citizens generally. I shall continue to work with this end in view, having in mind a greater and better Peterborough.

You're getting all the Vitamins and Minerals you need"

If your husband is concerned about getting enough Vitamins and Minerals just give him three good meals a day and Ovaltine night and morning. Then you can be sure he is getting all the extra Vitamins and Minerals he needs.

Authorities say 3 out of 4 people are under par—undernourished—for lack of enough Vitamins and Minerals. But experts agree with 3 average-good meals a day and Ovaltine you are getting all the extra vitamins and minerals you can profitably use—except Vitamin C which is plentiful in fruit juices.

Ovaltine is recognized not only as a rich source of vitamins and minerals but, equally important, as a well-balanced dietary food supplement prescribed by doctors the world over for those who are thin, nervous or under par.

So don't worry about vitamins and minerals. Rely on Ovaltine to give you all the extra ones you can use—in addition to its other well-known benefits. Just follow this recipe for better health—

Gains General On Stock Market

TORONTO, Dec. 5—(CP)—Buyers were in the market for the industrial stocks in the early session and the group firmed .53 in the index by noon today while changing hands in volume. Turnover was sizeable at 406,000 shares for the first three hours.

Some new highs were posted. Trading was heavy in some of the papers, notably Minneso and Ontario and Consolidate and both gained narrowly. Dominion Steel B worked higher by a fraction on heavy volume. Gains predominated in the utility, food, steel and building groups.

Gold prices were up for Frobisher, Sullivan, Bidgood-Kirkland, Trans-continental Resources, Cochenour Willans and others. Falconbridge and Steep Rock were narrowly higher base metals while Noranda, Smelters and Waite-Amulet were lower.

Churchill Takes

The question of whether the Greek people form themselves into a monarchy or republic must be left to them to decide later, he told the House, but in the meantime "the authority of the constitutional Greek government must be accepted and enforced throughout the country."

"The armed force must be dependent on the Greek government," the Prime Minister said. "No government can have a sure foundation so long as there are private armies owing allegiance to a group, party or ideology instead of the state and nation.

"Although these facts should be clear to all, the Left Wing and Communist ministers have resigned from the Greek government at this dangerous crisis rather than implement measures to which they had already agreed for the replacement of the E.A.M. police and guerillas by regular national services."

Blocks Dictatorship

The British Government, he said, wants to help the Greek people and assist them in every way possible, "but we cannot do this if the tommy-guns which were provided for use against the Germans are now used in an attempt to impose by violence a Communist dictatorship without the people being able to express their wishes."

The only Communist member in the House, William Gallacher, shouted "why?" — in connection with a statement that the Greek Communist ministers resigned. Mr. Churchill shot back: "I say they have resigned. I am stating the facts. I thought the House would like a full answer."

In addition, he asserted, the Left-Wing E.A.M. leaders called a general strike which was for the time being preventing food sent from Britain and the United States "from reaching the mouths of the population we are trying to feed."

To Follow Through

Later, the Prime Minister said it would be easy for the British to allow this government crisis "to degenerate, as it would, into anarchy or a Communist dictatorship."

He emphasized, however, that "having gone so far" Britain should not turn back or "take our hand from the plow."

Mr. Churchill assured the House that British authorities would take care to see that the Greek government they support were not used "to fasten any rule of a faction upon the Greek people", which would have the "fullest opportunity of a free election."

The government of Premier Georges Papanderou three days ago represented all parties, including the Communist and E.A.M. representatives, Mr. Churchill said, but "they left suddenly on the eve of a quite evident attempt to overthrow a settled government which was on foot."

Fired on Children

Dr. Haden Guest, Labor, asked if it were not a fact that an Athens demonstration which was fired upon consisted of 200 unarmed children and youths with a sprinkling of adults.

Mr. Churchill replied.

"So far as the incident is concerned, I told the House that the British Government reserves judgment upon that. It was a shocking thing that firing should be made by the police force on unarmed children. That is a matter we should all reprobate. We should also reprobate the massing or leading of large numbers of unarmed children to a demonstration centre which had been banned by the government in a city full of armed men liable at any moment to explosion."

Oshawa Hires Man For City Planning

OSHAWA, Dec. 5 — (CP). — Engagement of G. Graham Reid of Toronto as consulting engineer for preparation of a complete map of the city and a report on suggested sewage system, street extensions and construction of a sewage treatment plant, was recommended to city council here last night by council's post-war reconstruction committee.

The recommendation was referred to a council committee meeting next week for action.

It will follow lines similar to plans provided for Port Hope by the same engineer.

The cost of the plan was estimated at $2,500.

KEEP WITS ABOUT YOU

ALL THE keen perception you possess is required when you find yourself opposite the tricky type of brilliant bidder That is especially true in the bidding of a deal on which you have also done some monkey business yourself. You have to decide then how much your fancy partner's bidding is based on your misleading of him and how much on what he really has in his hand.

M. G. Murray, of St Petersburg, Fla., was North on that deal and South was Maj. William B. Dyess, now stationed in Washington whose favorite New York partner is George Rapee, holder of the national individual masters' championship What a series of unorthodox bids, beginning with the original diamond, so that a "reverse" later with hearts would show the hand's strength.

The major's "protective" phychic 1-Heart spoiled that plan After West's spade North decided that the surest way to show his great strength was a bid of the hostile suit. The explanation of the 4-Spades is that Mr. Murray meant to say 4-Hearts. He was tickled to death when West took him out of trouble with that double, for which East later bawled out West plenty.

Mr Murray's 5-Hearts bid was natural enough, since he could not but believe South really had that suit, but when South took out the double of it with 6-Clubs, the civilian was indeed put on his mettle. He decided the Major had been fooling about hearts, but really had clubs, which was correct. So he made the most brilliant move of the auction when he passed.

If West had led the A and another spade, a quick ruff would have set the contract. But East's double of hearts told him to lead that suit, the 3. Winning that, drawing trumps, leading a spade, taking the heart return and finessing spades, he made the contract.

"Do you know of a good nerve tonic?" asked Mr. Murray of the major after the hand.

Man Wounded By Bullet In Tourist Cabin

HAMILTON, Dec. 5.— (CP). — George Marquis Inch, 28, married, of Van Wagner's Beach, appeared before Magistrate H. A. Burbridge yesterday on a charge of vagrancy arising out of an early morning incident last Saturday in a tourist cabin on Highway 20 in Stoney Creek when Arthur Sutherland was wounded.

Inch was represented by Orville M. Walsh, K.C., and bail was fixed at two sureties of $1,000 each. Robert Green, 23, and Stanley McMahon, 23, are in custody as material witnesses pending completion of police inquiries. Bail for them was also set at two sureties of $1,000 each. The cases were adjourned to Dec. 13.

Later Provincial Constable Leonard Chambers questioned a 19-year-old girl and another man, 22, both of whom are said to have attended a party at which the alleged shooting took place.

Inspector A. R. Knight, head of the provincial police here, said the couple had informed the police they were to have been married yesterday and the gathering in the tourist cabin last Friday night was a pre-nuptial party in their honor.

Sutherland, with a bullet in his left lung, has been placed in an oxygen tent. His condition yesterday was described at the General Hospital as critical.

Provincial Constable Leslie Taylor stated that the first story circulated to the effect that Sutherland had been shot from ambush and robbed of $3,000 at Van Wagner's Beach was not believed by the police.

"Our investigations are continuing, but certain details regarding the shooting have yet to be established," said Constable Taylor .

Inspector Knight said that all those present at the party had been questioned. "After the shooting, those present endeavoured to do what they could for the injured man and attempted to secure the services of a physician," he said. "They finally took Sutherland to the hospital themselves."

Allied Leader Warns Huns Justice Swift

LONDON, Dec. 5.—(CP-Reuter). —Instructions to the German people broadcast on behalf of Gen. Eisenhower, Allied commander and military governor of the occupied area of Germany by the Luxembourg radio, said yesterday he would exercise his powers in his capacity as military governor "in accoddance with the laws of justice, humanity and civilization."

"Military government in occupied Germany will be carried out with rigor and determination, but nevertheless with justice," these instructions added. "Its aim will be the destruction of the Nazi system, the destruction of the aggressive German militarism.

"The military government will be based on written legal principles. Allied military government will protect the German population from corruption, greed, malicious intrigue, and all terrorist measures of the present Nationalist Socialist leaders."

The instructions said that "existing laws, which do not contradict the laws of the military government, will remain in force," and that "the military government will see to it that its laws are carried out precisely."

"The meaning of these laws will be unequivocal and clear," the instructions added. "Everyone must obey these laws at once.

"Government will be just and without delay. All violations of the law will be dealt with speedily by ordinary law court."

ALLIES PREPARE CHRISTMAS PRESENT FOR TOKYO—A Mark 15 torpedo is here displayed away from its naval reservation with Actress Jackson Jordon of Los Angeles, Calif., on top, displaying a handful of War Savings Certificates which she suggests everyone purchase as Christmas gifts. British Magazine Attacks Article On News Freedom

LONDON, Dec. 5 (AP)—The press freedom campaign conducted by Kent Cooper, executive director of the Associated Press, was attacked Sunday by a British weekly magazine, The Economist, with a suggestion that his program might allow United States news agencies "to dominate the world."

The politico-economic publication, established in 1843, included the following in an "American survey" section devoted to articles on the United States:

"Mr. Kent Cooper, general manager of the Associated Press and author of 'Barriers Down,' is leadin a crusade to incorporate a 'charter of freedom for news and communications' in the peace settlements.

"In an article in Life he demands freedom of access to news, freedom for agencies to compete or to exchange news and an end to preferential rates of transmission. Mr. Cooper, like most big business executives, experiences a peculiar moral glow in finding that his idea of freedom coincides with his commercial advantage. In his ode to liberty there is no suggestion that when all barriers are down the huge financial resources of the American agencies might enable them to dominate the world. His desire to prevent another Goebbels from poisoning the wells will be universally applauded, but democracy does not necessarily mean making the whole world safe for the AP.

Confused Issues

"In this, as in other post-war issues such as civil aviation, commercial practices are habitualy confused with such big words as liberty and the rights of man. One of Mr. Cooper's happier suggestions is that news correspondents abroad should enjoy diplomatic immunity, without any of its responsibilities. This would turn the fourth estate into a king that can do no wrong.

The comments of Marshal Stalin and the Generalissimo on the proposition that the war is being waged to secure extra territorial rights for, say, the Chicago Tribune, would be worth hearing.

New York Comment

NEW YORK, Dec. 4 (AP)—Commenting on the published views of The Economist, Kent Cooper, executive director of the Associated Press, said:

"Sure The Economist does not want the activities of all news agencies except the British confined to their own countries as was largely the case before Reuters, reorganized and owned by the British newspapers, withdrew its cartel domination over the news activities of many countries foreign to England. If there is commercial advantage of an American news association in making its news service available in other countries, there is, under the plan I advocate, the same opportunity for the British or any other news agency to make its news service available in other countries.

"For example, the Reuters agency was quick to see this and is now selling its news in the United States and South America for the first time

"All of this is to the good as long as newspapers in the western hemisphere want the Reuters service. Similarly, if the newspapers of the eastern hemisphere want the services of the American news agencies, or any other news agencies, they properly should have them.

"The Economist's comment as to diplomatic immunity is even more inept. Immunity does not mean that a foreigner, whether a diplomat or newspaperman, can remain in any foreign country where he is persona non grata. It does mean that in such case he would leave the country without being arrested and uncivilly deported and without any other indignities being imposed upon him.

"But if The Economist is speaking for Britain in wanting to maintain, exclusively for British interests, its effective control over vast world communications, a thing that Reuters, the British agency, does not itself demand, then perhaps more than ever the issue that there should be equality for news transmission over all international communications should be fought out even in advance of the peace. The British account of what is going on in world affairs is not the only account of world affairs that should be disseminated."

Mercury At Roseneath Drops To 4 Below

COBOURG, Dec. 5 — (ENS) — The district got its first taste of wintry weather over the week-end. Snow which fell last week blanketed the countryside and made travel difficult in rural sections. On Saturday the temperature started to drop and in Cobourg Sunday morning went to four above while out in Roseneath and other rural areas the mercury went to four below. Sunday afternoon the weather moderated considerably. Saturday's drop in temperature brought many householders to the realization that the coal pile was low and local dealers were busy all day filling orders.

NorwoodMasons Entertain Ladies

NORWOOD, Dec. 5 — (ENS) — The Masonic brethren entertained the ladies on Friday evening, in the Town Hall, J. J. Stewart, W.M. of Norwood Lodge, A.F. and A.M., acting as master of ceremonies, welcomed the guests. The first part of the evening was spent in cards, Mrs. J. Brooks winning the ladies' prize for euchre, and W. Renwick the men's prize; Mrs. H. Baker the ladies' prize for bridge, and K. Edmunds the men's. A splendid lunch was served by the members, after which the master of ceremonies proposed the toast to the King. F. Pearce proposed the toast to the Ladies, and W. A. Richardson proposed the toast to the Visitors, with O. Edgaley responding. G. R. Baker, D.D.G.M., spoke briefly.

W. A Richardson, wearing a 50-year Jewel, was given a prize for being the oldest Mason present, and Mrs. O. Edgeley was the winner of a prize for having a birthday nearest December 1.

O. Edgeley favored thte guests with a solo, "In the Garden of Tomorrow," and Mrs. R. Gardner sang two solos, "Where My Caravan Has Rested" and "Gypsy Love Song." The balance of the evening was sepnt in viewing slides shown by H. Caskie.

Greek Heroine Saves Over Thousand British Troops

By STEPHEN BARBER,
Associated Press Writer

ATHENS, Dec. — (AP). — More than a thousand British Empire troops owe their liberty to a 46-year-old mother of seven, who finally paid the price with her life at the hands of a German firing squad.

Greece is full of such stories. No Allied soldier who sought shelter was ever turned away. Rich and poor alike would share whatever they had with escaping prisoners of war. The penalty was always death for the Greeks — but the fugitive merely would be sent back to prison.

Leila Karayanni began her work immediately when the Axis occupation began. Her first coup was the carefully planned jailbreak of 500 British, New Zealand and Australian troops.

Mme. Karayanni and her family operated as an expert team of jail breakers. They rented two houses in Athens as transit camps for escapees. They built up a roster of friends who were willing to take in prisoners. They arranged for the supply of clothing and disguises.

The escapees were passed from village to village to prearranged rendezvous. They would skip from island to island through the Aegean until they reached safety or made contact with Royal Navy patrols.

The Italians who were masters of Athens at the time, arrested Mme. Karayanni in a lightning raid on her home in June, 1941. Along with her they took her youngest son. He managed to escape before they reached police headquarters. Two of her daughters were seized later for interrogation.

Lack of Evidence

Finally, after two months during which she was kept in solitary confinement, Mme. Karayanni was liberated "for lack of evidence." She was arrested again in October and detained for seven months. Again in March, 1942 she was arrested and tried by court martial. But the informer who had betrayed her mysteriously disappeared. Again she was released.

By this time the problem of aiding escapees was growing less. The rush was over. But Leila Karayanni was not satisfied. She made contact with the British liaison officers and agents who were beginning to infiltrate Greece.

Working a secret radio station, the Karayanni family became one of the best information channels that General Headquarters, Cairo, possessed in Athens.

During whatever spare time she had, this "Greek Edith Cavell" used to perform commissions for the Andartes in the mountains. She bought clothes, arranged bribes to secure arms, food and munitions.

She took very little care of herself and finally fell seriously ill. It was from her sick bed that the Germans took her. Her last arrest was on June 12, 1944. The whole family, except one boy, was rounded up at once.

S.S. Chief Simana was determined to break the Greek woman. She was hung from the wrists and beaten for three hours. Failing to break her spirit that way they took her children and tortured them before her eyes. They kept her four days without water and repeated the whole routine. She would not give in.

Finally, on Sept. 7, they took her to be shot. As she was led from her cell she called to her children: "They are going to shoot me. It is a victory. Hold on!"

Norwood Institute Plans Euchre Party

NORWOOD, Dec. 4.—(ENS). — The Women's Institute held their regular meeting on Friday afternoon in their room.

The treasurer reported a balance of $27.05 from the bazaar and a donation of $2 was received from Mrs. W. J. Andrews, Toronto, for Remembrance Day. A quilt top was handed in by Mrs. R. Thompson and one finished one by Mrs. G. Ointment. It was decided to hold a euchre party Friday evening, December 15 in the W.I. room and to sell tickets on a quilt to augment the funds.

The program consisted of Christmas carols. Mrs. G. Ointment gave a reading and Mrs. W. Galloher a recitation, and Barbara Davey and Betty Baker sang a duet.

Lunch was served by the hostesses, Mrs. G. Baker and Mrs. Galloher.

Exchange Letters.

The pupils in Mrs. R. E. Pakenham's room of the public school received letters from a class in Manhattan, Sask. The purpose of these letters was to obtain knowledge regarding Canada for their social studies, The pupils have replied, giving as much information as possible.

Miss Mary E. Johnston, the teacher, is the daughter of the former Sarah Paget, a former resident of Norwood.

Suffered Nine Years From Gas Indigestion; "Nerves"

Had Gassy Pains, Bloating, Acid Stomach After Every Meal. Got Dizzy Spells; Back Hurt; Felt Tired, Rundown. Says Syntona Gave First Real Relief.

MRS. LILLIAN PRICE

"I have suffered for the last nine years from a badly disordered stomach and tried almost everything I heard of, but I got no real relief until I began taking Syntona a few weeks ago," said Mrs. Lillian Price, 48 Mars Avenue, Hamilton, Ont., in a recent report.

Syntona is made from the pure liquid extracts of 12 of Nature's finest herbs and roots. It acts on the stomach, kidneys, liver and bowels—aids in the elimination of excess acids and poisonous waste matter from the system and promotes better assimilation of food for increased strength and energy.

"Even the lightest foods disagreed with me. I had so much gas that it would bloat my stomach and crowd up in my chest, making me feel short of breath. I would have bad attacks of heartburn, followed by belching up of hot, sour liquids. There was a dull aching pain across my back and I often got light-headed, dizzy spells. Although I always felt tired, fatigued and rundown, I couldn't get sound sleep at night because my nerves were all on edge.

"It was through a friend that I first heard about Syntona and she persuaded me to try it. From the very first bottle it seemed to help me, so I kept on taking it. Then my food stopped souring. I began to have a better appetite to enjoy my meals. The heartburn grew less and less and I got rid of the bloated, full, heavy feeling in my stomach. The dizzy spells haven't troubled me lately and the pain has left my back. Also, my nerves are relaxed, allowing me to get restful sleep at night. As a result I am refreshed when I get up mornings, and feel so much better in every way that even my work seems easier.

"I am very happy to be able to say this about Syntona and I recommend it to other people who suffer as I did."

Go to Elliott's Drug Store, Peterborough, and find out how Syntona can help you, too.—(Advt.)
